The University Bulletin contains the academic and administrative policies and regulations that govern enrollment of undergraduate, graduate, and postbaccalaureate students at Loyola Marymount University. Students are responsible for knowing academic and administrative policies and regulations affecting their program of study and for abiding by all such policies and regulations during their period of enrollment at the University. Continued enrollment is subject to compliance with the academic and administrative policies and regulations. Failure to understand the policies and regulations does not relieve a student of her or his responsibility for adhering to the policies and regulations.

Students are governed by the applicable University and degree requirements in the University Bulletin of their entry year into the University. Students must normally fulfill the department major or program requirements in effect when they declare the primary major or program of study. If these requirements have been modified since the most recent Bulletin, students may be required to fulfill those with the most recent date. Students are advised to consult the chairperson of the major department or the appropriate program director for the correct information.

The University Bulletin is not an offer to enter into a contract. Loyola Marymount University reserves the right to make changes to degree program requirements, academic and administrative policies and regulations, financial charges, and course offerings published in the University Bulletin at any time without prior notice. The University strives to assure the accuracy of the information in the University Bulletin. However, the University reserves the right to make corrections as necessary to the University Bulletin. For changes that may occur, please log on to http://registrar.lmu.edu.

Loyola Marymount University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, handicap, or age. Loyola Marymount University seeks compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, which respectively prohibit discrimination. Inquiries regarding these issues may be directed to the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs. Students desirous of filing a complaint should contact the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs.

THE UNIVERSITY

History

The names "Loyola" and "Marymount" have long been associated with Catholic higher education in countries around the globe. Saint Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus, the Jesuits, sanctioned the foundation of his order's first school in 1548. The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary have conducted educational institutions since their establishment in France by Father Jean Gailhac. These two traditions of education have come together in Los Angeles as Loyola Marymount University.

The present institution is the successor to the pioneer Catholic college and first institution of higher learning in Southern California. In 1865 the Vincentian Fathers inaugurated St. Vincent’s College for Boys in Los Angeles. When this school closed in 1911, members of the Society of Jesus opened the high school division in their newly founded Los Angeles College.

Rapid growth prompted the Jesuits to commence the collegiate department that same year, seek a new campus in 1917, and incorporate as Loyola College of Los Angeles in 1918. Relocating to the present Westchester campus in 1929, the school achieved university status one year later.

Graduate instruction began in 1920 with the foundation of a separate law school. The formation of the Graduate Division occurred in June 1950, though graduate work had formed an integral part of the Teacher Education Program during the preceding two years.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary began teaching local young women in 1923. Ten years later they opened Marymount Junior College in Westwood which first granted the baccalaureate degree in 1948. The school later transferred classes to a new campus on the Palos Verdes Peninsula in 1960. Eight years later, Marymount College moved again, this time to the Westchester campus of Loyola University as an autonomous college. At this juncture, the Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange joined the Marymount Sisters as partners.

After five years of sharing faculties and facilities, Loyola University and Marymount College merged and formed Loyola Marymount University in July 1973. Through this union, the expanded school maintained the century-old mission of Catholic higher education in Los Angeles.

In articulating a vision for this unique collegiate enterprise, the Board of Trustees turned to the history of the four-century-old Jesuit educational philosophy as well as to the history and traditions of the Marymount and St. Joseph’s Sisters. They also recognized the riches of a variety of religious traditions represented among the dedicated faculty and staff that complemented and enhanced the school’s heritage of Catholic values.

The University pursues quality in:

- Lives an Institutional Commitment to Roman Catholicism and the Judeo-Christian Tradition
- Provides a Liberal Education
- Fosters a Student-centered University
- Creates a Sense of Community on Campus
- Participates Actively in the Life of the Larger Community

University Mission Statement

Introduction

Loyola Marymount University offers rigorous undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs to academically ambitious students committed to lives of meaning and purpose. We benefit from our location in Los Angeles, a dynamic city that brings into sharp focus the issues of our time and provides an ideal context for study, research, creative work, and active engagement. By intention and philosophy, we invite men and women diverse in talents, interests, and cultural backgrounds to enrich our educational community and advance our mission:

- The encouragement of learning
- The education of the whole person
- The service of faith and the promotion of justice

The University is institutionally committed to Roman Catholicism and takes its fundamental inspiration from the combined heritage of the Jesuits, the Marymount Sisters, and the Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange. This Catholic identity and religious heritage distinguishLMU from other universities and provide touchstones for understanding our threefold mission.

The Encouragement of Learning

At LMU, the encouragement of learning takes place in the context of an intellectual tradition that:

- Insists on critical thinking and the development of imagination and artistic expression
- Takes philosophical and theological disciplines seriously
- Engages in ethical discourse and embraces the search for values
- Respects the integrity of the individual while at the same time pursuing the common good
- Views the world as sacramental and seeks to find God in all things
- Encourages an integration of knowledge in which "faith and reason bear witness to the unity of all truth" (Ex Corde Ecclesiae, 1990, #17)

As a foundation for inquiry and learning, we strive to create an intercultural community to promote ecumenical and inter-religious dialogue. This means that at LMU the encouragement of learning is a radical commitment to free and honest inquiry—but always with reverence before the mystery of the universe and openness to transcendent reality.

The Education of the Whole Person

With roots in the spiritual humanism of the earliest Jesuit colleges, LMU’s pedagogical tradition has an abiding concern for the education of the whole person. Today we understand this as a simultaneous process of information, formation, and transformation. The education of the whole person thus includes these points:
It encourages personal integration of the student’s thinking, feeling, choosing, evolving self. It does this by fostering not only academic and professional development but also physical, social, psychological, moral, cultural, and religious/spiritual growth.

It promotes formation of character and values, meaning and purpose. As students learn to “read” what is going on in their own lives and in the larger world, they are encouraged to grow in the skills of personal and social literacy needed for responsible citizenship.

It seeks to develop men and women for others. LMU encourages students, faculty, and staff to identify with those living on the margins of society so that the intellectual inquiry and moral reflection endemic to university life will lead to meaningful work for transformative social change.

The Service of Faith and the Promotion of Justice

We take seriously both parts of this phrase. The service of faith encompasses all those ways in which the University engages its Catholic intellectual, cultural, and religious heritage. These ways include specific courses and academic programs as well as opportunities for worship, faith formation, and spiritual development.

The service of faith also honors the reality of religious pluralism on our campus and embraces inter-faith dialogue in formal and informal contexts. The desired outcome of such encounters moves us beyond tolerance to mutual respect and understanding, deepens appreciation of one’s own faith, and creates opportunities for engaging others who share a longing for meaningful lives.

Finally, at LMU we insist that the service of faith is incomplete without the promotion of justice. Together with the University’s sponsoring religious orders and the post-Vatican II Church, we believe that participating in the struggle for justice in ways appropriate to our academic community is a requirement—not simply an option—of biblical faith. In this struggle LMU makes common cause with all who share a commitment to local and global justice, whether they are motivated by faith or other noble ideals.

Goals

Loyola Marymount University promotes academic excellence by:

- Enrolling an academically ambitious, multicultural, and socio-economically diverse student body
- Recruiting, retaining, and supporting a diverse and multicultural faculty committed to excellence in teaching and active scholarship or artistic productivity
- Sustaining an excellent staff and administration as partners with the faculty in promoting academic excellence
- Engaging students in academic programs that explore the multicultural experience of American ethnic groups
- Maintaining an academic community in which freedom of inquiry and expression enjoy the highest priority
- Emphasizing the skills and knowledge necessary for a lifetime of intellectual growth and providing strong pre-professional and professional preparation in the undergraduate curriculum
- Offering excellent graduate and legal education in a context which promotes the highest standards of personal integrity and professional responsibility
- Developing and maintaining the physical facilities, equipment, and support systems that enable the university to carry out its academic mission
- Providing library facilities and services for excellence in the university’s undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs

Lives an institutional commitment to Catholicism and the Judeo-Christian tradition by:

- Fostering a just society through a commitment to social justice and service
- Offering opportunities for religious practice and faith development for the entire Loyola Marymount community

Provides a liberal education by:

- Offering a core curriculum that provides each undergraduate with a broad education in the liberal arts and sciences as the heart of the undergraduate experience
- Emphasizing the study of philosophy and theology in the undergraduate curriculum
- Challenging all students to think critically and reflect on basic values and issues, and free themselves from prejudice
- Supporting a faculty committed to excellent teaching and scholarship in a university based on the liberal arts tradition
- Encouraging students to understand their fields of studies in a broad intellectual, ethical, and social context
- Preparing students, undergraduate and graduate, to play active roles in addressing the problems and challenges of the larger society and world in which they live

Fosters a student-centered university by:

- Maintaining the residential character and medium size of the Westchester campus to assure that each student receives individual attention
- Encouraging staff, administration, and faculty to embrace the ideal of personal care and dedication to the well-being and development of each student
- Offering co-curricular programs that complement the academic programs and produce a coherent educational experience
- Supporting the full involvement of students in campus life by offering a wide variety of activities
- Providing opportunities for students to develop their leadership skills by actively involving them in decision making
- Challenging and encouraging students to lead and serve others

Creates a sense of community on campus by:

- Introducing new members of the community to the shared values and history of the university and reinforcing a sense of belonging for all members
- Assuring that the daily life of the campus reflects a vision of human dignity and fosters mutual understanding and caring
- Celebrating the richness and diversity of a multicultural campus
- Encouraging faculty, staff, administrators, and students to serve others, participate in the life of the University, and act as responsible and generous members of the academic community
- Providing opportunities to participate in making significant decisions through well-defined and fair procedures

Participates actively in the life of the larger community by:

- Using the resources of Los Angeles and Southern California to expand and deepen the student’s educational experience
- Developing academic programs that address the dynamics and opportunities of the nations and cultures of Latin America and the Pacific Rim
- Inspiring faculty, staff, students, and alumni to serve their communities and society by applying their skills and knowledge to critical problems
- Contributing to the intellectual and cultural life of society through scholarship and the arts
- Providing leadership in the examination and discussion of the ethical dimensions of social issues
- Recognizing a particular responsibility to serve the global Church, and especially the people of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and the local dioceses.

UNIVERSITY FACILITIES

Academic and Administrative
A complex of five buildings, the Burns Fine Arts Center was opened in 1984. In Hogan Hall and Lemon Hall are housed the primary studios of the Dance Program, studios, and classrooms utilized by the Department of Art and Art History, the Department of Music rehearsal rooms and classrooms, as well as the offices of faculty dedicated to the various Fine Arts disciplines. The three additional buildings located here are the Laband Art Gallery, Murphy Recital Hall, and the Burns Faculty Center, which houses the Thomas P. Kelly Student Art Gallery.

The Harry & Kathleen Daum Hall, on the east side of campus, was erected in 1998. The Academic Resource Center is located on the second floor. The Los Angeles Loyolan and The Tower have offices in this building. Information Technology Services also has offices here.

Daum Hall Annex houses the ROAR Television Network.

The Jerome and Elvira Doolan Building, built in 1985, houses Computer Science and Engineering faculty, classrooms, and laboratories.

East Hall houses the Human Performance Lab, the Scene Shop, Event Operations, and space for Facilities Management.

The Engineering Design Center is located adjacent to East Hall and is a lab for mechanical engineering students.

Foley Annex houses classrooms and offices, including Environmental Health and Safety, and Public Safety. Also, this annex accommodates faculty offices for the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering.

Foley Building, constructed in 1962, houses the Charles H. Strub Memorial Theatre, faculty offices, seminar rooms, and computer labs. It is named after Edward T. Foley, a benefactor of the University.

Located on the bluff between the Jesuit Community and the Leavey Residence Halls, the William H. Hannon Library was designed by AECOM and built by Snyder Langston. It opened in July 2009. Named for longtime LMU benefactor and Distinguished Alumnus William H. Hannon, the library is comprised of 120,328 square feet, with three levels above ground and a two-story basement below ground for high density collections storage. The building has seating for 865.

The Conrad N. Hilton Center for Business opened in the Fall of 1995. It houses classrooms, meeting rooms, lecture halls, faculty offices, Information Services, the Asian Business Center, and a 350-seat auditorium in a spacious, technologically advanced facility.

The Dorothy and Thomas E. Leavey Center, erected in 1968, houses the Ignatian Center for Spirituality, the Collins Faculty & Alumni Center, various athletic coaches' offices, and a chapel.

The LMU Children's Center was established in 2002 and is adjacent to Hannon Apartments.

Malone Memorial Student Center, named in honor of the late Fr. Lorenzo M. Malone, S.J., former Vice President of the University, was completed in August 1955. Renovation and expansion of the Center was completed in August 1996. Located in the Center are the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs, Department of Student Life, Associated Student offices, Campus Ministry Center, student dining, Career Development Services, Ethnic and Intercultural Services, and conference rooms. In addition, the Lion’s Den, Living Room, and The Hill are located in this building.

North Hall and South Hall, located on the east side of the campus, house the Del Rey Theatre, the Associate Dean for Undergraduate Studies, the Natural Science department, classrooms, Science and Engineering labs, the Center for Student Success, and faculty offices.

Pereira Annex, located behind Pereira Hall, includes staff from the Santa Monica Bay Restoration Commission and faculty offices for the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering as its residents.

Pereira Hall, erected in 1955, houses the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering Dean’s offices, classrooms, faculty offices, computer labs, and engineering labs. In 2011, the James E. Foxworthy, Ph.D., Fluid Hydraulics Laboratory was dedicated. This building is named in honor of Br. John Pereira, S.J., who was responsible for much of the landscaping on the early campus.

Research Annex, erected in 1970, houses faculty offices and labs for the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering.

The Frank R. Seaver Hall of Science, erected in 1962, houses the departments of Biology, Chemistry and Biochemistry, and Physics and Engineering Physics. In addition to 22 undergraduate and research laboratories, the building contains faculty offices, seminar rooms, classrooms, and a computer lab.

St. Robert’s Hall, erected in 1929, houses classrooms, the offices of the Dean of the College of Communication and Fine Arts and the Dean of the School of Film and Television, and in the annex, the Center for Service and Action. St. Robert Bellarmine, S.J., was a theologian and is a doctor of the Church.

University Hall, opened in 2000, houses University Administration, classrooms, faculty administration, an auditorium, dining facilities, Campus Graphics, and the following staff departments: University Relations; Human Resources; LMU Extension; Distribution Center; Controller’s Office; Payroll; Graduate Division; Thomas and Dorothy Leavey Center for the Study of Los Angeles; Classroom Management; Marymount Institute for Faith, Culture, and the Arts; the Dean’s office for the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts; University Honors Program; the Dean’s office for the School of Education; the Doctoral Program for the School of Education; and the Sponsored Projects Office.

The Charles Von der Ahe Building, named for its principal donor, was constructed in 1959 as the University library. In 2010 it became a central location for Undergraduate Admission, the Office of the Registrar, Financial Aid, Study Abroad, Global Education, Student Financial Services, OneCard Office, the Bookstore, Student Innovation Center, Alumni Relations, and various Student Affairs offices including Parent Programs, The Learning Community, Off-Campus Student Life, First Year Experience, Transfer Programs, Veteran Programs, and the Office for International Students and Scholars.

Wil and Mary Jane Von der Ahe Communication Arts Building, completed in 1971, houses the Louis B. Mayer Motion Picture Theatre, faculty offices, Animation facilities, film classrooms, conference room, color television studio, and motion picture sound stage.

Xavier Hall, one of the first buildings constructed on this campus in the 1920s, is home to faculty offices for the School of Film and Television and Conferences. St. Francis Xavier, S.J., was an original companion of St. Ignatius.

Athletic Facilities
The Jane Browne Bove Boathouse was completed in 2002. The boathouse is in Marina del Rey.

The Fritz B. Burns Recreation and Aquatics Center, completed in August 2000, holds a fitness center, multipurpose center, concession stand, a pool, two gyms, and the recreation offices, plus the Student Health Center and Student Psychological Services.

The Albert Gersten Athletic Pavilion, dedicated in early 1982, expands the University’s existing facilities to accommodate the intercollegiate athletic program, support facilities, Founder’s Room, and Weight Room.

Leavey Field is situated on top of Drollinger Parking Plaza. Since 1995, it has provided space for Intramurals and intercollegiate sports.

The Lions Athletic Center opened in 2011. It houses the Chad and Ginni Dreier Family Weight Room, four locker rooms, a laundry room, athletics' ticket center, executive conference rooms, one of which is sponsored by the Alpha Delta Gamma fraternity, and offices.

On Sullivan Field, adjacent to the Pavilion, are located other athletic facilities of the University. These include the Burns Aquatics Center, LMU Tennis Center and the Morris A. Pivaroff and George P. Kading Tournament Court, George C. Page Baseball Stadium, Smith Field ballpark and the Lion’s Cage baseball batting facility, Thomas Higgins, S.J., Short Game Center for golf practice, and soccer facilities.
Chapels
The Chapel of the Sacred Heart was completed in 1953. It has a seating capacity of 800. The Regents Memorial Tower and the Regents Tower clock were donated by the classes of 1961 and 1962; the tower has become a landmark of the campus.

Huesman Chapel, dedicated in 1947, is located in Huesman Hall. Leavey Chapel was dedicated as the Chapel of Our Lady of Good Hope in 1968. This chapel is in the Dorothy and Thomas E. Leavey Center.

Mary Chapel, located inside the Chapel of the Sacred Heart, is used for daily mass and other liturgies. The Marymount Center for Prayer and Peace hosts a chapel space for interfaith functions. Located in University Hall, the Marymount Institute, endowed by a generous contribution from the Leavey Foundation, established the Marymount Center in 2001.

Xavier Chapel is the worship space for the Jesuit Community. Located in Xavier Hall, the former Jesuit residence, it was built in 1928.

Loyola Law School
Established in 1920, Loyola Law School is one of the oldest law schools in Southern California. The campus is located in the Pico-Union district near downtown Los Angeles. Expansion of facilities began in 1980 under the direction of internationally acclaimed architect, Frank O. Gehry. The completed campus includes the William M. Rains Library, the Fritz B. Burns Academic Center, three lecture buildings, the Chapel of the Advocate, the Rev. Charles S. Casassa Building, the Albert H. Girardi Advocacy Center, and the Student Services Center.

Residence Halls
Del Rey North and Del Rey South Halls, opened in 2005, house approximately 200 students each and includes a dining facility, the Founders Arena.

Desmond Hall, erected in 1958, was named in honor of the Daniel and C.C. Desmond, generous benefactors of the University.

Doheny Hall was completed in 1986 and houses 120 students. The building is named for University benefactor, Carrie Estelle Doheny.

Hannon Apartments, erected in 1978, were named in honor of Eugenie B. Hannon, mother of William H. Hannon, alumnus, benefactor, and honorary trustee. They house 282 upperclass students and include The Loft.

Huesman Hall, erected in 1947, houses men and has a chapel and movie theater. It is named for Ralph R. Huesman, uncle of alumnus, Fred B. Huesman, and former trustee, John Huesman, S.J.

The Jesuit Community Residence, Ignatius Commons, built in 1999, accommodates the members of the Society of Jesus.

Leavey 4, 5, and 6 are apartment buildings. Leavey 4 was built in 2002, Leavey 5 in 2003, and Leavey 6 in 2005. The latter also includes Student Housing and a convenience store.

McCarthy Hall, erected in 1996, was the first residence hall built on the Leavey Campus. It accommodates 247 students. It is named in honor of J. Thomas McCarthy, philanthropist and generous benefactor of the University.

McKay Hall, erected in 1968, contains a diner-style restaurant. It is named for Sr. M. Raymund McKay, R.S.H.M., former President of Marymount College.

O'Malley Student Apartments, completed in summer 2000, accommodates 164 students. It is named in honor of former LMU president Fr. Thomas P. O’Malley, S.J.

Rains Hall, on the Leavey Campus, was built in 1997. Named in honor of Liloire Green Rains, a philanthropist and generous benefactor of the University, this building houses 300 students.

Rosecrans Hall, erected in 1962, was named in honor of William S. Rosecrans, for many years Chairman of the Board of Regents and a generous benefactor of the University.

Sullivan, erected in 1947, is named for former Loyola College president, Joseph A. Sullivan, S.J. Located here are Sullivan Lounge and the Sullivan Academic Center.

Tenderich Apartments, completed January 1971, accommodates 143 students in 39 units. Tenderich is named for Ernst and Gertrude Tenderich, parents of former trustee, Mary Kretschmar.

Whelan Hall was completed in the summer of 1965. It is named for Rev. Edward J. Whelan, S.J., President of Loyola University from 1942 to 1949.

Social and Recreation Facilities
The Bird Nest, adjacent to Del Rey North, offers a beautiful view of Marina del Rey, Santa Monica, and the Pacific Ocean. The Bird Nest sponsors and hosts a wide variety of events.

Lawton Plaza was dedicated in 2010 as a multi-purpose amphitheater. Depending on the configuration, the Plaza can seat up to 1,300. It is named after the fourteenth president of LMU, Robert B. Lawton, S.J.

The Loft, located in the heart of the Hannon Apartments, Tenderich Apartments, and McKay residence hall, provides the southern campus with an informal, comfortable location to host a variety of events. The Loft was built in 1978 and renovated in 1994 and 2007.

Adjacent to St. Robert’s Hall is St. Robert’s Auditorium, which plays host to hundreds of events and programs from educational conferences and panel discussions to dances, speakers, and concerts. The auditorium can accommodate up to 350 people.

Legal Responsibility of the University
The University endeavors to safeguard students in the use of physical facilities, laboratories, athletic fields, and gymnasium, and to this end regulations concerning the use of such facilities have been established, but it is clearly understood that students who use the same do so entirely at their own risk. The University has no legal responsibility for injuries or other damages suffered by students on or off the campus, or in travel to and from school-related activities, or for any expense in connection therewith.

Use of University Property
No person may use University property in a manner, or for a purpose, or under circumstances forbidden by any applicable public law, ordinance, regulation, or order, or tending to interfere materially with the efficient and orderly conduct of any University business or function.

In line with this directive, any person or persons, whether students or non-students, registered student organization or other student groups, shall be required to obtain a permit from the Office of the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs prior to any proposed march, demonstration, public meeting, etc.
Campus Business Services—OneCard Office

The Campus Business Services office provides several key University services to students, faculty, and staff in support of the University’s mission. The office provides support for the LMU OneCard, Cable TV, and Telephone Billing, as well as several other services.

The OneCard is a critical and integral part of campus life, especially for those living in University housing, providing card-based services ranging from on-campus dining to key-card access into buildings, admission to campus events and use at participating off-campus merchants.

Online services are available at http://www.lmu.edu/OneCard and can be used to add value to the OneCard, check balances, and suspend the card if it has been misplaced or stolen, as well as view current off-campus merchants who accept the OneCard as a debit card.

The office is located in the lower level of the Charles Von der Ahe Building, and can be reached at 310.338.2735 or onecard@lmu.edu.

Campus Ministry

Campus Ministry seeks to illuminate the world through transformative expressions of faith. To achieve this vision, we center our ministry on three main goals:

• To create a place where all are welcome and revered as sacred;
• To remember and celebrate all that gives life meaning, purpose, and passion;
• To accompany and empower all on the journey toward becoming more fully alive.

Rooted in the University’s Roman Catholic identity and Jesuit and Marymount heritage, our outreach embraces people of all faith traditions. Through worship, retreats, spiritual direction, social justice opportunities, faith sharing groups, and a wide variety of other programming, Campus Ministry is a community of diverse and passionate people committed to creating a safe and friendly environment. We are dedicated to sharing in the discovery and experience of wonder and awe in the world. In times of distress, we comfort, console, and encourage healing and reconciliation.

Campus Ministry is a place to belong, believe, and become.

For more information about specific programming and the many ways we work to live out the mission of Loyola Marymount University, contact us at http://ministry.lmu.edu, 310.338.2860, or in the Sr. Peg Malone, R.S.H.M., Campus Ministry Center in Malone 210.

Center for Ignatian Spirituality

The Center for Ignatian Spirituality exists to promote the integration of Ignatian spirituality with the life of the University. It serves as a resource for those seeking to develop a personal spirituality, one rooted in an ever-deepening commitment to the service of faith and the promotion of justice. For more than four-and-a-half centuries, Ignatian spirituality has stood radically open to the diverse ways in which God enters the history of individuals and groups.

The Center has four main goals:

• To develop programs that enable the faculty and staff to grow in knowledge and experience of Ignatian education and spirituality;
• To provide ongoing spiritual-growth support for those faculty and staff who have made the Ignatian Spiritual Exercises and for those who have engaged in Ignatian Spirituality practices;
• To encourage and support faculty and staff members to assume leadership roles in these spiritual endeavors within their college, department, and division; and
• To serve as a resource for all members of the University community interested in Ignatian values.

The Center can be reached at 310.338.1806 and is on the web at http://www.lmu.edu/CIS.
Student E-Mail and Network Access
The campus-wide network is available to all LMU students. Upon enrollment and registration, an LMU student is automatically assigned an e-mail address and a network account. The network allows students to access services like PROWL (the online registration system), library databases, the Internet, and other services. There are no fees associated with using the campus network, and all accounts are password-protected. Most systems, such as e-mail, are web-based and available from off-campus also.

Student Telecommunications
In residence halls, ITS provides basic analog telephone lines and voice mail for students. Students need to use their own analog phone handsets. Students are required to enter a 7-digit Personal Billing Number (PBN) in order to call to a non-university number.

Computer Labs and Villages
The University provides technology access to students throughout the campus with its two general-purpose computer labs and 31 area-specific and specialty labs. Students may contact the Student Lab Coordinator at 310.338.4489 for more information.

Maintained by ITS, the general purpose labs have either Windows- or Mac-based workstations, offer extended hours, contain at least 20 workstations, and provide access to a variety of popular software programs.

In addition to the general purpose labs, many academic departments provide discipline-specific computer resources and training labs. These labs vary in size and function and often use specialty software for e-learning, research, and training. The computer village areas are located within academic departments in University Hall. In addition to spacious working areas, these villages provide a social dimension to workstation computing where students and faculty can interact and integrate technology into the educational experience.

Other ITS Services for Students
MyLMU Portal
MyLMU is a “one-stop” web community that provides students, faculty, and staff with access to various campus systems, online groups, e-mail, calendar, registration, forms, news, communications, and more. MyLMU is the online gateway for students to access student services and information. MyLMU is available from on and off campus at http://my.lmu.edu.

MyLMU Connect
ITS supports the use of MyLMU Connect, an environment for online teaching, learning, and collaboration. MyLMU Connect is utilized by many LMU faculty and is available online through MyLMU at http://my.lmu.edu.

PROWL
The Personal Records Online Web Link (PROWL) provides faculty and students with secure web-based access to class registration, grades, and other information maintained by the Office of the Registrar. PROWL is accessed through MyLMU at http://my.lmu.edu.

Loyola Marymount University
Children’s Center
The Loyola Marymount University Children’s Center was established to address the child care needs of the University community. The LMUCC is an on-site, employer-sponsored organization dedicated to quality care for children of all those who make up the LMU and greater Westchester communities. Care is made available for children of the faculty, staff, and students, with a limited number of spaces available to alumni, qualified on-campus employees of University service contractors, and neighborhood residents. In keeping with the Jesuit and Marymount traditions, we strive to meet the needs of the community of which we are a part by incorporating diversity into a values-centered curriculum.

The Center’s early childhood professionals are committed to educating the whole child—socially, emotionally, physically, and intellectually—to set the stage for life-long learning. Based on developmentally appropriate practice, the curriculum focuses on play, creativity, and hands-on discovery learning for children 6 weeks to 5 years of age. Our intention is to be a model of quality Early Childhood Education programs for the communities we serve.

Contact 310.258.8900 for more information.

Public Safety
The Public Safety Office is located in Foley Annex and is open seven days a week, 24 hours a day. Lost and found is located here.

Public Safety may be contacted by phone at 310.338.2893. In case of emergency, dial 222 from any on-campus phone.

All motor vehicles used on campus must be registered through Public Safety. The registered owner is responsible for displaying the University parking decal, affixed at the time of vehicle registration.

For more information about Public Safety’s services, please go to http://www.lmu.edu/publicsafety.

University Bookstore
Books, sundry items, school spirit clothing, and gifts are available through the University Bookstore. The operating hours during the academic year are: Monday-Thursday, 7:45 a.m.-7:00 p.m.; Friday, 7:45 a.m.-5:00 p.m.; Saturday, 9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.; and closed on Sundays.

The main campus store is located on the lower level of the Charles Von der Ahe Building. There is also an annex, selling snacks and gift items, located on the first floor of University Hall.

Shop 24 hours a day at http://www.efollett.com.

University Media
LMU Annual Report
This annual report highlights activities and accomplishments of the past year.

LMU Magazine
LMU Magazine is the University and alumni magazine for Loyola Marymount University. It is one of the many ways LMU keeps its alumni, faculty, staff, parents, and friends informed about what’s happening on this vibrant campus. The LMU Magazine mission is also to help the LMU community learn more about students, faculty, staff, and alumni; explore contemporary issues in society; find service and networking opportunities; and stay in touch with our Jesuit and Marymount traditions. For more information, go to http://magazine.lmu.edu.

University Organizations
Alumni Association
The Loyola Marymount Alumni Association is composed of approximately 50,000 former students of Loyola University, Marymount College, and LMU. The Association’s vision is to build and maintain lifelong relationships that add value to alumni and to the University. Through the Association, alumni and students help ensure the continued excellence of LMU and are challenged to live LMU’s mission in their social, spiritual, professional, and intellectual experiences. Programs and events that promote this mission include: Alumni for Others—LMU’s signature alumni service program, President’s Day—when LMU’s president hosts alumni as they return and learn, Alumni Grand Reunion, Alumni BBQ, and regional events in cities across the country. Guiding the Alumni Association’s programs are dedicated volunteers including the Alumni Association Board of Directors, regional event planners and hosts, and student leaders. To access the Association’s calendar of events, benefits, and services, or ways to become involved, visit http://www.lmu.edu/alumni.
Loyola Marymount University Parents Association

The LMU Parents Association is an informal organization of all LMU parents. Under the leadership of the Parent Ambassador Council, the Association seeks to broaden the understanding of the educational philosophy and goals of the University, act as a liaison between the administration and parents to ensure the exchange of ideas and mutual concerns, and respond to the needs of the University. For additional information or to become a Parent Ambassador, please contact the Office of Parent Relations at 310.338.7037.
STUDENT AFFAIRS

The Division of Student Affairs is committed to providing co-curricular experiences which enhance the educational mission and foster the total development of the student. The Office of the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs is the administrative center and leader of the Division and its departments and programs. Similarly, the Student Affairs Dean of Students Office serves as a liaison between the Division and University academic departments to enhance overall student welfare. The Division of Student Affairs holds students as central to the mission and values of the University.

The goals of the Division of Student Affairs are:

- To promote innovative programs and events which develop an enlivened and engaged campus community
- To instill in students the value of service and the promotion of justice
- To guide students through a process of reflection, self-discovery, and character development
- To promote the balanced development of body, mind, and spirit
- To foster students’ respect for each other in an intercultural community
- To advance the University’s recruitment and retention efforts.

These goals are implemented through services and programs which are provided by the following areas:
- Office of the Senior Vice President
- Dean of Students Office
- Athletics
- Campus Recreation
- Career Development Services
- Center for Service and Action
- Ethnic and Intercultural Services
- First Year Experience
- Judicial Affairs
- LGBT Student Services
- Off Campus Student Life
- Office for International Students and Scholars
- Parent Programs
- Student Health Services
- Student Housing
- Student Leadership and Development
- Student Media
- Student Psychological Services
- Transfer Programs
- Veteran Programs

Learning Outcomes

Graduates of Loyola Marymount University will:

- Develop a well-defined sense of self and confidence in their abilities and gifts
- Adopt lifestyles that reflect a balance of spiritual, physical, emotional, and intellectual health
- Integrate knowledge and experience in the process of discernment to make life-giving decisions
- Take initiative to make meaningful contributions as citizens within and beyond their communities
- Demonstrate an understanding of a diversity of the human experience and embody the ideals of interculturalism
- Educate themselves about contemporary social justice issues and strive to create a more just society.

Loyola Marymount University participates in nine intercollegiate sports for men: basketball, baseball, crew, cross country, golf, soccer, tennis, track, and water polo; ten intercollegiate sports for women: basketball, crew, cross country, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track, water polo, and volleyball; and one coed sport: cheerleading. LMU is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division I and competes in the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation, the Pacific Coast Softball Conference. For more information, please visit our website at http://www.lmulions.com.

Medical Examination for Intercollegiate Student Athletes

New and returning students planning to participate in intercollegiate sports are required to submit a completed LMU Athletics Department Medical Clearance Packet, signed by their private physician, to the Athletics Compliance Office prior to their participation in conditioning, practice, and/or competition.

Campus Recreation

Campus Recreation at LMU supervises the facilities, services, and programs dedicated to student recreation. The recreation facilities consist of the Fritz B. Burns Recreation Center including the FitWell Center, and student hangouts such as the Lion’s Den Coffee Shop, Huesman Movie Theater, The Living Room, The Commons, and the Loft Sports Lounge. Campus Recreation also offers a number of services and programs such as Club Sports, Fitness & Wellness programs, Intramural Sports, as well as events by Mane Entertainment for the entire LMU community. Finally, Campus Recreation provides student transportation through services such as Lion Express Shuttle Service and Zipcar auto sharing service. The Fritz B. Burns Recreation Center provides the opportunity for physical recreation, including group exercise classes, Intramural and Club Sports, lap swimming, and a state-of-the-art workout facility. (Please see Tuition and Fees for current rates.)

The FitWell Center, located on the first floor of the Recreation Center, is committed to providing health and wellness programming and education for the entire LMU campus. Offerings include a variety of group exercise classes, personal training packages, fitness assessments, and specialized wellness presentations.

Student Hangouts

The Department of Campus Recreation student hangouts allow the LMU community to study, meet up with friends, watch TV, play games, use a computer, enjoy food/beverages and more across campus. These locations include The Lion’s Den, Huesman Movie Theater, The Living Room, The Commons, and The Loft.

The Lion’s Den is a student-run coffee shop with a friendly energetic staff serving only 100% fair trade, shade grown, organic coffees, hot chocolate, and delicious pastries. For more information, visit the website at http://www.lmu.edu/studentlife/campusrec/lionsden.htm.

The Huesman Movie Theater provides a high quality theatre experience at a low cost for students on campus. The Huesman Theater shows a mix of recently released movies as well as long standing classics, providing options for every student. Schedules are set monthly, generally with showings on the weekends.

The Commons is a comfortable student-oriented lounge on the first floor of the Malone Student Center that serves multiple functions, including a location to study, meet, watch TV, and use a computer throughout the day. It features computers, tables, and couches devoted to student use.

The Living Room is a performance venue featuring events almost every night of the week, from live concerts and stand-up comedians, to poetry readings and Open Mic Nights. During the day and evenings at the end of the semester, the space is used as a location for study groups.

The Loft is a casual, standalone student-run facility with two levels. The first floor feature a living room-type setting with a fireplace and pool table. The larger open area upstairs contains big flat screen TVs, allowing students to be able to enjoy a beverage and snack while watching their favorite sports team play. The Loft hosts special events like Senior Nights and private parties.

Entertainment

Mane Entertainment is responsible for all social programming for Campus Recreation. Weekly, students can enjoy bands, comedians, hypno- tists, spoken word, and other forms of entertainment in the Malone Student Center Living Room. Mane Entertainment also coordinates the Men's Basketball Tailgates, Convos events, and cultural celebrations. Additionally, it nurtures the growth of student performers with a weekly Open Mic night as well as student competitions like Battle of the Bands and Last Student Standing events.

Student Transportation

The Lion Express provides shuttle service to local attractions including shopping malls, restaurants, and of course, the beach. There is no charge to ride the shuttles, but a valid LMU OneCard is required, and reservations should be made in advance.

Zipcar is the world's largest car sharing service and provides students with a convenient, economical, and environmentally-friendly alternative to the hassles of having a car on campus. Zipcar arrived at LMU in the fall of 2010 and provides students with the opportunity to use its vehicles 24/7. For more information, go to: http://www.zipcar.com/limu.

Career Development Services

Career Development Services, in support of the mission of Loyola Marymount University and the Division of Student Affairs, is dedicated to the development process of the education of the whole person. Career Development Services is comprised of three areas: Student Employee Services, Career Counseling, and Internship and Employer Services. All students, both undergraduate and graduate level, and alumni may participate in a wide variety of services. Students and alumni may contact Career Development Services by calling 310.338.2871. For more information on these services and upcoming events, students can also visit the website at http://www.lmu.edu/studentlife/Career_Development_Services.htm.

Office hours are 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Monday-Friday with extended hours on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 5:00 p.m.-7:00 p.m. when classes are in session. Students and alumni of the MBA program are encouraged to visit the Office of MBA Career Services located in the Hilton Center for Business or by calling 310.338.7558.

Student Employment Services

Student Employment Services provides part-time employment assistance to all LMU students. It offers skill development and contributes to the overall campus experience.

All part-time employment opportunities may be found at http://lionjobs.lmu.edu.

Undergraduate and Graduate Student Employment

Federal Work Study and LMU Work

Federal Work Study and LMU Work is the largest source of employment for undergraduate students. Work Study is awarded to students based upon financial need and is jointly funded by the Federal Government and the University. Opportunities for employment are either on campus or off campus at designated non-profit organizations. Work Study must be applied for Work Study jobs, please visit LionJobs at https://limu-csm.symplicity.com/students, and search for positions under the Work Study tab.

Transfer Work (T-Work)

Various University departments fund on-campus part-time positions through Transfer Work funding and do not require financial need as a qualification for eligibility. T-Work is the largest source of funding for graduate students including Graduate Assistantships. Applications for Graduate Assistantships can be found at http://graduate.lmu.edu/resources/assistantships.htm. Other T-Work positions can be found under the part-time position tab on LionJobs at https://limu-csm.symplicity.com/students.

Part-Time Employment Off Campus

Student Employment Services works with employers off campus to provide employment opportunities for students in a variety of fields. These positions can be found under the part-time position tab on LionJobs at https://limu-csm.symplicity.com/students.

Additional Employment Opportunities

Student Worker Program

The Student Worker Program gives undergraduate students the opportunity to live and work on campus on a year-round basis while at the same time earning money toward their tuition. The Student Worker Program consists of 12 men and 12 women, working in various University departments. To apply, students should contact the Student Worker office at 310.338.5013.

Career Counseling

Career Development Services is committed to encouraging students to discover their own strengths, interests, and values; engaging employers who present opportunities for students and alumni to use their professional work to make a positive difference; and providing meaningful services to our constituent communities. The staff of trained professional counselors is here to help by providing the following services:

Career Counseling

Mock Interviews

Resume Critiques and Preparation Assistance

Career Development Strategies Course (LIBA 250/251)

Graduate and Professional School Preparation

Career Interest Assessment

Career Resource Library

Internship and Employer Services

CDS encourages all students to gain practical experience in their field of study prior to graduation. CDS helps students develop strategies to obtain an internship and gain a better understanding of their chosen career. Also, to better assist those students who are gearing up for “Life After LMU,” the department offers a series of programs and services intended to connect them with employers and representatives from graduate schools and programs. The online database, LionJobs, allows students to sign up for part-time on- and off-campus jobs, and to meet with employers coming to campus to interview students. The staff offers the following:

Annual Career School Fairs

Employer Information Sessions

On-campus Recruiting

Internships and Job Search Advising

Mentoring and Networking Programs

Online Job and Internship Listings on LionJobs

Annual Graduate School Fair

Etiquette Dinner

Center for Service and Action

The Center for Service and Action (CSA) seeks to educate and form men and women for others, especially with and for the disadvantaged and the oppressed. Through direct personal contact between students and the marginalized in community-based learning experiences, CSA fosters a solidarity with the poor that will lead to intellectual inquiry, moral reflection, and social action.

CSA is directly responsible for Community-Based Learning Courses, the Service and Action House, the Service Organization Program, Post-Graduate Volunteer Service Advisement, Underwings Praxis, El Espejo, and the Alternative Breaks Program. For more information, please call 310.338.2959 or visit the website at http://www.lmu.edu/studentlife/csa.htm.

Ethnic & Intercultural Services

Ethnic & Intercultural Services (EIS) is a student-centered department guided by Loyola Marymount University’s mission to encourage learning, educate the whole person, and foster the service of faith and the promotion of justice. Grounded by LMU’s intercultural values, EIS serves as a resource for all students as they prepare for the challenges and rewards of living in a diverse society. EIS Offices work in concert to empower all students to participate fully in campus life and achieve personal success, with a special focus on helping first-year students of color transition to university life. Ethnic & Intercultural Services consists of five linked offices—Asian Pacific Student Services, Chicano Latino Student Services, Intercultural Affairs, Jewish Student Services, the Office of Black Student Services, and one Peer Mentor Program—that reflect the rich diversity of Loyola Marymount University. Office hours are Monday-
Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., with extended hours from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Wednesdays when classes are in session. For more information, please call 310.338.5808 or visit the website at http://www.lmu.edu/studentlife/eis.htm.

Peer Mentor Program

The EIS Peer Mentor Program is designed to provide services and activities to first-year students of culture to aid in the transition from high school to college and engage them academically and socially in all aspects of the University. The Peer Mentors are committed to helping students excel in their first year of college by providing guidance, friendship, encouragement, information about University resources and college life, and opportunities for interaction within LMU's intercultural community. Assigned to mentor groups according to major, freshmen are immediately immersed within a group of students with whom they can socialize, study, and learn. Some of our key programs are: First Year Getaway Weekend, First Year Social, Prowl 101, and Finals Week Care Packages.

Asian Pacific Student Services

Asian Pacific Student Services (APSS) engages the intercultural community at Loyola Marymount University in the issues, culture, and experiences of Asian Pacific Americans through advocacy, community building, education, resources, programming, and the development of leaders. APSS aims to raise consciousness by developing a community of like-minded individuals who will continue throughout their lives to support the mission of Loyola Marymount University with an open and developing understanding of Asian Pacific Americans and the larger intercultural global community.

APSS programs include THIRD TUESDAY (a monthly opportunity to hang out in the casual setting of the Living Room while enjoying various Asian Pacific American performers—spoken word, theatre, live music, etc.); POWER TRIPS (empowering field trips out into Asian Pacific American Los Angeles); the APA ROUNDTABLE (a monthly gathering of APA student organizational leaders); and various other regular opportunities throughout the year to engage in—dialogue, learn, share, enjoy, empower, and celebrate—Asian Pacific America. APSS works closely with the Asian Pacific American community both on and off campus as well as the greater LMU community.

Chicano Latino Student Services

Chicano Latino Student Services (CLSS) provides culturally sensitive programs that foster and promote the academic and personal success of Latino/a students. In addition, it strives to educate the campus about Latino/a issues and the ethnic diversity represented within the community (i.e., Central and South America, Caribbean, and Mexico).

In collaboration with Student Leadership and Development, the CLSS Office provides advisement to over 14 student clubs and organizations reflecting academic, cultural, professional, service, athletic, and social diversity.

Jewish Student Services

The Office of Jewish Student Services oversees and works very closely with the student group, Hillel. It seeks to create an open environment for discussing aspects of the Jewish faith among peers, and to build an environment excited to engage together in learning, social and cultural activities, social justice projects, and prayer. Students who engage with the Jewish community at LMU have an opportunity to celebrate Judaism as an integral part of life at LMU. Hillel is a student-led group on campus focused on the exploration of and engagement in Jewish life on campus. It is open to students of all faiths who are interested in exploring and participating in Jewish activities, holidays, and celebrations. Some of the signature programs are: Campus-wide Shabbat Dinner, Sustainable Seder: A Tu Bishvat experience, Purim Extravaganza, and Free At Last? Passover and Civil Rights Past and Present.

Intercultural Affairs

The Office of Intercultural Affairs is dedicated to developing an environment that encourages intercultural awareness, understanding, and interaction. Intercultural Affairs is committed to developing socially responsible men and women who understand that as we learn to value the qualities of diverse cultures, we begin to appreciate the shared element of our common humanity. The office provides human relations trainings, meditations, advocacy, open forums, retreats, and classes all focused toward developing students committed to the Loyola Marymount legacy of cultural consciousness and progressive social action. Some of the signature events include: The Intercultural Summit, The Intercultural Roundtable, Unity Fest, Empowerment Sessions, and Men and Women For and With Others sessions.

Office of Black Student Services

The Office of Black Student Services (OBSS) enhances and engages the intercultural campus environment through programs and services focuses on the African American community. OBSS signature co-curricular programs and services include The Annual Student Retreat, Kente Graduation, Black History Month events, and Frosh Conversations.

First Year Experience

First Year Experience aspires to build relationships with students in order to ensure the successful transition of every first year student into the collegiate culture of Loyola Marymount University. This is accomplished through involvement in campus activities, learning, and development opportunities. Upon completion of their first year, it is our hope to have freshmen involved in campus organizations, clubs, and student groups in order to cultivate a positive sense of self, confidence, and to acquire the tools necessary to educate the whole person. For more information on First Year Experience, call 310.338.5252.

Judicial Affairs

Mission

Operating within the context of the University’s mission, the Department of Judicial Affairs seeks to maintain the University’s academic environment by educating and upholding community standards. The Department of Judicial Affairs supports the educational mission of the University by administering the Student Conduct Code in a manner that educates and holds students accountable for Student Conduct Code violations and helps students develop into more responsible and community-minded persons.

About Judicial Affairs

The Department of Judicial Affairs is committed to fostering an environment conducive to the pursuit of knowledge. Such an environment is based upon respect, trust, and integrity among all members of the LMU community: students, faculty, and staff. As members of this community, students are entitled to certain rights and privileges. In order to protect rights and privileges for all students, there are guidelines for student conduct which facilitate the educational goals of the University. It is necessary that students become familiar with their rights and responsibilities as members of the LMU community. The LMU Community Standards Publication outlines standards of behavior which are appropriate for students in the community.

Policies have been established to assist in building a learning community where the respect, consideration, and dignity of every member of the LMU community are priorities. Of course, no single policy or group of policies can anticipate every eventuality. Accordingly, LMU expressly reserves the right to revise, supplement, or withdraw any policy or portion of a policy from time to time as it deems necessary.

The Student Conduct Code is published in the Community Standards. All students are responsible for the contents within the Community Standards. Physical copies of this booklet are available in the Department of Judicial Affairs, Malone 355. The electronic version can be found on the Judicial Affairs website at http://www.lmu.edu/studentlife/Judicial_Affairs.htm.

The Department of Judicial Affairs is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday from 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m., on Wednesday from 8:00 a.m.-7:00 p.m., and may be contacted via telephone at 310.338.1821.

LGBT Student Services

The Loyola Marymount University Office of LGBT Student Services is committed to serving the needs of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and questioning students. In keeping with the University's belief in the dignity and worth of all members of our campus community, the Office supports and affirms all students regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity. In addition, the Office works to educate and enhance understanding, acceptance, and awareness regarding LGBT issues and concerns. The Office provides programming, resources, support, and networking opportunities for gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and questioning students and the general student population. For additional information about LGBT Student Services, call 310.338.5482.

Off-Campus Student Life

Working within the University’s mission to educate the whole person, Off-Campus Student Life provides programs and services for those LMU students living outside the University resident community, with efforts directed towards building positive community relations, encouraging personal responsibility, and developing life-long citizenship. For additional information on Off-Campus Student Life services, call 310.LMU.6262.

Office for International Students and Scholars

The Office for International Students and Scholars (OISS) promotes international education, mutual understanding, and cultural exchange through the administration of international programs and services designed to promote greater collaboration among LMU’s international and local communities.

The OISS provides vital immigration assistance to international students, staff, and faculty, both at the Westchester Campus and Loyola Law School. OISS provides assistance in matters related to maintaining non-immigrant status under LMU’s international programs and complying with the regulations of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), and the U.S. Department of State (DOS). Moreover, the OISS acts as a resource for the international concerns of the University community.

In addition to these services, the OISS provides a multitude of programs designed to celebrate and enhance the international community at LMU. For more information, visit http://www.lmu.edu/oiss, or call 310.338.2937.

Parent Programs

The mission of the Parent Program is to develop a relationship with parents in order to foster and support the growth, development, and ultimately the success of their student at LMU. For additional information on Parent Programs, call 310.338.1798.

Student Health Services

Student Health Service (SHS) strives to create a safe and healthy campus community for all by providing those services, opportunities, and experiences which support academic pursuits and personal development.

The Health Center is a full-service medical office and is accredited by the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care (AAAHC). SHS offers a wide range of primary healthcare services including treatment for common acute illnesses and injuries, women’s healthcare, skin care problems, x-rays, allergy injections and immunizations.

Occasionally, a student may need to be seen by a specialist for a more serious or complex medical problem. In this case, the student may be referred by the SHS clinician to a network of nearby specialists or they may select his/her own specialist. The student is responsible for transportation and medical costs related to the specialty care.

The healthcare team includes physicians, nurse practitioners, registered nurses and other highly trained healthcare support staff.

Immunizations

The University requires immunizations for all incoming students. These immunizations include proof of two measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR) vaccinations and a TB test within the past 12 months. Students are notified of these immunization requirements by mail. Failure to fulfill the immunization requirements may result in a “health hold” and they will not be able to register for the upcoming semester classes.

Eligibility

Full-time undergraduate students are eligible to be seen in the SHS; Full-time graduate and law students are also eligible, but are charged a fee once per semester at the time they access the health center.

Costs

Students may incur expenses for medical procedures, laboratory tests, medicines and supplies. SHS does not submit insurance claims or bill insurance plans directly, but can provide documentation listing the charges and proper codes which can then be submitted by the student to their insurance plan for reimbursement.

Student Health Insurance Plan

The University requires all full-time undergraduate and graduate students to have health insurance. Students who do not have coverage under a family plan or personal health insurance plan are required to purchase the LMU endorsed health insurance plan which is underwritten and administered by Aetna Student Health Insurance.

The Aetna Insurance Plan has two components: Accident Only and the Combined Accident Only/Sickness component. The Accident Only plan provides coverage for an injury or illness related to an accident that may occur on or off campus. This plan is mandatory for all full-time students even if they have coverage with a family or personal health insurance plan.

The combined Accident Only/Sickness plan is designed for those students who do not have family or other personal health insurance coverage. This plan is optional, however all full-time students are automatically enrolled in this plan at the same time they enroll for their coursework. If the student has other health insurance coverage, they may go on-line to the Aetna web site and follow the link to waive out of the sickness component of the plan. The waiver must be submitted each academic year by the enrollment deadline.

Contact Information

The Student Health Center is located on the north side of the Burns Recreation Center, first floor. Office hours are 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m., with extended hours on Wednesdays until 7:00 p.m. during the academic year.

For additional information, call 310.338.2881 or visit the website at http://www.lmu.edu/studentlife/healthservices.htm.

Student Psychological Services

Student Psychological Services (SPS) provides psychological and emotional assistance to currently enrolled LMU students; there is no charge for services. A student’s contact with SPS is protected by laws of confidentiality with a few rare legal exceptions, and therapy records are separate from academic records. SPS is a safe, welcoming environment for all students regardless of their gender, ethnicity, race, culture, religious beliefs, sexual orientation, national origin, age, physical or mental abilities, and/or socioeconomic status. SPS strives to cultivate students’ ability to develop to their full personal, social, and academic potential.

SPS staff are highly trained, user-friendly, and committed to student well-being. Students seek SPS services for a variety of mild to more significant concerns, including adjustment to college, conflict resolution, anxiety, depression, academic and/or life stress, disordered eating, trauma, substance abuse, relationship concerns, and other life issues. SPS offers individual, couple, and group counseling. Consultation is available to students, parents, and staff, as are referrals for extended treatment. Outreach programs throughout the year include Wellness Wednesday and online screenings. A relaxation room with biofeedback is available to all students during regular office hours.

SPS is located on the north side of the Burns Recreation Center, 2nd floor. Office hours are 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. with extended hours on Wednesday until 7:00 p.m. during the academic year. Appointments may be scheduled by coming to the office or calling 310.338.2868. Appointments must be cancelled at 24 hours prior to your appointment, otherwise a fee of $25.00 will be charged for a missed appointment.
A therapist is available during the day in case of personal emergency or crisis. After hours, please call Public Safety at 310.338.2893. For more information, visit the web page at http://www.lmu.edu/counseling.

Student Housing and Residence Life

LMU Student Housing, comprised of Residence Life, Resident Ministry, and Resident Services, provides a unique opportunity for participation in community living and learning. Knowing that the physical and social environment affects the intellectual and social development of students, every effort is made to create communities which reflect the University’s educational mission.

A Resident Director (RD) and Resident Advisors (RAs), under the supervision of an Assistant Director for Residence Life (AD), are responsible for overseeing the living environment and developing programs in each housing facility. The staff is responsible for creating an atmosphere conducive to building community and promoting scholarship. They provide opportunities for students to become acquainted with one another and involved in campus activities. They also encourage students to take full advantage of cultural and intellectual opportunities within the University and in Los Angeles.

LMU is proud of its Resident Ministry program. Resident Ministers (RMs) are priests, sisters, and lay ministers who live in each of the residence facilities and provide spiritual guidance, individual support for life challenges, and programming related to the University’s mission and religious identity.

On-campus housing is available to all levels of undergraduate students. There is also a limited number of graduate housing available which is on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information about Student Housing, please go to http://www.lmu.edu/housing.

Student Leadership & Development

Student Leadership & Development strives to enrich the learning environment for students seeking growth outside the classroom. The staff works with ASLMU, all co-curricular clubs and organizations, the Greek Community, and the Leadership Institute. Student Leadership & Development offers assistance with programming and planning of events and special projects, as well as assistance and support in the formation of new organizations. The department also provides advocacy and support to students throughout their academic career.

Associated Students of Loyola Marymount University

The Associated Students of Loyola Marymount University (ASLMU) includes all undergraduate students that are currently enrolled. ASLMU, through the Cabinet and Student Senate, is the voice of the entire student body representing students on all issues impacting student life. ASLMU has a delegate on each of the University-wide committees that encompass the full spectrum of University life from Social Justice and the Status of Women to Intercultural Advisory and Technology committees. In addition to planning University-wide campus activities and traditions from dances, concerts, speakers, ASLMU hosts a variety of programs focused on campus community, environmental responsibility, intercultural affairs, and social justice. ASLMU supports student clubs and organizations through the allocation of funds from the Student Reserve Board to enhance the LMU community experience. Services offered by ASLMU are supported by the student activity fee.

Leadership Institute

The LMU Leadership Institute hosts a variety of opportunities for students to learn and grow as leaders. The Institute focuses on the development of students as leaders of themselves, their groups, and their community. It’s all about how students can make change in society happen and truly live as men and women with and for others. Students can take part in one-semester-hour leadership seminars, participate in a leadership workshop series, and more. From leadership lunches to leadership resources online, the Leadership Institute supports students as they continue to develop their leadership style and philosophy. Ultimately, what students choose to lead and how they choose to lead is critical and will shape our world tomorrow. The LMU Leadership Institute is online at http://www.lmu.edu/leadership.

Student Organizations

As a student-centered, Catholic university, Loyola Marymount University recognizes the importance of clubs, programs, and services in fostering the educational mission of the University and offers a wide variety of each appealing to the needs of the student body. There is a plethora of clubs and organizations which include such areas of interest as academic, cultural, arts and entertainment, fraternity/sorority, service, governance, advisory, political, social justice, spiritual, religious, and intramural sports. A current list of registered academic/co-curricular student clubs and organizations on campus is available online at the Student Leadership and Development website at http://www.lmu.edu/sld. The views and positions of a registered club or organization does not necessarily reflect the position of Loyola Marymount University.

Greek Life

With a strong sense of service and philanthropic endeavors, LMU Greeks give over 18,000 hours of service and over $120,000 to local and national charities—each year. Academics also remain a top priority, with the all-Greek GPA being at or above the all-LMU GPA for the past 20 semesters. LMU Greeks are approximately 25% of the campus population. Anyone interested in joining a fraternity or sorority must have at least a 2.5 cumulative GPA and 12 semester hours completed; some chapters may have higher grade requirements. For more information on LMU’s largest population of students, go to the Greek Life Suite in Malone 120; office hours are 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8:00 a.m.-7:00 p.m. on Wednesdays, call 310.338.7814, visit the website at http://www.lmu.edu/greeklife, or go on Facebook and search for LMU Greek Life.

Student Media

The Los Angeles Loyolan

The Los Angeles Loyolan newspaper is available on campus in print on Mondays and Thursdays and online 24/7 at http://www.theloyolan.com. The award-winning Los Angeles Loyolan is produced by students for students in order to provide a free flow of news and information to the LMU community. Students are responsible for creating, printing, and distributing the newspaper as well as operating the website.

KXLU/KLMU

As one of the only opportunities in the Los Angeles market for students to experience all aspects of radio broadcasting, KXLU 88.9 FM Los Angeles provides a supportive learning environment and training ground. The radio station offers an environment conducive to the creative expression of artistic freedom via musical exploration, experimentation, and interpretation. Students can also gain practical experience in all areas of station operations, including broadcasting, programming, technical engineering, production, public affairs, promotions, marketing, and management. Additionally, KXLU fosters an education in music industry knowledge and savvy regarding current musical trends, practices, and standards, as well as providing an opportunity to work with bands, record labels, venues, promoters, booking agents, and other industry professionals.

KXLU’s mission is to give underrepresented artists and musical genres that do not have a voice on the traditional mainstream circuit an alternative and supportive forum in which to showcase their talent. The station offers over 25 different types of musical genres for its listeners, including progressive and independent rock, punk, classical, opera, world, country, hip hop, metal, lounge, jazz, blues, and theater and film, as well as being home to one of the most successful and longest running Latin radio programs in the country, Alma del Barrio. KXLU broadcasts 24 hours a day all year round.

KLMU Online Radio operates as an Internet-based radio station serving the LMU community, operates from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 a.m. during the academic year.

Interested students are encouraged to stop by the radio station for a tour, learn more, and apply for a DJ position.

ROAR Network

ROAR Network television can be seen on campus (including residence hall rooms) on LMU Cable Channel 6 and on the web at http://www.roarnetwork.com. ROAR Network is a nationally recognized student-run television station whose mission is to:

- Produce and distribute dynamic student-focused content.
- Provide students with practical hands-on experience in the field of broadcasting.
- Support the University by providing high-quality video services.

The Tower

The award-winning Tower yearbook chronicles campus life and captures the essence of the people who make the University come alive. The student-run yearbook is published and distributed to full-time undergraduate students each spring. The Tower yearbook is free for all full-time undergraduate students (its cost is included in tuition).

Transfer Programs

Transfer Programs is a student support office within Student Affairs. The program was begun in recognition of the fact that transfer students frequently have special circumstances that place unusual demands on their time and call for specialized assistance. The primary role of Transfer Programs is to help transfer students quickly locate appropriate sources of advice and other services relevant to their educational and student life needs.

For additional information on Transfer Programs, call 310.LMU.6262.

Veteran Programs

LMU Veteran Programs aims to assist veterans and dependants of veterans in their success at LMU by providing support, resources, and information that meet their unique needs. LMU Veterans Programs works to connect transfer and continuing LMU student-veterans to the campus-wide network of advocates and specialists. The office assists in leveraging student-veterans’ experiences by fortifying their educational and career goals through maximizing benefits and funding, creating community among student-veterans, and providing additional links with the many community service-based organizations.

Most student-veterans will come to LMU as transfer students. To apply for benefits, they need eligibility documents (DD214; discharge papers/separation document) from their military branch of service. Once eligibility has been established, LMU Veteran Programs can begin with "initial entry" of student-veterans by providing eligible students with additional support through counseling, tutoring, peer advising, workshops, guidance for those seeking admission to graduate/professional programs, and other services. The goal of LMU Veteran Programs is to increase student-veteran engagement, retention, and attainment of degrees.

LMU Veteran Programs proudly recognize veterans' military service and will do its best to assist as needed. To learn more about Veteran Programs, contact 424.LMU.VETS (424.568.8487) or e-mail veteranprograms@lmu.edu.
ADMISSION TO THE UNIVERSITY

Undergraduate Admission

Loyola Marymount University welcomes applications from students who subscribe to the goals of the University and who are qualified to undertake its programs. The University makes selective and individual decisions, and the academic record is the primary consideration. Writing ability; accomplishments in academic, artistic, athletic, co-curricular, or work- or service-related endeavors; recommendations; national test scores; and relationship to the University are also given significant consideration. Each application is individually evaluated.

Candidates are considered for admission to either the Fall or Spring semester, provided all required documents have been received before the priority dates. The Fall priority date for freshman applicants is January 15; transfer applications are due March 15; the Spring priority date for all applicants is October 15. An Early Action program is also offered to freshman applicants for the Fall semester. The Early Action application deadline is November 1. Full consideration cannot be assured to applicants failing to meet these priority dates. A personal interview is not required, but individual Admission counseling appointments are encouraged. Personal appointments and campus tours can be arranged through the Office of Admission. Please visit http://admission.lmu.edu or call 310.338.2750. The fax number is 310.338.2797, and the e-mail address is admissions@lmu.edu.

Business students must complete a unit in each of the following: elementary algebra, geometry, intermediate algebra/trigonometry, and precalculus. Engineering, computer science, mathematics, and science majors should complete four units of mathematics and one unit each of biology, chemistry, and physics.

Admission Procedure

Loyola Marymount University is an exclusive user of the Common Application. All applicants should file the Common Application by the appropriate deadline and submit a $60 nonrefundable application fee. The following procedures apply to all candidates. Transfer and international applicants should be sure to note specific additional requirements as stated below. Candidates seeking admission to Loyola Marymount University should:

1. File the Common Application and the LMU Supplement by the appropriate deadline and submit a $60 nonrefundable application fee or an appropriate fee waiver. The Common Application form is available online at http://www.lmu.edu.
2. Request official transcripts to be sent from the last high school attended and from each college attended. Advanced Placement students must submit official AP test score results in order to receive college credit.
3. Arrange for SAT I or ACT scores to be sent to the Director of Admission. Information about SAT I may be obtained from the College Board: P.O. Box 6200, Princeton, NJ 08541-6200. Information about ACT may be obtained from the American College Testing Program: ACT Records, P.O. Box 451, Iowa City, IA 52243.
4. Before school begins, all entering students are required to submit an official final high school transcript certifying the completion of secondary requirements and showing the high school graduation date. Transfer students are also required to submit official transcripts for any courses completed since the application for admission was filed. Students failing to submit required transcripts will be prevented from registering for subsequent semesters until this requirement is satisfied.

Notification of Acceptance

Candidates will be evaluated for admission as soon as all of the required steps in the application process have been completed, according to the following calendar:

- Fall freshman applicants (Early Notification): Decisions for candidates applying under the Early Action program whose applications are complete by November 1 will be announced before December 20. Early Action applications may be accepted, denied, or deferred for further consideration during the regular decision process. Loyola Marymount’s Early Action program is non-binding.
- Fall freshman applicants (Regular Decision): Decisions for candidates considered under the Regular Decision program (applications submitted after November 1 and before January 15) will be sent on a rolling basis, and no later than April 1.
- Fall semester transfer applicants and all Spring semester candidates: Notification of acceptance will be sent on a rolling basis.

A final transcript is required as verification that all work in progress has been completed with a GPA equal to or greater than the student’s overall grade point average at the time of acceptance. In the event that the final semester of work does not meet required criteria, acceptance may be rescinded.

Academic Scholarships

Each year the Loyola Marymount Scholarship Committee offers academic scholarships to the most accomplished candidates for freshman admission. These scholarships are renewable for four years and are not based on financial need.

The Arrupe Scholarship, named for Fr. Pedro Arrupe, S.J., the former Superior General of the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits), carries a minimum value of $12,500 per year. Selection is based on outstanding GPA and SAT I/ACT scores, with supplemental consideration to leadership potential and school or community service and involvement.

From among the Arrupe Scholars, the Scholarship Committee further selects a very limited number of students for additional scholarship consideration. These students—no more than 10% of all Arrupe Scholars—will be invited to participate in Presidential Preview Weekend in late February, which offers a special opportunity to see the campus and to interview for the Presidential and Trustee Scholarships (see the Financial Aid section of the Bulletin for more information on these scholarships).

While there are no absolute criteria for Arrupe Scholarships, to be considered, students selected must generally present a GPA of at least 3.5 (unweighted) and an SAT I score of 1300 (Critical Reading and Math) or an ACT of 29 or better. All students meeting the January 15 Regular Decision deadline will be eligible for selection as an Arrupe Scholar. Superior students are encouraged to apply under the Early Action program to ensure full consideration for Presidential and Trustee Scholarships.

In addition to the Arrupe, Presidential, and Trustee Scholarships, qualified applicants may be selected to receive the LMU Scholarship or LMU Scholarships. Information about SAT I may be obtained from the American College Testing Program: ACT Records, P.O. Box 451, Iowa City, IA 52243.

Commitment Deposit

Accepted students intending to enroll are required to submit a nonrefundable $250 commitment deposit to secure their seat in the class. The commitment deposit is held by the University and is non-refundable. The commitment deposit may be applied at the discretion of the University against any delinquent and unpaid debts. This deposit is payable from the student’s own resources. It will neither be deducted from any financial aid awards nor billed as part of tuition and fees.

If the commitment deposit is not received within the stated time, the acceptance for admission may be canceled.
Housing
First-time freshmen entering in the Fall term are guaranteed University housing, provided their commitment deposit and housing request are received electronically or postmarked no later than May 1 for Fall admission.

Fall term transfer students and any student entering in the Spring term are not guaranteed housing. Instead, they are offered accommodations on a space-available basis. Their housing requests will be processed on a first-come, first-served basis as they make their commitment deposits and return all requested Housing information.

Admission of Transfer Students
Each semester the University considers students for transfer, provided they are in good standing and not under academic or disciplinary probation or suspension from the last school attended. Please see the paragraph on Admission Procedure above for general admission requirements. The priority date for transfer applications is March 15 for Fall semester and October 15 for Spring semester. Transfer students are considered for admission as follows:

Students who would have been acceptable for admission as freshmen to Loyola Marymount University at the time of their graduation from high school will be considered for transfer standing if they have attained a minimum of 30 semester hours of transferable college work and at least a 3.00 average for the most recent college work attempted prior to admission.

Students who, for academic reasons, were not acceptable for admission as freshmen at the time of their graduation from high school will be considered for transfer standing if they have completed at least the equivalent of 30 semester hours of transferable college work with at least a 3.00 cumulative average and at least a 3.00 average for the most recent college work attempted prior to admission.

Admission of transfer students is selective and subject to available space and enrollment limitations. The minimum transfer GPA of 3.00 may not always be sufficient to secure admission. Likewise, certain majors require that some prerequisites be completed prior to transferring.

The College of Business Administration explains its transfer policy in its section of the Bulletin.

Transfer admission to Film and Television Production and Recording Arts in the School of Film and Television is limited and restricted to students with freshman or sophomore standing. Students with more than 30 transferable units are not eligible for admission to these programs.

Credit for work completed at institutions accredited by one of the six regional associations of the Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities, other than course work identified by such institutions as remedial or in other ways as being nontransferable, will be accepted toward the satisfaction of baccalaureate degree and credential requirements at the University within limitations of residence requirements. Courses with grades below C (2.0) do not transfer. A maximum of 60 semester hours from two-year colleges are transferable to the degree program of the University.

Policies regarding transfer credit for a particular degree may vary slightly among the individual colleges, depending upon degree requirements. In general, courses having comparable content and class level with those in the LMU curriculum will transfer.

Admission of International Students
International students should follow the same admission procedures and priority dates outlined above. International students are admitted as degree-seeking students only.

Further, international students are cautioned to comply with the following guidelines to ensure compliance with immigration authorities and avoid delay in the processing of the applications:

1. Take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) given by the Educational Testing Service and arrange for scores to be sent to the Director of Admission. Information about this test may be obtained from: Test of English as a Foreign Language, P.O. Box 6151, Princeton, NJ 08541-6151. The University’s minimum standard for undergraduate admission is 550 (paper-based TOEFL), 213 (computer-based TOEFL), or 80 (Internet-based TOEFL). As an alternative to taking the TOEFL, non-native English speakers may also take the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) which is jointly managed by British Council, IDP: IELTS Australia and the University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations (Cambridge ESOL). Information about this test may be obtained from: http://www.ielts.org. The University’s minimum standard for undergraduate admission is 6.5.

2. Submit a statement of financial responsibility for all obligations covering the full period of time for which the student is making application.

3. Submit official transcripts of previous academic training. Documents must be sent from the originating sources directly to the Admission Office and must cover all secondary schools attended and, if college study was attempted, all colleges and universities attended. Documents should include results of standard examinations administered by government or certifying agencies.

4. Transcripts from non-U.S. institutions must be submitted to an LMU-approved credentials evaluating agency for evaluation of U.S. equivalent course work and corresponding grade.

International transcripts submitted without appropriate evaluations will not be considered for eligible transfer work to LMU. Photostatic copies are acceptable only if they are notarized as true copies and bear the original seal of the notarizing authority. All documents submitted for admission become property of the University and will not be returned.

5. The United States Department of Justice Immigration and Naturalization Form (I-20) will be sent after the $250 non-refundable Commitment Deposit has been received by the Office of Admission.

Non-Degree Students
Students wishing to take courses at the University on a non-degree basis must file an application with the Office of Admission in accordance with regularly stated deadlines. Proof of eligibility to study at the University will be required, including transcripts or other appropriate documents.

Non-degree students will be allowed to study for a period of no more than three semesters or a total of 18 semester hours, whichever occurs first.

Advanced Placement
LMU participates in the Advanced Placement Program of the College Board. Students may be granted credit at the time of entrance into the University for subjects in which they have completed the AP examinations with scores of 5 or 4. When official scores have been received from the College Board, applicants will be notified of the advanced placement and course credit in accordance with the following table. Note that an essay is required for all examinations offering optional essays.

Graduate Admission

Master’s Degree and Credential

Loyola Marymount University welcomes applications from students without regard to race, color, gender, creed, national origin, disability, marital status, or religion. All prospective graduate students are expected to provide evidence of suitable preparation for graduate-level work. U.S. applicants should have received a bachelor’s degree from a college or university that has been accredited as a degree granting institution by one of the accrediting bodies recognized by the Commission on Recognition of Postsecondary Accreditation (CORPA). The bachelor’s degree must have been awarded by the institution where final coursework was completed. For School of Education applicants, the bachelor’s degree must be awarded from a regionally accredited college or university.

All applicants for a Master’s degree and for a California Credential must supply the following admission materials:

1. application for admission plus the application fee ($50.00) and 2) two official transcripts of all schools attended since high school. Most programs require additional materials, including standardized test scores, a personal statement, and letters of recommendation. Further details on the admission procedure, application deadlines, and departmental prerequisites are given in the section dealing with the respective programs.

A student who wishes to apply for admission to a program after the closing date for applications should contact the program director for permission to file an application.

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students

1. International applicants who have completed their postsecondary education from a college or university outside of the U.S. must hold a degree from a university recognized by the Ministry of Education as a degree granting institution in the country where the institution is located. All international applicants must have their transcripts translated and evaluated by a U.S. transcript evaluation service before the application is considered for admission. For applicants to the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering, School of Education, School of Film and Television, and Marital and Family Therapy program, a detailed transcript evaluation identifying GPA must be submitted with the application.

2. All applicants (including those who received their bachelor’s degree from a U.S. college or university) must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) unless they received a high school diploma in the United States.
Exceptions to this rule may be made on a case by case basis for students from countries where English is one of several official languages, as well as at the discretion of the program director. The minimum score for admission into most graduate programs is 100 Internet-based, except for the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering, which requires a minimum score of 79. For information regarding the TOEFL, please write to: Test of English as a Foreign Language, Box 899, Princeton, New Jersey, U.S.A., 08540. If after admission to a graduate program the applicant’s proficiency in English should prove inadequate, the University reserves the right to require additional proficiency in English and failure to comply will result in disqualification from the graduate program.

3. The applicant must also file with the University a certified statement showing financial ability to cover all obligations for the full period of time for which the student is making application. This statement should be from either a United States bank or agency or an international bank. The United States Department of Immigration and Naturalization Form I-20 Certificate of Eligibility will not be issued by the University until such documentation is on file in the Graduate Studies Office.

Tuition, books, etc., plus living expenses amount to between $25,000 and $40,000 a year or more depending on the program selected.

4. The applicant must comply with passport and visa requirements as set down by the United States Immigration Service. International students must be continuously enrolled during the academic year to meet visa requirements.

5. All admission requirements should be received ninety days prior to the term for which application is being made.

6. An international student cannot be issued an I-20 Certificate of Eligibility as a non-degree graduate student.

Non-Degree Status

Students who are not pursuing a formal graduate program but who are eligible to take graduate-level courses at LMU may apply for non-degree status. In addition to filing the Application for Non-Degree Graduate Status plus the application fee ($10.00), students should attach official copies of transcripts to verify receipt of a degree and that all prerequisites have been met. The Graduate Division reserves the right to request additional transcripts when necessary.

Reapplication Procedures for a Second Degree

A student who has completed one Master’s or credential program and wishes to enter another must file a formal application form with the Graduate Studies Office. A student who has completed a credential program at LMU and wishes to apply for a Master’s program must file a formal application form with the Graduate Studies Office. If the application is submitted within one year of completion of the master’s or credential, the normal application fee is waived.

Readmission

A student wishing to return to the University after two years in which he or she was not enrolled must reapply for admission through the Graduate Studies Office and will be evaluated on the same conditions as all other new students.

Admission Status

Students may be admitted to the Graduate Division under the following categories:

1. Formal Admission—Formally admitted students are those who have completed the entire application process and have been reviewed and accepted by a particular program with no conditions and provisions.

2. Provisional Admission—Provisionally admitted students are those who are missing one or more items or prerequisite courses.

3. Controlled Admission—Students on Controlled Admission are required to achieve some specific needs of their particular program.

4. Non-Degree Admission—Students admitted under non-degree status are not pursuing a formal graduate program but are eligible (as determined by the director of the graduate program) to take graduate-level courses at LMU.

Immunization Record for Graduate Students

New graduate students entering the University who were born after 1956 are required to return a completed Immunization Record to the Student Health Center. All new students entering the University must show results of a Tuberculin Skin Test given within the last year. ALL immunizations must be current and physician-verified. Students with incomplete forms will have their registration withheld for the following semester until the completed Immunization Record has been received by the Student Health Center.

In addition, all international students must submit their immunization records to the Student Health Center. Students with incomplete forms will have their registration withheld for the following semester until the completed form has been received by the Student Health Center.
Undergraduate Financial Aid

The mission of Loyola Marymount University’s Financial Aid Office is to provide students access to financial resources to assist them in achieving their educational goals. The Financial Aid Office administers federal, state, institutional, and private financial aid programs to help students meet the educational costs to attend Loyola Marymount University.

Application Procedures

Entering Freshmen and Transfer students:
Students can apply for financial aid by completing the required forms prior to being formally admitted:
2. California residents only: applications for the Cal Grant must complete the FAFSA and complete Cal Grant GPA Verification Form by the deadline established by the California Student Aid Commission.

Visit the financial aid website at http://www.lmu.edu/financialaid for current year application and program deadlines.

Continuing Undergraduates:
LMU requires all continuing undergraduates who have received aid in a prior year at LMU to complete the following:
2. The LMU Undergraduate, which is posted as a missing requirement on a student’s MyLMU PROWL account after the FAFSA has been completed.

Visit the financial aid website at http://www.lmu.edu/financialaid for current year application and program deadlines.

Maintaining Eligibility for Financial Aid

Note: Due to a change in federal regulations, LMU’s policy regarding maintaining satisfactory academic progress for financial aid has been revised. Please review this information carefully and contact the financial aid office at finaid@lmu.edu if you have any questions.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

To be eligible for federal, state, and University financial aid programs, students are required to make satisfactory academic progress. These standards are separate and distinct from the University’s Academic Degree Requirements and Policies as stated in the University Bulletin.

These guidelines are in accordance with those required by federal regulations for recipients of federal grant, work, and loan programs, including the Federal Direct Parent (PLUS) Loan. These standards also apply to state aid or state-funded financial aid programs in accordance with the State of California.

Recipients of LMU tuition benefits who are not receiving any other federal, state, or University funds are not bound by these guidelines. Undergraduate students must:

- maintain a minimum semester and cumulative grade point average of 2.00
- if enrolled full-time, complete a minimum of 10 semester hours per semester. Note: Recipients of Merit scholarships are required to maintain the minimum grade point average stated in their academic scholarship award letter.
- not exceed the maximum timeframe to complete an undergraduate degree. 150% of the required semester hours (120) = 180 semester hours.

Grades

Grades of F, NC, AU, and W do not count in calculating the minimum grade point average. Grades of I (Incomplete) or IP temporarily will not be counted until the final grade is posted. Students must comply with the

General Eligibility

To receive financial aid:

Students must be enrolled in a degree program at Loyola Marymount University. Students working towards a second Bachelor’s degree are only eligible for the Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Stafford loan programs.

Students must have received a high school diploma or a General Education Development (GED) certificate, or must have passed an independently administered test approved by the U.S. Department of Education, or meet other state standards approved by the U.S. Department of Education.

Students must be enrolled full-time to be eligible for most University-funded financial aid programs. Eligibility for federal and California state grant programs require at least half-time enrollment. Students who enroll less than half-time are generally only eligible for the Federal Pell Grant.

Students must be U.S. citizens, permanent residents, or other eligible non-citizens to be eligible for federal, state, and institutionally-funded financial aid programs and meet other eligibility requirements. Limited scholarships and assistantships are available for international students.

Students must not owe a refund from any federal grant or loan or be in default on any federal loan.

Financial Aid Communications

The Financial Aid Office primarily communicates with students electronically. Students are notified of information regarding their aid application via e-mail and MyLMU, LMU’s online portal which provides access to various campus systems.

Financial Aid Communications requirements to convert an incomplete to a permanent grade according to the requirements as stated in the University Bulletin.

Withdrawals

Students who withdraw from all coursework or take a leave of absence and later enroll in a subsequent term retain the SAP status held during their last term of enrollment.

Transfer Student Course Evaluation

Transfer students are evaluated based on the number of units accepted at admission to determine their maximum time frame to receive financial aid.

Repeat Coursework

Classes for failed courses that are repeated because they are required for graduation are eligible for financial aid. Repeated courses are included in the calculation of attempted and earned hours.

Maximum Time Frame to Complete Degree

Students must complete their degree within 150% of the published credit hours required to graduate. For example, an undergraduate student in a program requiring 120 semester hours to complete must meet all graduation requirements by 180 semester hours.

Important: The maximum time-frame to complete degree requirements does not override institutional, federal or state financial aid programs that have a maximum period of eligibility. For example, LMU funded aid programs as well as the Cal Grant are available for a maximum of eight semesters.

Students should refer to the Academic Degree Requirements and Policies section of the University Bulletin for information on the recommended course load required to complete their degree requirements in eight semesters (4 years).
Satisfactory Academic Progress Review Process
All students receiving financial aid are reviewed for satisfactory academic progress at the end of each term of enrollment.

SAP Warning
Students enrolled for the summer are reviewed after the end of the second summer session. Students failing to meet these requirements for the first time receive a “SAP Warning” Notice. Students are eligible for financial aid for their next term of enrollment while on Warning status.

Financial Aid Probation
If the student does not meet the minimum requirements after their next term of enrollment they are not eligible to receive financial aid. Students may submit a Satisfactory Academic Progress Appeal to the Financial Aid Office. This appeal must detail why the student was unable to meet minimum satisfactory academic progress requirements and the steps being taken to meet the minimum requirements and regain eligibility. If the appeal is approved the student is placed on Financial Aid Probation for one term. Students who cannot meet the minimum requirements within one term are encouraged to meet with an academic advisor to prepare an academic contract which outlines the terms and period that will allow the student to meet the minimum requirements.

Withdrawals—Impact on Financial Aid
Students who withdraw from all coursework will have their tuition charges adjusted based on their date of withdrawal. Current information on University tuition refund policies is available at http://www.lmu.edu.

Housing and University meal plans will be adjusted according to the terms set by the housing office and meal plan contracts. Students should contact the Student Housing Office and Student Accounts for specific refund information.

Students receiving financial aid who decide to withdraw from all coursework during a term require to notify the Office of the Registrar and the Financial Aid Office. Federal financial aid will be adjusted according to federal regulations.

University- and state-funded programs will be adjusted according to University and state policies.

For detailed information on how financial aid is adjusted based on withdrawal, visit http://www.lmu.edu/financialaid.

Fraud
Any fraudulent use of financial aid funds is cause for immediate suspension or dismissal, as well as discontinuance of future financial aid. This includes, but is not limited to, fraudulent statements on Financial Aid forms, inaccurate tax returns, and student time cards for both hours worked and signatures obtained.

Programs of Assistance for Undergraduates

Academic Scholarships for First Time Freshmen
Loyola Marymount University offers a wide range of academic scholarship programs to recognize and reward the scholastic accomplishments of our most distinguished entering freshmen. Scholarship selection is coordinated by the Office of Undergraduate Admission. Detailed information on these programs are available on the Financial Aid Office website at http://www.lmu.edu/financialaid.

Receipt of an Academic Scholarship does not preclude consideration from financial aid awarded by the Financial Aid Office but must be coordinated according to federal, state, and University policies.

Grants

LMU Grants are merit/need-based grants awarded to students who meet all federal and University eligibility requirements. Students must complete the FAFSA to apply, meet LMU’s priority funding deadlines, and comply with all requests for additional documentation to be considered.

The Federal Pell Grant program is a federal aid program designed to provide financial assistance to eligible students for postsecondary study. The amount of the Pell Grant is determined based on the financial resources of the student and parents.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG) program is designed to assist those students who would not otherwise be financially able to pursue an undergraduate course of study. The amount of the grant is determined by reviewing the student’s financial resources and also the resources of the parents. The amount of the award varies based on the student’s Pell Grant and, like other grants, does not have to be repaid.

Cal Grants are administered by the California Student Aid Commission. All undergraduates who are residents of California are encouraged to apply. Cal Grants cover tuition and fees. For detailed information on Cal Grants, visit http://www.calgrants.org.

Scholarships
There are additional scholarships available to LMU students. Most scholarships are awarded by the Financial Aid Office and do not require that students complete a special application. Scholarships that require an additional separate application are provided at http://www.lmu.edu/financialaid.

Student Employment

The Federal Work Study program is another source of employment for students who qualify based on financial need. This program is funded jointly by the Federal Government and the University. It is designed to create jobs for students at the University, such as library researchers, teaching assistants, laboratory technicians, intramural referees, team managers, etc. Under the Work Study Program, most students will be awarded funds to average 12-15 hours per week during the term. Students are hired for part-time positions for the entire academic year, and they may earn up to the amount listed on their current financial aid award letter.

Loyola Work is a University-funded non-need work program. Funding for this program is limited and may not be awarded to those students who do not meet LMU priority funding deadlines.

The Student Worker program is an employment program designed to give students the opportunity to earn a majority of their education expenses by working on campus. The Student Worker Organization is an autonomous group that is primarily student-directed and operated. Selected students must live on campus. Jobs include maintenance, recycling, and clerical and miscellaneous tasks for departments on campus.

More information on this program is available at http://www.lmu.edu.

The Career Services Office provides employment assistance to the students of Loyola Marymount University including part-time jobs ranging from 10 to 20 hours a week, part-time/full-time seasonal work during the Christmas and summer vacations, temporary jobs on an hourly basis, and tutoring positions within the student’s major field of study. These services are for all students regardless of their financial need. They are primarily off-campus positions.

Loans

All federal loans require that the student complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and comply with any requests for additional information.

Federal Perkins Loan is a low-interest loan for students based on need. Repayment begins nine months after the student has ceased to be enrolled at least half-time.

Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Direct Stafford Loans are a low-interest federal loan for students.

The Federal Direct Parent (PLUS) Loan is a low-interest federal loan made to creditworthy parents.

For information on loan terms and the application process for these loan programs, visit http://www.lmu.edu/financialaid.

Graduate Financial Aid

The mission of Loyola Marymount University’s Financial Aid Office is to provide students access to financial resources to assist them in achieving their educational goals. The Financial Aid Office administers federal, state, and private awards as well as institutional awards that are selected in conjunction with the Graduate Studies Office.
General Eligibility
Students must be U.S. Citizens, permanent residents, or other eligible non-citizens to be eligible for federal, state, and institutionally-funded financial aid programs and meet other eligibility requirements. Limited scholarships and assistantships are available for international students. Students must be enrolled in a Doctoral, Master’s, Credential, or eligible Certificate Program as degree-seeking students at Loyola Marymount University to receive financial aid administered by the Financial Aid Office.

Provisional and Controlled admitted students must submit the necessary requirements of their particular program as specified by the Graduate Studies Office to receive federal or state financial aid.

A graduate student is eligible to receive federal and/or state financial aid if enrolled at least half-time in graduate level coursework as determined by his/her program level. Only courses numbered in the 500s, 600s, 6000s, and 7000s are considered graduate level.

Doctoral Students Completing Dissertation
Fall Semester, Spring Semester, and Summer Sessions (combined):
- Full-Time: 2 semester hours

Students must not owe a refund from any federal grant or loan or be in default on any federal loan.

Application Procedures
Grants and Scholarships
All students, including international students, interested in Loyola Marymount University grants, scholarships, or assistantships offered through the Graduate Studies Office, are encouraged to apply by submitting the appropriate application. For additional information pertaining to grants, scholarships, or assistantships, please contact your department.

Federal and State Aid
U.S. Citizens, permanent residents, and eligible non-citizens who are interested in participating in federal and/or state aid programs offered through the Financial Aid Office should visit us online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu for application information, office hours, contact information, and to review the Frequently Asked Questions.

Financial Aid Communications
Communications from the Financial Aid Office will be primarily electronic in form. The LMU student Lion e-mail account, PROWL, and MyLMU messaging are our primary means of communicating important financial aid information.

- MyLMU (https://my.lmu.edu)
  MyLMU provides students with access to various campus systems, e-mail, registration, billing, forms, and communications. MyLMU is accessed by a user name and a password that are automatically generated upon acceptance to LMU. For assistance logging into MyLMU, contact the ITS Help Desk at 310.338.7777.
- PROWL (http://www.lmu.edu/prowl)
  PROWL is our online student financial aid resource. Using PROWL, students can view their application status, requests for additional information/documentation from the Financial Aid Office, important messages, and their Financial Aid Award.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) and Financial Aid Probation
To be eligible for federal, state, and University financial aid programs, students are required to make satisfactory academic progress. These standards are separate and distinct from the University’s Academic Degree Requirements and Policies as stated in the University Bulletin. These guidelines are in accordance with those required by federal regulations for recipients of federal grant, work, and loan programs. These standards also apply to state aid or state-funded financial aid programs in accordance with the State of California.

Grants and Scholarships
U.S. Citizens, permanent residents, and eligible non-citizens are encouraged to apply by submitting the appropriate application. For additional information pertaining to grants, scholarships, or assistantships, please contact your department.

Important:
- Maintain a minimum semester and cumulative grade point average of 3.00
- If enrolled full-time, complete a minimum of six (6) semester hours per semester
- Not exceed the five (5) year maximum timeframe to complete a graduate degree

Grades
Grades of F, NC, AU, and W do not count in calculating the minimum grade point average. Grades of I (Incomplete) or IP temporarily will not be counted until the final grade is posted. Students must comply with the requirements to convert an incomplete to a permanent grade according to the requirements as stated in the University Bulletin.

Withdrawals
Students who withdraw from all coursework or take a leave of absence and later enroll in a subsequent term retain the SAP status held during their last term of enrollment.

Repeat Coursework
Classes for failed courses that are repeated because they are required to convert an incomplete to a permanent grade according to the requirements as stated in the University Bulletin. Students who have not completed the degree within five (5) years must request an extension of time. If the extension is granted by the Program Director or Dean of the student's college or school, the student may be required to undertake additional coursework. Some departments have a shorter limit for the completion of the program. A minimum of 30 graduate semester hours (500 and 600 level) and a minimum of 3.0 ("B") cumulative grade point average are necessary to qualify for completion of a program. See individual program descriptions for specific and additional graduation requirements.

Important: The maximum timeframe to complete degree requirements does not override institutional, federal or state financial aid programs that have a maximum period of eligibility. For example, Cal Grant TCP is available for a maximum of one (1) year.

Students should refer to the Academic Degree Requirements and Policies section of the University Bulletin for information on the recommended course load required to complete their degree requirements in five (5) years.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Review Process
All students receiving financial aid are reviewed for satisfactory academic progress at the end of each term of enrollment.
SAP Warning
Students enrolled for the summer are reviewed after the end of the second summer session. Students failing to meet these requirements for the first time receive a “SAP Warning” notice. Students are eligible for financial aid for their next term of enrollment while on Warning status.

Financial Aid Probation
If the student does not meet the minimum requirements after their next term of enrollment they are not eligible to receive financial aid. Students may submit a Satisfactory Academic Progress Appeal to the Financial Aid Office. This appeal must detail why the student was unable to meet minimum satisfactory academic progress requirements and the steps being taken to meet the minimum requirements and regain eligibility. If the appeal is approved the student is placed on Financial Aid Probation for one term. Students who cannot meet the minimum requirements within one (1) term are encouraged to meet with an academic advisor to prepare an academic contract which outlines the terms and period that will allow the student to meet the minimum requirements.

Withdrawal Calculations
When students receiving financial aid are eligible for a refund or a cancelation of LMU charges, their financial aid funding will also be adjusted. A refund is calculated when a student withdraws from the University, drops out, takes an unapproved leave of absence that will exceed 60 days, is expelled or otherwise does not complete the period of enrollment for which he or she was charged. The financial aid award will be recalculated based on federal refund requirements, and the Controller’s Office will be notified. Any resulting charge will be added to the student’s account. Any resulting refund, due to a federal financial aid program will be made by LMU for the student.

Fraud
Any fraudulent use of financial aid funds is cause for immediate suspension or dismissal and criminal prosecution, as well as discontinuance of future financial aid. This includes, but is not limited to, fraudulent statements on financial aid forms or submitted documentation, inaccurate tax returns, and student time cards for both hours worked and signatures obtained.

Programs of Assistance for Graduate Students
LMU Graduate Studies Office
Please visit us on the web at http://www.lmu.edu/gradfinancialaid to explore the various scholarship, employment and loan opportunities available for graduate students at LMU through the Graduate Studies Office.

Scholarships
Departmental Graduate Scholarships
Each graduate program at LMU awards its own departmental scholarships based on financial need and merit. Applications are available online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

Some departments may require that students complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and LMU Application, in addition to the department’s Graduate Scholarship Application, in order to be considered. Information on how to complete the FAFSA and the LMU Application can be found online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

Inquiries about the application and/or selection process should be directed to a program’s Graduate Director.

Catholic Teacher/Ministry Fund
Students who work full-time as Catholic school teachers, administrators, or parish administrators are eligible to apply. Students must submit their department’s Graduate Scholarship Application with proof of employment attached (e.g., last pay stub, letter from your supervisor on official letterhead) in order to be considered. Additional information can be found online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

Contact the Director of your program if you have questions about the application and/or selection process.

Endowed and Donated Scholarships
Some programs have additional scholarships available. Consult the Director of your program for information about additional scholarships and the application process.

Developing Countries Scholarships
Catholic clergy or members of Catholic religious communities from developing countries may apply for full tuition assistance in order to obtain one (1) master’s or doctoral degree in any field of study at LMU. Interested applicants should submit a copy of their R-1 visa to the Graduate Studies Office, along with a one (1) page statement of intent. Please contact the Graduate Studies Office at 310.338.2721 or graduatescholarship@lmu.edu for more information on how to apply for this scholarship.

Religious Scholarships
Catholic Clergy or members of Catholic religious communities are eligible to receive a scholarship equal to 25% of their total tuition costs. Please contact the Graduate Studies Office at 310.338.2721 or graduatescholarship@lmu.edu for more information on how to apply for a Religious Scholarship.

Student Employment
Program assistantships are available through individual programs on a competitive basis. Consult the Director of your program for information about available assistantships.

There are also jobs on campus for which graduate students may apply. Visit us on the web at http://financialaid.lmu.edu for application information, or contact the Graduate Studies Office at 310.338.2721 directly for more information.

LMU Financial Aid Office
The Financial Aid Office at LMU administers federal, state, and private financial aid programs. Additional information can be found online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

State Grants
Cal Grant TCP
Students who received a Cal Grant A or B as an undergraduate and begin an Elementary or Secondary teaching program within 15 months of their last Cal Grant payment, may apply to renew their Cal Grant for one (1) additional year. School of Education students participating in a specialized cohort program who receive a Cal Grant A or B extension will be awarded Cal Grant first, not to exceed their specialized cohort’s total scholarship commitment. Complete a G-44 renewal form available at http://www.calgrants.org.

Federal Student Employment
Federal Work-Study
LMU employs students each year to work on campus in a variety of jobs. To receive Federal Work-Study, you must complete the FAFSA and meet financial need and eligibility requirements. Funding to hire students is limited, and eligible students are awarded upon request as funding permits.

Federal Direct Loan Programs
Federal Direct Stafford Loan (Subsidized or Unsubsidized)
All students who complete the FAFSA and meet federal eligibility requirements will be offered a Federal Direct Stafford loan. There are two types of Federal Direct Stafford Loans—the Subsidized Stafford Loan and Unsubsidized Stafford Loan.

The Subsidized Stafford Loan is awarded on the basis of financial need as determined by the FAFSA, and the federal government will pay the interest on Subsidized Loan while the student is enrolled at least half-time.

The Unsubsidized Stafford Loan is awarded to those with no demonstrated need. The student is responsible for interest payments, although all payments can be deferred until after graduation or when the student ceases to be enrolled at least half-time.

Reminder: A graduate student must be enrolled at least half-time, as determined by his/her program level, in order to receive federal financial aid.

Students may not borrow in excess of the annual Federal Direct Stafford Loan borrowing limits as determined by the federal government. For detailed information regarding current interest rates, repayment terms, or the annual Federal Direct Stafford Loan borrowing limit, please visit us the Financial Aid Office online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

Federal Direct Graduate and Professional Student PLUS Loan
The Federal Direct Grad PLUS Loan is designed to help bridge the gap between the financial aid a student is awarded and the cost of attendance. In order to apply for the Grad PLUS Loan, borrowers must complete the FAFSA and be creditworthy. Students may borrow up to the LMU standard cost of attendance, minus all other financial aid you received.

For more details on all federal loan programs visit the Federal Student Aid Web site at http://www.studentaid.ed.gov.

Private (Alternative) Loan Programs
Private loans are educational loans available from the private sector. The interest rate on these loans varies by lender, and eligibility is based on creditworthiness of the student or student's co-borrower. Eligible students are encouraged to apply for all federal and institutional financial aid programs including the Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan, before considering a private educational loan. The maximum a student may borrow in a private loan is LMU's standard cost of attendance, minus all other financial aid you have received.

All students interested in borrowing a private loan must meet with a financial aid counselor to complete a Private Education Loan Applicant Self-Certification Form.

For more information regarding the loans available to graduate students at LMU, please visit the Financial Aid Office online at http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

Federal and State Teacher Loan Forgiveness Programs
Assumption Program Loans for Education (APLE)
APLE is a state-sponsored, loan forgiveness program that assists qualified teachers in repayment of their undergraduate and graduate Federal Direct Stafford Loan(s), up to $19,000, over the course of four years. For more information, visit http://financialaid.lmu.edu.

Federal Perkins Loan Cancellation
Borrowers may qualify for cancellation (discharge) of up to 100% of a Federal Perkins Loan if they have served full time in a public or nonprofit elementary or secondary school system as a

- teacher in a school serving students from low-income families; or
- special-education teacher, including teachers of infants, toddlers, children, or youth with disabilities; or
- teacher in the fields of mathematics, science, foreign languages, or bilingual education, or in any other field of expertise determined by a state education agency to have a shortage of qualified teachers in that state.

For more information or to obtain an application, contact the office that administers the Federal Perkins Loan program at the school that holds your loan.

Teacher Loan Forgiveness (TLF)
TLF is a federal program to assist teachers in repayment of Federal Stafford and Direct Loans. Eligible loan borrowers must have been employed as teachers for five years in a qualified teaching service area. For more information, visit http://www.edfund.org.

AmeriCorps Education Award
Students who participate in the AmeriCorps service program must request their Americorps Education Award payment online at http://my.americorps.gov. The Education Award will be electronically transferred to their student account at LMU, 7-10 business days from the date payment is requested.
The tuition charge supports the instructional program and general operating and administration of the University, such as ordinary health services, various counseling services, lectures, intercollegiate athletic events, and the library.

Other fees may exist that are not listed within each heading. Fees are subject to change without notice. Generally, fees are indicated based on enrolled status. The University reserves the right to change, delete, or add to this pricing schedule as deemed appropriate.

For further information, please contact the Controller’s Office at 310.338.2711 or at studacct@lmu.edu.

Any unpaid fines or charges (such as parking, library, delinquent telephone charges, property damage) or any miscellaneous charges incurred by a student while in attendance at the University will be charged to the student’s account. Certain fees deemed optional are required to obtain clearance may be granted, and pre-registration will not be permitted, if a student’s account is delinquent. Failure to pay tuition and other outstanding debts will result in the withholding of the academic transcript. The student diploma will not be released until all debts are satisfied in full. Students are prohibited from future registrations due to delinquent accounts.

Miscellaneous Fees

Generally all miscellaneous fees are non-refundable unless stated otherwise and due when charged to your Student Account.

Certain courses may also require mandatory laboratory fees. Check with departments.

Any unpaid fines or charges (such as parking, library, delinquent telephone charges, property damage) or any miscellaneous charges incurred by a student while in attendance at the University will be charged to the student’s account. Certain fees deemed optional are required to obtain that good or service.

The tuition, fees, and other charges described above are good faith projections for the academic year. They are, however, subject to change from one academic term to the next as deemed necessary by the University in order to meet its financial commitments and to fulfill its role and mission.

There are other fees and charges unique to certain programs that are dependent upon a student’s matriculation at the University. These fees or charges may be determined by contacting the University offices that administer those programs or activities in which the student intends to enroll or engage.

Estimate of Charges

Since each student may elect various services with associated charges, it is not possible to determine precisely all student charges before registration. However, the following schedule estimates the charges for one academic year for a typical freshman undergraduate resident exclusive of entertainment, transportation, injury insurance, or other personal costs. Your actual cost may vary.

Payment of Student Charges

To make a payment or enroll in a payment plan, please visit the Student Accounts Center accessible via PROWL or through the Student Accounts website: http://www.lmu.edu/StudentAccounts.Tuition, fees, and board charges are payable by the semester. Financial clearance is necessary and subject to Late Financial Fee after the deadline. Clearance may be obtained from the Controller’s Office Student Accounts Department at the time of payment or by making arrangements for the payment plan described below.

Registration for classes may be canceled for any student whose payment check for tuition or fees is returned unpaid from the bank or who has defaulted on payment arrangements.

Financial clearance cannot be granted, and pre-registration will not be permitted, if a student’s account is delinquent.

Failure to pay tuition and other outstanding debts will result in the withholding of the academic transcript. The student diploma will not be released until all debts are satisfied in full. Students are prohibited from future registrations due to delinquent accounts.

Sickness Insurance

The annual Sickness Insurance fee of $601 (estimated) is mandatory for students who are taking 7 or more semester hours. Domestic students may waive coverage by completing the online waiver at http://www.aetnastudenthealth.com, beginning July through September. Please visit the Student Accounts website at: http://www.lmu.edu/StudentAccounts for specific dates. Students entering for the first time or returning to the University during the Spring 2012 semester and taking 7 or more semester hours will be charged a prorated amount for the Spring semester unless a waiver form is submitted to the Controller’s Office by the deadline listed on our website.

International (Visa) students, regardless of the number of semester hours in which they are enrolled, must purchase the Mandatory International Student Sickness Insurance. The International Sickness Insurance may not be waived, and the cost is $601 (estimated) for single coverage. Higher premiums may be charged depending upon marital status and number of dependents.

Please refer to the Aetna Student Health brochure for additional major medical, dependant and spousal coverage.

(ACCIDENT INSURANCE is mandatory for all students registered for 7 or more semester hours and may not be waived.)

Payment Plan Options

Full Payment by Year

This payment plan is only available to undergraduate students and only those undergraduate students who would like to make one payment, in full, for the entire academic year including the Fall and Spring semesters. Payment in full must be received by the published payment deadlines.

Full Payment by Semester

This payment plan is a semester plan open to all students, undergraduate and graduate, who would like to make one payment, in full, for the entire semester minus any incoming financial aid. Students enrolling in this plan will need to pay in full prior to the start of each term by the published payment deadlines.

5 Month—Automatic Checking Deduction

This payment plan is a semester plan open to all students, undergraduate and graduate, who would like to make five monthly payments via automatic deduction from a checking/savings account. Automatic de-
Tuition and Fees

Refunds/Cancellation

Refunds for tuition and/or housing are made only after a complete withdrawal or leave of absence from the University (dropping all courses) has been processed by the Office of the Registrar and, in the case of a resident student, also by the Housing Office. For resident students, if the official withdrawal dates from the Office of the Registrar and the Housing Office are different, the respective dates will be used for tuition or housing refunding purposes. See the accompanying table for the allowable refund percentage.

Meal plans are non-refundable. A student should complete the Withdrawal/Leave of Absence form in the Office of the Registrar and, if a resident student, the withdrawal form in the Housing Office.

The University strives to meet the expectations of its students and tries to act compassionately in a time of crisis that interrupts a student’s semester studies so that she/he cannot or should not finish the semester. In an attempt to ease the cost of tuition, the refund policy is in place to allow for a sliding refund for those who withdraw from all courses in a given semester according to the following schedule. This policy applies to, but is not limited to, the following leave or withdrawal reasons: hospitalization, illness, moving out of the area, employment changes/relocation, and family-related emergencies.

No refund may be given for registered courses which a student did not attend and did not withdraw from within the full refund period. No refund or cancellation is granted to a student who withdraws from a portion of his/her program after the end of the 100% Drop/Add period. Consult the following refund schedule for the academic category corresponding to your enrollment and type of program.

Students, whether undergraduate, graduate, or non-degree, who have paid tuition by the semester hour are eligible for tuition refunds per semester hour, based on the published sliding scale. Full refunds for all other students are contingent upon withdrawal from all classes or from the University. The published sliding scale still applies to this type of refund.

Certificate of Eligibility for Veterans

All expenses incurred by a veteran that have not been properly authorized by the Veterans Administration must be paid by the veteran. Therefore, it is the responsibility of every veteran to see that papers are in proper order at the time of the first and each subsequent registration. Also, all veterans who are receiving benefits for educational expenses are required to contact the Financial Aid Office.

The University is required by the Veterans Administration to report failure on the part of the veteran to complete 75% of the semester hours attempted in any given term. Benefits to a veteran who fails to complete 75% of the semester hours originally enrolled in may be suspended. Counseling by the Veterans Administration will be required before the student enrolls for another term with benefits. The Veterans Administration’s Advisement and Counseling Service is a free service provided under Federal Law. Failures, withdrawals, and NCs are not recognized as making satisfactory progress.

Refund Payments

Refund credits are applied to the student’s account. Refunds of credit balances will be made in accordance with Federal guidelines. Refunding of credit balances is subject to a holding period until verification that funds received have cleared the University’s bank. Refund payments are issued in the name of the student unless written authorization from the student is received to the contrary.

Security Interest in Student Records

A student may not receive a diploma, certificate, or transcript until all accounts, current or otherwise, have been settled in accordance with University and Agency requirements. Students with delinquent accounts will be prohibited from future registration until all balances are resolved to the University’s satisfaction. Such documents and services will be retained by Loyola Marymount University as security for such obligations until they are satisfied.

If a student defaults on payment of a Federal Perkins Student Loan, a Federal Family Educational Loan, or an Institutional Loan, or if a student fails to satisfy exit interview requirements, a security interest in records and services will remain in effect until debts and requirements are satisfied. Unpaid accounts are reported to the three major credit reporting agencies. Exit interviews are administered through the Student Loan Office and the Financial Aid Office.
Goals and Objectives of the Core Curriculum

Consistent with the goals of the University and with the desire to provide undergraduate students with an education founded strongly in human values, Loyola Marymount University has adopted the following goals and objectives.

Goals:
- To provide a strong undergraduate humanistic education within the traditions of the Society of Jesus and the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary.
- To foster the desire for knowledge and to provide the skills necessary for a lifetime of intellectual growth in a global society.
- To prepare students to play active roles in addressing the problems and challenges they will face in attempting to create a just world.

Objectives:
- To develop an understanding of religious experience and beliefs, with particular attention to theological questions as addressed by Catholic Christianity.
- To develop a habit of philosophical reflection.
- To develop an understanding and appreciation of the history of humankind in the arts, literature, and philosophy.
- To develop a knowledge of the structures, values, and practices of contemporary societies.
- To develop the arts of precise and elegant expression in speaking and writing.
- To develop the skills of critical thinking.
- To develop quantitative skills and an understanding of the history and principles of mathematics and science and technology.
- To cultivate and engage the creative imagination.
- To explore ways to live more fully and to act more responsibly within a culturally diverse world.

The following core curriculum encourages intellectual breadth. No matter the student’s major, all students should be acquainted with the nature of discourse and practice in the major areas of knowledge that will prepare students for life after Loyola Marymount University.

Students should consult the College or School sections of this Bulletin for core curriculum requirements specific to each College or School.

Core Curriculum Requirements

American Cultures
College Writing
Communication or Critical Thinking
Critical and Creative Arts
History
Literature
Mathematics, Science and Technology
Philosophy
Social Sciences
Theological Studies

American Cultures

American Cultures courses will examine and compare the American experience of at least three of the following groups: African American, American Indian, Asian American, Chicana/o-Latino/a, and European American. The objective of these courses is to explore the contributions of these groups to human knowledge and development. Classes will also explore the varieties of cultural expression, behavior, and interaction.

First- and second-year students choose from any lower division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. Third- and fourth-year students choose from any upper division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS.

A single course will generally not fulfill two core requirements. The only exception is a course that satisfies another core requirement which is also cross-listed as AMCS.

College Writing

Proficiency in Writing

All entering first-year students will demonstrate writing proficiency by completing an essay administered in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. Based on performance in this essay, students will remain in ENGL 110 or be placed in ENGL 100 (English as a Second Language) and ENGL 101 (Required Writing Lab—ESL). Some students will be recommended to enroll in ENGL 111 (Elective Writing Lab).

College Writing Courses

The required course in college writing teaches students how to produce clear and logical, thoughtful and persuasive expository prose suitable to a variety of academic disciplines. To do this effectively, students must learn to be critical readers and thinkers. A critical analysis of both reading and writing enables students to create more meaningful and effective prose. ENGL 110 will fulfill the college writing requirement. ENGL 100 will not fulfill the college writing requirement but is required of certain students based on their performance in the essay administered in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in ENGL 110. All students who receive a grade of C- (1.7) or lower must retake ENGL 110 at LMU and receive a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

English 100: English as a Second Language

Students enroll in English 100 based on their performance in an essay administered in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. This course is designed to give students essential skills in writing and reading English. Students must earn a grade of C (2.0) or better in order to pass this course.

English 110: College Writing

The art of clear and effective college writing. This course will teach students how to generate clear and persuasive expository prose suitable to a variety of academic disciplines. Students must earn a grade of C (2.0) or better in order to fulfill the college writing requirement. Students who receive a C- (1.7) or lower in ENGL 110 must enroll in ENGL 110 the next semester.

Communication or Critical Thinking

Communication

The communication offerings develop students’ abilities to analyze issues and problems more logically. Students will prepare arguments, presentations, and speeches. They will also learn to listen more critically and speak more effectively in a variety of settings.

Critical Thinking

The course in critical thinking helps students to improve their reasoning skills through a study of logic and its application to several types of argumentation, both oral and written. The students are taught both the technical skills of argument evaluation and the other skills needed to construct sound arguments and debates.
Critical and Creative Arts

Critical Arts
Critical Arts courses are those courses in the history and theory of the arts which analyze artistic works in their social contexts as well as the aesthetic expectations and conventions which inform them.

Creative Arts
The objective of courses in the Creative Arts is to develop individual expression through exploration, analysis, and creation of artistic works.

History
This category of courses analyzes the major concepts, ideologies, and movements that have dominated the course of civilization in order to develop in students the historical perspective necessary to better understand the global society in which they live.

Literature
Prerequisite: Successful completion of college writing requirement.
Core literature courses enhance students’ understanding and appreciation of literary works. A study of fiction, poetry, or drama familiarizes the students with both the strategies available to the fiction writer, poet, or playwright in creating the literary work and the variety of critical approaches for analyzing and evaluating literature.

Mathematics, Science and Technology

Proficiency in Mathematics
All students must demonstrate proficiency in mathematics. The mathematics course(s) required for a student to demonstrate mathematics proficiency teaches the student the quantitative and analytic skills needed to function as an informed citizen in an increasingly technological world.

Any student with a grade of 4 or 5 on at least one of the Calculus A/B, Calculus B/C, or the Statistics Advanced Placement Examinations has already demonstrated proficiency in mathematics.

Students in the College of Communication and Fine Arts and students in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts who are NOT required to take a mathematics course as part of their major requirements normally demonstrate proficiency in mathematics by receiving credit in Quantitative Skills for the Modern World (MATH 102). The Mathematics Placement Examination is not necessary for enrollment in this course.

Students in the College of Business Administration, the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering, and the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts majoring in economics or liberal studies demonstrate mathematics proficiency by receiving credit in the mathematics courses required by their particular majors. These students must take the Mathematics Placement Examination to determine placement in appropriate classes. If the results of this placement examination indicate, students are required to enroll in and pass Algebra (MATH 101) before they qualify to enter the mathematics course required by their major. In all cases, mathematics proficiency is met only after receiving credit in the mathematics coursework required by the major.

Psychology majors demonstrate mathematics proficiency by passing Elementary Statistics (MATH 104) with a grade of C (2.0) or better. These students do not take the Mathematics Placement Examination but enroll directly into Elementary Statistics (MATH 104).

Special Circumstances

- Students desiring to take MATH 106, 111, 112, 120, 122, or 131 in order to fulfill the mathematics proficiency requirement should see their advisor for appropriate action. The Mathematics Placement Examination is required before taking any of these courses.
- Transfer students should see the Dean of their College or School for specific information.

All students should see their individual College or School section in the Bulletin and their major requirements described in the Bulletin for further specific information.

Mathematics, Science and Technology Courses

Prerequisite: Credit in MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.
These courses introduce the student to the methodology and mathematics used in a field of mathematics, science, or engineering as well as provide a more in-depth study in a specific area. These courses include laboratories and/or demonstrations providing the student with hands-on experience.

Philosophy
The lower division core course is designed to introduce students to the nature of philosophy as a discipline and to address selected central metaphysical and epistemological issues surrounding the question of human nature.

Upper division courses examine questions that a person asks in order to form an intelligent philosophy of moral choice, with particular attention to those moral concepts that have been most important in shaping Christian culture. The approach may emphasize either the major moral theories or selected contemporary moral problems.

Social Sciences
These courses will introduce students to systematic, empirically grounded investigations of individuals and the structures, values, and practices of contemporary societies. Students develop conceptual and analytical skills necessary to understand the economic, political, psychological, cultural, and/or social conditions that influence our lives.

Theological Studies
A general objective of Theological Studies courses is for students to face the issues of religious beliefs and their consequences in their lives.

The objectives of the lower division core courses are to examine the nature of religion, the nature of Christian faith, and the methods for understanding scripture.

The objectives of the upper division core courses are to deepen the students’ knowledge of at least one of the three areas covered in the lower division course under one of the following categories: biblical theology, historical theology, systematic theology, moral and practical theology, and world religions.
The mission of the Graduate Division is to promote transformative graduate education at Loyola Marymount University, to celebrate the accomplishments of graduate students and the faculty who educate them, and to provide leadership in the establishment and communication of policies, standards, and processes related to graduate education and to the quality of life for graduate students.

Since its creation in 1950, the Graduate Division has worked closely with the University's colleges and schools to create innovative programs that meet the personal, academic, and professional needs of its students. As life-long learning becomes even more integral to individual success and social welfare, the Graduate Division remains committed to providing an array of forward-looking programs of great distinction and to creating an environment that enables students to realize their full potential.

The University's graduate programs are characterized by outstanding faculty, academic excellence, small class size, and attention to individual students. Though the graduate programs span a diverse array of academic disciplines and professions, they are uniform in their attention to education of the whole person, to conscious exploration of ethical issues, and to developing leaders in service to society.

Across its various schools and colleges, the University offers curricula leading to the degrees of Doctorate in Education (Ed.D.), Education Specialist (Ed.S.), Master of Arts (M.A.), Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.), Master of Fine Arts (M.F.A.), Master of Science (M.S.), and Master of Science in Engineering (M.S.E.), as well as to a variety of graduate certificates and credentials.

ACADEMIC DEGREE REQUIREMENTS AND POLICIES

All regulations and rules or procedures contained in this official Bulletin apply to undergraduate and graduate programs. Requirements and policies that refer solely to graduate students are indicated in italics. Questions in individual cases should be presented through written petition to the appropriate dean.

For non-academic matters, all students are governed by the Loyola Marymount University Student Conduct Code found in the Community Standards booklet. The booklet can be found on MyLMU (http://my.lmu.edu).

Students are held individually responsible for information contained in these pages. Failure to read and understand these regulations will not excuse a student from their observance.

A student is held responsible for academic regulations in effect at the time of entrance, provided the student maintains continuous enrollment. Similarly, a student who changes programs or majors after being admitted to the University is held responsible for the academic regulations in effect at the time the program or major is changed. A student who interrupts academic enrollment is subject to the academic regulations in effect in the Bulletin at the time enrollment is resumed.

Academic Advising

Students are assigned academic advisors within their college or school. As part of the registration process, students consult their advisors in preparation of their academic programs and prior to registering for classes. Advisors are not authorized to change established policy of the University. The student is solely responsible for assuring that his/her academic program complies with the policy of the University. Any advice at variance with established policy, i.e., a degree audit exception (Petition for CAPP Adjustment form), must be confirmed in writing by the chairperson of the department or director of the program and then by the Dean’s Office.

Academic Calendar

The University offers two fifteen-week semesters plus a week of final examinations for each semester and two six-week summer sessions that include final examinations.

Academic Disqualification

Disqualification terminates a student’s relationship with the University. A disqualified student may not register in any division or session of the University and is denied all privileges of the University and of all organizations or activities in any way connected with it.

The following classes of students will be subject to disqualification:

1. An undergraduate student who while on probation fails to earn a C (2.0) average or B (3.0) average for a graduate student during the next semester, or who has not attained an accumulated grade point average of C (2.0) for an undergraduate or B (3.0) for a graduate student within two semesters after having been placed on probation;
2. A student who does not make satisfactory progress in the course of study;
3. A student who has had special academic requirements imposed by the dean or the Committee on Academic Standing and Degrees and does not meet the requirements within the time prescribed.

Readmission after Disqualification

Disqualified students are not eligible for readmission until one calendar year has elapsed.

1. A disqualified undergraduate or graduate student who wishes to be considered for readmission to the University must file a formal application with the Admission Office or Graduate Admissions Office respectively.
2. A formal interview must take place with the Dean’s Office prior to formal readmission.
3. A disqualified student who is readmitted will be on strict probation which requires that the student must satisfactorily complete all requirements set by the Dean in the initial semester after readmission.

4. A student who has been disqualified a second time may not apply for readmission.

The following exception to the academic probation policy applies to the Executive MBA (EMBA) Program. Because the EMBA is a twenty-one month program in which students take a prescribed course of study, students receiving a failing grade in a course will be subject to disqualification from the program.

A student who wishes to appeal a disqualification must submit a written request to the Chair, Program Director, or Dean of the student’s college or school. If the appeal process cannot be resolved, an impartial three-person faculty panel will be assigned by the Chair of the Graduate Council to review the request. The panel will individually interview the faculty person and the student. After the interviews, review, and discussion, the panel will submit a formal decision to the Chair of the Graduate Council, whose decision will be final.

School of Education appeals should be directed to the Program Coordinator. If the appeal cannot be resolved, the issue will then be submitted to the Associate Dean, and if necessary, the Dean.

Academic Probation

Academic probation carries a serious warning to the student that the scholastic record is unsatisfactory and continued failure to improve this record may result in being declared ineligible to attend the University. Students on probation may also have restrictions imposed by the dean regarding their program of studies and their participation in extracurricular activities. The following classes of students will be placed on probation:

1. An undergraduate student who in any term fails to earn a C (2.0) average or a graduate student who in any term fails to earn a B (3.0) average,
2. An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point average falls below a C (2.0) or a graduate student whose cumulative grade point average falls below a B (3.0),
3. An undergraduate upper division student who in any one term fails to earn a C (2.0) average in the major requirements, or a graduate student who in any one term fails to earn a B (3.0) average in the major or program requirements, or
4. An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point average in the major requirements is below a C (2.0) or a graduate student whose cumulative grade point average in the major or program requirements is below a B (3.0),
5. A student who does not make satisfactory progress in the course of study.

Academic Standing

Calculation of academic standing for undergraduates bases the student’s standing on coursework completed in the Fall and Spring terms only. Academic standing for graduate students includes Summer enrollment as well as Fall and Spring.

Attendance

The policy on class attendance of enrolled students is within the discretion of the individual faculty member and shall be announced by the faculty member at the first class meeting of the semester or summer session or listed on the class syllabus. Students may not attend a class without being officially enrolled in that class.

Auditing a Course

Enrolled LMU students may not enroll as auditors in a regularly scheduled LMU course through LMU Extension.

Space permitting, students will be permitted to register as auditors only for exceptional reasons and with the authorization of the Dean of the college or school in which the course is offered. Not all courses are open to auditors, and not all departments or programs allow auditors in their courses. Auditors are not held responsible for the work expected of regular students and receive no grade or credit for the course. Regular attendance at class is expected.

A student who has previously enrolled as an auditor may not take the course for credit in the subsequent term except by special permission of the Dean of the college or school in which the course is offered. Individuals may not be formally admitted to the University only to audit courses.

Refer to the tuition and fees section of this Bulletin for information on costs associated with auditing.

Baccalaureate Degree Requirements

All candidates for the baccalaureate degree at LMU must fulfill the following requirements:

1. All candidates in the undergraduate colleges must complete a minimum of 120 semester hours, including core and program requirements and 45 semester hours of upper-division course work. Certain programs require more than 120 semester hours. These are noted under the appropriate department listings.
2. All work done at LMU must have a cumulative grade point average of C (2.0). All courses taken in the major, minor, or area of concentration must have a cumulative grade point average of C (2.0).
3. At least 30 of the last 36 semester hours for the bachelor’s degree must be taken in residence at LMU. At least two-thirds of the upper division semester hours of the major must be taken in residence at LMU unless, for programmatic purposes, the dean and the director of the major deem an exception appropriate.
4. A student is held responsible for academic regulations in effect at the time of entrance or for those in effect in the senior year provided the student maintains continuous enrollment. Similarly, a student who declares or changes a major after being admitted to the University is held responsible for the academic regulations in effect at the time the major is declared or changed. A student who interrupts LMU enrollment is subject to the academic regulations in effect in the University Bulletin at the time enrollment is resumed.
5. Degrees are awarded at the end of the Spring term, August 31, and December 31. The date of the degree posted on a student’s diploma is the one by which all graduation requirements are completed or documents are submitted. These include:
   a. A submission of transcripts from other institutions prior to the degree date. The transfer course(s) must be completed prior to degree date, and an official transcript must be received in the Office of the Registrar no later than 30 working days after the end of the term.
   b. The completion of all incomplete work prior to the degree date;
   c. File application for degree by the deadline date for the term in which all of the above conditions will be met. If a student has been canceled for graduation in a given term, it is the responsibility of the student to again file for graduation for a later term;
   d. All course requirements for a degree must be completed or be in progress before or during the term of degree conferral.

Second Baccalaureate Degree

A student who possesses an earned bachelor’s degree from an institution accredited by one of the six regional associations of the Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities may earn a second undergraduate degree with a different major field of study by meeting all of the following requirements:

1. Completion of at least 30 semester hours at LMU beyond those required for the first degree; these must include at least 24 semester hours of upper division work and at least 20 semester hours of upper division work in the major field of study;
2. Fulfillment of the core requirements of the College or School in which the major is offered;
3. Satisfaction of all the requirements for the major;
4. Completion of the application for degree process (c.f., #5 above).

Change of Address

All students must notify the Office of the Registrar immediately of any change in their addresses or those of their parents or guardians. Students may change their permanent, mailing, and billing addresses through PROWL. The University assumes no responsibility for materials sent through the mail or e-mail not received. In addition, students must submit through PROWL emergency contact information to the Office of the Registrar.

Classification of Matriculated Undergraduates

Undergraduate students are classified according to the following norms:

- Freshman: Satisfaction of entrance requirements
- Sophomore: Completion of 30 semester hours
- Junior: Completion of 60 semester hours
- Senior: Completion of 90 semester hours

Completion of Graduate Programs

The normal time allowed for the completion of graduate degree programs is five years. A student who has not completed the degree within five years must request an extension of time. If the extension is granted by the Dean of the student’s college or school, the student may be required to undertake additional coursework. Some departments have a shorter limit for the completion of the program.

A minimum of 30 graduate semester hours (500 and 600 level) and a minimum 3.0 (Grade B) cumulative grade point average are necessary to qualify for completion of a program. See individual program descriptions for specific and additional graduation requirements.

Comprehensive Examinations

In those graduate programs requiring comprehensive examinations, the candidate must register under the appropriate number in his/her program’s course listings. If the comprehensive examination(s) carry course credit in semester hours, tuition per semester hour will be charged on the same basis as for a regular course. If the comprehensive examination(s) do not carry course credit in semester hours, no tuition will be charged. In every case, the candidate must, however, register for the comprehensive examination in the term in which he or she plans or is scheduled to take it.

Concurrent Enrollment

Enrollment by degree-seeking undergraduate students at another institution at the same time they are enrolled at LMU is not permitted.

Course Explanations

Classification of Courses

This section contains a list of symbols for all courses offered at the University, excluding the courses offered at Loyola Law School.

- 000-099 Courses offered in this number range do not carry degree-granting credit.
- 100-299 Lower division undergraduate courses—degree-granting credit
- 300-499 Upper division undergraduate courses—degree-granting credit
- 500-599 Upper division undergraduate courses in which graduate students may enroll and receive graduate credit. Undergraduate students may not enroll in 500-level courses offered by the School of Education.
- 600-699 Graduate courses—degree-granting credit
- 800-999 LMU Extension courses. Courses offered in this number range do not carry degree-granting credit.
- 1000-2999 College of Business Administration lower division undergraduate courses—degree-granting credit
- 3000-4999 College of Business Administration upper division undergraduate courses—degree-granting credit
- 5000-6999 School of Education graduate courses—degree-granting credit
- 7000-7999 School of Education Doctor of Education courses—degree-granting credit
- 8000 School of Education required course

In exceptional circumstances, seniors may take courses in the 600 series with the written permission of the Chairperson of their major department and the appropriate College or School and with the approval of the Director of the graduate program offering the 600-level course. such cases, they register for "599—Independent Studies." In this instance, the course is calculated in the undergraduate career. No undergraduate student may register for a course in the 600 series. Only students accepted into the Graduate Division may register for 600-, 5000-, 6000-, and 7000-numbered courses.

Special Studies (98)
Courses whose numbers have as the last two digits "98" are Special Studies. These courses have a special syllabus and description not listed in the Bulletin. They can be held in a lecture, discussion, or seminar format at a specified or arranged time and place for a group of students. Each department sponsoring Special Studies courses maintains these course descriptions.

Independent Studies (99)
Courses whose numbers have as the last two digits "99" are Independent Studies. This is an individualized study arranged by a student with a full-time faculty member and approved by the Chairperson of the Department and the Dean.

These courses are for the educational enrichment of the student particularly qualified for the kind of experiences that are beyond the scope of a regular course. Under the supervision of a faculty member, the work will be of research or similarly creative nature and will normally culminate in a project or examination. Freshmen, first-semester transfer students, and part-time undergraduates are not eligible. An Independent Studies course is considered part of the student’s semester program. Registration for such courses takes place only during the regular registration periods.

Most graduate programs will allow graduate students to take no more than two classes as independent study. Consult the individual Program Director for future information and limitations.

Course Load
In Fall or Spring semesters, the normal load for full-time, degree-seeking undergraduate students in good standing from the previous semester is 15-18 semester hours. In order for an undergraduate student to enroll in 19 or more semester hours, the following criteria must be met:
1. 3.50 overall GPA
2. a minimum of 15 semester hours completed during the prior full semester
3. petition signed by the Associate Dean’s office turned in to the Office of the Registrar to adjust hours.

For Summer, undergraduate students in good standing may register for 6 semester hours per session.
The maximum load for graduate students during Fall or Spring is 15 semester hours.

Credit by Challenge Examination
A student may obtain credit by examination for selected courses as approved by the course Chairperson and student’s Dean.

To challenge an LMU undergraduate course by examination, a student must be regularly enrolled and a full-time student. A course may be challenged only once. Students may not challenge a course that is at a level more elementary than one in which they are currently enrolled or for which they have already received credit. Nor may students challenge a course for which they have previously registered until a period of one year has elapsed from the time of their original registration in the course. A challenge examination once failed may not be repeated. 100- and 200-level courses in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures may not be challenged.

A petition for receiving course credit by examination must be obtained from the Office of the Registrar. The examination carries a fee of $75, payable in advance and non-refundable.

MBA students may challenge MBA core courses only during the first semester of enrollment. A course may be challenged only once. If the student passes the challenge exam, that is equivalent to waiving the course.

Cross-Listed Courses
A cross-listed course is one that carries credit in more than one department or program. Students may not enroll in more than one section of a cross-listed course and may receive credit in one department only.

Diploma
Diplomas are granted and mailed to students who have completed all academic degree requirements and who have no outstanding financial obligations to the University. Diplomas left unclaimed are destroyed after three years. Students must re-order destroyed diplomas.

Double Credit
A student may not count the same course to meet the requirements for both an undergraduate and a graduate degree.

Courses may not count as fulfilling both a major and minor program, unless a specific course is required by both programs.

A graduate student who wishes to enroll for a second Master’s degree in the School of Education may apply up to three core courses towards a second Master’s degree. For other graduate programs, no more than two courses may be counted toward a second degree upon prior approval from the respective Deans’ offices.

Electives
Elective courses do not fulfill requirements in the student’s University Core, major(s) or minor(s) programs, but they do fulfill overall semester hours requirements.

Final Examinations
Students are required to take all scheduled examinations. Final examinations are to be held at the time published by the Office of the Registrar. No student is allowed to take a final examination before the scheduled time.

Full-Time Standing
Any undergraduate student carrying 12 or more semester hours in the Fall or Spring term is considered a full-time student. Students carrying fewer than 12 semester hours are classified as part-time students. This applies to the academic standing. For Summer, an undergraduate enrolled in 6 or more semester hours is considered a full-time student and fewer than 6 semester hours a part-time student.

A graduate student is considered full-time when carrying 6 or more semester hours in the Fall, Spring, or Summer term. A load of five or fewer semester hours constitutes part-time status. Doctoral students completing the dissertation are full-time with at least two semester hours per term.

Please refer to the Financial Aid full-time/part-time standing for an explanation of how that department defines full-time standing and the impact on financial aid awards.

Grades
Final grades are submitted by the student’s instructors and are issued to the student by the Office of the Registrar via PROWL at the end of each term.

Credit/No Credit Grading
Students may not be graded on a Credit/No Credit basis in courses which are part of a major, minor, or core curriculum program. Credit courses count toward the fulfillment of graduation requirements. Neither Credit (CR) nor No Credit (NC) grades affect the student’s grade point average. Once the petition for either grade or Credit/No Credit basis has been filed in the Office of the Registrar, it may not be rescinded or changed after the last day of registration.

Students may be graded on this basis for not more than 20% of their total semester hours at LMU. Students wishing to be graded on this basis must file the appropriate petition in the Office of the Registrar by the published date in the Academic Calendar.
In the case of courses that are graded on a Credit/No Credit basis, the student may petition the instructor for a letter grade with the approval of the Chairperson, before the end of the third week of the semester.

In order for a student to receive a grade of Credit, the work must be of C (2.0) or better for undergraduates and B (3.0) or better for graduates.

Grade Appeals

It is understood that, except in rare instances, only the Instructor may change the final grade using the Correction of Grade form through the Office of the Registrar and only with the approval of Department Chairperson’s, Program Director’s, or equivalent (hereafter called Department Chairperson), and the approval of the Dean of the Instructor’s college or school. The Dean may, however, change the grade if all of the following processes of appeal have been followed. The Dean must notify the Instructor, in writing, of the change in final grade.

1. No later than three weeks into the semester following the issuance of a disputed grade, the student must meet face-to-face with the Instructor to review the reasons for the grade.
2. No later than the following week, if the Instructor is not available for discussion or if discussion fails to resolve the problem, the student may ask the appropriate Department Chairperson (see above) to meet with both the Instructor and the student within five class days. If the Chairperson and the Instructor are in agreement about the validity of the grade, the student may appeal to the appropriate Dean. If the Chairperson cannot agree with the Instructor, the Chairperson will refer the student to file a written appeal to the Dean.
3. The student who appeals beyond the department level must file a written appeal to the appropriate Dean within five class days of the meeting with the Instructor and Chairperson, and no later than the end of the sixth week of classes. The Dean, upon receipt of the written appeal, will work with all parties in an attempt to resolve the matter by mutual agreement. If agreement cannot be reached, the Dean may appoint a committee of three impartial persons to investigate the matter and make a recommendation to the Dean. The Dean will normally follow the recommendation of the committee; however, the decision of the Dean is final.

Grading System

The work of all students at LMU is reported in terms of grades. Instructors are required to assign a final grade for each student registered in a course.

Undergraduate Grades

The following grades are used to report the quality of undergraduate student work at LMU:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>Superior</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>Good</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>Satisfactory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>Poor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CR</td>
<td>Credit— Equivalent to grade of C or higher</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NC</td>
<td>No Credit— Equivalent to grade of C- or lower</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NR</td>
<td>Not reported by instructor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AU</td>
<td>Audit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>Work incomplete</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IP</td>
<td>Work in progress (for courses requiring more than one semester to complete)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>Official withdrawal from course</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

A grade of A may be modified by a minus (-) suffix, and grades B and C may be modified by a plus (+) or minus (-) suffix. Grades A, B, C, and CR denote satisfactory progress toward the degree, but a D grade must be offset by higher grades in the same term for students to remain in good academic standing. A grade of A- denotes superior work, B- denotes satisfactory work, and C- denotes satisfactory progress toward the degree, but a D- grade must be offset by higher grades in the same term for students to remain in good academic standing. A grade of A may be modified by a minus (-) suffix, and grades B and C may be modified by a plus (+) or minus (-) suffix. Grades A, B, C, and CR denote satisfactory progress toward the degree, but a D grade must be offset by higher grades in the same term for students to remain in good academic standing. Note that a "C" grade is not a passing grade in courses requiring a minimum grade of "C." An F or NC grade yields no semester hour or course credit.

Failure to withdraw officially from a course will result in a grade of F (see Withdrawal).

Grade Point Average

Grade points are a measure of the quality of the academic work completed, just as semester hours are a measure of the quantity of this work. The University uses a letter grade to indicate the level of individual student achievement. Each letter grade has a point value assigned for the grade achieved. The point value assigned to each letter grade is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>3.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>3.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>3.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>2.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C-</td>
<td>2.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>2.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D-</td>
<td>1.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E</td>
<td>1.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td>0.0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The grades of AU, CR, NC, I, IP, and W have no point value and are not used in calculating the grade point average.

The LMU grade point average is determined by dividing the total number of LMU grade points by the number of LMU semester hours completed with a letter grade.

Change of Grades

Grades, once submitted to the Office of the Registrar, will be changed only in case of error. An instructor desiring a change of grade must present a written explanation to the Chairperson and the Dean with a Correction of Grade form from the Office of the Registrar. No grade changes may be made after the fourth week of instruction of the next full term. A student’s permanent record reflects the coursework upon which the University awarded the degree or recommended a credential. Therefore, no grade or other changes are permitted either after awarding the degree or recommending the credential.

Mid-Term Deficiencies

The Office of the Registrar e-mails and posts to PROWLMid-term deficiency notices to students informing them of unsatisfactory work as submitted by instructors. The notices, advisory in nature and issued prior to the last day to withdraw in a term, are not part of the student’s permanent academic record.

Graduate Degree Requirements and Policies

Degrees are formally awarded at the end of May, December, and August. The date of the degree posted on a student’s diploma is the one by which all graduation requirements are completed or documents are submitted. These include:

a. a submission of official transcripts from other institutions prior to the degree date;

b. the completion of all incomplete work required for the degree prior to the degree date;
c. all academic requirements including a 3.0 cumulative GPA must be met prior to the degree date;
d. File application for degree with the Office of the Registrar by the deadline date for the term in which all of the above conditions will be met.

Failure to comply with these regulations will delay the granting of the degree until the next commencement. Those who have filed for graduate clearance and do not complete the requirements before the projected date of completion for which they filed are required to refile for the next commencement. It is the student’s responsibility to make certain he/she has completed all the requirements for the degree and has filed the appropriate paperwork for graduation.

Graduation Rate
The completion or graduation rate by August 2010 for undergraduate students who entered Loyola Marymount University in Fall 2004 on a full-time basis was 79.7%.

Incomplete Course Work
An incomplete grade may be assigned by the professor only if a student has completed at least 80% of the coursework.

The student must speak to the professor prior to final exam week to determine if the completed course work meets the minimum requirement for a grade of Incomplete and to discuss what further work is required to complete the course. The professor may or may not agree to the assignment of a grade of Incomplete.

If the professor agrees to assign the grade of Incomplete, s/he will enter a grade of "I" on the Final Grade Roster.

The student’s deadline for submitting all outstanding coursework for undergraduate level courses is three weeks after the first scheduled class day of the next full semester. Graduate students who received a grade of Incomplete in graduate level courses have one academic year to complete and submit all outstanding coursework, unless an earlier deadline is set by the professor.

An incomplete grade not removed by the deadline will default to an "F" or to the default grade as submitted by the instructor on the Final Grade Roster.

If a student requires an extension to the deadline, the student must petition to obtain an extension to the deadline for removal of the grade of Incomplete. The petition, approved by the instructor, must be submitted to the Office of the Registrar.

A degree will not be granted while a grade of Incomplete remains on an undergraduate student’s record.

Graduate students carrying any grades of Incomplete are not permitted to take a comprehensive examination until all "I" grades have been removed.

Graduate students enrolled in undergraduate level courses and who have received a grade of Incomplete in the undergraduate level course must submit outstanding coursework no later than three weeks after the first scheduled class day of the next full semester.

Incomplete Course Work for Graduate Work in Progress
A grade of "In Progress" (IP) may be assigned in graduate level courses that extend beyond a single semester (e.g., internship work, field work, thesis project, the MBA Integrative Project, the Teacher Orientation and Practicum in Philosophy, and directed student teaching).

Leave of Absence
A leave of absence may be granted to a student upon written request to the Office of the Registrar. A leave of absence may be granted for no more than two years. The leave of absence date will be the date that the Leave of Absence/Withdrawal form is received in the Office of the Registrar.

For a student enrolled in a current term, application for the leave must be made before the stated deadline for withdrawal from classes. This date may be found in the academic calendar in the University Bulletin or online for the given term. A leave of absence may be granted only if the student withdraws from all courses in the term. If completed by the deadline, a student will receive grades of W for all courses in that given semester. A student may not take a leave of absence from the term if application is made after the stated deadline for withdrawal from classes. Any student who stops attendance after the deadline to withdraw from classes will receive a grade of F for each course in progress.

A student who is accepted to the University but not yet enrolled may defer admission through the Admission Office. A student with prior enrollment may apply for a leave through the Office of the Registrar. A leave of absence is canceled if the student registers in another college or university without prior written permission of the student’s Dean. In this case, the student has de facto withdrawn (see Withdrawal) from LMU and must reapply through the Admission Office. The student may enroll again at LMU if accepted through the Admission Office. Similarly, a student is considered to have withdrawn from LMU if the leave of absence is extended unofficially beyond two years.

LMU Honor Code and Process
Loyola Marymount University is a community dedicated to academic excellence, student-centered education, and the Jesuit and Marymount traditions. As such, the University expects all members of its community to act with honesty and integrity at all times, especially in their academic work. Academic honesty respects the intellectual and creative work of others, flows from dedication to and pride in performing one’s own best work, and is essential if true learning is to take place.

Examples of academic dishonesty include, but are not limited to, the following: all acts of cheating on assignments or examinations, or facilitating other students’ cheating; plagiarism; fabrication of data, including the use of false citations; improper use of non-print media; unauthorized access to computer accounts or files or other privileged information; and improper use of Internet sites and resources.

Definitions of Academic Dishonesty
The following are examples of academic dishonesty which may be interpreted as intentional or unintentional. This list is not meant to be exhaustive. It is the student’s responsibility to make sure that his/her work meets the standards of academic honesty set forth in the Honor Code. If the student is unclear about how these definitions and standards apply to his/her work, it is the student’s responsibility to contact the instructor to clarify the ambiguity.

A. Cheating and Facilitating Cheating
1. Possession, distribution, and/or use of unauthorized materials or technology before or during an examination or during the process of preparing a class assignment.
2. Collaboration on class assignments, including in-class and take home examinations, without the permission of the instructor.
3. Provision of assistance to another student attempting to use unauthorized resources or collaboration on class assignments or examinations.

B. Plagiarism
1. Presentation of someone else’s ideas or work, either in written form or non-print media, as one’s own.
2. Omission or improper use of citations in written work.
3. Omission or improper use of credits and attributions in non-print media.

C. Falsification of Data
1. Presentation of altered or fabricated data, such as lab reports, with the intention of misleading the reader.
2. Presentation of forged signatures as authentic.
3. Use of false citations, either incorrect or fabricated, including sources found on the Internet.

D. Unauthorized Access to Computers or Privileged Information
1. Use of University network and/or computer hardware to gain unauthorized access to files, and alteration or other use of those files.

E. Improper Use of Internet Sites and Resources
1. Inappropriate use of an Internet source, including, but not limited to, submission of a paper, in part or in its entirety, purchased or otherwise obtained via the Internet, and failure to provide proper citation for sources found on the Internet.

F. Improper Use of Non-Print Media
1. All above standards apply to non-print media.

G. Group Work—Group and team work are an integral part of the Executive MBA and some other graduate programs. Classmates are encouraged to work with and support each other, as much of the learning results from mutually shared experiences and expertise of classmates. There is a point, however, where students must make their own use of materials and present their own ideas, thoughts, and solutions. Examples where work must be clearly individual include individual papers, exams, and projects. There is a fine line between shared learning and cheating. If the student is unclear between what constitutes group work and what constitutes individual work, it is the student’s responsibility to contact the instructor to clarify the ambiguity.

H. Other Academic Dishonesty
1. Any other means of violating the standards of academic honesty set out above.

Honor Code Process

This section sets out the process to be followed when an Instructor suspects a violation of the Honor Code. The recommended sanctions are not mandatory, but are intended to guide the Instructor’s discretion. Instructors are encouraged to consult with their colleagues and chairs in making these decisions. This section also outlines the student appeal process for Honor Code violations.

I. Intentional and Unintentional Academic Dishonesty

a. Notification: Instructors will notify the Student of the suspected act of academic dishonesty. The Student will be given the opportunity to admit, deny, or explain the situation. If the suspected violation of the Honor Code occurs with respect to an assignment that the Instructor has not reviewed until after the class has stopped meeting, the Instructor will send a letter to the permanent address of the Student and keep a copy of the letter. Failure to notify will result in a reasonable extension of the Student’s time to appeal, but is not in and of itself a defense to the violation of the Honor Code.

b. Determination: If the Instructor determines that a violation has occurred, he/she will next determine whether or not the violation was intentional or unintentional. The distinction between intentional and unintentional violations of academic honesty is not based upon the purely subjective intentions of the Student. The question is whether a Student who has carefully read the Honor Code should have understood that his/her action violated the Honor Code and standards of academic honesty.

c. Unintentional Violation: If the Instructor believes the violation was unintentional, he/she may take any of the following actions:
   1. Warn Student
   2. Require assignment or exam to be resubmitted
   3. Reduce the grade on the assignment, project, or exam The Instructor shall inform the Student of his/her decision and also inform the Student of the right to appeal the Instructor’s decision.

d. Intentional Violation: If the Instructor believes the violation is intentional, he/she may take any of the following actions:
   1. Fail the Student on the assignment or exam
   2. Fail the Student in the course

   The Instructor shall inform the Student of his/her decision in writing and also inform the Student of the right to appeal the Instructor’s decision.

   The Instructor may consult with the Chairperson, Program Director, or equivalent and refer the matter directly to the Dean of the Instructor’s college or school with a recommendation that the Student be suspended or expelled. Upon such a referral, the Dean shall appoint an Academic Honesty Panel consisting of one Student from the ASLMU Judiciary and two Faculty members for undergraduate students and three Faculty members for graduate students.

II. Departmental Appeal

a. The Student may appeal the Instructor’s decision under section I(C) or (D) to the Department Chairperson, Program Director, or equivalent. In accordance with the grade appeal policy in the University Bulletin, the Student will be required to make his/her appeal in writing no later than three weeks into the semester following the decision.

b. If either the Student or Instructor wishes, he/she may appeal the decision of the Department Chairperson, Program Director, or equivalent to the Dean of the Instructor’s college or school, who will refer the matter to the Academic Honesty Panel. Appeals must be made within 30 days of receipt of the Chairperson’s decision.

III. Academic Honesty Panel Appeal

a. The Academic Honesty Panel is an ad hoc recommending body of the Instructor’s college/school. The Panel consists of two Faculty members for undergraduate students and three Faculty members for graduate students. The Dean will appoint one of the Faculty members as Chair of the Academic Honesty Panel.

b. Responsibilities of the Panel
   1. The Panel will hear appeals by the Student or Instructor of the Chair’s decision for any penalty short of expulsion or suspension.
   2. The Panel will make the initial recommendation as to whether the Student should be suspended or expelled.
   c. In fulfilling these responsibilities, the Panel will make two determinations:
      1. It will determine whether there is clear and convincing evidence that the Student has violated the Honor Code. The Student is entitled to the presumption of innocence and the right to review and respond to all evidence and information relevant to the Panel’s decision.
      2. Upon the finding of clear and convincing evidence of a violation, the Panel is to determine the appropriate penalty. With regard to the appropriateness of serious recommendations such as suspension and expulsion, the Panel shall take into account the following factors:
         a. the severity of the violation;
         b. whether the violation is an isolated instance, or part of a pattern of two or more violations; and
         c. other mitigating or extenuating circumstances.

d. The recommendation of the Academic Honesty Panel, along with an explanation of the reason for the recommendation, will be reported in writing to the Dean of the Instructor’s college or school. The Dean will normally follow the recommendation of the Panel. However, the Dean’s decision is final.

e. The Dean will inform the Student and Instructor, in writing, of his/her decision. The Dean will also report his/her decision to the Senior Vice President/Chief Academic Officer. The Office of the Senior Vice President/Chief Academic Officer will keep a permanent, confidential record of all proceedings of the Academic Honesty Panel.

Major

A major indicates a particular curriculum within a degree program offered by one of the four Colleges and two Schools. The major is usually declared by the student at the time of acceptance to the University. If a student is unsure about a particular program of study within a degree program, some Colleges will allow for an undeclared major within that college. This option is at the discretion of the College or School. An undergraduate student must, under normal circumstances, declare a major within a degree program prior to earning sixty semester hours of credit.

An undergraduate student must have a cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) and a graduate student must have a cumulative grade point average of B (3.0) in all courses required by the major. Please note that certain majors have more stringent requirements. The particular requirements are listed under the department listings in this Bulletin.

Change of Major or Emphasis

Undergraduate students interested in changing majors should refer to http://registrar.lmu.edu for complete details.

A graduate student who wishes to change a program before completing a degree or credential must submit a new application form to the Graduate Admissions Office. A graduate student who wishes to change from one emphasis to another before completing a degree must request approval from the Program Director.
Double Major

An undergraduate student may earn a Bachelor’s degree with a double (secondary) major by successfully completing the following requirements for the second major prior to, or in the same term as, the first (primary) major:
1. Completion of the requirements of the primary major; and
2. Completion of the requirements of the secondary major; and
3. Completion of requirements for the primary Bachelor’s degree.

No more than eight semester hours of upper division work in the primary major can be used to satisfy the requirements of the secondary major. The two majors will be printed on the student’s transcript of record and University diploma.

Courses may not count as fulfilling both a major and minor program, unless a specific course is required by both programs.

Minor

Undergraduate students who choose to complete a minor must meet the following general requirements:
1. A minor program consists of 18 or more semester hours. At least half of the upper division semester hours of the minor program must be completed in residence at Loyola Marymount.
2. Specific semester hour requirements are listed by each department offering a minor program. A student who declares a minor is held responsible for the academic regulations in effect at the time the minor is declared.
3. A student must have a cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) for courses taken in the minor program.
4. The minor may not be in the same program as the student’s major.
5. Courses may not count as fulfilling both a major and minor program, unless a specific course is required by both programs.
6. A minor may be earned only while the student is concurrently completing the requirements for a baccalaureate degree. The minor must be cleared by the Dean’s office at the same time that the baccalaureate degree is cleared.
7. Students are advised to consult department regulations in the Bulletin for further information.

Non-Degree Graduate Students

Non-degree students are those who are not pursuing a formal graduate program but who are eligible to take courses at LMU. If such a student is taking 500- or 600-level courses, he or she will be a non-degree graduate student. If the student is taking strictly undergraduate courses (400 or lower), he or she will be a non-degree undergraduate student and must be enrolled through Undergraduate Admission. Students may take more than two courses while in the non-degree status; however, only two courses taken in the non-degree status may apply toward a degree or credential. Normally, non-degree students are not allowed to take MBA, graduate School of Film and Television or Marital and Family Therapy courses. Admission to the non-degree status does not guarantee admission to degree candidacy or credential recommendation.

Privacy Rights of Students in Education Records (FERPA)

Loyola Marymount University Policy on Confidentiality of Education Records (FERPA Policy)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended (“FERPA”), is a Federal law which governs student privacy and confidentiality of student education records. Loyola Marymount University (“LMU”) recognizes, abides by and enforces the confidentiality of student records under FERPA.

Definitions

For the purposes of this policy, the following definitions apply:
Student – any person who attends or has attended LMU.

Education records – any record (in handwriting, print, tapes, film, electronic, or other medium) maintained by LMU or any agent of LMU which is directly related to a student, except:
A personal record kept by a staff member if it is kept in the sole possession of the maker of the record and is not accessible or revealed to any other person except a temporary substitute for the maker of the record.
An employee record of an individual whose employment is not contingent on the fact that he or she is a student, provided the record is used only in relation to the individual’s employment.
LMU Department of Public Safety records created and maintained by LMU’s Department of Public Safety for Department of Public Safety purposes.
Counseling records which are created or maintained by a physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, or other recognized professional or paraprofessional, acting in his or her professional capacity or assisting in a paraprofessional capacity, used solely in connection with the provision of treatment to the student and not disclosed to anyone other than individuals providing such treatment, so long as the records can be personally reviewed by a physician or other appropriate professional of the student’s choice. "Treatment" in this context does not include remedial educational activities or activities which are part of the program of instruction at the institution.
Health records maintained by the Student Health Center, if the records are used only for treatment of a student and made available only to those persons providing the treatment.
Alumni records which contain information about a student after he or she is no longer in attendance at the University and which do not relate to the person as a student.

Annual Notification

Current students are notified annually of their rights under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) by publication in the University Bulletin and by posts on the LMU website.

Procedure to Inspect Education Records

Students may inspect and review their official academic or other education records (with certain limited exceptions) within 45 days of the day LMU receives the student’s written request for access. A student should submit any such request in writing, identifying the record(s) the student wishes to inspect, to the appropriate LMU official or department. LMU will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.

Right of University to Refuse Access

LMU reserves the right to refuse to permit a student to inspect the following records:
The financial statements of third parties.
Letters and statements of recommendation for which the student has waived his or her right of access, or which were created before January 1, 1975.
Records connected with an application to attend LMU, or any LMU program, after acceptance but prior to enrollment, or if that application was denied.
Those records which are excluded from the FERPA definition of education records.

Refusal to Provide Copies

Unless required by FERPA or other law, LMU reserves the right to deny a student’s access to academic transcripts or copies of records in any of the following situations:
The student has any unpaid financial obligations to LMU.
There is an unresolved disciplinary action against the student. Copies of disciplinary records will only be made available when a student is unable to come to the office to inspect the record.

Disclosure of Education Records

LMU will disclose information from a student’s education record only with the written consent of the student, except:
To school officials who have a legitimate educational interest in the records.
A "school official" is any person employed by LMU in any administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including public safety and health services staff); any person or company with whom LMU has contracted to provide a service to or on behalf of LMU (such as attorneys, auditors or collection agents); any person serving on LMU's Board of Trustees; or any student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks.

A school official has a "legitimate educational interest" if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill the official's professional responsibilities.

To officials of another school, upon request, in which a student seeks or intends to enroll. A reasonable attempt will be made to notify the student prior to the release of such records.

To certain officials of the U.S. Department of Education, the Controller General, Attorney General, and the state and local educational authorities, in connection with certain state or federally supported education programs.

In connection with a student's request for or receipt of financial aid, as necessary to determine the eligibility, amount or conditions of the financial aid, or to enforce the terms and conditions of the aid. Parents' financial information, including statements submitted in connection with financial aid applications, is excluded from inspection.

If required by a state law requiring disclosure that was adopted before November 19, 1974.

To organizations conducting certain studies for or on behalf of the university.

To accrediting organizations to carry out their functions.

To parents of a dependent student, as defined in the Internal Revenue Code. The parents must provide a copy of their most recent federal income tax return establishing the student's dependency. Full rights under the act shall be given to either parent, unless LMU has been provided with evidence that there is a court order, state statute or legally binding document relating to such matters as divorce, separation or custody that specifically revokes those rights. LMU does not have an obligation to disclose any financial information about one parent to another. If a parent claims a student as a dependent and does not want his/her financial information disclosed to his/her spouse or former spouse, the parent may make that request to the institution.

To comply with a judicial order or a lawfully issued subpoena.

To appropriate parties in a health or safety emergency.

To an alleged victim of a sexual assault of the final results of any institutional disciplinary proceeding against the alleged perpetrator of that violation, if designated as "Directory Information."

To state and local juvenile justice systems or their officials.

If designated as "Directory Information."

Directory Information

LMU is permitted under provisions of FERPA to release "Directory Information" upon request to anyone within the LMU community and to the general public without a student's consent. Students who wish to have their directory information withheld must notify the Office of the Registrar in writing each semester by the close of official registration. (Please note that such withhold notification will prevent LMU from providing your directory information to friends, prospective employers, organizations and others with whom a student may wish to share such information, so a student should make any withhold notification carefully.)

Directory Information consists of a student's:

Name
Address(es)
E-mail addresses
Telephone numbers
Date and place of birth
Major field of study
Enrollment status
Dates of attendance
Anticipated degree and degree date
Degrees, honors and awards received
Participation in officially recognized activities
Weight and height of members of athletic teams
A student's personal identifier used by the student for purposes of accessing or communicating in electronic systems
Most recent educational institution attended
Photograph

Correction of Education Records

Students have the right to ask to have records corrected that they believe are inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of their privacy rights. A student should submit any such request to LMU in writing, clearly identifying the records that the student believes are inaccurate and specifying the reasons the student believes them to be inaccurate. LMU will notify the student of its decision, and if the decision is negative, of the student's right to a hearing regarding his or her request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided at that time.

Notice of Student Rights with Respect to Education Records (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (20 U.S.C. 1232g) ("FERPA") affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. These rights include:

(1) The right to inspect and review the student's education records (with certain limited exceptions) within 45 days of the day LMU receives the student's written request for access. A student should submit any such request in writing, identifying the record(s) the student wishes to inspect, to the appropriate LMU official or department. LMU will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.

(2) The right to request the amendment of the student's education records if the student believes that they are inaccurate. A student should submit any such request to LMU in writing, clearly identifying the records that the student believes are inaccurate and specifying the reasons the student believes them to be inaccurate. LMU will notify the student of its decision, and if the decision is negative, of the student's right to a hearing regarding his or her request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided at that time.

(3) The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One such exception permits disclosure to "school officials" with "legitimate educational interests" without a student's consent. A "school official" is any person employed by LMU in any administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including public safety and health services staff); any person or company with whom LMU has contracted to provide a service to or on behalf of LMU (such as attorneys, auditors, or collection agents); any person serving on LMU's Board of Trustees; or any student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a "legitimate educational interest" if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill the official's professional responsibilities.

Another such exception permits LMU to disclose a student's "directory information," consisting of a student's name, address(es), e-mail addresses, telephone numbers, major field of study, enrollment status, dates of attendance, anticipated degree and degree date, degrees, honors and awards received, participation in officially recognized activities; a student's personal identifier used by the student for purposes of accessing or communicating in electronic systems; most recent educational institution attended; and photograph, to anyone within the LMU community and to the general public. Students who wish to have their directory information withheld must notify the Office of the Registrar in writing each semester by the close of official registration. (Please note that such withhold notification will prevent LMU from providing your directory information to friends, prospective employers, organizations and others with whom a student may wish to share such information, so a student should make any withhold notification carefully.)

Upon request, LMU also discloses education records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll or where the student is already enrolled so long as the disclosure is for purposes related to the student’s enrollment or transfer.

Information on other exceptions to FERPA’s requirements is available through the Office of the Registrar.

(4) The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning LMU’s compliance with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is: Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20202.

Registration

The days of registration are listed in the University Calendar. All students must follow the registration procedures as established by the Office of the Registrar. A student is not considered registered until official clearance has been obtained from the Controller’s Office and successful registration has been processed by the Office of the Registrar. The official academic program consists of the courses in which the student is enrolled at the close of official registration. Students may not attend a course for which they are not registered. Enrollment in a closed class must be authorized by the Department Chairperson or her/his designate. In the College of Business Administration, this authorization is from the Associate Dean.

Undergraduate students are limited to enrolling in a maximum of 17 semester hours during advance registration. If the requirements for a primary major require additional registration, contact the Associate Dean’s office for written permission. Once the approval for more than 17 semester hours has been received in the Office of the Registrar, the necessary adjustments will be made to allow for the additional registration. Two weeks prior to the first day of classes, students are eligible to enroll in 18 or more semester hours.

Repeating Courses

Students may repeat a course previously taken at LMU in a subsequent term at LMU once, including any withdrawals. For undergraduate students, the third time a course is taken requires approval from the Dean. The prior occurrence is excluded from the cumulative grade point average but remains on the transcript. All graded semester hours attempted are used to determine the student’s grade point average and graduation eligibility. The grade of the latest occurrence of the repeated course will be the one calculated into the cumulative average. Please note that although the term GPA will change accordingly, the academic status of the term will not change.

Courses taken on a Credit/No Credit basis may not be used as a repeat course to exclude from the cumulative average a grade of a prior occurrence taken on a letter grade basis.

Courses taken on a Credit/No Credit basis may not be repeated for a letter grade.

Undergraduate students may not register for any course in the College of Business Administration for a third time without the written permission of the Department Chairperson of the course and the Dean. Questions concerning this policy should be directed to the Office of the Registrar.

Undergraduate students may not repeat an elementary or intermediate foreign language course after successful completion of a more advanced course in the same language.

Courses taken at LMU after a degree has been granted will not change the graduation GPA.

Transcripts

Official transcripts of courses taken at the University are issued only with the written permission of the student concerned. Partial transcripts are not issued.

Transcripts show all Loyola Marymount University work completed as of the date of application for the transcript. Work in progress accompanies the transcript. Requests for transcripts to show end of current semester’s work are held until all grades are recorded.

Transcript requests are processed in accordance with the date of filing. Transcripts will not be issued when a student has outstanding financial obligations to the University. In this case, the student will be notified by the Controller’s Office.

Transcripts from other institutions which have been presented for admission or evaluation become a part of the student’s permanent academic file and are not returned to the student. Students desiring transcripts covering work attempted elsewhere should request them from the appropriate institutions.

Transfer Credit

Credit for work completed at institutions accredited by one of the six regional associations of the Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities may generally be accepted toward the satisfaction of degree and credential requirements at Loyola Marymount University.

Credit will not be accepted for courses that:

- Have been identified as being remedial or in other ways as being non-transferable,
- Are identified as duplicates to course work already completed (excludes courses that may be taken multiple times for degree credit),
- Exceed the limitations of resident requirements,
- Exceed the 60 semester hour maximum allowed for graduate course work from community colleges,
- Exceed the 90 semester hour maximum allowed for graduate course work from four-year institutions, or
- Exceed the 6 semester hour total allowed for graduate level course work.

Any student regularly enrolled as a degree candidate who elects to take courses at a college or university other than Loyola Marymount University must obtain a Transfer Course Approval form signed by the Associate Dean of the student’s major prior to enrollment in such courses. Courses taken without this approval may not be counted toward the degree. Approved undergraduate courses must be passed with a grade of C (2.0) or higher, and approved graduate courses must be passed with a grade of B (3.0) or higher, in order to transfer. Semester hour value is granted to transfer courses; grades or GPA information on transfer work is neither listed on nor calculated in LMU work printed on the academic record.

An official transcript from the transfer institution must be submitted to the Office of the Registrar before any transfer courses may become a part of the continuing student’s LMU degree program.

In order to receive credit toward a graduate degree for post-baccalaureate work taken at other colleges and universities, the student must obtain a general petition to transfer credit from the Office of the Registrar. Two official transcripts recording the transfer courses must be sent directly by the institution to the Graduate Admissions Office or the Office of the Registrar. If approved by his/her Department, Program Director, and/or Dean of the student’s college or school, a student may transfer a maximum of two applicable courses of approved graduate credit from an accredited institution for work completed no more than five years ago. No course credit may be transferred unless the grade received was at least a “B” (3.0). If a course was used to satisfy a degree requirement, it usually cannot be used for transfer credit, with the exception of core or prerequisite requirements. Transfer credits are not used to calculate GPA.

Course work completed at non-U.S. institutions must be documented on an official academic record from an international institution recognized by the Ministry or Department of Education of that country.

A foreign credentials evaluation may be required upon request by the Office of the Registrar.

The following evaluation services are recommended:

- Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc.

- International Education Research Foundation Articulation
The articulation services at LMU help students to identify courses completed at other academic institutions that are transferable to LMU baccalaureate degree programs. Courses taken at other academic institutions may fulfill University core requirements, Program (major/minor) requirements or transfer in as electives. LMU has established articulation agreements with its major feeder community colleges. To view these transfer agreements, see http://registrar.lmu.edu/articulation, and click on "Transfer Agreements."

Tutorials
Only regularly offered courses described in this Bulletin may be taken as tutorial courses. Students may individually arrange with a faculty member to take the course as a tutorial. A tutorial course is considered part of a student’s semester program. Registration for it takes place during the regular registration periods. Only full-time students are eligible, and approval will be given for only one tutorial course per semester. Freshmen and first-semester transfer students are not eligible.

Veterans
Students must apply for educational benefits through the Department of Veterans Affairs. Qualified students will receive from the VA a Certificate of Eligibility indicating the educational benefits to which they are entitled. Once committed to LMU and registered in classes, students must submit their Certificate of Eligibility to the Office of the Registrar for enrollment certification processing. Enrollment certification will be performed prior to each semester of enrollment until the University is notified that benefits have been exhausted or the student is no longer enrolled at LMU. The Office of the Registrar is located in the Charles Von der Ahe Building, Suite 150. Office hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday–Friday, or by telephone at 310.338.2740, or by fax at 310.338.4466, or via e-mail at registrar@lmu.edu. For more information, please visit our website: http://www.lmu.edu/about/services/registrar/services/VA.htm.

Withdrawal
Withdrawal from Courses
A student may withdraw from any or all courses by the last day to withdraw in a term as published in the University Bulletin and online Academic Calendar. A currently enrolled student may withdraw from a course(s) by using the drop function in the computer registration system (PROWL). Prior to the deadline, a student may drop all courses using PROWL. In order to completely withdraw from a term or the University, the student should contact the Office of the Registrar. The student will receive grades of W in each of the courses and will be considered to be on a leave of absence for up to two years unless the student gives written notice to the Office of the Registrar that he/she is withdrawing from the University.

After the deadline, and before the final day of classes, students may withdraw from courses only for medical or psychological reasons. A written petition with accompanying documentation from a licensed professional should be submitted to the Office of the Registrar. The documentation from the licensed professional must certify that the student is not able to complete the semester for medical or psychological reasons. If approved, the student will be withdrawn from all courses and not a portion of the course schedule. Students are eligible for tuition and fee refunds according to the University’s published policy. Additional documentation from a licensed professional is required indicating that the student is able to resume study at the University.

Withdrawal from the University
A withdrawal from the University is the termination of the academic program and course of study and the rights and privileges offered to currently enrolled students. (See above.) The withdrawal date will be the date that the Leave of Absence/Withdrawal form is received in the Office of the Registrar.
Academic Programs and Services

Programs

The University Honors Program

Created in 1958, the University Honors Program at Loyola Marymount University seeks to offer an intellectually creative and rigorous academic community for outstanding students. Not housed inside of any given college or school, the University Honors Program is an interdisciplinary set of courses and activities designed to create life-long love of learning and the intellectual habits required to serve others. Although academic excellence is the hallmark of the program, the University Honors Program is equally committed to the education of the whole person, the service of faith, and the promotion of justice.

Students in the University Honors Program do not take the regular University Core courses. Instead, they participate in a series of interdisciplinary seminars that challenge as well as inform, ask hard questions as well as examine tested solutions, and create new solutions as well as ponder the implications of such solutions. Drawing from faculty from across the University, the University Honors Program provides a creative, demanding, and integrated curriculum for academically excellent students who are seeking a rigorous, multidisciplinary course of study to accompany their major(s) and minor(s).

The University Honors Program also offers co-curricular and extra-curricular activities and events, including "The University Honors Program Presents," a multidisciplinary, campus-wide lecture series featuring speakers and performers from Southern California and the nation. The Honors Summit is a retreat held at the beginning of the academic year that allows Honors students to get to know each other and learn about the program.

The University Honors Program is open to students from any school or college of Loyola Marymount University, regardless of major. The Program is administered by the Honors Director, the Honors Associate Director, and the Honors Program Supervisor with the assistance of the Honors Advisory Council. Faculty members of all disciplines are encouraged to be involved with the University Honors Program.

Students in the University Honors Program must maintain a 3.50 cumulative GPA in order to continue in the program. Successful completion of the University Honors Program is announced at the annual Commencement ceremony and noted on the student’s permanent transcript. Graduating students receive an Honors medallion to be worn with their academic regalia. University Honors at Commencement is of lasting personal, professional, and academic value.

Admission to the University Honors Program is open to all incoming and current first-year students. The program is interested in students who display a sense of academic adventure, high motivation, academic rigor, personal responsibility, social awareness, and the constant pursuit of excellence. Incoming first-year students must complete a special University Honors Program application (in addition to their application for admission to Loyola Marymount). Current first-year students must schedule an interview with the Honors Director, presenting a writing sample from a class taken at Loyola Marymount and a letter of recommendation from a faculty member. Only a limited number of students who apply will be invited to join the University Honors Program. Application materials are available at http://www.lmu.edu/honors.

Further details on requirements are continued under "University Honors Program" in the Bulletin.

Air Force ROTC

Air Force ROTC at Loyola Marymount University provides the opportunity for students to become commissioned officers in the United States Air Force. The program is very flexible and normally requires two to four years to complete. The program seeks to better develop students in the areas of character, leadership, physical fitness, and academic performance. In addition, AFROTC provides a significant opportunity for scholar-ship and other financial aid. More information can be found under the "Aerospace Studies" section of this Bulletin.

Individualized Study Program

The Individualized Study Program involves a select number of creative and highly motivated students within all colleges and schools of the University whose educational needs and goals cannot fully be met by individual departments or majors. The program is thus designed to offer each participant greater responsibility in determining the content of his or her major program, based upon the goals to which that major is directed. Students may wish to construct their programs or areas of concentration from interdisciplinary, independent study, field work alternatives, or a combination thereof.

The program is open to freshmen and sophomores who have completed at least one semester in the participating colleges or school. Once accepted into the program by the Dean of the student’s college or school, the student selects a counselor who assists in designing the specific content of the major in line with the student’s objectives.

The student’s program is then formalized into a contract signed by the student, advisor, and Dean. Upon completion of the contracted course of studies, the student is issued a degree in Individualized Studies.

Naval ROTC

Eligible Loyola Marymount University students who wish to participate in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps may do so through a program established with the UCLA University Extension. The program, in conjunction with an LMU baccalaureate degree, leads to a commission in the United States Navy or Marine Corps. Appropriate academic credit for courses accredited by the University of California is given in accordance with the policies governing LMU’s Aerospace Studies program. Further information may be obtained from the Chairperson of the Department of Naval Science, University of California, Los Angeles.

Postbaccalaureate Premedical Program

The Loyola Marymount University Post-Baccalaureate Premedical Program is open to both women and men who have received a bachelor’s degree from an accredited four-year institution in a field other than science, and have completed less than three of the prerequisite courses for admission to medical school. A minimum undergraduate GPA of 3.0 is required, and additional evidence of high achievement, such as appropriate standardized test scores (SAT, ACT, or GRE), is required. The ideal candidate will be strongly motivated and will have had sufficient experience in the medical field, either through volunteer work or previous employment, to serve as a basis for an informed, mature, and committed decision to enter the field of medicine.

Over a 12-month period of intensive, full-time study in the classroom and in the community, our students are thoroughly prepared for the challenges of medical school. Program enrollment is capped at 15 students—small enough to give you individual attention and support. As a result, members of our faculty work closely with you in an academic environment that emphasizes learning by mentoring, collaboration and hands-on experience. Also, our Health Professions Advisory Committee gets to know you as an individual and provides the support, counsel and resources that meet all your unique interests and needs, from selecting courses to choosing the medical school that is right for you.

LMU offers a structured and comprehensive curriculum that fulfills in one year all the requirements you will need to apply to medical school. Over a 12-month period, you will carry a full-time load of courses in biology, general chemistry, organic chemistry, and physics. This typically involves three laboratory sciences per semester during the academic year and a two-semester laboratory science course during the Summer session.

Individuals interested in applying to this program should submit their applications, including supporting materials, no later than March 1 of the year to be considered for admission to the program beginning in the middle of May. Early submission of materials is encouraged to improve enrollment potential. Once an application is complete, the Health Professions Advisory Committee will review the application to determine whether an applicant will be invited for an interview.
Preparation for a Career in Law
The University offers several curricula that are appropriate for students who plan to enter law school upon the completion of their undergraduate degree. The prelaw student should select a course of study that insures the development of the skills essential to the successful study of law: 1) the ability to use language and communicate effectively and 2) the ability to think critically and creatively. In addition, the prelaw curriculum must provide a broad understanding of basic human institutions and values.

To insure they follow an appropriate course of study, prelaw students are advised to select their classes in consultation with the University Prelaw Advisor. The Prelaw Advisor also serves as a resource person for students during the law school application process.

Preparation for the Health Professions
The Health Professions Information Program provides the student with regular informational meetings. The Director of the Program serves as a resource person and is available for individual consultation. The Director’s Office distributes relevant materials to prospective applicants and maintains their files for the Health Professions Advisory Committee. The Committee assists students in completing the application process to health professional schools.

The University offers pre-health professional curricula for those students who wish to complete the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree before admission to a professional school should select a major within the University. Students usually select a biology, biochemistry, or other science major. Students in other majors should consult with the director early in their college careers about blending pre-health profession courses with their chosen major. In addition to fulfilling the requirements of the chosen major, specific requirements of the professional programs should be satisfied. The following lower division courses are usually required: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112, 201, 202; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113, 220, 221, 222, 223; English (6 semester hours); MATH 122, 123; PHYS 253, 254, 255; and PSYC 100. In addition, other specified upper division biology, biochemistry, and statistics courses and electives from Liberal Arts, Fine Arts, and the Sciences may be required.

Students should be aware that many health professional schools do not include dance, martial arts, or yoga, to name but a few.

Regular Loyola Marymount undergraduate students may enroll in "For Credit" LMU Extension courses with permission of their College or School Dean, at the fees quoted for such courses, above and beyond regular full-time tuition. Enrollment in other LMU Extension offerings is unrestricted unless otherwise specified, also at the fees quoted.

Los Angeles Center for International Studies
The Los Angeles Center for International Studies (LACIS) prepares and encourages teachers and students to relate constructively to people of other traditions with dignity, respect, and understanding.

LACIS organized seminars and workshops for World History teachers in Los Angeles middle and high schools. Programs and services for teachers are supported by foundation grants and through fees for services. Support includes grants from the Freeman Foundation through the National Consortium for Teaching about Asia and from the Los Angeles Educational Partnership.

LACIS also administers the Southern California Consortium for International Studies (SOCCIS), a network of university faculty that encourages institutional and faculty commitment to an "internationalized" curriculum and sponsors seminars on area studies. These include African, East Asian, South Asian, Latin American, European and Russian, and Near Eastern Studies. SOCCIS also facilitates communication regarding Study Abroad at area campuses.

Study Abroad
LMU sponsors several study abroad programs for summer, semester, and full-year.

The Study Abroad Office is located in the Charles Von der Ahe Building, or you can call and make an appointment to speak with a Study Abroad counselor at 310.338.1973 or 800.638.7426. Study Abroad is online at http://www.lmu.edu/studyabroad.

LMU Semester Programs
LMU currently offers semester programs in:
- London, England—London Study and Internship Program
- Bonn, Germany—The New Europe Program/Film and Television European Program/Theatre Arts Bonn-Moscow Program
- Seoul, South Korea—Sogang University
- Madrid, Spain—Madrid Program

Semester Study Abroad programs offer an array of unique academic and professional opportunities. Students study with LMU classmates and learn from LMU faculty and local instructors. Semester Study Abroad programs offer a range of core and specialized courses, for which students receive LMU credit.

Participants in an LMU Semester Study Abroad program pay LMU tuition and keep their financial aid package, including any grants and scholarships already awarded.

LMU Exchange Programs
LMU collaborates with schools in:
- Melbourne, Australia—Swinburne University of Technology
- Hong Kong, China—The Chinese University of Hong Kong
- Osaka, Japan—Kansai Gaidai University
- Tokyo, Japan—Sofia University
- Mexico City, Mexico—Universidad Iberoamericana
- Manila, Philippines—Ateneo University
- San Sebastián, Spain—University of Deusto

Exchange programs allow LMU students to spend a semester studying at carefully selected institutions of higher learning in a variety of locations around the world. Reciprocally, students from those institutions may attend LMU for a semester. LMU students live and study with students from the host country and international students. While on the LMU Exchange program, students continue to pay LMU tuition and keep their financial aid package, including any grants and scholarships already awarded. Housing costs can vary.

AJCU Programs

LMU collaborates with Jesuit universities in:
- Beijing, China — The Beijing Center
- San Salvador, El Salvador — Case de la Solidaridad Program
- Florence, Italy — Gonzaga in Florence
- Rome, Italy — The Rome Center

Loyola Marymount University is a member of the Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities, which represents the 28 Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States. Studying abroad through an AJCU program provides students with an opportunity to continue academic endeavors while developing on a personal level. Course offerings needed to complete core requirements are often offered through AJCU study abroad programs. AJCU programs may also allow students to explore service-learning opportunities.

LMU Summer Programs

LMU offers Summer Programs in:
- Melbourne, Australia
- Oxford, England
- Paris, France
- Bonn, Germany
- Sperges, Greece
- Roatán, Honduras
- Dublin, Ireland
- Rome, Italy

Special Programs

Special Programs are study abroad and domestic programs that provide quality educational opportunities that have been approved by LMU:
- Washington, D.C. — The Washington Center for Internships and Academic Seminars

LMU Summer Study Abroad programs provide a rich academic experience complemented by cultural excursions over a short period of time, typically three to five weeks.

Summer Study Abroad programs offer core and specialized courses, for which students receive LMU credit and grades. Each program is led by LMU faculty members whose expertise in both country and subject matter will allow students to excel academically and get a true glimpse of the country.

Credit Transfer

All Study Abroad work completed through a sponsoring institution must be documented on an official transcript from a U.S. institution accredited by one of the six regional associations of the Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities. Study Abroad work completed at an international institution must be documented on an official academic record from an institution recognized by the Ministry or Department of Education of that country.

Basil P. Caloyeras Center for Modern Greek Studies

The Caloyeras Center for Modern Greek Studies provides students with an opportunity to study the culture of contemporary Greece. By means of courses in the language, literature, and the arts of the Greece of today, a doorway is opened to the past, which is thus given a fresh and compelling reality.

The Center has the following goals:
- To offer courses in modern Greek language, post-classical and modern literature and history, the Greek Orthodox tradition, theatre, cinema, dance, music, and the fine arts
- To encourage students to pursue a minor in Modern Greek Studies
- To sponsor lectures on subjects pertaining to Greece which are of interest to the academic community and to the public at large
- To encourage students and faculty to pursue studies and research projects in Greece.

The Center supports the courses that lead to a minor in Modern Greek. (See "Classics and Archaeology" in this Bulletin.)

Thomas and Dorothy Leavey Center for the Study of Los Angeles

Overview

The Thomas and Dorothy Leavey Center for the Study of Los Angeles was established in 1994 to assist students, the University, and the community at large to become agents for change that leads to social justice. Using Los Angeles as a laboratory for understanding the urban experience, the center has become a university leader in developing multidisciplinary courses, producing highly regarded applied research, and promoting civic involvement.

Programs

Southern Californians and Their Leaders is one of the only systematic analyses of how our leaders view contemporary Los Angeles, the opportunities and constraints they face, and the conditions that facilitate leadership. Current activities include leadership roundtables, public opinion polls and leadership surveys, leadership internships, and a leadership lecture series. These activities enable students to apply their classroom knowledge in a real-world setting and aim to empower them to serve their community with skill and compassion.

The Community Studies Program gives students the opportunity to examine patterns and trends reshaping Los Angeles from the perspective of individual neighborhoods. Through in-depth neighborhood analyses, this program gives residents a voice on issues facing their communities. Community studies have focused on communities with a strong Jesuit presence: Hollywood, Pico Union, East Los Angeles, Watts, Lennox, Westchester, and Playa Vista.

In a short span of time, the center has established one of the best undergraduate archives in the nation, the Research Collection. The research collection promotes preservation and analysis of historical documents of public officials, post-World War II developers, late twentieth-century Los Angeles reformers and reform movements, and prominent Catholic families. Holdings include a decade’s worth of the original program tapes of KCRW 89.9 FM’s Which Way, La.? as well as the papers of Rebuild L.A., Los Angeles Educational Alliance for Restructuring Now (LEARN), Los Angeles Annenberg Metropolitan Project (LAAMP), Fritz B. Burns, and Mike Roos, to name just a few. A complete index to the research collection and the contents of individual collections is available online at http://lib.lmu.edu/special/csla/csla.htm.

Other University Services

Academic Resource Center

The Academic Resource Center, located on the second floor of Daum Hall, is LMU’s tutoring and writing center. Students, faculty, and staff can enlist the help of tutors and specialists to enhance the learning process. Peer tutors work with students one-on-one or in small groups discussing course concepts, reviewing class notes, and preparing for exams. Writing tutors provide assistance with papers across the curriculum. The professional staff also work with faculty and academic departments to enhance student success for requested courses. For additional information on ARC services, please call 310.338.2847 or visit http://www.lmu.edu/academics/Academic_Support_Services/arc.htm.

Disability Support Services

The Disability Support Services (DSS) Office provides specialized assistance and resources that enable students with documented physical, learning, and/or psychological disabilities to achieve maximum independence while pursuing their educational goals. Services are offered to students who have established documented disabilities under federal and state law. Staff specialists constantly interact with all areas of the University to eliminate physical and attitudinal barriers. Please visit our website for more details: http://www.lmu.edu/dss/ or contact us at 310.338.4535. Please note that all information is confidential.
Academic Programs and Services

Orientation

The Freshman Orientation Program welcomes new students to the Loyola Marymount community. During Orientation, students are introduced to the academic and co-curricular programs of the University, meet with faculty for individual academic advisement, and are assisted in registering for courses. Students also become familiar with all of the services, activities, and resources available to them. Throughout the Orientation Program, students interact in small groups, led by current LMU students. Since Orientation provides a useful introduction to the people, programs, and opportunities LMU offers, all new students are required to participate in the program. For additional information, please contact the Orientation office at 310.338.7429 or orientation@lmu.edu.

The Transfer Orientation Program is the best way to acclimate to life at LMU. Orientation helps students become familiar with their new campus, learn about student life, and introduce them to current and other new students as well as helpful and friendly faculty and staff. Some of the activities that take place at orientation include: opportunities to meet faculty and discuss questions about the University; introductions to LMU’s wide-ranging events, clubs, and organizations; discussions with current students about various involvement opportunities on campus; and a chance to speak with representatives from all administration areas (Registrar, One-Card, Financial Aid, etc.). For additional information regarding Transfer Orientation, please contact the Transfer Programs office at transferprograms@lmu.edu or 310.338.5252.

University Library

Located on the bluff between the Jesuit Community and the Leavey Residence Halls, the William H. Hannon Library was designed and built by AECOM. It opened in July 2009. Named for long-time LMU benefactor and Distinguished Alumnus William H. Hannon, the library is comprised of 120,928 square feet, with three levels above ground and a two-story basement below ground for high density collections storage. The building increases seating to 865, with a variety of seating for students, faculty, and staff. The upper-level stacks hold 250,000 volumes and the basement can store an additional one million volumes.

A highlight of the building is the Information Commons where students can learn, work, and collaborate on class projects using state-of-the-art information technology. A media lounge and café provides comfortable seating and a casual learning environment.

The William H. Hannon Library contains the collections of the University’s Westchester campus, which totals approximately 478,500 print books, 106,500 bound periodicals, 27,000 media resources including CDs and DVDs, 1,388 current print periodical subscriptions, and access to 163,000 e-books and 39,000 electronic periodicals. In addition to the Library’s online catalog, LINUS, network access is also available to online index databases such as LexisNexis Academic and PROQuest Research Library. For a complete listing of available databases, please go to the Library home page: http://www.lmu.edu/library. In addition, the Library is a member of the LINK+ Consortium, an interlibrary lending organization of member libraries with over 4.5 million books. The Library’s Instruction Program offers classroom instruction in information literacy and database searching.

The Department of Archives and Special Collections houses collections of art, rare books, manuscripts, and the University Archives. Notable holdings include the St. Thomas More, Oliver Goldsmith, and the Helena and John Weadock Collection of rare English and American first editions. Other important collections are the papers of the motion picture producer Arthur P. Jacobs, best known for the Planet of the Apes series, and the Werner Von Boltenstern postcard collection, which contains over a million cards. The department also houses the Research Collection of the Thomas and Dorothy Leavey Center for the Study of Los Angeles which collects research materials relating to local public officials, post-World War II developers, late twentieth-century reformers, and prominent Catholic families.

The Library’s Media & Reserve Services Department provides reserve materials for student class work, as well as equipment and materials in various multi-media formats.
Honors at Commencement
To be eligible for scholastic honors at commencement, an undergraduate student must have completed at least 60 semester hours toward the baccalaureate degree on a graded basis. Credit/No Credit grades do not apply at Loyola Marymount. Eligible students for honors at May commencement either received a degree on the previous August or December degree-granting dates or be a degree candidate for May. Honors at commencement are determined by the cumulative grade point average at the time the degree is granted, based on LMU work only. The following grade point averages are required for the honors indicated:

- 3.9 Summa Cum Laude
- 3.7 Magna Cum Laude
- 3.5 Cum Laude

These honors are entered on the transcript and are inscribed on the diploma.

Dean’s List
A Dean’s List, comprised of full-time matriculated undergraduate students, is published at the end of the Fall and Spring semesters. To be eligible for the Dean’s list, students must have completed 15 semester hours at LMU and received letter grades in at least 12 semester hours with a cumulative term grade point average of 3.50 or better. To qualify for the Dean’s List, one must have completed all courses and not received a grade of F in any course.

University Honor Societies
Loyola Marymount University sponsors numerous honor societies to recognize significant academic achievement of its students.

Alpha Kappa Delta Sociology Society
Established at LMU in 1997, Alpha Kappa Delta is an academic organization dedicated to the study of sociology, the research of social problems, and other social and intellectual activities. It promotes the development of scholastic and leadership skills within the framework of a national honor society and the Department of Sociology. It was founded in 1920 at the University of Southern California.

Alpha Sigma Nu Jesuit Honor Society
Alpha Sigma Nu is a national honor society for men and women founded in 1915 at Marquette University. The society was organized to honor students from Jesuit colleges and universities who have distinguished themselves in scholarship, loyalty, and service to the University. A limited number of juniors and seniors are selected for membership each year. The society offers its services to the University, particularly in an effort to stimulate intellectual interest and accomplishment. It was established at LMU in 1939.

Beta Beta Beta Biology Society
Since its inception at Oklahoma City University in 1922, Beta Beta Beta has been a society for students dedicated to improving the understanding and appreciation of biological study and extending boundaries of human knowledge through scientific research. The society has been at LMU since 1939.

Beta Gamma Sigma Business Society
The establishment of the first national honor society for business students was the result of the 1913 merger of three separate societies from the University of Wisconsin, University of Illinois, and University of California. Beta Gamma Sigma is an international honor society recognizing the outstanding academic achievements of students enrolled in collegiate business and management programs. LMU’s chapter started in 1982.

Gamma Kappa Alpha National Italian Honor Society
Gamma Kappa Alpha acknowledges superior scholastic performance in the field of Italian language, literature, and culture, and is open to membership at institutions of higher learning in the United States and Canada. The Society encourages college students to acquire a greater interest in, and a deeper understanding of, Italian culture, art, and history. It was founded at Nazareth College in Rochester, NY, in 1983 and established at LMU in 1998.

Kappa Delta Pi International Honor Society in Education
The Kappa Delta Pi International Honor Society in Education was founded in 1911 at the University of Illinois and established at LMU in 1996. It is dedicated to recognizing scholarship and excellence in education, promoting development and dissemination of worthy educational ideas and practices, and enhancing the continuous growth and leadership of its diverse membership.

Lambda Pi Eta Communication Studies Society
Founded at the University of Arkansas in 1985, this society later became the official honor society of the National Communication Association. Taking its name from the three elements of persuasion as described in Aristotle’s Rhetoric, it functions to foster development among students and professionals in the field.

Phi Alpha Theta History Society
Established at the University of Arkansas in 1921, Phi Alpha Theta is a professional society whose mission is to promote the study of history through the encouragement of research, teaching, publication, and the exchange of learning and ideas among historians. The LMU chapter started in 1968.

Phi Sigma Tau Philosophy Society
The purpose of Phi Sigma Tau is to serve as a means of awarding distinction to students having high scholarship and personal interest in philosophy and to promote student interest in research and advanced study in this field. It was founded at Muhlenberg College in 1930, incorporated in 1955, and became active at LMU in 1987.

Pi Delta Phi French Honor Society
This society was established in 1906 at the University of California at Berkeley, with the goals of recognizing outstanding scholarship in French language and literature and increasing knowledge of the contribution of French-speaking countries to world culture. LMU’s chapter began in 1969.

Pi Mu Epsilon Mathematics Society
Pi Mu Epsilon is an honorary national mathematics society founded at Syracuse University in 1914, with the purpose of promoting scholarly activity in mathematics among the students in academic institutions. The society was established at LMU in 1975.

Pi Sigma Alpha National Political Science Honor Society
Pi Sigma Alpha was founded in 1920 at the University of Texas at Austin. Its goal is to stimulate scholarship and intelligent interest in the field of political science. LMU’s chapter was established in 1998.

Psi Chi Psychology Society
Psi Chi Psychology Society was established in 1929 at Yale for the purposes of encouraging, stimulating, and maintaining excellence in scholarship and advancing the science of psychology. LMU started a chapter of the society in 1979.

Sigma Delta Pi Spanish Society
Sigma Delta Pi, the National Collegiate Hispanic Honor Society, was established in 1919 at the University of California at Berkeley. Its goals include honoring those who attain excellence in the study of the Spanish language and encouraging university students to acquire a greater interest in and a deeper understanding of Hispanic culture. LMU’s chapter became active in 1972.

Sigma Pi Sigma National Physics Honor Society
Founded at Davidson College, North Carolina, in 1921. Sigma Pi Sigma exists to honor outstanding scholarship in physics, to encourage interest in physics among students at all levels, to promote an attitude of service of its members towards their fellow students and colleagues and to the public, and to provide a fellowship of persons who have excelled in physics. The society was established at LMU in 1979.

Sigma Tau Delta English Society
Founded at Dakota Wesleyan College in 1924 and established at LMU in 1994, Sigma Tau Delta members are expected to have superior creative talent and to have an interest in literature and language beyond the classroom. They are dedicated to providing cultural and intellectual enlightenment in a community of others who have similar talents and interests.

Sigma Xi Scientific Research Society
At LMU since 1967, Sigma Xi endeavors to encourage support of academic achievement and original work in science and technology and to promote an appreciation within society at large for the role research has played in human progress. Founded at Cornell University in 1886, it is among the oldest such societies in the nation.

Tau Beta Pi Engineering Society
This national engineering honor society was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 to honor students displaying excellence in scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in engineering colleges. The LMU chapter was established in 1974.

Theta Alpha Kappa Theology Society
Founded in 1976 at Manhattan College, Theta Alpha Kappa is the only national honor society recognizing excellence of students involved in the study of religion and theology. The society was established at LMU in 1981.

Presented to the outstanding graduating senior in good academic standing who, through his/her leadership, activities, and involvement with the community beyond the campus and throughout his or her years at Loyola Marymount University, has improved relations between the community and the University and has created a positive view of Loyola Marymount University. The recipient has exemplified Jesuit and Marymount ideals of hard work and generosity, has had a significant impact in off-campus service, and has given promise of selfless and effective leadership in the years ahead.

Sr. Raymunde McKay, R.S.H.M., Service and Leadership Award for Seniors
Presented to graduating seniors in good academic standing who, during their years at Loyola Marymount, have excelled as leaders and servants. The recipients of the McKay Award have: been instrumental in initiating change; taken on leadership roles that have motivated their peers to challenge themselves and others; enriched the quality of University life by building school spirit and by creating a positive and respectful community; and given selflessly of their time and energy in an attempt to make the world—that of the University, local community, and nation—a better place.
The University Honors Program at Loyola Marymount University seeks to offer academically outstanding students with intellectually creative and rigorous courses designed to create a life-long love of learning and the intellectual habits required to serve others. The sequence of courses culminates in a Senior Thesis project (either HNRS 497 or a Senior Thesis/Project course in their major) prepared under the guidance of professorial mentors. Honors students are strongly encouraged to present their work at the LMU Undergraduate Research Symposium as well as national conferences in their discipline. Selected students will have the opportunity to attend and present work at the National Collegiate Honors Council and the Western Regional Honors Council conferences.

For more on the program, including how to apply, please consult the description of the University Honors Program in the Academic Programs and Services section of the Bulletin, or look at the program’s website at http://www.lmu.edu/honors.

Business Students
Students in the College of Business Administration are exempt from HNRS 105.

Liberal Studies Students
Students who are working toward elementary education credentials need to meet with the Honors Director to determine the best coursework path. Decisions about courses will be made in consultation with the Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation.
BELLARMINE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Administration
Dean: Paul Tiyambe Zeleza
Associate Deans: Cheryl Grills, Curtiss Takada Rooks, Jeffrey Wilson

Mission of the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts (BCLA)

The Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts (BCLA) embodies the wider University goals of liberal education and commitment to Roman Catholicism and the Judeo-Christian tradition. The curriculum in the College liberates the mind, nourishes the spirit, and cultivates creativity for the challenges of today and tomorrow. Its courses, therefore, are at the heart of the University’s core curriculum for all undergraduates.

BCLA Student Learning Outcomes

By virtue of their liberal arts courses, LMU students should understand:

- The various ways in which knowledge is established and integrated
- The broad outlines of human history and the interconnectedness of the world
- The philosophical and theological dimensions of our intellectual traditions.

By virtue of their liberal arts courses, LMU students should be able to:

- Demonstrate written and oral competencies
- Synthesize and apply knowledge to solve problems, personal and social
- Interact cross-culturally and pursue justice, locally and globally.

By virtue of their liberal arts courses, LMU students should value:

- The life of the mind, enhanced self-awareness and social awareness
- Critical reflection that leads to thoughtful action
- Diversity, responsibility, justice, and globally sound human practice.

Similarly, BCLA students attain the learning outcomes of their majors and minors, found in the following program descriptions.

Application of General University Requirements

The University requirements for admission, graduation, and all general rules and regulations of the University as set forth in this Bulletin are applicable to and binding upon all students enrolled in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts.

Degree Requirements for a Baccalaureate Degree in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts

The degree program has three components: core, major, and electives. The core curriculum, which is taken throughout the four-year program, provides educational breadth and embodies Loyola Marymount's educational mission and vision. The major provides a field of concentration that develops a depth of understanding in the humanities or social sciences. Finally, up to one-third of the program is made up of electives. This provides the opportunity for exploring fields of study complementary to the major or for developing expertise in a second major or minor.

All BCLA students should be aware of the following policies:

- 120 semester hours are required for graduation with the following distribution: a) at least 45 semester hours of upper division, and b) a maximum of 30 upper division semester hours in any one department will be accepted toward graduation requirements.
- No more than 9 semester hours in any of the following programs will be accepted toward degree requirements: ART, DANC (studio technique/performace), MUSC (applied music, studio, or performance), THEA (technical or performance).
Liberal Arts students with a double major or minor in one of the above departments are allowed to exceed the 9 semester hour limit in order to complete their programs. Only those units that are applicable to the double major or minor will be accepted toward graduation requirements. Enrollment by degree-seeking students at another institution at the same time they are enrolled at LMU is not permitted. Courses taken concurrently elsewhere will not be accepted toward degree requirements in BCLA. See Financial Aid policies for additional restrictions.

The Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts accepts a maximum of two semester hours of physical education only upon entrance for a new transfer student. Other physical education hours do not count toward degree requirements.

A maximum of 10 semester hours of Aerospace credit will be accepted. This credit is limited to:

- AERO 100: 1 semester hour
- AERO 101: 1 semester hour
- AERO 200: 1 semester hour
- AERO 201: 1 semester hour
- AERO 300/400: 3 semester hours
- AERO 301/401: 3 semester hours

Students should consult the Dean’s Office for specific policies applicable to the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts.

Major Requirements
Students must have a major. Please see the following for the requirements for specific programs. Students ordinarily enter the University with a major but may enter undeclared. Undeclared students must declare a major prior to enrolling in classes for their junior year.

Minor Requirements
Students may, if they so desire, dedicate some of their electives in pursuit of a minor. Please see the following for the requirements for specific programs.

Recommendations
Students are encouraged to enrich their program of study with courses from the following areas.

Foreign Language
Students are encouraged to study foreign languages to the intermediate level. LMU offers Chinese, Filipino, French, German, Greek (Modern and Classical), Italian, Japanese, Latin, and Spanish on a regular basis.

International/Global Studies
Students are encouraged to select courses that deal with international and/or global issues. Such courses are offered throughout the University and are available as electives or as options within the core or major. Consult the Bulletin listings.

Internships
Students are encouraged to link academics and career exploration through internships. Internships may be arranged through the Career Development Office. Also, internship courses are offered through various academic departments.

Study Abroad
A semester of international study abroad is also recommended for the junior year. Consult the Study Abroad Office.

Students Interested in Teaching in California Public Schools
Students wishing to teach grades K-5 in California public schools are required to obtain a Multiple Subjects Subject Matter Teaching Credential and demonstrate "subject matter competence" to teach the many subjects commonly taught in elementary school. Subject matter competence must be demonstrated by passing the California Subject Examination for Teachers (CSET). To prepare for this examination, students complete the requirements of the Liberal Studies Bachelor's of Arts degree in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts. Students interested in the Liberal Studies degree program should consult a Liberal Studies advisor.

Students wishing to teach in grades 6-12 in California public schools are required to obtain a Single Subject Credential and demonstrate "subject matter competence" to teach a particular subject (e.g., English, Social Studies, Foreign Language, Mathematics, or Science). Subject matter competence can be demonstrated by either passing a national exam or by successfully completing an approved subject matter preparation program in English. Students interested in teaching English at the 6-12 grades levels should consult the English Subject Matter advisor in the English Department. The Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering offers an approved single subject preparation program in mathematics. Students interested in teaching mathematics should consult an advisor in the Mathematics Department. Subject matter preparation programs in science and French are pending, whereas Spanish and the social sciences have been approved.

A Multiple Subjects Subject Matter or Single Subject Matter teaching credential can be earned concurrently with a Bachelor's degree. Except for Liberal Studies majors, students may declare a minor in Education and begin taking Education courses after completion of 30 semester hours (first semester Sophomore standing). In order to maximize the full potential of taking Education courses with the undergraduate program, students are strongly encouraged to declare the Education minor early in their career. Credential programs are also available in Special Education (K-12) and Bilingual Education (Spanish, K-12). For more information on Education programs, see the School of Education section in this Bulletin.

Secondary Teacher Preparation Programs
For information on these programs, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

African American Studies

Faculty
Chairperson: Adilifu Nama
Associate Professors: Angela James, Joseph Jewell, Adilifu Nama
Assistant Professor: Dionne Bennett

Objectives
African American Studies is an interdisciplinary department with a worldview grounded in the perspective of Africa and the Diaspora. This worldview forms the basis of our intellectual, theoretical, and methodological approaches. The objective of African American Studies is to understand the forces that impact the lives of people of African descent in America as well as the influences of African descent on America and beyond. The Department’s curriculum challenges students to integrate knowledge and analytical skills from disciplines such as sociology, history, literature, political science, philosophy, and economics so that a more holistic understanding emerges.

By examining the lived experiences of Africans in America and throughout the Diaspora from the perspective of various disciplines, students develop a deeper understanding of themselves and their interactions within a diverse society. Thus, African American Studies provides students with an excellent preparation for graduate study, professional schools, social advocacy and activism to promote social justice, and numerous employment opportunities (e.g., law, education, counseling, entertainment, social work, public relations, business, etc.) that require a Bachelor of Arts degree.

African American Studies Student Learning Outcomes
By virtue of exposure to African American Studies courses, African American Studies students should know:

- The general history of African American people in the U.S. and the Diaspora
- The significance of the concept of an African worldview and its significance to African American-centered scholarship
- How to conduct social science research and to interpret scientific data
- The basic research questions posed by the various disciplines contributing to a better understanding of the African American experience
- The value of embracing the concept of diversity in the modern and complex world in which we live
- The pathways to graduate schools and professional careers provided to a major or minor in African American Studies
- The scope and content of African-centered knowledge systems;

African American Studies students should be able to:

- Effectively employ social science methodologies in the analysis of issues related to African Americans
- Demonstrate written and oral competencies in the analysis of theories and practices
- Identify and utilize appropriate primary data, including census and demographic data
- Apply their understanding of social issues to the development and critical analysis of programs and policies that impact residents in rural and urban areas
- Develop a basic knowledge and appreciation of the Black Aesthetic
- Develop an understanding of the forces that negatively impact the Black family and other institutions in the Black community;

African American Studies students should value:

- The contributions of Black people to America and to world civilization
- The importance of diversity in a complex world
- Critical thinking as an important problem solving skill
• Community service and service learning as meaningful activities
• The dignity of all human cultures.

Major Requirements

Lower Division:
AFAM 115
AFAM 155

One course in research methods chosen from the following:
AFAM 208
POLS 210
SOCL 109

Upper Division:

24 semester hours in upper division courses must include AFAM 335 (SOC 335) and AFAM 497. AFAM 335 should be taken in the first semester of the junior or senior year, AFAM 497 should be taken in the senior year. The remaining 18 hours are to be chosen from the five focus areas in which the upper division courses in African American Studies are grouped: I) Sociology, II) History, III) Literature/English, IV) Economics and Urban Studies, V) Senior Seminar. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in courses included in the major.

I. Sociology

AFAM 301 Black Family Life
AFAM 334 Race and Ethnic Relations*
AFAM 335 Sociology of the Black Community
AFAM 435 Sex, Race, and Violence
AFAM 485 African American Social Thought*

II. History

AFAM 390 African Kingdom*
AFAM 392 Colonial Africa 1860-1960*
AFAM 490 The Nile Quest*
AFAM 491 South Africa*

III. Literature/English

AFAM 337 Black Arts Movements
AFAM 395 Black Drama
AFAM 396 Survey of African Amer. Literature

IV. Economics and Urban Studies

AFAM 326 Econ. Dev. Minority Communities*
AFAM 365 Metropolitan L.A.*

V. Senior Seminar

AFAM 497 Senior Seminar

* cross-listed courses

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours, including AFAM 115, 150 or 155, and 335 and nine (9) semester hours in upper division courses. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in the courses included in the minor.

African American Studies Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as AFAM major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

American Cultures Studies

Coordinator
Edward Park

Mission of American Cultures Studies

Courses in American Cultures Studies will enhance students’ familiarity with and appreciation of several of the diverse cultural groups that comprise the multi-ethnic society of the United States. The in-depth, comparative, and interdisciplinary study of the cultures, behaviors, experiences, and inter-group relations of the following groups—African American, Asian/Pacific Islander American, Chicano/Latino American, Euro-American, and Native American—will provide students with competencies and sensibilities that will enable them to contribute to and thrive in a culturally diverse world. (It is understood that the above categories do not include the entirety of peoples comprising the United States of America. Moreover, it is recognized that a rich variety of cultures is also represented within these broad groups.)

Students will strengthen their knowledge and awareness of various ethnic or cultural groups. They will also develop analytical responses to various forms of cultural expression. This approach asks students to challenge the boundaries of ethnicity, culture, and academic discipline. In so doing, students improve their intergroup communication skills and become better able to see, appreciate, and respect the perspectives of others—factors that are essential to the creation of a more understanding and just society.

Goals of American Cultures Studies

Courses in American Cultures Studies are designed to:
• Provide strategies and competencies necessary to thrive in and contribute to a multiethnic and inter-cultural environment.
• Link theory and practice in the Jesuit-Marymount tradition.

American Cultures Studies Student Learning Outcomes

Students who have completed an AMCS course will:
• Know the histories, cultures, and politics of major ethnically and racially diverse groups in American society.
• Know the role of race and ethnicity in shaping the American experience.

Students who have completed an AMCS course will be able to:
• Become more informed and effective participants in a culturally diverse world
• Evaluate the multi-racial and multi-ethnic dimension of American life.

Students who have completed an AMCS course will value:
• Historical and contemporary efforts to build a more just and inclusive America
• Commitment to social justice and inter-culturalism.

All courses in this curriculum satisfy the AMCS component of the student’s core requirement. Some of the courses are also cross-listed in other disciplines.

Asian and Pacific Studies

Director
Robin Wang

Faculty
Professor: Robin Wang
Assistant Professor: Yanjie Wang

Objectives

Asian and Pacific Studies, an interdisciplinary area studies program, provides a general background to the traditions and cultures of Asia and the Pacific as well as an understanding of contemporary issues relating to that region. Furthermore, given the present shift of interest to the Pacific region, it aims to deepen the student’s knowledge of Asia and the Pacific or of a country/area through a concentrated study in one academic discipline. This academic program, therefore, is intended to develop the student’s personal interest in Asian and Pacific affairs and to prepare her or him for Asia-related career opportunities. All students are encouraged to spend some time in Asia through the various programs available to them.

Asian and Pacific Studies Student Learning Outcomes

• Students will come to understand the culture of the Asia Pacific region and its contributions to human civilization, with special attention to distinctively Asian culture and spiritual traditions that originated in this region
• Students will enhance their competencies by doing original research on topics of concern in the Asia Pacific region, and communicate their findings in both written and oral presentations. Students will also acquire a basic knowledge and skill in an Asian language
• Students will have the opportunity to develop self-awareness by exploring interactively the relationships between their own cultures and those of the Asian Pacific region.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements (18 semester hours) including:
• ASPA 201 Asian Civilizations
• HIST 182 Modern Asia

Language Requirement:
Study of an Asian language (competence expected is the equivalent of a two-year study, i.e., 12 semester hours). Native speakers of an Asian language may be exempted from the language requirement but will be strongly encouraged to study another language. At LMU, credit may be obtained for ARCH 205, 305 (Sanskrit); CHIN 101, 102, 203, 204; FLPN 101, 102, 203, 204; JAPN 101, 102, 203, 204. At UCLA, credit may be obtained through the SOCCIS program for Arabic, Korean, and Mongolian.

Upper Division Requirements (24 semester hours):
• ASPA 301, 305, 500.

Choose the additional fifteen upper-division semester hours from ASPA courses or, in consultation with the Director, from courses with substantial content focused on Asia and the Pacific region in other disciplines, including art, business, economics, history, philosophy, political science, and theological studies.

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours

HIST 182, one semester of an Asian language, plus 12 upper-division semester hours in ASPA including ASPA 500. In consultation with the Director, the student may choose one course in another college or school, provided it has substantial content focused on Asia and the Pacific region.

Asian and Pacific Studies Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as ASPA major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Please consult with the Director.

In all cases, check for course prerequisites or requirements.

Asian Pacific American Studies

Director
Edward Park

Faculty
Professor: Edward Park
Assistant Professor: Curtiss Takada Rooks

Objectives
Asian Pacific American Studies (APAM) is a program that supports Loyola Marymount’s commitment to multicultural education. APAM grew out of... the Asian Pacific Studies Program (ASPA) in 1992. While ASPA focuses on the traditions and cultures of Asia and the Pacific, APAM is designed to enhance student understanding of the history and contemporary issues that impact the lives of Asian Pacific Americans in the United States. A minor in APAM is available at LMU.

People of all races and ethnicities are encouraged to enroll in APAM courses. Only through a critical understanding of our multicultural society can we begin to "live together, learn together, work together, and forge new ties that bind together."

Asian Pacific American Studies Student Learning Outcomes
- A greater understanding of the historical contributions of Asian Pacific Americans
- A more critical understanding of contemporary issues facing the Asian Pacific American communities
- A deeper appreciation of the ethnic, class, gender, and generation diversity of Asian Pacific Americans
- A greater appreciation of Asian Pacific American cultural, literary, and artistic expressions

APAM Minor Requirements
18 semester hours

- APAM 117
- APAM 500
- APAM Upper Division (12 semester hours required)

Note: Other courses may be approved with the consent of the Director.

The Bioethics Institute

Faculty
Acting Chairperson: Juan Mahy Busch

Mission Statement
The graduate program in bioethics at Loyola Marymount University is a distinctive program of studies leading to the Master of Arts degree. It seeks to provide graduate educational opportunities that will enable students to reflect systematically on contemporary issues in bioethics and healthcare principally through the prism of the intellectual heritage of the Roman Catholic philosophical and theological tradition. It also seeks to promote an awareness of social justice in the delivery of healthcare. The Master’s program is multidisciplinary and encourages learning and thinking from an interdisciplinary perspective, and it fosters the critical analysis of bioethical topics through the interplay between moral theory and medical practice. For those interested in pursuing a Ph.D. in bioethics, it will prepare them well to enter into a doctoral program at another institution. No applicants currently are being accepted to this Master of Arts program as it undergoes revisions.

Contact Information
Acting Chairperson: Juan Mahy Busch
E-mail: jmahybus@lmu.edu

Admission Requirements
No applicants currently are being accepted to this Master of Arts program as it undergoes revisions.

Students may take graduate courses in non-degree status with permission of the Graduate Director and the Professor.

Financial Assistance
Graduate Research Assistantships are available and are awarded normally for a two-year period to full-time graduate students. Some scholarship funds are available to part-time students. A number of on-campus jobs are available by application, as well.

- BIOE 650 - Introduction to Clinical Medicine
- (Students who do not have a sufficient background in clinical medicine/nursing must take this course as one of their electives.)

Learning Outcomes of the M.A. Program in Bioethics

Upon successful completion of the MA in bioethics, students:

- Will be able to understand the basic problems, methods, and approaches to the field of bioethics
- Will familiarize with the main ethical theories of bioethics and identify the philosophical components of the public discussion on bioethical issues
- Will be able to engage in the critical analysis of bioethical questions and articulate their theoretical and practical dimensions
- Will be able to recognize and interpret the theological presuppositions of bioethical questions and appreciate the contribution of religious traditions to the field of bioethics
- Will appreciate the importance of ethical dialogue across different philosophical and religious traditions
- Will become familiar with the clinical context of medicine and recognize the ethical challenges facing health care professionals and their patients today
- Will become familiar with the research context of medicine, especially in the area of genetics, and recognize the ethical challenges facing scientists and society at large
- Will understand the legal and public policy implications of bioethics and become able to understand the interplay of morality and law both at a general level and in relation to specific bioethical issues

Graduate Certificate in Bioethics

The Graduate Certificate in Bioethics offers distinctive program to prepare health care professionals (e.g., physicians, nurses, clinical social workers, pastoral care personnel, hospital administrators, etc.) to serve on a medical center bioethics committee. The program also prepares individuals to deal with the complexities of bioethical issues arising in clinical practice and to become leaders in decision-making about bioethical problems in their respective institutions. No applicants currently are being accepted to this Graduate Certificate program as it undergoes revisions.

CATH Minor Requirements

The Catholic Studies minor program consists of 18 semester hours, with at least 12 being upper division, structured as follows:

A. Foundational course: CATH/THST 122: Theological Foundations of Catholicism (3 semester hours).

B. Faith and Culture (3 semester hours upper division): One course that explores Catholicism as an intellectual, social, spiritual, and/or cultural tradition within the history of ideas.

C. Critical/Creative Arts (3 semester hours upper division): One course that critically explores the interplay between Catholicism and the arts or one course that allows students to explore and express Catholic faith creatively.

D. Additional CATH (6 semester hours, at least 3 being upper division).

E. Capstone: CATH 490 Seminar in Catholic Studies (3 semester hours).

A service-learning course with a Catholic focus would replace any one course from the Faith and Culture and Creative/Critical Arts categories.

---

Chicana/o Studies

Faculty
Chairperson: KarenMary Davalos
Assistant Professor: KarenMary Davalos
Assistant Professor: Eliza Rodriguez y Gibson

Objectives
The interdisciplinary Chicana/o Studies curriculum is designed to enhance student understanding of the unique influence of the Chicano/Latino community in the United States. It is the belief of the Department that a liberal arts education should expose students to as many cultures and perspectives as possible. This exposure emphasizes the following aspects of the goals of the University: the encouragement of learning, the education of the whole person, the service of faith, and the promotion of justice. The goals of Chicana/o Studies have a special meaning given the significant historical and contemporary presence of Mexican and Chicana/o peoples in Los Angeles. Chicana/o Studies courses attempt to prepare all students to live in and contribute to a society which is increasingly diverse.

Chicana/o Studies Student Learning Outcomes

At the end of a course of study, in the major or minor in Chicana/o Studies, students will be able to:

- Interpret, define, and evaluate historical and contemporary information about Mexican-origin people living in the U.S.;
- Use and apply humanistic, scientific, and/or social science methods to arrive at understandings about Chicana/os;
- Compare and contrast recent theories, methodologies, ideas, and developments central to the discipline of Chicana/o Studies.

Chicana/o Studies Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Classics and Archaeology

Faculty

Chairperson: Matthew Dillon
Professors: Matthew Dillon, William J. Fulco, S.J. (National Endowment for the Humanities Professor of Ancient Mediterranean Studies)
Associate Professor: Katerina Zacharia

Objectives

The Department of Classics and Archaeology seeks to provide the student with a deeper understanding of the literary and cultural foundations of western societies by exploring their roots in the Greek and Roman classical traditions. Our archaeological offerings extend these investigations of early European cultures into their Near Eastern background and include the hands-on study of ancient artifacts. The combined study of the languages, literature, religion, and material cultures of ancient Greece, Rome, and the Near East offers the student a wide-ranging and well-rounded preparation in critical thinking, analytic skills, and writing and prepares the student to contextualize the immense achievements of the past in the modern world. Because of the broad humanistic nature of the programs in Classics and Archaeology, there emerge fundamental questions about what it means to be a human being, and thus the courses in the department offer many interdisciplinary connections with philosophy, theological studies, history, theater, and other academic fields.

Classics and Archaeology Student Learning Outcomes

As a Classics major, the student will:
- Master the grammar and syntax of ancient Greek and Latin, and be able to read ancient literary works at an advanced level
- Be able to critically analyze Greek and Roman literature and to place them in social and historical contexts both ancient and modern
- Develop writing, research, and communication skills, which are articulate, thoughtful, and effective.

As a Classical Civilizations major, the student will:
- Demonstrate a broad knowledge about ancient Mediterranean cultures, including areas such as history, literature in the original or in translation, language (optional, but recommended), art, and archaeology
- Be able to critically analyze the cultures of Greece, Rome, or the ancient Near East and to place them in social and historical contexts both ancient and modern

Recommended Electives

For the purpose of providing our majors and minors with an interdisciplinary perspective, the Department recommends courses in American Cultures Studies that include a Latino component, as well as the following courses:

- GEOG 361: Geography of Mexico and Central America
- POLS 354: Politics of Latin America
- PSY 320: Psychology of Race, Culture, and Ethnicity
- SOC 334: Race and Ethnic Relations
- SOCL 336: Social Stratification
- SPAN 441: Latin American Novel
- SPAN 442: Latin American Poetry
- SPAN 443: Latin American Women Writers
- SPAN 444: Latin American Drama
- THST 346: The Latino Experience in the U.S. Church

Elective

As a Classics major, the student may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.
As a Latin major, the student will:
- Master the grammar and syntax of classical Latin, and be able to read ancient literary works at an advanced level
- Be able to critically analyze Latin literature and to place it in social and historical contexts both ancient and modern
- Develop writing, research, and communication skills, which are articulate, thoughtful, and effective.

As a Greek major, the student will:
- Master the grammar and syntax of ancient Greek, and be able to read ancient literary works at an advanced level
- Be able to critically analyze Greek literature and to place it in social and historical contexts both ancient and modern
- Develop writing, research, and communication skills, which are articulate, thoughtful, and effective.

Major Programs
The Department of Classics and Archaeology offers a variety of majors: Classics, Greek, Latin, and Classical Civilizations. The Classics major offers a traditional training in both Greek and Latin language and literature (in the original), although students may opt to major exclusively in Greek or Latin. The Classical Civilizations major allows the student to study the cultures of Greece, Rome, and the Near East from various cultural perspectives in conjunction with other departments; in this major, language study is encouraged but not required.

At entry to the University, students declare the major/minor through the Office of Admission. LMU students wishing to declare the major/minor must meet with the chair/program director. The chair/director would ordinarily sign the student’s Change of Program form, provided the student meets certain academic standards that include having a minimum LMU GPA of 2.0 (C) and not otherwise being on academic probation.

Classics Major: Requirements
Lower Division (18 semester hours):
- LATN 101, 102, and 201
- GREK 101, 102, and 201
These requirements may be waived if the student has received prior language sufficient for entry into upper division courses.

Note: It is recommended that Classics majors take HIST 100 as part of the University Core.

Upper Division Requirements (24 semester hours):
- GREK 311
- LATN 312
- LATN 321
and one additional upper division course in GREK or LATN and one additional upper division course in CLCV or ARCH.

Any 3 courses in GREK, LATN, CLCV, or ARCH.

Graduation with Honors: an additional 3 semester hours
CLCV 500: Senior Thesis

Classics Minor: Requirements
18 semester hours, at least 9 in upper division. All courses must be in Greek and/or Latin Language and Literature. Students who test out of lower division language courses will fulfill 18 semester hours in the upper division.

Upper Division Requirements:
- GREK 311 or LATN 313 or 314

Classical Civilizations Major: Requirements
The Classical Civilizations major is an interdisciplinary program focusing on the classical civilizations of Greece, Rome, and the Near East through the study of literature, history, archaeology, art history, philosophy, theatre, and theology. Greek and/or Latin language study is encouraged but not required.

The Classical Civilizations major consists of 33 semester hours, at least 24 of which must be in upper division courses emphasizing Greek, Roman, or Near Eastern civilization. The study of the Greek and/or Latin language is highly recommended.

Lower Division Requirements (9 semester hours):
CLCV 200

CLCV 210 or CLCV 220
CLCV 230

Note: It is recommended that HIST 100 be taken as the core class in Western Civilization.

Upper Division Requirements (24 semester hours):
- CLCV 301 or 302
- CLCV 451
- ARCH 3xx or ARCH 4xx

The remaining 15 semester hours may be elected from any upper division CLCV, LATN, GREK, and ARCH offerings. In addition, the following courses may be taken as part of the Classical Civilizations major, with the approval of the Director of the major:
- HIST 405, 406, 407, 408, 410, 411
- PHIL 381, 382
- THEA 331
- THST 320

Graduation with Honors: an additional 3 semester hours
CLCV 500: Senior Thesis

Classical Civilizations Minor: Requirements
18 semester hours, at least 9 in the upper division.

Lower Division Requirement:
CLCV 200 or CLCV 210

Upper Division Requirement:
CLCV 451

Archaeology Minor: Requirements
The minor in Archaeology consists of ARCH 401 and 15 additional semester hours, of which 6 may be in courses in an appropriate Mediterranean language (e.g., ancient or modern Greek, Latin, Hebrew, or Arabic, or a Romance language if it is relevant to a particular archaeological emphasis).

Greek Major: Requirements
Lower Division:
- GREK 101, 102, 201;
Note: These requirements may be waived if the student has received prior language sufficient for entry into upper division courses.

Upper Division (24 semester hours):
- GREK 311
- GREK 312
- GREK 322, 325, or 327
and an additional 15 semester hours of upper division GREK

Graduation with Honors: an additional 3 semester hours
CLCV 500: Senior Thesis

Greek Minor: Requirements
18 semester hours, at least 9 in the upper division.

Lower Division Requirements:
- GREK 101, 102, 201;
Note: Students who test out of lower division language courses will fulfill 18 semester hours of upper division work in Greek language and literature.

Upper Division Requirements:
- GREK 311 or 312
- GREK 322 or 325 or 327

Latin Major: Requirements
Lower Division Requirements:
- LATN 101, 102, 201
Note: These requirements may be waived if the student has received prior language sufficient for entry into upper division courses.

Upper Division Requirements (24 semester hours):
- LATN 312
- LATN 313 or 314
- LATN 321
and an additional 15 semester hours of upper division LATN

Graduation with Honors: an additional 3 semester hours
CLCV 500: Senior Thesis
Latin Minor: Requirements

18 semester hours, at least 9 in the upper division.

Lower Division Requirements:

- LATN 101, 102, 201
- Note: Students who test out of lower division language courses will fulfill 18 semester hours of upper division work in Latin language and literature.

Upper Division Requirements:

- LATN 312
- LATN 321

Graduation with Honors: an additional 3 semester hours

CLCV 500: Senior Thesis

For Graduation with Honors in Classics, Classical Civilizations, Latin, or Greek, the student must have a minimum GPA of 3.3 within the major, enroll in CLCV 500: Senior Thesis, and receive at least a grade of B+ (3.3) on that project. A thesis prospectus must be approved in the previous semester by the faculty member who will oversee the project.

For the minor in Modern Greek Studies, see below.

Classics Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.

Modern Greek

Objectives

The Modern Greek Studies Program offers students the opportunity to study Modern Greece—its language, literature, history (from the Byzantine Empire to the present), its Christian Orthodox tradition, and its arts. Modern Greek Studies on the LMU campus may be supplemented by the Summer Study Abroad courses of The Odyssey Program.

Minor Program

The minor in Modern Greek Studies consists of 18 semester hours, of which at least 6 hours must be at the 300 or 400 level. The following distribution is recommended, with the approval of the Director of the minor:

- 9 semester hours of Modern Greek language instruction;
- 3-6 semester hours from upper division MDGK courses;
- 3-6 semester hours from the following: CLCV 230, 301, 451; HIST 410, 450; THST 322, 352.

Other Courses

Note: The Basil P. Caloyeras Center also sponsors the following courses with other departments:

- CLCV 304 Art and Architecture of Ancient Greece
- DANC 390 Dances of Greece
- HIST 410 History of the Byzantine Empire

Economics

Faculty

- Acting Chairperson: Joseph E. Earley
- Professors: James Devine, James Konow, Seid Zekavat
- Associate Professors: Joseph E. Earley, Zaki Eusufzai, Robert Singleton, Renate Thimester
- Assistant Professors: Sean D’Evelyn, Andrew J. Healy, Dorothea K. Herreiner, Jennifer Pate

Objectives

The study of economics illuminates both the limitations and successes of different systems of the production, distribution, and consumption of material wealth. Because of the economy’s importance to the human condition, economic knowledge is useful to many other fields, such as political science, sociology, anthropology, law, and history. It, thus, is as central to a liberal arts education as it is to the business program. The study of economics involves (1) the development of theories of economic behavior and their application to new problems; (2) the use of statistics and other evidence to test or add content to existing theories; (3) the development of perspective on economic institutions, economic history, and the development of economic philosophy. Students are encouraged to engage in independent research on all of these levels.

The goal of the program is to provide the student with the best preparation for employment in business, government, or secondary education, or for continuation to graduate studies in business, law, or economics, leading to careers in management, banking, finance, law, government, or academia.

Economics Student Learning Outcomes

- Students should demonstrate a solid understanding of modern microeconomics, macroeconomics, and statistics, includ-
Students who intend to earn the B.S. degree must submit a Change of requirements as the B.A. degree, except for two upper division economics courses that he/she might have already taken with grades that satisfy the minimum requirements for those courses in the major or minor as outlined in the University Bulletin. Currently enrolled LMU students wishing to change their major or minor must submit a Change of Program form, provided the student meets certain academic standards as approved by the Chairperson.

Bachelor of Arts (B.A. Economics) with an International Emphasis

At least eight upper division economics courses are needed for the B.A. degree in Economics with an International emphasis, although students can take up to ten. A grade of at least C- must be obtained in every upper division course in the major, and the average grade in upper division economics courses must be at least C (2.0). Six of these courses are required: ECON 310, 320, 370, 372, 410, and 474. ECON 310 and 320 should be taken in the sophomore or junior year, and ECON 370, 372, 410, and 474 should be taken in the junior or senior year. Two additional upper division economics courses are required, of which at least one (3 semester hours) must be at the 400 level. Upper division economics courses must be taken in the LMU Economics Department, except by prior permission of the Chairperson. The B.A. degree with an International emphasis is suitable for students who intend to pursue careers in international agencies of government, NGO, and private corporations doing business in the international arena.

Business and Economics Double Major Requirements

Students with majors in business may also pursue a major in economics by fulfilling the requirements of the B.A. or B.S. track described above. With prior permission of the Department, double majors in Business and Economics may select two upper division Business Administration courses as part of their economics electives.

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours consisting of ECON 110, 120, and four upper division ECON courses, or ECON 105 and five upper division ECON courses. The upper division courses should be chosen in consultation with an economics advisor. A grade of at least B- (2.7) is required in ECON 110 and 120, or 105.

Assessment Tests

All Economics majors are required to take two tests of learning, one at the end of their freshman year, and another at the end of their senior year. These tests do not determine any grade, but they are required for graduation. In addition, students with the highest scores receive an award and cash prizes, which are bestowed at the Department’s annual year-end banquet.

Test of Introductory Economics

During the Spring semester, all Economics majors who have taken ECON 105, 110, or 120 during that academic year are required to take a test of learning of introductory economics.

Comprehensive Test of Economics

All Economics majors who will have completed 100 hours or more by the end of the Spring semester are required to enroll in ECON 490. This is a zero semester hour course, required for graduation, which includes a comprehensive test of economics, a senior exit interview, and possible additional Department evaluation.

Entry into the Major or Minor

At entry to the University, students declare the major or minor through the Office of Admission. Currently enrolled LMU students wishing to declare the major or minor in Economics must meet with an advisor of the Economics Department. The advisor will sign the student’s Change of Program form, provided the student meets certain academic standards that include having a minimum LMU GPA of 2.0 (C), not otherwise being on academic probation, and having passed any economics or mathematics courses that he/she might have already taken with grades that satisfy the minimum requirements for those courses in the major or minor as outlined in the University Bulletin.

Economics Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of... various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Mission Statement
The Department of English at Loyola Marymount University offers a Master of Arts degree in English with a Literature Emphasis, a Master of Arts degree in English with a Creative Writing Emphasis, and a Master of Arts degree in English with a Rhetoric and Composition Emphasis. We are committed to the interdependence between literature and writing. We believe that the act of engaging the literary and rhetorical fields involves the production of literary, critical, or theoretical texts, and that broad-based reading in the tradition of literature provides the necessary foundation for more focused study and analysis. Therefore, we offer literature-based reading in the tradition of literature provides the necessary foundation for more focused study and analysis. Therefore, we offer literature-based reading in the tradition of literature provides the necessary foundation for more focused study and analysis. Therefore, we offer literature-based reading in the tradition.

Admission Requirements
1. The applicant for the degree of Master of Arts in English should have completed with a 3.0 ("B") average a minimum of seven upper division undergraduate English courses. For applicants to the Literature Emphasis, at least six of these courses should be in literature, including one in Shakespeare. For applicants to the Creative Writing Emphasis, at least two of these courses should be in creative writing and at least four in literature, including one in Shakespeare. Applicants to the Rhetoric/Composition Emphasis should have undergraduate preparation in literature and theory, and/or creative, and/or professional writing courses. Any undergraduate preparation in Rhetoric or Composition, or in peer tutoring/writing lab experience is welcomed though not required.

2. Applicants must submit an application, $50 application fee, and two letters of recommendation. Recommendations should be obtained from individuals who are in a position to comment on the applicant's academic and personal suitability for pursuing graduate work in English.

3. Applicants should write an ambition statement (1½–2 pages) in which they indicate which emphasis (Literature, Creative Writing, Rhetoric/Composition) they wish to enter. They should also discuss relevant prior experiences (i.e., academic, research work, creative writing, or other life experiences) and their career goals. This statement should be included with the basic application.

4. A 10–15 page writing sample is required of all applicants. Applicants to the Literature or Rhetoric/Composition Emphasis should submit a sample of their critical writing; applicants to the Creative Writing Emphasis should submit samples of their creative writing and critical writing.

5. The General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) is a prerequisite requirement for all applicants. A score of 600 or higher on the Verbal component of the test is highly recommended.

6. The deadline for the receipt of all materials is April 1.

Teaching Fellowships
Students applying for Teaching Fellowships are asked to include, along with their application materials, the following: a resume or c.v.; a letter of application for the Teaching Fellowship; and two letters of recommendation which specifically address their potential abilities as teachers of College Writing. These letters are in addition to letters submitted for admission to the M.A. program.

Rains Research Assistantships
Rains Research Assistantships are available to qualified graduate students by invitation of individual faculty members. These assistantships are paid at $12 per hour for a maximum of 120 hours per academic year. Teaching Fellows are not eligible for Rains Research Assistantships due to federal government financial aid restrictions.

Graduate Assistantships
Graduate Assistantships are also available. Students who qualify would work an average of 20 hours per week during the regular semesters. The rate of pay is about $18.00 per hour.

Degree Requirements
Work for the degree of Master of Arts in English includes a minimum of 10 courses (30 semester hours) plus the Comprehensive Examination (0 semester hours). Courses selected must be approved by the Director of the Graduate English program. For the completion of the Master of Arts in English, all students are required to take Critical Methodology in the first semester, Contemporary Critical Theory (in the first year) and a Major Writer Seminar. In addition, we strongly suggest that students take courses in as many of the following areas as possible: 1) Old English, Middle English, or Renaissance literature; 2) Restoration or 18th Century literature; 3) 19th Century or modern English literature; 4) American literature; and 5) a literary genre. Creative Writing students must take a Creative Thesis course after completing the prerequisite Creative Writing Seminars. All students must take at least four courses at the 600 level. Courses in the 500 group which receive a grade of "B-" or less will not count toward the degree.

(At least 2 of the elective courses should be in literature or cross-listed as literature.)

ENGL 691 Comprehensive Examination (0 sem. hrs.)
The Comprehensive Examination will be based on a reading list including major works in English and American literature, literary theory, and/or rhetorical theory. The Comprehensive Examination will consist of a three-hour written examination, followed within two weeks by an oral examination. Students are urged to familiarize themselves with the details of procedures that are described in the Graduate Handbook available from the Department website.

Foreign Language Requirement
Applicants for the degree of Master of Arts in English who wish a recommendation for doctoral work are encouraged to pass an examination designed to test their ability to translate materials pertaining to their field in either French, German, Spanish, or Latin.
Student Learning Outcomes

Students who complete the Master's Degree in English will:

- Master the terms and issues specific to the discipline and profession of literary studies.
- Understand the history and nature of the discipline and prepare for a future in academia or teaching.
- Master professional writing skills for tasks including book reviews, abstracts, short critical essays, and research projects.
- Have experience giving presentations and making submissions for professional publications and/or conferences.
- Engage critically and deeply with a range of literatures and literary theories.

English Undergraduate Program

English Department Mission

Believing that literature is a profound expression of human experience, the English Department uses a range of critical methods to introduce students to literatures in English from a variety of cultural traditions. The course work reveals the art form's creative beauty, strategies for representing the human experience, and its power to shape the reader.

The English Department encourages an understanding of the critical and creative union of reading and writing as fundamental to the processes of developing the self. Through their imaginations, students who major or minor in English interact with language and literature, thereby encountering another equally open and attentive mind: that of the writer they are reading or of the reader who comes to the work they have created. As students of the literary arts, English majors and minors prepare for a lifetime of reading and writing, enlightenment and fulfillment, learning to do what Toni Morrison describes as a dance of two minds.

A Note on the Core: English majors and minors must take a course to satisfy the University’s core literature requirement, and this course is separate from and in addition to the courses taken to fulfill the English major and minor requirements.

English Student Learning Outcomes

English majors know:

- The history of literatures in the English language
- A variety of critical theories
- The range of creative choices made by the literary artist.

English majors are able to:

- Read literary texts closely and carefully
- Interpret analytically and innovatively using a variety of critical and theoretical approaches
- Write creatively and effectively
- Perceive and express the artistry, ideas, and social significance of language.

English majors value:

- The ways in which literature represents human experience
- The effect of literature on the artist and reader
- The artistry of precise and elegant expression.

Major Requirements

Please note that English majors may take no more than ten upper division English courses and have them count toward graduation.

A student wishing to declare the English major must be in good academic standing with a minimum GPA of C (2.0).

Lower Division Requirements for all emphases (12 semester hours):

ENGL 201 and either ENGL 200 or 202; ENGL 203 and 204.

A grade of C (2.0) is required in each premajor course before qualifying for upper division status as an English major. Students transferring into the Department after their sophomore year may enroll in upper division courses in the major concurrently with the premajor courses. Students must complete all upper division courses in the major with a minimum grade of C (2.0) in order to maintain status as English majors. Failure to maintain this standard or failure to make sufficient progress toward completion of the major will result in probation or disqualification from the Department.

Upper Division Requirements:

There are three programs for the major in English.

English majors should officially declare an emphasis no later than the first semester of their junior year.

I. The English Major: Literature Emphasis

27 semester hours in upper division courses. Up to six of these semester hours may be taken in writing classes.

Upper Division Requirements:

ENGL 321 or 322.
ENGL 371 or 372.
One course in English or American Literature prior to 1800 (excluding Shakespeare).
Two courses in English or American Literature after 1800.
One course in Theory (consult with your advisor).
One course in Comparative/Cultural Literatures or Writing (includes any course in multi-ethnic literature, gender-based literature, world literature, or foreign language literature in translation. Check with your advisor to determine which courses may be used to fulfill this requirement.)

6 additional upper division semester hours (excluding ENGL 402).
Total lower division and upper division: 39 semester hours.

A minimum grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in each course in the major.

II. The English Major: Writing Emphasis

27 semester hours in upper division courses.

Upper Division Requirements:

ENGL 321 or 322.
ENGL 371 or 372.
One course in English or American Literature before or after 1800 (excluding Shakespeare).
Three upper division writing courses (excluding ENGL 402 and 569).
One course in Theory (consult with your advisor).
One course in Comparative/Cultural Literatures or Writing (includes any multi-ethnic writing or literature course, gender-based writing or literature course, world writing or literature course, or any foreign language literature course in translation. Check with your advisor to determine which courses may be used to fulfill this requirement.)

3 additional upper division semester hours (excluding ENGL 402).
Total lower division and upper division: 39 semester hours.

A minimum grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in each course in the major.

III. The English Major: Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for English

For information on this program, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

Minor Requirements

A student wishing to declare the English minor must be in good academic standing with a minimum GPA of C (2.0).

18 semester hours beyond 100-level courses, including:
ENGL 200, 201, or 202.
One survey course: ENGL 203, 204, 371, or 372.
One pre-1800 course [including Shakespeare] (if a student takes 203 or 371 to fulfill this requirement, then the student must take a second “survey” course from 203, 204, 371, or 372).
Nine upper division semester hours in English (excluding ENGL 402).
A minimum grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in each course in the minor.

Minor in Screenwriting for English Majors

The School of Film and Television offers a minor as an option to students majoring in the writing emphasis in the English Department. The minor consists of 18 semester hours. Check for the full description of the minor under the Screenwriting section of this Bulletin.
Pre-Journalism Curriculum

Although LMU doesn’t offer a Journalism major or minor, a large number of LMU graduates have gone on to successful careers or graduate work in Journalism. These students, who have usually majored or minored in English or majored in Communication Studies, have taken advantage of a number of exciting LMU courses. (Note: Some of the courses you take for the Certificate may also be counted toward your major or minor in English, or your core.) These courses make up the LMU "Journalism Curriculum" and "Journalism Certificate" and are particularly recommended for students who intend pursuing a Masters or Ph.D. in Journalism, or who plan to work as a Freelance journalist, PR or Advertising professional, in corporate communications or for a newspaper or magazine. No students need complete all of the courses listed below, but a healthy sampling will stand a future journalist in good stead and will assist in admission to most graduate programs in journalism across the country. The "certificate" appears as a line on the student's transcript, and may be referenced in a student's resume. (You will not receive a frameable certificate from the Office of the Registrar.)

It is important to note that a working journalist often develops a specialization in a particular area, such as sports, entertainment, or politics. Elective courses in these areas would, of course, be useful. The Journalism Curriculum includes Political Science courses specifically since local, state, and national politics have an impact on most news, and politics is considered an important working knowledge base for any journalist. Ethics coursework from the Philosophy Department is also included, as ethics are a concern at the forefront of a career in Journalism. Interdisciplinary Applied Programs contributes a selection of PR coursework.

Students may elect one course from PHIL, or one course from POLS, or one course from IDAP courses listed. Five (5) Journalism Certificate courses must be selected from the English courses listed. Consult Dr. Linda Bannister to make sure your program fulfills the certificate requirements.

Selecting Courses

Students interested in assembling a Pre-Journalism Curriculum should review each semester’s course offerings across the colleges, paying particular attention to special studies courses focusing on journalistic issues, media topics, or related fields. Students may consult with Dr. Linda Bannister, Journalism Certificate Advisor, (lbannist@lmu.edu, 310.338.2854, UH 3675), to determine which special or new courses may be appropriate. The Journalism Certificate eligible courses offered by the College of Communication and Fine Arts (IDAP courses) require the permission of Dr. Dean Scheibel, Director, Interdisciplinary Applied Programs (dscheibel@lmu.edu).

Note: Although there is no set sequence for taking Pre-Journalism courses, some of the above listed courses may carry prerequisite courses that must be completed first. Students interested in journalism are also strongly advised to participate in LMU’s award-winning student newspaper The Los Angeles Loyolan, The Tower Yearbook, The ROAR Network, and/or The Marymount Institute Press.

Obtaining the Journalism Certificate

A Journalism Certificate can be issued to the students who successfully completes 18 semester hours of approved Journalism coursework (earning a C [2.0] or better in each course). The bulk of the student’s curriculum, at least 5 of 6 courses selected, should consist of writing courses from the Journalism coursework offered by the English Department. Students should bring a transcript showing 18 semester hours of accepted, completed coursework to Dr. Linda Bannister in University Hall 3875 at least one month prior to intended graduation with appropriate courses highlighted. Notice of Certificate approval will be forwarded by e-mail to the Office of the Registrar and the student by Dr. Bannister. Students who seek a certificate can be advised on how to create a program that focuses on their area of interest; for example, political reporting, sports reporting, electronic media, etc.

Note: This certificate program is not a major or a minor. No application or Change of Program paperwork from the Office of the Registrar is required. You need only e-mail your interest to Dr. Bannister to sign up.

Get on our mailing list ASAP to learn of Journalism events on campus. E-mail your contact information (e-mail, cell, mailing address) to Dr. Bannister at lbannist@lmu.edu.

English Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Environmental Studies

Director
Brian Treanor

Objectives

The Environmental Studies Program offers an interdisciplinary minor designed to help students acquire an understanding of the complex issues and concerns associated with the environment. Building on courses in a variety of departments in the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, the Environmental Studies Program minor offers a coherent curriculum addressing some of the most pressing ecological, political, economic, social, and ethical programs of the contemporary world.

Students who minor in Environmental Studies will study issues such as: global climate change; resource management, including excessive consumption and the just distribution of resources; genetically modified crops and organisms; biodiversity; wilderness preservation; pollution pressures on the land, air, and sea; sustainable development; the rights or value of non-human animals and nature; energy production; population and consumption; the role of the environment in local, national, and international politics; international agencies and treaties addressing environmental issues; and environmental justice.

The Environmental Studies Program and its curriculum is dedicated to fostering a genuine spirit of interdisciplinary exchange, across both traditional disciplinary as well as college definitions. Faculty from a variety of departments, schools, and colleges may teach courses cross-listed in Environmental Studies, and students from across the University community will find an appropriate niche in the program through its intentionally interdisciplinary nature.

Environmental Studies Minor Student Learning Outcomes

Environmental Studies minor students will know:

- The primary environmental issues confronting humans in the 21st century (e.g., anthropogenic climate change, loss of biodiversity, resource consumption, peak oil, etc.).
- The fundamental science that frames and makes comprehensible current debates about environmental issues (e.g., the carbon cycle).
- How to assess and grasp the moral and ethical significance of environmental crises and the possible responses to those crises using multiple approaches or frames (e.g., utilitarian, deontological, intrinsic value, virtue theory, pragmatic, etc.).
- The practical challenges (e.g., political, economic, etc.) associated with various possible responses to environmental crises.

Environmental Studies minor students will be able to:

- Apply diverse perspectives and methodologies (ways) of addressing environmental questions (e.g., philosophical, economic, scientific, political, theological, etc.), transcending traditional disciplinary boundaries in favor of a more holistic perspective.
- Apply the knowledge and analytic skills they have acquired in the course of their studies to real-world issues, bridging the supposed gap between theory and practice.
- Demonstrate the ability to write, speak, and think clearly and critically about the issues studied in the minor.

Environmental Studies minor students will value:

- The primary environmental issues confronting humans in the 21st century (e.g., anthropogenic climate change, loss of biodiversity, resource consumption, peak oil, etc.).
- The fundamental science that frames and makes comprehensible current debates about environmental issues (e.g., the carbon cycle).

- Apply the knowledge and analytic skills they have acquired in the course of their studies to real-world issues, bridging the supposed gap between theory and practice.
- Demonstrate the ability to write, speak, and think clearly and critically about the issues studied in the minor.

Environmental Studies minor students will value:
• The diverse perspectives and values (e.g., political, cultural, religious, etc.) amongst the various stakeholders in environmental challenges
• The importance of good science in framing environmental questions
• The role of both a) personal transformation (e.g., lifestyle choices, consumptive dispositions, etc.) and b) social transformation (e.g., community involvement, political action, addressing environmental justice and environmental racism, etc.) in any response to environmental challenges.

Minor Requirements
The Environmental Studies minor consists of 21 semester hours. Both foundation courses are lower division, and the Capstone seminar is an upper division course. The four distribution courses may include one lower division course. Thus, the program allows for up to 9 semester hours of lower division work; the remaining 12 semester hours must come from upper division course offerings.
1. Foundations Courses: EVST 100: Introduction to Environmental Studies (3 semester hours) and NTLS 101: Introduction to Natural Science (3 semester hours)
2. Distribution Courses:
   a. Capstone Course: EVST 401: Environmental Studies Capstone Seminar (3 semester hours)
3. Alternative courses can be substituted at the discretion of the Director.

Course Offerings
All courses are 3 semester hours.

I. Foundations Courses
   EVST 100 Introduction to Environmental Studies
   NTLS 101 Introduction to Natural Science

II. Humanities Distribution
   PHIL 325 Environmental Ethics
   PHIL 343 Environmental Philosophy
   THST 387 World Religions and Ecology
   THST 398 Special Studies (only if taught as Sacred Place)

III. Social Science Distribution
   ECON 416 Environmental Economics
   GEOG 100 Human Geography
   SOC1L 371 Social Ecology
   URBAN 345 Urban Planning

IV. Natural Science Distribution
   BIOL 318 Principles of Ecology
   ENVS 300 Engineering Geology
   ENVS 320 Introduction to Environmental Engineering
   NTLS 250 Earth Science
   NTLS 272 Technology and the Environment
   NTLS 298 Special Studies (only when taught as Principles of Sustainability)
   NTLS 301 Environmental Science
   NTLS 310 Oceanography
   NTLS 320 Science, Theology, and the Future

V. Capstone Course
   EVST 401 Environmental Studies Capstone Seminar

Ethics

Director
W S K (Scott) Cameron

Objectives
In response to the need to address ethical issues in the various professions, the Philosophy Department, in conjunction with other departments in the different Colleges and Schools of the University, offers a minor in Ethics. Its main focus is to deepen and broaden the student’s grasp of the theoretical foundations and practical applications of ethical thought. The Ethics minor will complement and support the student’s studies by encouraging reflection on the ethical issues that arise in his or her major field of study.

The objectives of this program are: 1) to heighten the student’s awareness of the pervasive moral dimensions of human experience; 2) to broaden and deepen the student’s understanding of ethical theories and their foundations; and 3) to promote moral deliberation, evaluation, decision-making, and conduct that alone can renew and sustain healthy economic, social, political, and professional institutions in concrete human communities.

Ethics Minor Student Learning Outcomes
Ethics minor students will understand:
• The historical context, the import, and the strengths and weaknesses of various paradigms of ethical reflection
• The ways in which ethical theories have been applied to concrete human concerns
• The relevance of ethical reflection to critical issues arising in their chosen major field of study.

Ethics minor students will be able to:
• Demonstrate written competency in the analysis and application of ethical theories to vexed practical problems
• Draw on their own experience and on insights gleaned from their major field of study to further the evaluation and refinement of ethical theories.

Ethics minor students will value:
• The importance of ethical reflection in creating and sustaining healthy human communities
• The productive relation between ethical reflection and other practical and theoretical pursuits
• The power of reflection and self-criticism to transform one’s self-conception as well as one’s relationships to others.

Minor Requirements
The minor in Ethics consists of 18 semester hours divided as follows:

FOUR Foundations Courses, including:
PHIL 160 and PHIL 320, which also satisfy the University’s core requirements in Philosophy.

Two further classes chosen in consultation with the Ethics minor advisor, at least one of which must be in Philosophy, though the second may be offered by departments in any of the Colleges or Schools in the University. These courses should deepen the student’s awareness of the context, presuppositions, and implications of various approaches to ethical reflection.

TWO Applications Courses including:
One course in Applied Ethics related to the student’s College or School of origin chosen from PHIL 321-330.

One elective course in Applied Ethics selected from the PHIL 321-330 options without regard for the student’s College or School of origin.

ONE Assessment Course:
PHIL 494 is a 0 credit hour Ethics Minor assessment class, to be taken once all other Ethics minor credit hours are completed or during the semester the student is completing his or her final classes for the minor.

Note: Philosophy majors or minors cannot also have an Ethics minor.

European Studies

Director
Petra Liedke Konow

Faculty
The faculty of the European Studies major are those professors in various departments of the University who regularly offer courses that are directly concerned with issues relating to Europe, or to specific countries or traditions of Europe, past and present.

Description
The European Studies major is an integrated, interdisciplinary area-studies program. Students choose from a range of courses taught in different departments, selecting a focus that reflects their individual interests (e.g., German or Irish Studies).
The program requires competence in a European language, background to grasp the complexity of European history and civilization as a whole, as well as a specialization in one field of study. As such, it provides students with a solid preparation for graduate school or a career in government or private enterprise. One semester of study in Europe is strongly recommended, but is not mandatory.

Objectives
- Intermediate proficiency in one European language (equivalent to level 2/3 on the scale of five levels developed by the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Language). LMU offers French, German, Italian, Spanish, Greek, Latin, and/or Modern Greek.
- Knowledge and understanding of:
  - the history of Europe (History)
  - the history of ideas in Europe (Philosophy)
  - the politics of Europe (Political Science)
  - the religious contexts of Europe (Theological Studies)
- Familiarity with cultural expressions of Europeans such as:
  - European literature (Classics, English, European Studies, Foreign Literature in Translation, French, German, Italian, Spanish)
  - European art history and creative arts (Art History, Film, Theatre Arts)
- Reflection on/assessment of:
  - reasons why the major in European Studies was chosen
  - cultural competency (what they have learned)
  - content of the courses selected for the European Studies major
  - development and evolution in the European Studies major
  - extracurricular activities connected with the European Studies major (study abroad experiences, program-related activities, work experience/internships).

European Studies Student Learning Outcomes

European Studies students are expected to demonstrate:
- Linguistic proficiency in one European language (French, German, Italian, Spanish, Greek, Latin, and/or Modern Greek)
- Knowledge and understanding of:
  - the history of Europe (History)
  - the history of ideas in Europe (Philosophy)
  - the politics of Europe (Political Science)
  - the religious contexts of Europe (Theological Studies)
- Familiarity with cultural expressions of Europeans such as:
  - European literature (Classics, English, European Studies, Foreign Literature in Translation, French, German, Italian, Spanish)
  - European art history and creative arts (Art History, Film, Theatre Arts)
- Reflection on/assessment of:
  - reasons why the major in European Studies was chosen
  - cultural competency (what they have learned)
  - content of the courses selected for the European Studies major
  - development and evolution in the European Studies major
  - extracurricular activities connected with the European Studies major (study abroad experiences, program-related activities, work experience/internships).

Student Learning Outcomes will be assessed through a Senior Capstone Project (EURO 500), which consists of a portfolio during the second semester of the senior year. The portfolio is a collection of multiple samples, usually compiled over the course of studies, accompanied by a personal reflection essay, which shows that the student has met the objectives of the European Studies Program.

Major Requirements

LMU students wishing to declare the European Studies major must meet with the program director. The director will sign the student’s Change of Program form provided the student is in good academic standing, which includes having a minimum cumulative LMU GPA of 2.0 (C).

Lower Division Requirements (18 semester hours):
- HIST 100 and 101

Elementary I and II and Intermediate I and II, or the equivalent, of one European language: FREN, GRMN, ITAL, SPAN, GREK, LATIN, or MDGK (i.e., 12 semester hours). EURO 181, 182, 283, 284 language courses are available in the LMU Study Abroad Programs in Europe; Study Abroad students might have to take the LMU Placement Exam upon return to fulfill lower division requirements.

Upper Division Requirements (25 semester hours):

Group A: 9 semester hours chosen from the courses below, which examine the historical, intellectual, political, and/or religious contexts of Europe, past and present.
- CLCV: 353, 451, 452
- EURO: 336, 339, 340, 381, 398, 399, 432, 451, 498, 499

- MDGC: 341, 342, 343, 344, 354, 450
- SPAN: 331, 451, 452, 453, 455, 457, 460
- THEA: with a European focus: 331, 336, 341, 346, 349

Group C: 6 semester hours of electives chosen from:
- Additional Group A and Group B courses above
- Additional European languages courses (lower division eligible for credit)

One hour: EURO 500

European Studies majors are encouraged to select core classes with a European focus.

European Studies Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

History

Faculty

Chairperson: Cara Aangetti

Professors: Jok Madut Jok, Lawrence A. Tittle, Paul Tiymbe Zeleza (Presidential Professor)
Associate Professors: Najwa Al-Qattan, Cara Anzilotti, Carla J. Bittel, Constance J.S. Chen, Anthony M. Perron, Amy Woodson-Boultun
Assistant Professors: Dexter L. Blackman, Elizabeth Drummond, Margarita Ochoa, Nigel A. Raab, Nicolas Rosenthal, Sun-Hee Yoon

Objectives
The study of history is a cornerstone of liberal arts education. It contributes to the encouragement of learning by offering a wide variety of courses that cultivate an understanding of both familiar and unfamiliar pasts and cultures. It forms a foundation for the education of the whole person, fostering essential analytical skills: careful observation and reading of primary and secondary texts, argumentation based on evidence, articulate expression, and moral reflection. History courses ground discussions of the service of faith and the promotion of justice by emphasizing the role of change over time, showing how today’s world evolved out of the interactions between individuals and groups of people. History courses embody two additional goals of liberal arts education at Loyola Marymount University. First, history courses are intercultural in focus, examining a variety of cultures and emphasizing interconnections among peoples and societies. Second, they are interdisciplinary both in content and in methodology, drawing source material and analytical techniques from literature, philosophy, theology, art, anthropology, ethnography, and archaeology. By touching on so many different disciplines, history performs an integrative function for undergraduate education and beyond. It enables students to situate their study of philosophy, religion, literature, the arts, and the sciences in specific social and historical contexts and impels students to understand the questions posed in each of these academic disciplines in new and different ways.

Prerequisites for Declaring a Major or Minor in History
At entry to the University, students declare the major/minor through the Office of Admission. LMU students wishing to declare the major/minor must first meet with the department chair, who will ordinarily sign the Office of Admission. LMU students wishing to declare the major/minor through the Office of Admission must meet the following prerequisites:

- At least three of the remaining five courses are upper division history courses. However, students might want to consider selecting courses that relate to their major and belong to geographical or thematic units.

History Student Learning Outcomes
- History students develop an understanding of events, processes, and patterns in the human experience. History students should gain an understanding of how their lives relate to a larger historical process.

- Students should be able to analyze historical texts and to gain an understanding of the methods used in interpreting the past, such as criticism of sources, the definition of historical questions, comparative analysis, and the diverse perspectives of participants in history. They will employ evidence to craft arguments about historical change and analyze the factors that cause change on local, national, and global scales.

- Students should value the vast range of ways in which individuals and societies have responded to the problems confronting them. The insights they have gained through historical analysis will enrich their lives as citizens of an interconnected world.

Major Requirements
Lower Division Requirements:
15 semester hours distributed as follows: HIST 100, 101, 161, 162, and one course selected from HIST 152, 172, 182, and 192. A student must accumulate a C (2.0) average in the prerequisite courses. In addition, the Department recommends the study of geography and foreign languages.

Upper Division Requirements:
24 semester hours in upper division courses. All major programs must include a course in historical method (HIST 310 or 330) and at least one 500-level seminar. The remaining courses are to be chosen with the approval of the student’s advisor, and not more than half of the total 24 semester hours may be taken from one of the following areas: 1) Europe, 2) United States, or 3) Africa, Asia, Latin America and modern Middle East. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in the courses included in the major.

Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science (History)
For information on this program, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

Minor Requirements
21 semester hours. One course must be selected from HIST 100 or 101; one course from 161 or 162. At least 9 semester hours must be from upper division course offerings.

The history minor is a flexible program. Aside from the two lower division course requirements, students can select any history course as long as at least three of the remaining five courses are upper division history courses. However, students might want to consider selecting courses that relate to their major and belong to geographical or thematic units.

History Model Four-Year Plan
The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as HIST major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

The Humanities major is designed to meet the needs of a student who has a broad interest in liberal arts but whose interest would not be served by a major program within a single department. The Humanities major is an interdisciplinary program. In the first two years the student acquires a broad background in the arts, history, and literature. Language study through the advanced level is also required. In the second two years, the student concentrates in a particular area of interest. The concentration consists of five (5) upper division courses taken from departmental offerings in Archaeology, Art History, Classics, English, French, German, Greek, History, Italian, Latin, Philosophy, Spanish, or Theological Studies. The concentration is then supported by two (2) upper division history or philosophy courses and two (2) upper division courses in either an ancient or a modern literature selected in consulta-

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen. No more than 12 of the 24 upper division HIST semester hours (including seminars, but excluding HIST 310 or 330) may be taken from one of the following areas: 1) Europe, 2) United States, or 3) Africa, Asia, Latin America, and modern Middle East.

Humanities

Faculty
Assistant Professor: Alexandra Neel

Objectives

Students should know:

- The various ways in which artists have developed the fine arts to convey their sense of the world’s surface and its depth
- A foreign language
- The content as well as analytical and communicative skills that the study of their concentration demands;

Students should be able to:

- Communicate insights clearly, effectively, and with nuance in both oral and written form
- Synthesize insights from a variety of disciplines
- Develop insights from one discipline for the enrichment of others;

Students should value:

- The variety of ways in which cognitive, moral, and aesthetic disciplines have enriched our sense of the human condition
- The further pursuit of those disciplines, as required by their deeper sense of the complexity of the human condition
- Their responsibility to serve the world as whole persons, with head, heart, and hand.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

15 semester hours distributed as follows:
6 semester hours from: ARHS 200, 201, 202.
3 semester hours in Studio or Performance Arts.
6 semester hours from one of the following language sequences:
CHIN 203, 204;
FREN 203, 204;
GREK 201, any upper division Greek;
GRMN 203, 204;
ITAL 203, 204;
JAPN 203, 204;
LATN 201, any upper division Latin;
MDGK 203, 204;
SPAN 203, 204.

An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in courses included in the major.

Upper Division Requirements:

At least 30 semester hours in upper division courses distributed as follows:

15 semester hours in concentration in a departmental major.
6 semester hours in either an ancient or a modern literature which supports the concentration.
6 semester hours in either art history, history, or philosophy which supports the concentration.

And, in the final semester, either
3 semester hours for the Senior Thesis (HMNT 490), or 1 semester

The program is a fine preparation for students interested in professional courses in law, business, or education. Also, the program is designed to allow students to complete a major in a departmental area which would qualify them for graduate studies.

Humanities Student Learning Outcomes

By virtue of pursuing a major in Humanities,

Students should know:

- How knowledge has been pursued, established, and critically evaluated in the three different disciplines representing their concentration, their literature support, and their historical or philosophical support;
- The various ways in which artists have developed the fine arts to convey their sense of the world’s surface and its depth
- A foreign language
- The content as well as analytical and communicative skills that the study of their concentration demands;

Students should be able to:

Irish Studies

Director

John Menaghan

Objectives

Irish Studies is an interdisciplinary minor designed to complement a wide variety of majors by providing students with an understanding of the historical and cultural development of the Irish people and the significance of their intellectual, artistic, spiritual, and economic contribution to world civilization, including their experiences as both a post-colonial nation and an emigrant diaspora. Taken together, Ireland’s historical evolution; its long experience of colonization and cultural oppression; its rich contribution to world literature, art, and music; the creative tension in contemporary Ireland between its ancient Celtic heritage and its modern Anglo-Irish/Hiberno-English identity; and its remarkable though often unacknowledged influence upon the countries—chiefly the United States,
Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa—that make up the far-flung Irish diaspora constitute a fertile field for intellectual inquiry.

Focused simultaneously on a small nation on the edge of Europe and a far-flung diaspora and offered within the context of the most culturally diverse city in the world, the minor in Irish Studies is designed to be not merely interdisciplinary but intercultural. At a time when the nearly simultaneous phenomena of a European drive toward unification and an American emphasis on diversity both complicate and enrich our very notions of what constitutes a nation, culture, or people, students minor- ing in Irish Studies will have the flexibility to explore the richness of the Irish experience from a broad range of perspectives and the opportunity to assess its influence not only in Europe and America but on struggles against cultural and political oppression around the globe.

Irish Studies Student Learning Outcomes

Students minoring in Irish Studies are given opportunities to learn about:

- The general history of Ireland and the Irish diaspora
- The distinctive literary achievements of the Irish
- Irish achievements in cinema and dance
- Historical, religious, and moral issues in contemporary Irish politics
- The intersection/intermingling of Celtic and Christian worldviews
- The connection of Irish struggles for freedom and self-determination to similar struggles in the United States and around the world

Students minoring in Irish Studies will be given opportunities to develop:

- Their ability to perform research into several distinct aspects of the Irish experience
- Their ability to compose well-written and thoughtful essays on Irish history, politics, religion, and culture
- Their ability to evaluate and appreciate Irish achievements in the arts
- Their ability to make connections across disciplines, countries, and cultures

Students minoring in Irish Studies will be encouraged to value:

- The Irish struggle against cultural and political oppression and its relation and continuing relevance to similar struggles around the world
- The distinctive contributions of the Irish to European, American, and world civilization.

Study Abroad

Students can earn up to six semester hours toward the minor in Irish Studies in the LMU Summer in Ireland Program at Trinity College Dublin, one of the oldest and most renowned universities in the world. Students can also arrange to spend a semester or year abroad at an Irish university.

Minor Requirements

LMU students wishing to declare the Irish Studies minor must meet with the program director. The director will sign the student’s Change of Program form provided the student meets certain academic standards that include having a minimum LMU GPA of 2.0 (C) and not otherwise being on academic probation.

18 semester hours, including at least one course in Irish literature and one in Irish history. At least 12 semester hours must be in upper division courses. An average grade of C (2.0) must be maintained in Irish Studies courses.

Note:

Courses offered in other departments and programs may be used as semester hours to fulfill the minor requirements in IRST, provided the student receives the approval of the Director in advance of taking the course. Students seeking such approval must arrange with the relevant instructor to complete a substantial paper/project on Ireland and/or the Irish diaspora and must submit a copy of same to the Director at the end of the course. No more than nine semester hours (3 such courses) may be applied toward the 18 total semester hours required to complete the Irish Studies minor. Such courses may also have departmental prerequisites; consult course descriptions for further details.

Jewish Studies

Director
Holli G. Levitsky

Objectives

Jewish Studies provides an academic, interdisciplinary minor for students within any major who would like to examine Jewish history, culture, faith, and practice in its unity and diversity across geographic, political, historical, religious, and aesthetic boundaries and dimensions.

The Program is unique in that its mission is twofold: 1) To provide the foundation for the academic minor program; and 2) To offer regular programs and special events to the University and to the community. For example, each year the Jewish Studies Program partners with the “1939” Club, a Holocaust survivor organization, to host a community-wide Kristallnacht commemoration at LMU. In the past, the Program has hosted or co-hosted events with the Los Angeles Polish Consulate, the Los Angeles Israeli Consulate, American Jewish University, UCLA, Chapman University, California State University Northridge and Long Beach, and the Western Jewish Studies Association.

Through education and community outreach, the Program provides an opportunity to engage others directly and constructively in order to promote greater understanding and appreciation of Judaism and its relation to other faith traditions and commitments, and to act together upon such respect and understanding. In this way, the mission of the Jewish Studies Program relates to the mission and identity of LMU as a Jesuit/Marymount Catholic University in Los Angeles. Faculty from a range of departments, schools, and colleges teach courses in Jewish Studies, many of which are cross-listed.

Jewish Studies Student Learning Outcomes

Students will know:

- The nature of the Jewish religious experience
- Significant aspects of Jewish history, culture, and literature/art
- Significant developments in and implications of Jewish/Christian relations.

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate critical reflection on significant aspects of Jewish history, culture, religion, and literature/art
- Conduct critical research and write intelligently and persuasively on issues within Judaism
- Synthesize and apply this knowledge to pursue justice locally and globally.

Students will value:

- The rich contribution of the Jewish people to history, culture, religion, and literature/art
- The importance of inter-religious dialogue
- The living vitality of Jewish faith and culture through the promotion of justice.

Jewish Studies Minor Requirements

18 semester hours, with at least 12 semester hours upper-division including JWST 300, 381 and 490.

One course must be in Jewish Literature/Culture/Art; one course must be in Jewish History. The remaining elective must be chosen in consultation with the program director.

Liberal Arts

Liberal Arts courses (LIBA), offered by the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts, are designed to enrich the academic, career-related, and life skills of our students.

Liberal Studies

Director
Bernadette Musetti
Objectives
The Liberal Studies program enables the student to meet the teacher preparation standards mandated by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing. The Liberal Studies program curriculum likewise serves the Loyola Marymount University mission.

Liberal Studies Student Learning Outcomes
The Liberal Studies program student will master the content required of professional educators in the State of California, to include:

- Key concepts in the following academic fields: the social sciences and history, the arts and humanities, language studies, mathematics and science, health, physical education, human development, and in an approved academic concentration of the candidate’s choice
- Candidates will demonstrate their mastery of the subject matter by successfully passing the CSET (California Subject Examination for Teachers) at the completion of their coursework;

The Liberal Studies program student will master the skills required of professional educators in the State of California:

- To synthesize subject content in the liberal arts, professional content related to classroom teaching, and educational policies
- To apply reading, writing, and research skills appropriate to the work of the academic disciplines being studied
- To apply academic concepts to practical teaching contexts
- To analyze, reflect on, and evaluate the relationships among academic theories, the practical and applied contexts of teaching, and the multiple and complex needs of students comprising a rich and diverse globe
- Candidates will demonstrate the ability to synthesize and the other skills listed above in an exit interview conducted by the Director of Liberal Studies at the completion of required coursework;

The Liberal Studies program student will value:

- Intellectual inquiry across a range of subjects
- A world view comprising faith, social justice, and a respect for diversity
- The individual’s role as a future educator who will shape the lives of children, local communities, and larger national and global societies.

There are five components to the Liberal Studies major:

I. University Core Curriculum
50 Semester Hours
Because the subject-matter requirements set by the Commission on Teacher Credentialing are very specific, many of the core requirements for Liberal Studies majors are specified and may differ from those of other majors within the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts. These core requirements are as follows:

- College Writing (3 semester hours): ENGL 110;
- Communication or Critical Thinking (3 semester hours): choice of one of the following: CMST 100, 110, 140, or 206;
- History (6 semester hours): HIST 300 and 301;
- Social Sciences (6 semester hours): PSYC 100 and choice of one of the following: AFAM 115, APAM 117, or CHST 116;
- American Cultures (3 semester hours): HIST 161 (fulfills the U.S. Constitution requirement for credential candidates);
- Literature (3 semester hours): choice of one of the following drama-based courses: CLCV 210, 220; ENGL 150, 170; THEA 240, 245;
- Mathematics (see major requirements)
- Science and Technology (8 semester hours): NTLS 270 and 271.4 (semester hours each);
- Fine Arts Critical (3 semester hours): MUSC 104;
- Fine Arts Creative (3 semester hours): ART 250;
- Philosophy (6 semester hours): PHIL 160 and one course from PHIL 320-330;
- Theological Studies (6 semester hours): one course from the THST 100-level series and one course from the 300-level series.

II. Liberal Studies Major Requirements
24 Semester Hours

DANC 384: Creative Dance for Children (3 semester hours)
DANC 385: Movement Arts for Children (3 semester hours)
ENGL 305: Advanced Composition for Credential Candidates (3 semester hours)
ENGL 346: Children’s Literature (3 semester hours)
HIST 366: History of California (3 semester hours)
MATH 106, 107: Mathematics for Elementary Teachers I, II (6 semester hours)
Liberal Studies majors must either pass out of or take MATH 101 as a prerequisite to MATH 106, 107.
PSYC 352: Developmental Psychology (3 semester hours)

III. Education Program Requirements
21 Semester Hours
EDLC 400: Sociocultural Analysis of Education (3 semester hours)
EDES 401: Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years (3 semester hours)
EDES 409: Reading and Language Arts in the Elementary Curriculum (3 semester hours)*
EDLC 414: Theories of Second Language Acquisition (3 semester hours)
EDLC 425: Methods in English Language Development/Specialty Designed Academic Instruction in English (3 semester hours)*
EDES 434: Elementary Curriculum and Methods (3 semester hours)*
EDSS 440: Introduction to the Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Student with Exceptional Needs (3 semester hours)
EDES 8000: Health Education in the Schools (0 semester hours)

* Starred courses require a separate application to and acceptance into the Elementary Education program or the Mild/Moderate Specialist Credential program. Acceptance into either of these programs requires an LMU cumulative GPA of 2.8. See the Director of Liberal Studies for other application requirements.

IV. Concentration
12-18 Semester Hours
In addition to the above requirements, all Liberal Studies majors complete coursework in a chosen area of concentration which represents a subject area generally taught in elementary schools or a closely related area of study. With careful planning the concentration can constitute most, if not all, of an LMU minor. See the Director of Liberal Studies for qualifying concentrations and their specific requirements.

V. Electives
Students complete elective coursework in order to fulfill the remaining course hours required for the degree in Liberal Studies. Liberal Studies majors who are also pursuing the multiple subjects teaching credential complete 9 semester hours of EDCE 410 (Directed Teaching), which are applied toward both the semester hour requirement for the baccalaureate degree and the requirements for California state credentialing. Liberal Studies majors who decide not to pursue a teaching credential may satisfy the remaining course hours with any elective coursework.

Liberal Studies Model Four-Year Plan
The typical course load for an undergraduate student is 15-16 semester hours per semester. The following model represents a student who is completing a 15-semester-hour concentration, does not need to complete any prerequisites for required coursework, and is pursuing the 2042 Multiple Subject teaching credential. Students with larger concentrations, those required to take MATH 101 (or other prerequisite course), and/or those seeking credentials in Bilingual or Special Education may need to “overload” during some semesters and/or complete summer coursework. Please note that the model is provided as a guideline rather than a prescriptive course of study. Students will need to be flexible implementing the model plan, given variability of course availability and other potential scheduling issues in any given semester.

Note: This model does not include some School of Education requirements which are not required for the Liberal Studies degree but are required for the teaching credential (i.e., TPAs—Teaching Performance Assessments; Health course requirement). As such requirements relate to the teaching credential and are independent of the Liberal Studies degree, students are advised to consult with the Academic Advisor in the School of Education regarding the coordination and sequencing of specific School of Education requirements.

Modern Languages and Literatures

Faculty

Chairperson: Véronique Flambard-Weisbart
Professors: Jennifer L. Eich, Véronique Flambard-Weisbart, Áine O’Healy
Associate Professors: Rebeca Acevedo, José Ignacio Badenes, S.J., Petra Liedke Konow, Marc Lony, Alicia Partnoy, Antonia Petro
Assistant Professors: Mónica Cabrera, Chan Lû

Objectives

Our Department equips students with language proficiency as it introduces them to the multicultural nature and historical evolution of literary and other texts in the target languages. Our courses provide opportunities to comprehend, interpret, and practice linguistic skills through oral and written exercises and assignments. Through a judicious selection of required courses and electives that include literature, history, and the arts, students acquire an increasing commitment to the mission of the University. We thrive to provide tools to foster transcultural understanding as the basis for mutual respect, global harmony and social justice.

Major and Minor Requirements

Students can declare a major in French/Francophone Studies, Modern Languages, or Spanish, or a minor in French/Francophone Studies, German, Italian, or Spanish, at entry to the University, through the Office of Admission. Students wishing to declare a major/minor in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures after admission to LMU must meet with a professor from that particular program. A Change of Program form will be signed by the chairperson, provided that the student has a minimum LMU GPA of 2.0 (C).

Lower division language courses (100-200) may not be challenged by exam. Students may be exempt from these courses by placing above that level through the LMU online Placement Exam for Chinese, French, German, or Spanish, and by professor evaluation for Italian and Japanese. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in all lower division language courses to major or minor in those languages.

Students with significant course credit in a language from high school or college will not be allowed to enroll in the 101 course of that language.

The department offers lower division language courses (100-200) in Chinese, Japanese, and Filipino which satisfy the language requirements for the Asian and Pacific Studies major and minor.

Language Placement Exam

The online WebCAPE Placement Examination measures your language skills in Chinese, French, German, or Spanish so that you may be placed in the appropriate level of coursework in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures.

Your score is used for language placement advising purposes and does not become part of your permanent record.

FAQ

When do I need to take a foreign language exam?

You need to take this exam ONLY...

Department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.

Coursework completed during this semester must be coordinated such that it does not conflict with the student teaching assignment.

This four-year plan serves only as a general model. Please meet with your advisor at least once a semester to discuss your progress in the program and plans for future semesters.

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.

Associate Professors: Rebeca Acevedo, José Ignacio Badenes, S.J., Petra Liedke Konow, Marc Lony, Alicia Partnoy, Antonia Petro
Assistant Professors: Mónica Cabrera, Chan Lû

Objectives

Our Department equips students with language proficiency as it introduces them to the multicultural nature and historical evolution of literary and other texts in the target languages. Our courses provide opportunities to comprehend, interpret, and practice linguistic skills through oral and written exercises and assignments. Through a judicious selection of required courses and electives that include literature, history, and the arts, students acquire an increasing commitment to the mission of the University. We thrive to provide tools to foster transcultural understanding as the basis for mutual respect, global harmony and social justice.

Major and Minor Requirements

Students can declare a major in French/Francophone Studies, Modern Languages, or Spanish, or a minor in French/Francophone Studies, German, Italian, or Spanish, at entry to the University, through the Office of Admission. Students wishing to declare a major/minor in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures after admission to LMU must meet with a professor from that particular program. A Change of Program form will be signed by the chairperson, provided that the student has a minimum LMU GPA of 2.0 (C).

Lower division language courses (100-200) may not be challenged by exam. Students may be exempt from these courses by placing above that level through the LMU online Placement Exam for Chinese, French, German, or Spanish, and by professor evaluation for Italian and Japanese. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in all lower division language courses to major or minor in those languages.

Students with significant course credit in a language from high school or college will not be allowed to enroll in the 101 course of that language.

The department offers lower division language courses (100-200) in Chinese, Japanese, and Filipino which satisfy the language requirements for the Asian and Pacific Studies major and minor.

Language Placement Exam

The online WebCAPE Placement Examination measures your language skills in Chinese, French, German, or Spanish so that you may be placed in the appropriate level of coursework in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures.

Your score is used for language placement advising purposes and does not become part of your permanent record.

FAQ

When do I need to take a foreign language exam?

You need to take this exam ONLY...
1. If you have taken Chinese, French, German, or Spanish language courses in any educational setting (for example, at a high school or community school or at another university if you are a transfer student) AND you wish to continue taking classes in these languages during the first three semesters at LMU.
2. If you have taken AP language and/or literature courses in the above languages.
3. If you are interested in a minor or major in the above languages so that you can begin at the appropriate level of coursework immediately.
4. If you plan to take language or literature courses in a study abroad program in a country where Chinese, French, German, or Spanish are the language of instruction; Summer, semester, and year-long study abroad programs sometimes require previous foreign language study.
5. If you are a heritage speaker who has learned the language at home and wishes to take language or literature courses in Chinese, French, German, or Spanish.

PLEASE NOTE: If you have NEVER studied Chinese, French, German, or Spanish and wish to do so, you would sign up for the 101 level course in that language. If you plan to study or travel abroad in the summer before entering LMU, please wait until you return to take the language placement exam.

Where do I take the exam?
You take the exam online. Go to the link: http://webcape.byuhtrsc.org/?acct=lmu.

How long does the exam take?
The text takes approximately 20 minutes.

Can I use books such as a dictionary? Should I guess at the answers?
It is TO YOUR BENEFIT that you answer the questions honestly and without the support of notes, textbooks, parents, or friends: doing otherwise will be considered cheating. In addition, the score will likely place you at a level of coursework above the appropriate one based on your experiences and academic studies.

How do I get my score? Does my advisor get it?
Your score will be displayed at the end of the exam. Your score and placement will be provided to your advisor. You are strongly encouraged to print or write it down and e-mail it to your assigned advisor.

What if I have problems taking the exam?
Please contact the ITS helpdesk at 310.338.7777.

Chinese
The objective of the first and second year Chinese courses emphasizes language and literacy skills in Mandarin Chinese, with a focus on the spoken style. The third and fourth year courses aim to help students develop advanced language and literacy skills in both the spoken and the written styles. Selected courses and topics are introduced to enable students to develop a critical understanding of the Chinese literature, culture, and society.

Students with significant course credit in Chinese from high school or college will not be allowed to enroll in CHIN 101. Students with more advanced knowledge must take the language placement exam. To know when and how a student should take a language placement exam in Chinese, please refer to the guidelines provided under Modern Languages and Literatures.

Filipino
The courses are designed to develop student competency in Filipino/Tagalog focusing first on the sounds and rhythm of the language, vocabulary building, and sentence patterns. A functional-situational approach to language learning is utilized to develop an understanding and appreciation of Filipino culture and customs associated with the use of various linguistic forms. All levels will enhance and work toward increased proficiency in speaking, listening, reading, and writing through language games and exercises.

Foreign Literature in English Translation
No knowledge of the foreign language is required for courses offered in foreign literature.

---

French/Francophone Studies

Objectives
The French/Francophone Studies curriculum is designed to enhance students' understanding of the French/Francophone world by exposing them to French/Francophone cultures and perspectives. It also responds to the increasing demand for a more practical emphasis in language learning after the lower division level and allows students to tackle the professional world immediately beyond graduation. It may complement LMU’s Summer Study Abroad Program in Paris, France.

French/Francophone Studies Student Learning Outcomes
Student Learning Outcomes will be assessed through a Senior Capstone Project (FREN 500) which consists of a portfolio during the last semester of the senior year. The portfolio is a collection of multiple samples usually compiled over time accompanied by a personal reflection essay, which would show that the student has met the objectives of the French/Francophone Studies program.

Majors in French/Francophone Studies will know:
- The variety and nature of linguistic practices of French-speaking populations
- The variety and nature of cultural texts of French-speaking populations
- The variety and nature of cultural perspectives in the Francophone world at large
- The representative literary works and cultural texts of Francophone cultures and civilizations, and other diasporic French-speaking populations
- The principal aspects of cultural expressions such as literature, art, social practices, gender, and media of the Francophone world at large
- Theoretical terminology and concepts essential to analyze literary and cultural products.

Majors in French/Francophone Studies will be able to:
- Understand spoken French at the appropriate level
- Speak French at the appropriate level
- Read French at the appropriate level
- Write French at the appropriate level
- Use acquired theoretical and critical skills to textual analysis and scholarly research
- Demonstrate an informed knowledge of literary works developed by French-speaking populations
- Demonstrate an informed knowledge of cultural works developed by French-speaking populations
- Demonstrate an informed knowledge of linguistic varieties developed by French-speaking populations.

Majors in French/Francophone Studies will demonstrate an appreciation for:
- The evolution and variety of perspectives in French-speaking cultures
- The mission of our University
- Transcultural similarities and differences.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
- FREN 101, 102, 203, 204.
  These requirements may be waived or modified based upon proficiency demonstrated on the LMU French Placement Examination. For majors, a minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in all pre-major courses.

Upper Division Requirements:
- 25 semester hours in upper division courses; FREN 301, 314, 321, 333, 334, three courses in the 400-level series, and 500.
- A minimum grade of C (2.0) must be maintained in all upper division courses.

Minor Requirements
- 18 semester hours taken beyond FREN 203: FREN 204, 301, 314, 321, 333 or 334, and one (1) course in the 400-level series.
The FREN 101, 102, 203, and 204 series is recommended for those who seek basic proficiency in the language. This series requires attendance of a one hour weekly language lab.

French Placement Exam

Any student who has knowledge of or has had prior instruction in French in high school or at a college or university other than LMU must take the French Placement Exam.

This requirement includes students who have taken the AP French Exam in high school. Generally, a student who receives a score of 5 or 4 on the AP French Exam (Language or Literature) places in FREN 204. Final placement is conditional upon the instructor’s consent. Course credit will be given for FREN 101, 102, and 203 once the student’s official scores have been received from the College Board. It is the responsibility of each student to ensure that the official AP scores have been sent to Loyola Marymount University.

To know when and how a student should take a language placement exam in French, please refer to the guidelines provided under Modern Languages and Literatures.

French/ Francophone Studies Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.

German

Objectives

During the phase of early language acquisition, our German courses build students’ language skills and intercultural awareness. While still perfecting their language skills, students in GRMN 203 and above are introduced to short German prose from a variety of literary traditions. Literature courses range from a general survey of German literature over the centuries to the study of specific genres, such as drama, the novel, and the German fairy tale. In addition to literary studies, the German section also offers a course on German film and a course on German culture and civilization that provides an introduction to German history, society, politics, and the arts, while developing students’ general intercultural awareness. For students interested in the language of business, the German section offers two business-related courses.

German Student Learning Outcomes

Students minoring in German will know:

- The principal aspects of the German language
- The principal aspects of the history of German literature and film
Students minoring in German will be able to:

- Speak, understand, read, and write German in meaningful contexts
- Use the latest relevant applications in educational technology
- Read literary texts in German and discuss their content, techniques, and social significance

Students minoring in German will value:

- German language, literature, and culture
- Expressing independent critical opinions
- Increasing intercultural awareness

German courses at LMU foster communication and understanding others as essential aspects of the education of the whole person. Students thus embark on a road of lifelong learning that will take them into a richer future.

Minor Requirements

The German minor consists of 18 semester hours above the 100 level: GRMN 203, 204, 301, and three courses from upper division offerings (300-400 level). Within this minor a professional German emphasis is possible, with GRMN 302 and 437 as upper division course options for the business-oriented student.

The GRMN 101, 102, 203 series is recommended for those who seek a basic speaking, writing, and reading knowledge of the language.

Students of German may wish to take advantage of LMU’s semester or full year New Europe Program in Bonn, Germany, to improve their language skills. Lower division elementary and intermediate German language courses in Bonn are listed as EURO 181 and 283 each semester. GRMN 301 (Mastery of German) is also available on a regular basis.

German Placement and Proficiency Testing

To know when and how a student should take a language placement exam in German, please refer to the guidelines provided under Modern Languages and Literatures.

Once per year in the Spring, the German section offers a general proficiency test in German (2D) for its graduating minors. The test is internationally recognized and certifies the language skills of the student to prospective employers in the public and private sector.

Italian

Objectives

The Italian minor introduces students to the rich, complex culture of Italy, first by providing them with basic linguistic skills in the Italian language, and subsequently by familiarizing them with important literary works produced in Italy over the centuries as well as with historically significant films.

Italian Minor Learning Outcomes

Italian minors will know:

- The principal aspects of Italian syntax and morphology
- Representative works of Italian literature, cinema, and other forms of cultural production
- Theoretical concepts essential for the analysis of these texts.

Italian minors will be able to:

- Communicate effectively in written and oral forms in Italian
- Understand spoken Italian
- Read modern Italian literature
- Apply acquired critical skills to textual analysis and scholarly research.

Italian minors will be encouraged to value:

- The distinctive contributions of Italian culture to world civilization
- The interconnectedness of all cultures in the global era
- The complex ways in which issues of social justice find expression in cultural production.

Minor Requirements

The minor consists of 18 semester hours taken above the 100 level: ITAL 203, 204, and four courses taken from upper division offerings.

Students who have not previously studied Italian and who wish to declare a minor in Italian are advised to begin their study of the language in their freshman year.

The ITAL 101, 102, 203 series is recommended for those who seek a basic speaking, writing, and reading knowledge of the language. This series requires one hour of independent study in the language lab each week.

Students with previous knowledge of the language or with course credit in Italian are requested to contact the department to schedule a placement exam.

Japanese

The courses develop listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills using the direct method. Grammar points are explained in English. The student is provided an opportunity to practice conversation with native speakers to further improve oral skills. Selected topics are presented to enhance awareness and understanding of Japanese culture.

Students with significant course credit in Japanese from high school or college will not be allowed to enroll in JAPN 101. Students with more advanced knowledge must consult with the departmental chair or with a professor in Japanese for evaluation before enrolling in a Japanese language class.

Modern Languages

Modern Languages Major

Objectives

The aim of the Modern Languages Major is twofold: to enable students to develop proficiency in the four language skills—aural, oral, speaking, and writing—in two modern languages, and to develop cultural literacy.

Through a structured and carefully planned group of course offerings and a strong recommendation to participate for a semester or a summer in study abroad programs, the Modern Languages Major will prepare students for a world in which intercultural understanding provides the basis for mutual respect, global harmony, and social justice.

The program will encourage and advise students to embark in study abroad experiences, research opportunities, extracurricular activities, and community-based learning opportunities that will prepare them to speak, understand, and write two foreign languages as well as linguistically analyze them, to know the principal aspects of some of the cultures where those languages are spoken, and to exercise intercultural awareness.

The major is highly desirable for those interested in international communications and access to immigrant populations, in areas including but not limited to business, teaching, social work, theology, law, theatre, and the visual arts. Competence in more than one foreign language, a keen awareness of cultures, and an understanding of the structure of language itself is a compelling combination of skills that will prepare the student for employment in a globalized economy.

Modern Languages Student Learning Outcomes

Modern Languages majors will know:

- The principal aspects of two foreign languages and cultures
- The tools to analyze languages and cultures
- The principal aspects of two cultures and civilizations through the study of their cultural productions such as literature, art, social practices, and media.

Modern Languages majors will be able to:

- Speak, understand, and write two foreign languages as well as linguistically analyze them
- Read a variety of texts in two languages and discuss their content, technique, and cultural significance.

Modern Languages majors will be able to demonstrate that they value:

- Two distinct cultures and civilizations and their cultural productions
- Increasing intercultural awareness
- Multilingualism and the world it opens up for them.
Major Requirements
Two languages combined: Chinese/French; Chinese/German; Chinese/Italian; Chinese/Spanish; French/German; French/Italian; French/Spanish; German/Italian; German/Spanish; Italian/Spanish.

Lower Division Requirements:

Spanish
Spanish Major
Objectives
This major equips students with language proficiency in Spanish as it introduces them to the multicultural nature and historical evolution of literary and cultural expressions in the target language. It provides students with opportunities to comprehend, interpret, and practice advanced linguistic skills in Spanish through oral and written exercises and assignments. Survey and seminar classes familiarize them with representative literary works and cultural texts from Spain, Latin America, the U.S., and other diasporic Spanish-speaking populations. Our students become familiar with theoretical terminology and concepts essential to analyze these and other cultural products. The major also includes the study of Spanish phonology, morphology, syntax, and dialectal varieties. Students consistently participate in intercultural events and service programs.
learning activities in academic and culturally significant contexts. They acquire an increasing commitment to the mission of the University.

Spanish Student Learning Outcomes

Spanish majors will know:

- The variety and nature of linguistic practices of Spanish-speaking populations
- The variety and nature of cultural texts of Spanish-speaking populations
- The variety and nature of cultural perspectives of Spanish-speaking populations
- Representative literary works and cultural texts from Spain, Latin America, the U.S., and other Spanish-speaking populations
- Theoretical terminology and concepts essential to analyze literary and cultural texts.

Spanish majors will be able to:

- Understand spoken Spanish at the appropriate level
- Speak Spanish at the appropriate level
- Read Spanish at the appropriate level
- Write Spanish at the appropriate level
- Use acquired theoretical and critical skills to textual analyses and scholarly research
- Demonstrate an informed knowledge of literary works developed by Spanish-speaking populations
- Demonstrate an informed knowledge of cultural products developed by Spanish-speaking populations
- Demonstrate an informed knowledge of linguistic varieties developed by Spanish-speaking populations.

Spanish majors will also demonstrate an appreciation for:

- The evolution and variety of perspectives in Spanish-speaking cultures
- The mission of our University
- Transcultural similarities and differences.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

SPAN 101, 102, 203, and 204 or 205.

Any of these courses may be satisfied by placing above that level through the LMU Spanish Placement Exam. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in all lower division Spanish courses.

Upper Division Requirements:

Spanish Major: The major in Spanish requires 25 semester hours in upper division courses: SPAN 321, 322, and 333; 6 semester hours in SPAN 331, 332, or 334; 9 semester hours in 400-level Spanish electives; and SPAN 500, a senior capstone project (1 semester hour). Students are permitted to take up to 31 upper division hours in Spanish. Students must complete all upper division courses with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

Senior Capstone Project: Portfolio Requirements:

Spanish majors are required to register for a one-credit course (SPAN 500, Senior Capstone Project) during, or after, their last semester in the Spanish major program. Each graduating student constructs a portfolio that includes a collection of previous works, a brief description of extracurricular activities connected with the Spanish major, and a reflective essay in Spanish demonstrating how the goals of the program were met. These goals are language proficiency, cultural competency, mastery of literary and linguistic studies, development of a sense of social justice, and transcultural understanding. An oral presentation of the portfolio to a faculty panel is required.

Guidelines for the elaboration of the portfolio and the oral presentation are available in the Modern Languages and Literatures Department. This course is graded Credit/No Credit.

Secondary Teacher Preparation in Spanish

For information on this program, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

Spanish Minor

Lower Division Requirements:

SPAN 101, 102, 203, and 204 or 205.

Any of these courses may be satisfied by placing above that level through the LMU Spanish Placement Exam. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in all lower division Spanish courses.

Upper Division Requirements:

Spanish Minor: The minor consists of 18 semester hours in upper division courses: SPAN 321, 322, and 333; 6 semester hours in SPAN 331, 332, or 334; and one upper division 400-level Spanish elective. Students must complete all upper division courses with a minimum grade of C (2.0) to maintain status.

LMU Spanish Placement Exam

Any student who has knowledge of or has had prior instruction in Spanish in high school or at a college or university other than LMU must take the LMU Spanish Placement Exam.

This requirement includes students who have taken an AP Spanish Exam in high school. A student who receives a score of 5 or 4 on the AP Spanish Exam (Language and/or Literature) might place in SPAN 321 (Stylistics and Composition), SPAN 204 (Intermediate Spanish II), or SPAN 205 (Intermediate Spanish II for Latino Students). Final placement is conditional upon the instructor’s consent. The student’s CAPP report will reflect credit for SPAN 101, 102, and 203 after official scores have been received from the College Board. It is the responsibility of each student to ensure that the official AP scores have been sent to Loyola Marymount University.

To know when and how a student should take a language placement exam in Spanish, please refer to the guidelines provided under Modern Languages and Literatures.

Study Abroad

Students are strongly encouraged to take language courses abroad for a semester either during their sophomore year (Spring semester) or junior year (Fall or Spring semester). Prior to departure, students must obtain transfer credit approval for any courses that they plan to take. No more than two Spanish courses will transfer for the major. Consult the Study Abroad Office or the Spanish language professors for information about semester, year-long, or summer study abroad programs offered by other universities other than those that the Spanish program endorses.

Spanish Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours per semester (5 classes). By following the model below, a student who places at the second semester level of Spanish (SPAN 102) at the time of admission into our program will complete most major prerequisites and all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year. Students with no previous knowledge of Spanish will be able to complete the program in four years if they are willing to take a Spanish course approved by our department, either abroad or at another institution during the summer. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Notes:
- Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.
- Spanish Model Four-Year Plan
- For students starting at an advanced level of proficiency

The normal course load is 15 semester hours per semester (5 classes).

By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Peace Studies

Director
Daniel L. Smith-Christopher

Objectives
In order to accommodate the significant diversity in approaches to peace and justice, Loyola Marymount University’s Peace Studies program is a contract-based minor that is arranged on an individual basis, working with the particular interests and study areas of each student. Students may choose from a variety of courses that relate to chosen fields of interest and emphasis, drawing from programs such as Political Science, History, Ethnic Studies, Theological Studies, Philosophy, Classics, English, Sociology, and any number of other departments. The proposed contract, with the suggested list of courses, must be accepted in writing by both the Director of the Program and the Dean of the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts before the minor is officially entered in the academic record of each student who wishes to enter the program.

Minor Requirements
18 semester hours (6 courses) are required for the minor. There are no required courses, but it is strongly suggested that students take THST 304, War and Peace in the Bible, as a foundation course for the program. There is a limit of 2 courses (6 semester hours) in lower division courses, and a single 400-level course is strongly encouraged. A Thesis/Independent Study option is available to fulfill this recommended course, to be arranged with the Director.

Peace Studies Student Learning Outcomes
Peace Studies minors will know:
• The approaches to war and peace of various religious traditions
• Nonviolence and Nonviolent Strategy as exemplified by Gandhi or Dr. King
• The significance of personal values arising from a commitment to peacemaking that may be applicable to one’s personal as well as social life.

Peace Studies minors will be able to:
• Suggest skills and activities that may contribute to minimizing the potential for conflict and contribute to peacemaking in a given conflict situation
• Present a coherent defense of the values of peace within selected traditions, both religious and political.

Peace Studies minors will value:
• The diversity of approaches relevant to peacemaking skills
• The historical contributions made by peacemakers in the past, and assess their contributions to continued thought in Peace Studies
• The unique legacy of nonviolence in world history
• The varied Christian traditions of peacemaking and nonviolence as a theological as well as social value
• Contributions to peacemaking that are unique to their own tradition, if non-Christian (e.g., Jewish, Islamic, Buddhist).

To demonstrate the attainment of these learning outcomes, students submit a portfolio of class papers, tests, and other assignments from the six courses approved by the Director for their minor. Please direct all questions to the Director of Peace Studies.

Philosophy Graduate Program

Mission Statement
The M.A. program at Loyola Marymount University is marked by three emphases: the history of Philosophy, including recent and contemporary continental philosophy; ethical studies; and philosophy informing and informed by the Catholic and Jesuit tradition. Our students are invited to acquire a solid grasp of the history of Philosophy, both Western and Eastern, and to pursue specialized studies of a range of philosophical issues and figures. The program is designed for students who seek the comprehensive background and training required for admission to and success in a Ph.D. program in Philosophy, as well as for those who wish to complement their studies in related disciplines with the Master of Arts in Philosophy. A special feature of our M.A. Program is our commitment to imparting to students the skills associated with effective teaching as they broaden and deepen their philosophical understanding.

The Department
The Loyola Marymount University Department of Philosophy has a long-standing commitment to excellent teaching, careful advising, and productive scholarship, and is dedicated to providing a collegial and friendly environment conducive to ongoing intellectual development. We encourage both students and faculty to engage in collaborative inquiry and discussion. While the department as a whole values a strong foundation in the history of Philosophy, it is pluralistic in its orientation. The Department is distinguished by its desire to familiarize students with the full range of philosophical traditions and issues: western and eastern, continental and analytic. The special interests of our faculty cover a broad range of systematic topics and historical periods, providing resources for a wide variety of specialized studies.

Admission Requirement
1. The General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) (waived for some foreign applicants).
2. Demonstration of undergraduate competence in Philosophy, as evidenced by the completion of an undergraduate major or minor in Philosophy, or strong undergraduate preparation in a closely related field. The competency of students with non-traditional backgrounds will be determined in interviews with the Program Director.
3. An undergraduate GPA of 3.0.
4. An application, an application fee, and two letters of recommendation testifying to the student’s aptitude for graduate studies in Philosophy, from professors familiar with the student’s undergraduate work in Philosophy.
5. A personal statement, of no more than four typed pages, on why the applicant wishes to pursue philosophical studies at the graduate level. Applicants should indicate in their statements their intention to pursue either a terminal M.A. or to seek admission to a Ph.D. program after earning the M.A.
6. A writing sample of approximately 10 typed pages, preferably of philosophical writing.
7. The deadline for the receipt of all materials is March 15 for the Fall semester and November 1 for the Spring semester.

Financial Assistance
Every student admitted into the program is considered for tuition assistance. The amounts of the grants vary and are awarded on the basis of both merit and need. One Research Assistantship is awarded each year. Rains Research Assistantships (60 hours per semester, 120 hours per year) may be obtained by arrangement with individual professors.

Degree Requirements
The two-year program requires 30 credit hours of course work (10 – 600 level courses), successful completion of a reading proficiency examination in French, German, Latin, or Greek, and successful completion of an oral examination. Students are expected to take six courses in their first year, and four in their second. Students may complete their credit requirement with their own choice of graduate courses. A portion of the course requirement may be fulfilled by graduate course work in the Departments of English or Theological Studies, or in the Bioethics Institute, with the approval of the Program Director. Students must maintain a 3.0 GPA to remain in good standing.

Teacher Orientation and Practicum (TOP)
Students may elect to participate in the TOP Program. Students who wish to be considered for a Teaching Fellowship in their third semester must participate in the TOP Program. The aim of TOP is to introduce students to the practical and pedagogical tasks involved in teaching at the undergraduate level, and to provide basic instruction in the effective performance of those tasks. TOP is administered by members of the Department of Philosophy. It includes both instructional sessions and practical applications. The instructional sessions provide guidelines for the preparation of course descriptions and syllabi, assignments and examinations, and for the grading of assignments and examinations. In addition, they offer guidelines for the preparation and delivery of lectures and the conduct of classroom discussions. The practical applications include: interviews with faculty members about their approaches to teaching and their methods, their successes and their failures; preparation of sample course descriptions and syllabi; preparation and delivery of a lecture, with optional videotaping, and a final review of the student’s performance. Students participate in TOP in the second and third semesters of the M.A. Program and receive a Certificate of Participation upon completion of the program.

Oral Examination
The Oral Examination is a one-hour oral, conducted by three faculty members. Its aim is to probe, assess, and evaluate a student’s own developing epistemological, metaphysical, and ethical positions.

Language Requirement
Before completion of the program students must demonstrate reading proficiency in French, German, Latin, or Greek. Language examinations are offered every semester and may be retaken.

Learning Outcomes of the M.A. Program in Philosophy
Upon successful completion of the M.A. Program in Philosophy, the student will be familiar with the major figures, movements, positions, and issues characterizing the ancient, medieval, modern, late modern, and contemporary periods in the history of Western Philosophy; will be able to make intelligent and critical use of the resources and tools required for thorough philosophical research and writing;
will be able to interpret philosophical texts intelligently, critically, and charitably;
will be able to analyze and evaluate philosophical arguments;
will be capable of clear, coherent, and rigorous argumentation and expression in their own philosophical writing;
will be able to communicate their interpretations of philosophical texts and their own critical views confidently in both informal and professional settings;
will be able to engage in fruitful philosophical dialogue and discussion; will be able to formulate precisely and communicate clearly their own developing positions on the basic epistemological, metaphysical, and ethical questions;
will have a clearer understanding and firmer grasp of the philosophical questions with which they themselves are most deeply concerned; will be familiar with the range of responsibilities associated with the professional side of the philosophical life.

Philosophy Undergraduate Program

Objectives
Philosophy is a reflective and critical discipline whose aim is to explore fundamental ideas which underlie and penetrate human existence and constitute the deep background of all human endeavors: ideas such as Meaning and Truth, Knowledge and Being, Objectivity and Bias, Good and Evil, Value and Disvalue. Philosophic inquiry into these and related notions is governed by the complementary ideals of analytic precision and comprehensive synthesis, and so it aims to raise these basic notions from their everyday obscurity, to articulate them with logical precision and rigor, and to bind them together into an overarching vision of the nature and purpose of human life.
Accordingly, the Department of Philosophy offers basic courses in Critical Thinking, Human Nature, Ethics, and Contemporary Moral Problems in the core curriculum and a wide variety of courses complementary to studies in a broad range of fields. For convenience, courses are grouped into eight content areas:

I. Morality, Law, and Politics (320 through 334)
II. Natural and Social Sciences (341, 342, 343)
III. Arts and Literature (254, 351, 352, 353, 354)
IV. Religion and Theology (361 through 368)
V. History of Philosophy (381, 382, 383, 385, 387)
VI. Contemporary Movements (421 through 426)
VII. Major Thinkers (451)
VIII. Mind and Reality (461 through 464)

Philosophy Student Learning Outcomes

Philosophy students will understand:

- The history of philosophy from the pre-Socratics to modern European thinkers
- Contemporary philosophical movements, issues, and techniques
- Central themes in the primary texts of important philosophers

Philosophy students will be able to:

- Demonstrate written competency in the analysis of philosophical issues
- Apply the tools of logic in the analysis and critical evaluation of philosophical texts
- Synthesize philosophical insights in relation to their own lived experience

Philosophy students will value:

- The contributions of philosophers to civilization
- An understanding of the relationship of philosophy to a variety of areas of human experience such as faith, morality, and culture
- Rigorous philosophical inquiry and reflection in relation to their own self-development, their interactions with others, and the quest for a better world.

Major Requirements

At entry to the University, students may declare the major or minor through the Office of Admission. LMU students wishing thereafter to declare the major or minor must meet with the chair. The chair will ordinarily sign the student’s Change of Program petition, provided the student meets certain academic standards that include having a minimum GPA of 2.0 (C), not otherwise being on academic probation, and (for majors) upon completion of an entrance questionnaire.

Required:

- The Logic sequence: PHIL 220, 221.
- The History of Philosophy sequence—PHIL 381, 383, 385, 387. Students are encouraged to take the History of Philosophy sequence in chronological order.
- Five Philosophy electives, at least three of which must be upper division courses taken at LMU.
- PHIL 495: Senior Assessment.

Students are strongly encouraged to study a foreign language to enhance their philosophical studies. Programs should be planned in consultation with their faculty advisor.

An average grade of C+ (2.3) must be maintained in Philosophy courses by majors.

Majors may take up to 13 upper division courses in Philosophy.

Honors in Philosophy

To graduate with honors in Philosophy, a Philosophy major must have a minimum GPA in Philosophy of 3.3, enroll in the PHIL 500 Senior Project in place of one of the upper division electives, and receive at least a grade of B+ (3.3) on the project.

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours in Philosophy, of which at least 12 are in upper division courses. Core requirements PHIL 160, 220, and 320 through 330 may be counted towards the minor. An average of C (2.0) must be attained in courses in the minor.

The Department of Philosophy also offers a minor in Ethics for students who wish to explore further the foundations of ethics and ethical issues as they arise in a range of theoretical and applied domains. Philosophy majors and minors may not minor in Ethics.

Philosophy Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as PHIL major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Chairperson: Evan Gerstmann

Associate Professors: Lance H. Blakesley, Jodi Susan Finkel, Richard Fox, John Parrish, Janie S. Steckenrider, Cassandra Veney
Assistant Professors: Fariel Cherif, Andrew Dilts, Gene Park, Jennifer Ramos

Objectives
The Department challenges and encourages students to:

- be perceptive observers of political life in all its variety and richness;
- seek a systematic understanding of the causes and consequences of political institutions, policies, and behavior;
- develop a moral and ethical perspective that allows them to critically evaluate actions, institutions, and policies; and
- prepare themselves for a life of active citizenship and involvement in creating a more just and humane world.

The Department challenges and encourages its faculty to:

- master the art of teaching,
- contribute to their profession as active scholars and researchers, and
- promote an atmosphere of care and concern for each student inside and outside the classroom.

Both faculty and students share a responsibility for creating a lively and diverse community of scholars marked by civility, mutual respect, and support.

Political Science Student Learning Outcomes
The Political Science Department strives to help all majors:

1. Broaden and deepen their knowledge of political institutions and of the forces that drive political movements, public policy, and public law.
2. Be able to use the major analytic and theoretical frameworks in several subfields of political science in order to effectively describe, explain, and predict political phenomena.
3. Be able to structure and evaluate normative political arguments.
4. Be able to effectively use evidence to analyze empirical political statements.
5. Develop a greater appreciation of the values and factual assumptions that underlie one’s own political ideology.
6. Value active and engaged citizenship.

Changes in the Political Science Curriculum
The Political Science curriculum underwent dramatic changes prior to the Fall 2010 entering class. Effective immediately, in our new curriculum, all lower division courses are 3 semester hour classes, and most upper division courses are 4 semester hour classes. In addition, Political Science’s new curriculum has consolidated its subfields into four categories. While upper division requirements in the major and minor have changed, the total number of required semester hours to complete the major and minor has remained the same.

For upper division requirements, students now take a total of six upper division courses for the major and three upper division courses for the minor.

Students entering Loyola Marymount University prior to Fall 2010 will also be included in the new curriculum. If current political science students have questions about how this change affects their program of study, contact an advisor in the Political Science Department.

Major Requirements

36 semester hours

A. Lower Division Requirements: 4 courses (12 semester hours)
   1. Students must take two of the following three courses: POLS 135, 155, and 165. In addition, students must take POLS 210 and 220.
   2. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in these courses.
B. Upper Division Requirements: 6 courses (24 semester hours), including:
   1. At least one 500-level seminar; and
   2. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in courses included in the major.
C. Additional Requirements
   1. Students must take at least one course in each of the four subfields in Political Science: Political Thought, American Politics, Comparative Politics, and International and World Politics. These courses can be completed at the upper or lower division level.
   2. Students must take at least four 4 semester hour courses to complete the major.

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours

A. Lower Division Requirements: 2 courses (6 semester hours)
   Students can take any two of the following lower division courses: POLS 135, 155, 165, 210, and 220.
B. Upper Division Requirements: 12 semester hours
   At least two 4 semester hour upper division courses must be taken to complete the upper division minor requirements. The remaining four semester hours may be completed by taking any of the offered upper division courses.
C. Of the 12 upper division semester hours, at least two courses must fall within two of the four subfields in Political Science: Political Thought, American Politics, Comparative Politics, and International and World Politics.

An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in the courses included in the minor.

Specific programs should be planned individually with the advice of a faculty advisor.

Honors in Political Science

Students who attain a GPA of 3.6 or higher, both overall and in the major, are automatically eligible to enroll in the Honors Seminar (POLS 581) in the Fall of their senior year and write an Honors Thesis (POLS 591) in the Spring of the senior year. Other students may be invited to pursue Honors by the faculty. The Honors Seminar is a prerequisite for the Honors Thesis. Students who attain a grade of A- or higher for the Honors Thesis will graduate with Honors in Political Science. Both the Honors Seminar and Honors Thesis count toward the 24 semester hours of upper division course work required of majors.
Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science (Political Science)

For information on this program, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

Political Science Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 14-16 semester hours (4-5 classes). By following the model below, a student interested in completing the major will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year, as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Once a student has enrolled at LMU and declared a Political Science major or minor, only LMU course work or courses from an LMU-approved study abroad program will be accepted for the major or minor. Students may take no more than 30 upper division semester hours in any one department, except for Political Science, where the maximum is 32, and Philosophy, where the maximum is 39.

Psychology

Faculty

Chairperson: Ronald K. Barrett

Associate Professors: Jennifer S. Abe, David J. Hardy, Joseph W. LaBrie, S.J., Michael E. Mills, Vandana Thadani

Assistant Professors: Adam Fingerhut, Mâire Ford, Margaret Kasimatis, Nora Murphy

Mission

The Psychology program shares the University’s commitment to develop ethical leaders for a culturally diverse world, and contributes to the liberal education of students. Through a comprehensive education in the science of psychology, the Psychology Department seeks to educate the whole person, pursue academic excellence, advance scholarship, promote service and justice, and encourage lifelong learning.

Description

The Psychology Department provides a high-quality curriculum emphasizing excellence in teaching and learning. Students majoring in psychology examine in depth many aspects of human and animal behavior, along with the biological, psychological, and sociocultural aspects of behavior. Students are provided the opportunity to apply these perspectives to a variety of individual, family, and community contexts. As students progress through the curriculum, they have opportunities to assist faculty with research and engage in their own research with faculty supervision. The program prepares students for graduate study in psychology and related fields or careers in other professions.

Goals and Objectives

The goals of the Psychology curriculum focus on educating students in the methodology, content, and application of psychological science.

Goal 1: Theory and Methodology in Psychology

Students should:
- Understand the role of psychology as a discipline that uses an empirical approach to knowledge; and
- Use, respect, and value skeptical inquiry, critical thinking, and the scientific approach to understanding behavior.

Knowledge areas students will study/learn:
- Basic research methods and ethics
- History and systems and philosophy of science
- Data analysis and interpretation
- Scientific and critical thinking
- Scientific writing and communication.

Goal 2: Mastery of Content (Discipline Specific Knowledge)

Students should be familiar with:
- Core theoretical approaches and research findings that reflect a biopsychosocial understanding of behavior; and
- More in-depth theoretical approaches and research findings within at least one subject area in psychology.

Core knowledge areas students will study/learn:
- Biological foundations of behavior
- Psychological foundations of behavior
- Social and cultural foundations of behavior
- Biopsychosocial development across the lifespan.

Goal 3: Application of Knowledge and Scientific Method

Students should demonstrate the application of psychological theory, methodology, and findings to:
- An understanding of the whole person, as an individual and as a member of a larger community, society, and culture; and
- The promotion of social justice in these contexts.

Psychology Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the Psychology curriculum, students will demonstrate knowledge of the history, foundations, content, and analytical skills of psychology in their ability to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of the history, foundations, content, and methods used in Psychology, specifically in the following areas:
   a. Learning and Cognition
   b. Biological Psychology (including Neuropsychology, Sensation and Perception, Comparative, and Ethological Psychology)
   c. Clinical, Abnormal, and Personality Psychology
2. Demonstrate an increased appreciation and understanding of the importance of a scientific approach to understanding human behavior
3. Demonstrate an ability to analyze and critically evaluate the biopsychosocial components of behavior
4. Demonstrate an ability to apply critical thinking in order to understand psychological principles
5. Evaluate scientific research, including research presented in the media
6. Demonstrate written communication skills on psychological topics
7. Demonstrate oral communication skills on psychological topics
8. Demonstrate an ability to apply psychological principles, including the consideration of ethics and social justice, to contemporary problems/issues
9. Demonstrate an ability to identify ethical issues and apply ethical principles to research in the following situations:
   a. When conducting research
   b. When evaluating research
10. Demonstrate competency in the following aspects of research methods:
   a. Locate and understand past research
   b. Formulate a hypothesis based on past research
   c. Design research to test a hypothesis
   d. Use statistical software to analyze research data
   e. Write complete manuscripts in APA style

Major Requirements

A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in all courses for the major. Students may not register for any Psychology course for a third time without the written permission of the Psychology Department Chairperson and the Dean of the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts.

Pre-major Requirements (12 semester hours):

A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in the Pre-major Requirements in order to declare or remain a Psychology major. Students must repeat any course in which a grade below C (2.0) is earned.

- Introduction to Psychology (PSYC 101)
- Critical Thinking (PHIL 220)
- Human Anatomy & Physiology (NTLS 150)
- Elementary Statistics (MATH 104)

a. The substitution of a higher level math course is allowed for students who previously completed a math course numbered 112 or higher with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

b. BIOL 101 or a similar course covering anatomy, physiology, or human biology, may be substituted for NTLS 150 for students who previously completed such a course with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

Lower Division Major Requirements (13 semester hours):

1. Statistical Methods for Psychology (PSYC 241) and Lab (PSYC 243). Prerequisites: Grade of C (2.0) or higher in each: MATH 104, PSYC 100 or 101, 243 or concurrent enrollment.

2. Brain and Behavior (PSYC 251). Prerequisites: Grade of C (2.0) or higher in each: NTLS 150, PSYC 100 or 101, or consent of instructor.

3. Experimental Methods (PSYC 261). Prerequisites: Grade of C (2.0) or higher in each: PHIL 220, PSYC 100 or 101, 241, 243.

4. Nonexperimental Methods (PSYC 265). Prerequisites: Grade of C (2.0) or higher in each: PHIL 220, PSYC 100 or 101, 241, 243.

Upper Division Major Requirements (24 semester hours):

1. Cognition (PSYC 401). Prerequisites: PSYC 251, 261, and 265 (grade of C (2.0) or higher in each).

2. Social (PSYC 410). Prerequisites: PSYC 251, 261, and 265 (grade of C (2.0) or higher in each).

3. Lifespan Development (PSYC 415). Prerequisites: PSYC 251, 261, and 265 (grade of C (2.0) or higher in each).

Note: Students must earn a grade of C (2.0) or higher in each of the above three courses before taking other 400- or 500-level PSYC courses.

4. Four additional upper division PSYC courses (12 semester hours). A maximum of 6 of these 12 semester hours may be at the 300 level.

5. Capstone Course: PSYC 510 or 515. Prerequisites: All required courses completed or currently in progress.

6. Senior Assessment: PSYC 595. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in PSYC 510 or 515, or completed with a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

Students may take no more than 30 semester hours of upper division psychology courses.
Honors in Psychology

To qualify for the Honors in Psychology program, a Psychology major must have senior status (completed 90 semester hours or more), a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.5, and a Psychology GPA ranking in the top 10% of senior psychology majors. Eligible students enroll in the Honors Seminar (PSYC 540) in the Fall of their senior year and complete the Honors Research Thesis (PSYC 545) in the Spring of their senior year. The Honors Seminar fulfills the capstone requirement and is a prerequisite for the Honors Research Thesis. PSYC 545 is in addition to the required 24 semester hours of upper division in the majors.

Minor Requirements

MATH 104; NTLS 150; PHIL 220; PSYC 100 or 101, 241, 243, 251, 261, 265; and at least two of the following upper division courses: PSYC 401, 410, 415, or any 300-level PSYC course. Courses are selected in consultation with the Psychology Department Chairperson. A grade of C (2.0) or higher must be obtained in minor courses. All courses fulfilling minor requirements must be taken at Loyola Marymount University. Transfer students are exempt from this requirement only for those courses they have completed prior to admission to Loyola Marymount University.

Psychology Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

A maximum of 6 semester hours of 300 level PSYC may be taken in the major.

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.
Sociology

Faculty
- Chairperson: Stacy Lee Burns
- Professor: James Faught
- Associate Professors: Stacy Lee Burns, Peter Hoffman, Eric Magnuson
- Assistant Professors: Nadia Kim, Stephanie Limoncelli, David Marple, Anna Muraco, Rebecca Sager, Rachel Washburn

Objectives
As a department, our objectives are to foster the intellectual development of students and to promote lifetime learning experiences. We do this through teaching and applying the insights of sociological perspectives to achieve a critical understanding of social reality and the human condition.

Our curriculum is designed to explore relationships within society, the social and cultural influences on human behavior, dynamics of interaction, and social institutions and social change in a global context.

Sociology Student Learning Outcomes
Students majoring in Sociology should know:
• The processes and structures that establish the underlying regularities of social life
• How social life is continually reconstructed through opposition and deviance
• The significance of cultural differences in traditional and modern societies
• The origin and development of principal theoretical ideas that inform contemporary sociological inquiries
• The basic methodological and statistical strategies used in contemporary sociology.

Students majoring in Sociology should be able to:
• Recognize how social life is structured in ways that influence choices, opportunities, and action
• Demonstrate an ability to write and speak effectively about contemporary social issues
• Read, assess, and interpret the results of sociological research
• Successfully complete an independent research project that competently draws from current theoretical, methodological, and empirical research;

Students majoring in Sociology should value:
• A knowledge of the range of interests and goals expressed by groups and organizations in society
• The ways in which sociological research may be effectively employed by organizations and institutions
• The application of sociological knowledge in order to enhance the quality of life
• A reasoned participation in community life that is informed by grounded sociological knowledge.

Major Requirements
Lower Division Requirements (12 semester hours):
SOCL 100, 105, 109, 210. A grade of at least C (2.0) will be required in all lower division courses.

Upper Division Requirements:
27 semester hours in upper division courses in sociology which must include SOCL 301, 401, and 495. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in courses included in the major.

SOCL 495 should be taken in the senior year. The remaining 18 semester hours are to be chosen from the six theme areas into which upper division sociology courses are grouped: I. Deviance and Control; II. Social Inequality; III. Urban, Population, and Demographic Processes; IV. Social Structure, Culture, and Process; V. Family and Life Cycle; and VI. Globalization. Students must take at least one course from four of the theme areas. The remaining courses may be taken from any of the upper division offerings.

At least two 300- or 400-level sociology courses must be taken in the senior year.

Minor Requirements
18 semester hours, including SOCL 100 or 105, 109, 301 or 401, and 9 semester hours in upper division courses. An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in courses included in the minor. At least one 300- or 400-level sociology course must be taken in the senior year.

Sociology Model Four-Year Plan
The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Theological Studies Graduate Program

Mission Statement
The Master of Arts in Theology provides students with a critical understanding of the Christian theological tradition, especially from a Roman Catholic perspective. The program engages students in serious reflection on the broad range of theological studies and methods (biblical, comparative, historical, liturgical, and systematic theology, as well as ethics, spirituality, faith and culture, ecumenical and inter-religious dialogue). The goal of the program is to provide a general and integrated exploration of these areas for students seeking to teach on a secondary level, for students preparing for graduate education, and for students with a strong interest in theology beyond the undergraduate level.

The program in Pastoral Theology engages the student in critical theological reflection on ministerial practice as preparation for active ministry in a pluralistic society. The program provides theological foundations in pastoral theology, especially in the Roman Catholic tradition, and integrates the formation of persons preparing for pastoral ministry with their study of the Christian theological tradition (spirituality, liturgy, faith and culture, ethics, as well as biblical, historical, and systematic theology, and ecumenical and inter-religious dialogue). Throughout the program there is a stress on the holistic relationships between pastoral theology, faith seeking critical understanding, and faith that does justice.

Admission Requirements
• Baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution
• Sufficient background in theology or religious studies
• Demonstrated ability to do graduate studies

This last requirement can be fulfilled by providing a range of information including: graduate work completed or advanced degree obtained; evidence of undergraduate work, including GPA and submission of written academic work (e.g., a term paper); scores received on the GRE, the Miller Analogies, or other standardized tests (recommended but not required); a personal interview.

Applicants need to indicate the particular Master of Arts program to which they are applying, either M.A. in Theology (THEO) or Pastoral Theology (PATH).

All applicants for admission to the master’s degree programs are required to submit a Graduate Division application and $50.00 fee; two copies of all post-secondary transcripts; a personal statement; and two letters of recommendation from persons acquainted with the applicant’s professional and academic background. All materials should be sent to the Graduate Admissions Office. Applicants who have applied for admission may be formally admitted or may be required to fulfill prerequisites before being formally admitted.

All materials for admission must be received in the Graduate Admission Office by the date listed below. Applications received after this deadline will be reviewed on an individual basis.

March 1 for the Fall semester

Students may take graduate courses in non-degree status with permission of the Graduate Director.

Degree Requirements

MASTER OF ARTS IN THEOLOGY (42 sem. hrs.)

CORE COURSES (7 courses—for 21 sem. hrs.) in categories A through G:

A) THST 600 Foundations of New Testament Theology
or
THST 603 Foundations of Old Testament Theology
B) THST 620 Foundations of Historical Theology
or any one course from the 620s
C) THST 630 Introduction to Systematic Theology
D) THST 660 Foundations of Christian Moral Life
E) THST 692 Graduate Pro-Seminar (3 sem. hrs.) (usually taken during the first semester)
F) THST 695 Comprehensive Exam Seminar
   (3 sem. hrs.) (taken after completing 36 semester hours minimum)
G) THST 696 Directed Research Seminar (3 sem. hrs.) (taken after completing 36 semester hours minimum)

THEOLOGY ELECTIVES (21 sem. hrs.)

Theology students are to complete an additional 21 semester hours for a total of 42 semester hours.

COMPARATIVE THEOLOGY CONCENTRATION

An option for Students in the M.A. in Theology

M.A. in Theology students may choose to take elective courses that develop a concentration in Comparative Theology. The concentration in Comparative Theology serves students who wish to focus their program more specifically around questions of religious diversity, inter-religious dialogue, world religions, and comparative theology.

The concentration is comprised of four courses (12 semester hours), one (1) required course (THST 680: Comparative Theology), and three (3) other approved courses, which the student chooses in conjunction with the academic advisor. Students must also fulfill core requirements as listed above, items A through G.

COMPARATIVE THEOLOGY CONCENTRATION—COURSE OFFERINGS

Students who choose to do this Concentration are required to take:
THST 680 Comparative Theology

In addition, students are required to take three (3) of the following (or other courses approved by the academic advisor in concert with the graduate director):

THST 610 World Religions
THST 611 Islam
THST 612 Indic Religious Traditions: Hinduism
THST 613 Buddhism and Jainism
THST 614 Judaism
THST 615 Classics of Chinese Philosophy (see PHIL 606)
THST 616  Interreligious Dialogue
THST 619  Readings in Religious Literature
THST 643  Feminist Theology: World Perspectives
THST 681  Comparative Religious Ethics
THST 682  Comparative Mysticism

MASTER OF ARTS IN PASTORAL THEOLOGY

CORE COURSES (8 courses—24 sem. hrs.) in categories A through H:
A) THST 600  Foundations of New Testament Theology
   or
THST 603  Foundations of Old Testament Theology
B) THST 630  Introduction to Systematic Theology
C) THST 660  Foundations of Christian Moral Life
   or
   one course from the Historical area (620s)
D) THST 670  Foundations of Pastoral Theology
E) THST 675  Spiritual Formation for Pastoral Ministry
F) THST 692  Graduate Pro-Seminar (3 sem. hrs.) (usually taken during the first semester)
G) THST 689  Supervised Pastoral Field Education (3 sem. hrs.) (student must have completed at least 27 semester hours in order to take this course)
H) THST 691  Pastoral Synthesis Seminar (3 sem. hrs.) (student must have completed at least 36 semester hours in order to take this capstone course)

PASTORAL THEOLOGY ELECTIVES
(18 sem. hrs.)

Pastoral Theology students are required to take one three-semester-hour course in either Liturgy, Religious Education, or Spirituality and select other elective courses offered by the Department of Theological Studies after consultation with their advisor.

The program is designed to allow a student to pursue general interests or a particular concentration. Concentrations are offered in two areas: 1) Pastoral Leadership and 2) Spiritual Direction. Under special circumstances, students may take up to two courses (six semester hours) outside the department.

SPIRITUAL DIRECTION CONCENTRATION

An option for Students in the M.A. in Pastoral Theology

This concentration is designed for anyone enrolled in the Master of Arts in Pastoral Theology who would like to acquire the art of spiritual direction, a ministry of accompanying others in their spiritual journey. The purpose of the concentration is twofold: 1) to provide a course of studies that integrates theology, Scripture, psychology, spirituality, skills acquisition and supervision in the art of spiritual direction and 2) to assist participants to discern whether they are being called to the ministry of spiritual direction.

Upon successful completion of the four required courses listed below, participants will be able to designate that their Master of Arts in Pastoral Theology included a concentration in spiritual direction training.

Students who wish to concentrate their electives in spiritual direction would take the following courses. NOTE: THST 685, Theory and Practice, needs to be taken first; THST 688, Practicum and Supervision, needs to be taken last. The other two courses can be taken whenever opportune, after completing the first course.

THST 685  The Theory and Practice of Spiritual Direction
THST 686  Ignatian Spirituality (prerequisite: THST 685)
THST 687  Psychological Foundations of Spiritual Direction (prerequisite: THST 685)
THST 688  Practicum and Supervision in Spiritual Direction (taken after completion of the three courses listed above)

PASTORAL LEADERSHIP CONCENTRATION

An option for Students in the M.A. in Pastoral Theology

Description:
The concentration is made up of four courses (12 semester hours) that the student chooses from the set of approved courses listed in the Bulletin for this Concentration.

The concentration is designed to educate those who will serve (or who currently serve) as leaders in pastoral settings, either as leaders in specialized ministries or as leaders in general ministry positions. Examples of leaders in specialized ministry: Directors of Religious Education, Directors of Youth Ministry of Campus Ministry, Directors of Catechumenate/RCIA. Leaders in generalist ministries include pastors and Pastoral Associates who are assigned a variety of general duties according to need.

The concentration is deliberately open to the students to design under the guidance of the academic advisor. In this way, students who find themselves actively engaged in, or aspiring to, leadership ministries within schools or parishes will choose courses for the concentration that fit their current or aspired ministry commitments.

Pastoral Leadership Concentration Course Offerings

THST 670  Foundations of Pastoral Theology (graduate core course)

Students are required to take:
THST 674  Pastoral Leadership

Students are required to take any two (2) of the following:
THST 650  Liturgical Theology: History and Interpretation
THST 652  The Rites
THST 671  Pastoral Approaches to Religious Education
THST 673  Faith and Culture: Catechesis in Southern California
THST 677  Pastoral Liturgy
THST 678  The Theology of the Parish
THST 679  Special Topics in Pastoral Theology
THST 687  Psychological Foundations of Pastoral Ministry

Pastoral Synthesis Project (PT capstone)
The Pastoral Synthesis Project is the required capstone experience for all Pastoral Theology students. The project is designed to elicit familiarity with scholarly sources and pastoral analysis of issues that impact the contemporary practice of ministry. The project is not solely a research paper nor a reflection paper, but a synthesis of both. The project is typically done in the last semester of the Pastoral Theology program.

Learning Outcomes

- Integrate theological vision, critical understanding, and a faith attentive to justice

Theological Studies Undergraduate Program

Mission Statement
The Department of Theological Studies engages the LMU student community in thoughtful, critical reflection on faith and religious praxis with a special concern for the Roman Catholic tradition. It offers courses in three areas: A. Sacred Scriptures, Religious Sources, and Traditions; B. Theology, Ethics, and Spirituality; and C. Faith, Culture, and Ministry. We educate the whole person and serve faith by an academic exploration of its possibilities, challenges, and ambiguities while also engaging in ecumenical and interreligious dialogue. We strive to promote justice by the structure of our curriculum and by encouraging students and faculty to engage their theological understanding in a world both graced and broken.

Vision Statement
Loyola Marymount University is the largest Catholic university on the West Coast, in a city that is at once the largest Roman Catholic archdiocese in the United States as well as one of the most religiously diverse communities in the world. The Department of Theological Studies has the unique role and responsibility of promoting the study of theology and religion within the University and the broader Los Angeles community. The Department also has a special role to play in helping the University to live out its Mission in the service of faith and the promotion of justice. The urgency of these endeavors is reinforced by the importance of religion in the 21st century in our globalized world.

Program Goals
1. To maintain a challenging and current curriculum for our Majors to provide them with a foundation for pursuing careers as teachers, ministers, or for graduate work in Theological Studies;
2. To maintain a challenging and current curriculum for our Minors to provide them with a solid understanding of theology and religious studies, ethical values, social justice, and spirituality;
3. To maintain a current and challenging set of core curriculum courses that contribute to fulfilling the mission of Loyola Marymount as a Catholic liberal arts University.

Student Learning Outcomes
By virtue of their Theological Studies courses, students should know:

- The beliefs and practices of Christianity, with emphasis on the Catholic Tradition.
- Some of the beliefs and practices of the world's religions.
- Some aspects of how culture, race, gender, class, and ethnicity affect theological reflection.

By virtue of their Theological Studies courses, students should be able to:

- Interpret critically theological and/or religious texts and phenomena through research and writing.
- Express orally and in writing the significance of theological and religious values for church, society, and/or self.
- Integrate religious meaning and lived practice.

By virtue of their Theological Studies courses, students should value:

- The Catholic theological tradition.
- Ecumenical and interreligious dialogue.
- The promotion of justice and the service of faith.

Major Requirements
The undergraduate major consists of 36 semester hours total (12 courses).

Lower Division Requirements (6 semester hours):
- THST 100: Introduction to the Old Testament (3 semester hours)
- THST 110: Introduction to the New Testament (3 semester hours)
(Normally, THST 100 and 110 are taken at the beginning of the program of study.)

Upper Division Requirements (30 semester hours):
- Required Upper Division Courses (9 semester hours)
- THST 320: History of Christianity I (3 semester hours)
- THST 321: History of Christianity II (3 semester hours)
- (Students are encouraged to take this sequence in their Sophomore or Junior year.)
- THST 496: Senior Integrating Seminar (3 semester hours) (for graduating seniors)

Distribution Requirements (18 semester hours, at least 12 of which must be 400-level)
- Area A: Sacred Scriptures, Religious Sources, and Traditions—two courses (6 semester hours)
- Area B: Theology, Ethics, and Spirituality—three courses (9 semester hours)
- Area C: Faith, Culture, and Ministry—one course (3 semester hours)
One additional upper division THST course of the student’s choice (3 semester hours)

An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in the courses included in the major.

We highly recommend that students wishing to pursue graduate study in Theology have a reading knowledge of two languages, either classical or modern.

We further recommend that additional philosophy courses be taken as early as possible. The specific courses are to be determined in conjunction with the student’s Theological Studies advisor.

Theology Minor Requirements
18 semester hours with at least 12 semester hours from upper division courses, including six semester hours at the 400 level. The courses for the minor must be selected in conjunction with the Theological Studies advisor for minors.

Lay Ministry Minor Requirements
18 semester hours with at least 15 semester hours from upper division courses, including six semester hours at the 400 level. The courses for the minor must be selected under the direction of the faculty advisor for the Lay Ministry Minor. The student must select no more than two courses from each of areas A, B, and C (see above).

In addition, the student will be required to participate in 90 hours of active service in related fields of lay ministry. This will be under the direction of the faculty advisor and contracted through the Career Development office.

An average grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in the courses included in the minors.

Catholic Studies Minor
Students with particular interest in Catholic Studies are encouraged to consider the Catholic Studies Minor described in this Bulletin.

Jewish Studies Minor
Students with particular interest in Jewish Studies are encouraged to consider the Jewish Studies Minor described in this Bulletin.

Theology Society
The Theology Society is a co-curricular student group open to all Theological Studies undergraduate majors and minors, as well as non-majors/minors who are interested in theological issues and topics. The group convenes monthly, typically sharing lunch and discussion, often with a guest speaker. The group also organizes various outings as opportunities for students to socialize with one another and with Theological Studies faculty. The Theology Society hosts annual visits from admissions representatives from graduate theological programs around the country for interested students. The Theology Society’s members also participate in an annual paper competition sponsored by the Department of Theological Studies, in which the winning paper is presented to faculty and students each Spring.

Theta Alpha Kappa

LMU's Department of Theological Studies is an institutional member of Theta Alpha Kappa, the only national honor society serving the needs of those involved in the study of religion and/or theology. The membership of Theta Alpha Kappa is composed of students and professors who have been elected to membership upon the basis of excellence in Theology and Religious Studies. Each Spring the department inducts eligible students into this honor society.

Undergraduate Admission Qualifications:

1. Completion of at least three semesters at LMU
2. Successful completion of 12 semester hours of THST course work
3. Cumulative GPA of at least 3.0
4. GPA of at least 3.5 in THST course work

Core Curriculum in Theological Studies

One course from THST 100-199; one course from THST 300-399 (Junior standing required).

Only courses in the 100 series and 300 series will fulfill the core curriculum requirements. All 400-level courses have a prerequisite of one 300-level course. The 400-level courses fulfill major or minor requirements.

For students interested in the study of Catholicism in the core curriculum, the Theological Studies Department offers three courses, THST 120, 326, and 345, which are designed to study the Catholic tradition. For the non-majors who wish a core sequence in Catholic Theology, we recommend THST 120 and either 326 or 345.

Theological Studies Model Four-Year Plan

The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.

Urban Studies

Director

Peter R. Hoffman

Faculty

Associate Professor: Peter R. Hoffman
Assistant Professor: Mona Seymour

Objectives

As an interdisciplinary program, Urban Studies encourages students to examine urbanization and the multitude of issues inherent in urban life from the perspectives of a wide range of disciplines and methodological traditions. The critical analysis of urban issues helps students evaluate the various political, sociocultural, and economic strategies available to urban planners, local governments, law enforcement agencies, and others seeking to remedy the problems of contemporary cities.

The curriculum of the Urban Studies program, including its internship program, allows students to take advantage of one of LMU's greatest assets: the many linkages that connect LMU to the extraordinarily dynamic, multicultural metropolitan area surrounding the University. Los Angeles is both an educational resource and a laboratory for Urban Studies students.

Career options for Urban Studies majors may be found in local government, law enforcement, real estate development, and urban social services. The major is also appropriate preparation for students seeking careers or graduate education in urban planning, public administration, social welfare, policy analysis, or the law.

Urban Studies Student Learning Outcomes

By virtue of their Urban Studies Program courses, students should know:

- The general history of urbanization and its associated economic and demographic processes
- The structures and expressions of urbanization and urban life associated with modern and postmodern cities
- The structures and expressions of urbanization and urban life associated with cities of the developed realm/core and those associated with cities of the less developed realm/periphery
- The basic research questions and agendas associated with the various disciplines contributing to our understanding of urban issues
- The general expressions of urbanization and urban life associated with contemporary Los Angeles
- The common theories, practices, and methodologies employed in contemporary urban planning and policy analysis;

By virtue of their Urban Studies Program courses, students should be able to:

- Effectively employ contemporary social science methodology in the analysis of urban issues
- Demonstrate written and oral competencies in the analysis of urban issues and policy
- Identify and utilize appropriate primary data, including census materials, for the analysis of urban issues
- Apply their understanding of urban issues to the development and critical analysis of programs and policies appropriate to addressing contemporary social and economic problems
- Successfully pursue graduate education in such areas as urban planning, public administration, policy analysis, social welfare, and the law upon completion of their major;

By virtue of their Urban Studies Program courses, students should value:

- Diverse perspectives in the analysis and assessment of urban issues and policies
- Thoughtful analysis of the implications of urbanization and urban policy in the context of social justice and sound environmental practices
- Rigorous, scientific research that enlightens the experience of urban populations and contributes to the resolution of the social and environmental problems associated with urbanization
- Community-based participation in the development of programs and policies that contribute to the social, economic, political, and environmental improvement of their communities and cities.

Women's Studies

Faculty

- Chairperson: Nancy W. Jabbra
- Professor: Nancy W. Jabbra
- Assistant Professor: Stella Oh

Objectives

The mission of Women's Studies at Loyola Marymount University is to engage students in a critical understanding of the complex ways gender shapes the world around them, particularly in relation to race, sexuality, class, and other social factors. Women's Studies invites all students to participate in a vibrant interdisciplinary program of study that places women at the center of traditional disciplines in which they have been historically marginalized. It encourages the critical examination of academic fields such as the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, and the arts, together with the gendered assumptions that underwrite them. Further, Women's Studies proposes not only that we ask different questions of academic disciplines from the perspective of women, but also that we transform those fields and ways of knowing through the innovative theoretical tools and new methodologies that have been developed by feminist scholars and activists over the past thirty years. As a department committed to transformation through education, the mission of Women's Studies is to call attention to the androcentric nature of society, propose alternatives and strategies that honor women's human rights, and promote a vision of society where gender hierarchy, as well as other forms of social injustice, are eliminated. Grounded in feminist pedagogy, Women's Studies courses provide students with a broad understanding of the asymmetry of gender relations within diverse historical and cultural contexts. Our mission is to foster a vigorous intellectual environment where students can develop their analytical thinking skills and conceptual tools for social change.

Women's Studies Student Learning Outcomes

After completing their program in Women's Studies, students will have:

- Acquired a critical understanding of the complex ways gender shapes the world, particularly in relation to race, sexuality, class, and other social factors
- Acquired a strong commitment to social justice for women of all ethnicities
- Learned new methodologies and theoretical tools
- Learned to express themselves well both orally and in writing.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements: 12 semester hours

- WNST 100, 101, and 200, plus one of the following for the Lower Division Health and Sexualities Requirement: WNST 220 or 222.

Upper Division Requirements: 24 semester hours

- WNST 301, 302, 351, and 497.

Upper Division Options: 12 semester hours

- Choose 9 semester hours (3 classes) from one of the following clusters, plus 3 semester hours (1 class) from one of the others. Please note that some classes are listed in more than one cluster. Students may take such classes for credit in only one cluster. At times a special studies class may be taken in lieu of one of the electives listed below. Please consult the Department for advice.

  - History of Women: WNST 303, 331, 386, 334, 336, 337, 341, 413, or 431.
  - Social Movements: WNST 311, 331, 332, 334, 336, 337, 413, 411, 430, or 431.

Note: One of the upper division options must include WNST 303 or another History of Women class. If History of Women is chosen as a cluster, then the student must choose one course from another cluster.

History of Women: WNST 303, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, or 461.

- Transnationalism and Women in the Third World: WNST 346, 347, 431, 452, or 454.
- Gender at the Intersection of Race, Ethnicity, Class, and Sexuality: WNST 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 348, 349, 440, 445, 453, or 461.
- Feminist Aesthetics, Literature, and Cultural Studies: WNST 311, 331, 332, 334, 336, 337, 343, 411, 430, or 431.

Students may take no more than ten upper division courses in any one department, except for Philosophy, in which the maximum is thirteen.
Feminist Theology and Philosophy: WNST 361, 370, 371, 372, or 373.

Total: 36 semester hours. Women’s Studies majors should have a minimum of a C (2.0) in all Women’s Studies classes.

Please note that cross-listed courses may have departmental prerequisites; consult departments for details.

Minor Requirements
18 semester hours, including WNST 100 or 101, 301, and 497. At least 12 semester hours must be in upper division courses. A minimum grade of C (2.0) must be earned in both WNST 100 and 497. An average grade of C (2.0) must be earned in the Women’s Studies minor courses.

Please note that cross-listed courses may have departmental prerequisites; consult departments for details.

Women’s Studies Model Four-Year Plan
The normal course load is 15 semester hours (5 classes). By following the model below, a student will complete all lower division core requirements by the end of the sophomore year as well as most major prerequisites. Note that core areas are suggested to provide a distribution of various disciplines every semester. Please be flexible implementing these suggestions, given your own interests and course availability. In four years, this plan meets all common graduation requirements.

The vision of the College is to be recognized as a leading College of Business Administration in different formats. The traditional MBA addresses the educational demands of persons who recognize the need to continue to build their careers. The Executive MBA (EMBA) is for the experienced business leader who aspires to executive-level responsibility.

Baccalaureate Degree Program

The College offers three Baccalaureate Degrees: Bachelor of Business Administration (B.B.A.) with majors in Entrepreneurship, Finance, Marketing, and Management; the Bachelor of Science (B.S.) with a major in Applied Information Management Systems; and the Bachelor of Science in Accounting (B.S.A.).

The Vision and Mission of the College of Business Administration

The vision of the College is to be recognized as a leading College of Business Administration within a Catholic university through our commitment to learning, values, and research. The underlying theme is the development of ethical leaders for a diverse, technologically-driven, global economy. These statements confirm our commitment to the principles of continuous improvement. The primary focus is on excellence in instruction and learning.

The mission of the College is to continuously develop an environment in which all stakeholders learn and grow together and contribute to an understanding of:

The global economy,

The business theories and practices which explain its operations,

The decision models and analytical frameworks for meeting ethical challenges,

The importance and interdependence of people in the work environment,

The technologies that stimulate change, and

The skills and management tools needed to manage an enterprise successfully.

The mission of the undergraduate programs is to:

Assist students of high potential experience personal growth in the acquisition of knowledge in a broad range of subjects based on the University core curriculum and an integrated business curriculum;

Assist students to develop technical, analytical, and interpersonal skills and personal qualities and values to realize their potential as future leaders in a global economy; and

Graduate students who are able to demonstrate a depth of understanding in their primary field of interest.

University Core Curriculum for the Baccalaureate Degree in the College of Business Administration

American Cultures
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
First- and second-year students choose from any lower division course (100s or 200s) listed. Third- and fourth-year students choose from any upper division course (300s or 400s) listed. A single course will generally not fulfill two core requirements. The only exception is a course that satisfies another core requirement, which is also cross-listed as AMCS (please see the Associate Dean’s Office for details).

College Writing
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
ENGL 110 will fulfill the college writing requirement. ENGL 100 will not fulfill the college writing requirement but is required of certain students based on their performance in the essay written in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in ENGL 110. All students who receive a grade of C- or lower must retake ENGL 110 as soon as possible.

Choose: ENGL 110.

Communication
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Choose: CMST 140.

Critical and Creative Arts
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Critical Arts and one course from Creative Arts.

Critical Arts:
Choose from ANIM 100; ARHS 200, 201, 202, 321, 340, 345; DANC 281, 381; FTVS 210, 314, 315; MUSC 102, 104, 303, 365; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, 430.

Creative Arts:
Choose from ANIM 120, 220; ART 150, 151, 153, 278, 280, 350; DANC 163; ENGL 205, 311 (Prerequisite 202), 312 (Prerequisite 201); MUSC 105, 106, 107; PROD 200; SCWR 220; THEA 110, 400.

History
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Western Civilization and one course from Contemporary Societies.

Western Civilization:
Choose from HIST 100 or 101.

Contemporary Societies:
Choose from HIST 152, 162, 172, 182, 192.

Literature
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection

Choose:

Choose: HIST 152, 162, 172, 182, 192.

Globale Cultures
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Global Cultures and one course from Critical and Creative Arts.

Global Cultures:
Choose from ANIM 100; ARHS 200, 201, 202, 321, 340, 345; DANC 281, 381; FTVS 210, 314, 315; MUSC 102, 104, 303, 365; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, 430.

Critical and Creative Arts:
Choose from ANIM 120, 220; ART 150, 151, 153, 278, 280, 350; DANC 163; ENGL 205, 311 (Prerequisite 202), 312 (Prerequisite 201); MUSC 105, 106, 107; PROD 200; SCWR 220; THEA 110, 400.

Fine Arts
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Choose: ART 100.
Prerequisite: Successful completion of college writing requirement.

Choose from CLCV 200, 210, 220, 230; ENGL 130, 140, 150, 170; FNLT 180; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, 430.

Mathematics, Science and Technology
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Prerequisite: Success on the Mathematics Placement Examination or successful completion of MATH 101.

Students must complete MATH 112. MATH 101 and 111 are normally required as prerequisites but may be waived if the student has a high enough score on the Mathematics Placement Examination. All incoming College of Business Administration students must take the Mathematics Placement Examination unless they have already completed MATH 112 or its equivalent. If MATH 111 is waived, the student must complete a 3 semester hour non-business course for MATH 111.

Students must complete one 3 semester hour science and technology course. Courses ordinarily recommended to students majoring outside the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering are those numbered 260-279 in each department within the College (with the exception of computer [CMSI] and Mathematics [MATH] courses). Courses in this series are specifically designed for the non-major.

Choose from BIOL 260, 263, 264, 271, 272, 275; CHEM 261, 262, 266; ELEC 260, MECH 260, 270, 277; NTLS 270; PHYS 271. Other Physical Science courses from the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering may be used to satisfy this requirement with the approval of the Associate Dean’s office of the College of Business Administration.

Philosophy
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose one course from PHIL 150. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempt from the lower division requirement. The College of Business Administration requires that PHIL 160 be replaced with a 3-semester-hour non-business course.

Upper Division:
Choose one course from PHIL 320 through 330.

Social Sciences
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Choose ECON 120 and PSYC 100.

Theological Studies
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose from the 100-level series of THST courses. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempt from the lower division requirement. The College of Business Administration requires 100-level series of THST courses be replaced with a 3-semester-hour non-business course.

Upper Division:
Choose from the 300-level series of THST courses only.

Note: International/Global Studies

The current core curriculum includes many courses dealing with international and global studies. All students are required to complete HIST 100 or 101, which deal with European culture. In addition, it is recommended that students take additional core courses that include the study of European cultures such as: ARHS 200, 201, 202; CLCV 200, CLCV 210, CLCV 220; DANC 281; FNLT 180; FTVS 314; MUSC 102; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341; THST 320, 322, 331.

To further augment the understanding of world cultures, it is recommended that students also choose at least one core course that includes the study of Africa, Asia, the Pacific, or Latin/Indigenous America. These core courses include: ARHS 321; DANC 381; HIST 172, 182; MUSC 303, 365; THEA 348; THST 180, 361, 382, 383, 384, 385.

All College of Business Administration students should be alert to the following policies:

- Students on academic probation can enroll in a maximum of 15.0 semester hours and will need to have their Advisor Hold removed prior to registration by their Academic Advisors.
- Certain courses must be taken in residence at LMU.
- Upper division business courses may only be transferred from AACSB accredited institutions.
- Transfer course approvals must be obtained from the Associate Dean’s office prior to enrollment.
- A minimum of 50% of the business-related coursework must be completed at LMU.
- All senior students of the College are required to take the Senior Examination, which is offered each semester.

Recommendations

Students are encouraged to enrich their program of study with selected electives from the following areas. Consult the Bulletin for specific offerings.

- Computer Skills
  Students are expected to become proficient in computer skills. Courses or workshops may be taken to help students develop existing skills.

- Foreign Language
  Students are encouraged to study foreign languages to the intermediate level. LMU offers Chinese, Filipino, French, German, Greek (Modern and Classical), Italian, Japanese, Latin, and Spanish on a regular basis.

- International/Global Studies
  Students are encouraged to select elective courses that deal with international and/or global issues. Consult the Bulletin listings.

- Study Abroad
  A semester of international study abroad is also recommended. Consult the Study Abroad Office.

Total Program

The B.B.A. and B.S. (AIMS major) degree programs require a minimum of 120 semester hours, and the B.S. in Accounting degree program requires a minimum of 126 hours, including the prescribed business administration core courses and those listed above. A minimum of 45 semester hours must be from upper division course offerings.

Students should consult the Associate Dean’s office for specific policies applicable to the College of Business Administration.

College of Business Administration Curriculum

The specific courses in the three curricula are as follows:

A. University Core Curriculum:
- American Cultures Studies (3 s.h.)
- College Writing (ENGL 110, 3 s.h.)
- Communication (CMST 140, 3 s.h.)
- Critical and Creative Arts (6 s.h.)
- History (Western Civilization and Contemporary Societies, 6 s.h.)
- Literature (3 s.h.)
- Mathematics, Science and Technology (6 s.h.)
- Philosophy (PHIL 160, PHIL 320-330, 6 s.h.)
- Social Sciences (PSYC 100 and ECON 120, 6 s.h.)
- Theological Studies (6 s.h.)

B. Business/Economics Core Requirements:

- Mathematics requirement following economics and statistics classes:
  - ECON 110: Intro. Microeconomics
  - ECON 230: Introductory Statistics

Business students are required to complete a series of one-semester-hour "Business Perspective" courses:
- BADM 1010: Business Institutions
- BADM 1020: Intro to Ethical Decision Models
- BADM 1030: Information Technology in Organizations
- BADM 1040: Globalization

All Business students are required to complete a series of 3-semester-hour "Core Concept" business courses as part of their degree requirements:
- ACCT 2110: Financial Accounting
- AIMS 2710: Management Information Systems (must be completed in residence at LMU; B.S. [AIMS majors], see below)
- AIMS 3770: Production Operations Analysis
- BADM 4950: Business and Social Responsibility in the Global Economy (must be completed in residence at LMU; B.S. [AIMS majors], see below)
- BADM 4970: Strategic Management (must be completed in residence at LMU)
- BLAW 2210: Legal and Regulatory Environment
- FNCE 3410: Fundamentals of Finance
- INBA 3810: International Business Environments and Practices
- MGMT 3610: Managing People and Organizations
- MKRT 3510: Principles of Marketing

C. Accounting Major Specific Core Courses:

- ACCT 3140: Accounting Information Systems (Accounting majors only; must be completed in residence at LMU)
- ACCT 4150: Accounting Ethics, Professionalism, and Public Interest (Accounting majors only; must be completed in residence at LMU)
- BLAW 3210: Business Law Applications and Cases (Accounting majors only; must be completed in residence at LMU)

D. Math Requirement: All Business students must complete Mathematical Analysis for Business II (MATH 112) with a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

E. Major Requirement: Business students will develop an Academic Plan to identify the degree sought and the major(s) and minors in their degree track program of study. Prior to the first semester of junior year, students must choose a major, Accounting, Applied Information Management Systems, or one of the following majors, if they plan to earn a Bachelor of Business Administration (B.B.A.) degree:
- Entrepreneurship
- Finance
- Management
- Marketing

For each major, the student will complete 15 semester hours of course work as required by the student's major department. Students will also select minors and/or other majors as well as elective courses which may be taken as part of their degree program. This program will be developed and implemented in consultation with the student's Academic Advisor.

Students working toward a Bachelor of Science in Accounting (B.S.A.) degree will complete 24 semester hours of upper division accounting courses in addition to accounting major-specific business core courses (ACCT 3140, 4150, and BLAW 3210) to be taken in residence at LMU.

F. Electives: Students in the B.B.A. and B.S. (AIMS major) programs have 11 semester hours of electives that may be taken from any College of School within the University, including Business Administration. Agreements are in place with a number of the departments within the University under which students may take all or most of their electives in a single area. By using a planned sequence of recommended courses and in some cases, by taking extra courses, it is possible for a student to complete a minor area of study and possibly even a second major. It is recommended that each student consider this possibility in terms of career and personal objectives. Business students may also use their elective semester hours to take additional courses in their major or complete a minor in an area other than their majors. This requires advance planning and consultation with the student's Academic Advisor.

G. Area of Emphasis: Students interested in an emphasis in Business Law or International Business may choose three upper division courses in their area of emphasis.

Special Note:
The purpose of the above listing is simply to indicate the overall structure of the three programs in business. The order in which the courses must be taken is governed in all cases by the contribution of each course to the overall system. The suggested sequence of courses is shown in the following curriculum sections.

Subject to the student's qualification, College of Business Administration students may be permitted to take ECON 105 (SATM 620 or higher required) in lieu of economics core requirements, Microeconomics (ECON 110), and Macroeconomics (ECON 120). Students must fulfill the 3 semester hour requirement by taking an intermediate economics class, e.g., Financial Economics (ECON 360) or Managerial Economics (ECON 362), etc., or a non-business elective course.

All Business students must earn a grade of C (2.0) or higher in the following courses: ACCT 2110, 2120; ECON 105 (or 110 and 120); MATH 111, 112, as these are prerequisites for other required business classes.

Transfer Credit
The College can accept only those business and economics courses which are reasonably equivalent and at the same level of instruction as courses offered by Loyola Marymount. Lower division courses in business and economics that may be accepted in transfer include the equivalents of the following Loyola Marymount courses:
- ACCT 2110: Financial Accounting
- ACCT 2120: Accounting Information for Decision Making
- BLAW 2210: Legal and Regulatory Environment
- ECON 110: Introductory Microeconomics
- ECON 120: Introductory Macroeconomics

The following policies apply to all work transferred to the College of Business Administration at Loyola Marymount, whether from a two-year or a four-year school:
- Upper division business courses may only be transferred from a four-year, AACSB-accredited institution.
- Students must obtain Transfer Course Approval prior to registration in classes at other institutions.
- Students may not enroll in classes offered at other institutions while enrolled at LMU.
- A course that Loyola Marymount offers at the junior level, whether Business or non-Business, courses numbered 3000
(300) and above, but was taken by a transfer student at the sophomore level at her/his previous school cannot be accepted for credit. Such courses can be recognized only if the student takes the appropriate examinations after admission to the College (see Credit by Examination).

- All transfer courses must be taken for a letter grade, and the student must receive a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

Current LMU Students Interested in Transferring to the College of Business Administration

Students who are currently enrolled in another major at LMU, but are interested in changing their major to Business Administration are encouraged to apply during their first year at LMU but no later than their third semester. Students are asked to state their interest in Business Administration by completing MATH 112 or an equivalent course in calculus with a minimum grade of B (3.0) and have a cumulative GPA of B (3.0).

Bachelor of Business Administration and Bachelor of Science (AIMS Major) Curriculum

Business Administration Minor

Objectives: The Business Administration Minor is designed for and offered to non-business students only. Course content will provide adequate coverage and include the necessary breadth to provide a general understanding of the business discipline. The program has no prerequisites but assumes the students have a sufficient understanding of economics and basic mathematics skills in order to understand fundamental analytical business concepts.

Structure: The Business Administration Minor is designed as a cohort structure, where students take four required foundational courses, two during the Fall semester and two during the Spring semester of their sophomore or junior year. Two additional business electives will be taken during the following semesters and chosen in consultation with the minor advisor. All courses must be taken in residence to ensure coherence and completeness of the cohort learning experience. An assessment test will be given after all four foundational courses have been completed, to ensure students have mastered the information covered in these courses. A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 is required in the minor.

Students are asked to apply for the minor during the Spring semester of their freshman or sophomore year and will be notified of the decision in time for Fall semester registration. Enrollment in the foundational courses will begin during the Fall semester of the sophomore/junior year. In some exceptional cases, the Associate Dean may allow students to apply during the Spring semester of their freshman year and enroll in courses the Fall semester of their sophomore year.

Minor Requirements: All business minor students are required to complete four foundational courses (12 semester hours) and two (6 semester hours) upper division business elective classes, all with a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

- BADM 3010 Analytical Concepts and Methods for Business
- BADM 3020 Economic Environment, Marketing, and Business Law Concepts
- BADM 3030 Key Concepts of Accounting and Finance
- BADM 3040 Management and Society: Issues in Strategic and Ethical Management

Students will also complete two upper division business classes (6 semester hours) based upon their understanding of foundational courses as well as personal interest and career plan. Upper division and elective courses appropriate for those in the business minor program will be designated by the faculty of each CBA department and in consultation with a business faculty advisor. All minor required courses must be completed in residence.

Accounting Minor Requirements

ACCT 2110, 2120, and at least three of the following courses: ACCT 3110, 3120, 3130, and 4120. All upper division Accounting courses must be taken in residence. A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 must be earned in the minor area. All minor required courses must be completed in residence. Open to Business Administration majors only.

Beta Gamma Sigma Honor Society

Beta Gamma Sigma is the honor society for students enrolled in business and management programs accredited by AACSB International—the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Election to lifetime membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest honor a business student can achieve. Juniors and seniors in the top 10% and MBA students in the top 20% of their class may be invited to membership. Beta Gamma Sigma membership provides recognition for a lifetime. With alumni chapters in major metropolitan areas across the United States, the BGS Career Central job board and the BetaLink on-line membership community, those recognized for their academic achievements at Loyola Marymount University can continue an active relationship with Beta Gamma Sigma long after graduation. This lifelong commitment to its members' academic and professional success is defined in the Society's mission: to encourage and honor academic achievement in the study of business and personal and professional excellence in the practice of business.

Objectives

The Bachelor of Science in Accounting degree program is designed to prepare students for a career in public, corporate, or governmental accounting. Students will learn the basic definitions, concepts, and techniques of accounting, as well as the role accounting plays in society.

Learning Outcomes

Students majoring in Accounting are expected to be prepared for a career in the accounting profession. Therefore, students are expected to be able to describe, apply, and evaluate financial accounting concepts and standards at a professional level.

- Students will be able to use managerial accounting methods and techniques to solve both structured and unstructured, real-world business problems
- Students will be able to explain, apply, and evaluate the key provisions and exceptions in the federal tax code
- Students will be able to explain and apply an ethical conceptual framework to solve real-world ethical problems
- At least 80 percent of our graduates will be able to start graduate studies or careers in accounting at entry-level professional positions

Applied Information Management Systems

Objectives

The Bachelor of Science degree—Applied Information Management Systems (AIMS) major is designed to 1) prepare students for careers in the IT (information technology) field; 2) provide analytical and quantitative skills for careers in such areas as supply chains, business analytics, and consulting; 3) provide hands-on experience with cutting edge information technologies; and 4) teach critical skills to help students continuously adapt to the ever-changing field of information technology and their applications in business.

Learning Outcomes

The applied information systems and operations management major involves the application of computers to meet the information needs of organizations. It prepares students to use modern information technology to solve business problems at the operational, technical, and strategic levels.

Learning outcomes for AIMS majors are as follows:

Students should be able to understand:

- The role of technology in the workplace
- Core technologies that affect the operation and management of a business
- Key hardware and software terminology
- How the Internet works
- How a computer could be attacked and what safeguards are available for protection
- Ethical issues concerning the use of computers and networks
- How to construct usable spreadsheets, databases, and presentations for business functions
- How information systems are planned, developed, implemented, and managed in organizations
- How to use information for problem-solving
- Emerging trends in information technology
- How organizations use information technology to become more competitive
- The relationship between business strategy and information technology

Applied Information Management Systems Major Tracks

Students pursuing the Applied Information Management Systems (AIMS) major will earn a Bachelor of Science degree in Applied Information Management Systems. All majors in AIMS must complete the AIMS 2710, AIMS 3770, and BADM 1030 business core before they can start taking the upper division courses. There are two possible tracks in this major, Application Development and Applied E-Business. Each track required three upper division courses specific to the track, one being a programming course, an upper division elective in the AIMS area, and the Capstone Project. The specific courses needed for each track are shown below:

- Application Development: Data-base Management Systems (AIMS 3710), Object-Oriented Design and Analysis (AIMS 3720), and Capstone Project (AIMS 4790), in addition to one of the following to satisfy the programming requirement:
  - AIMS 4720 Object-Oriented Programming
  - AIMS 4740 Financial Modeling for Decision Support
  - AIMS 4750 Web-based Development
  and one AIMS elective.

- Applied E-Business: Database Management Systems (AIMS 3710), IT and Supply Chains Management (AIMS 3780), and Capstone Project (AIMS 4790), in addition to one of the following to satisfy the programming requirement:
  - AIMS 4720 Object-Oriented Programming
  - AIMS 4740 Financial Modeling for Decision Support
  - AIMS 4750 Web-based Development
  and one AIMS elective.

Model 4-Year Plan—Bachelor of Science—Applied Information Management Systems Major Curriculum

The following curriculum represents the order or sequence in which it is expected that students will take the various courses required for the B.S. (Applied Information Management Systems major) degree. All requirements for Applied Information Management Systems majors with different tracks through the first semester of junior year are identical regardless of their chosen track. Applied Information Management Systems majors with different tracks will be expected to follow the track requirements when selecting classes for their major.

Management

Objectives
Management is planning, organizing, leading, and controlling the activities necessary to successfully run an organization. In studying management, the student will focus on the practical skills, ethical issues, and management theory necessary to succeed in our diverse global economy. The Department offers, essentially, two types of courses: general management theory necessary to succeed in our diverse global economy, and the student will focus on the practical skills, ethical issues, and management theory necessary to succeed in various organizations, and in particular in their future roles as either HR professionals or everyday practitioners in managing people in the workplace (i.e., administrators, managers, and supervisors). All Management Major students will demonstrate acceptable understanding and skills in:
1. Interpersonal/team effectiveness
2. Communications
3. Key processes of planning/goal setting, decision making, problem solving
4. Critical HR functional areas
5. Career management

Upon completion of requirements for this major,
- students should understand and be able to explain and evaluate the critical role and functions of management in organizations and apply principal concepts and models in the field of management within an organization;
- students should understand and be able to describe and explain how the human resource function in an organization contributes to overall productivity through its component activities;
- students should understand be able to apply concepts of career planning and management both generally and to their own career.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
ACCT 2110, 2120; AIMS 2710; BADM 1010, 1020, 1030, 1040; BLAW 2210; ECON 105 or 110 and 120, 230; MATH 111, 112.

Upper Division Requirements:
AIMS 3770; BADM 4950, 4970; FNCE 3410; INBA 3810; MGMT 3610; MRKT 3510. A cumulative GPA of C (2.0) must be achieved in the major requirements (all business, economics, and math courses).

For purposes of meeting the requirements for the B.B.A., Management major, degree and determination of academic probation, an overall cumulative grade point average of at least a C (2.0) must be obtained in all courses required in the major.

Core, Major, and Elective Management Courses:

- MGMT 3610 Managing People and Organizations
- MGMT 3620 Management Skills
- MGMT 3630 Social Network Analysis for Managers
- MGMT 3640 Managing Diversity

Management Major Tracks
This major will have two advanced tracks beyond the business core courses to allow the students a choice in more general courses in organizational behavior (OB) to build general management and leadership competencies, or more advanced human resource management (HRM) courses in preparation for careers as human resource (HR) professionals.

To complete the Management Major, students will complete all LMU and CBA core requirements, plus the required Management Skill (MGMT 3620) course, one international management elective, and 3 advanced courses in either the OB or HR Professional track (5 courses overall).

- Organization Behavior (OB): Management Skills (MGMT 3620)*, three OB Electives (9 semester hours, see below), International Management Studies—select one: International Management (MGMT 4630), Cross-Cultural Leadership (MGMT 4640), Managing a Global Workforce (MGMT 4672), or a 3-semester-hour internationally-oriented management course taken as part of study abroad.

  - OB Track electives include the following:
    - Social Network Analysis for Managers (MGMT 3630)
    - Managing Diversity (MGMT 3640)
    - Building Global Career Competence (MGMT 3651)

Entrepreneurship

Objectives

The Bachelor of Business Administration—Entrepreneurship major at LMU will provide undergraduate students with the fundamental theories, critical thinking skills, and real-world awareness necessary to support their launch into careers as entrepreneurs (i.e., founders and leaders of new ventures) or intrapreneurs (i.e., change agents and managers within established, more traditional organizations).

Learning Outcomes

- Students should understand and appreciate the economic and societal importance of entrepreneurship.
- Students should be able to analyze and understand all aspects of a business, integrating concepts across multiple functional areas.
- Students should know how to generate business ideas, evaluate business feasibility, and assemble a comprehensive business plan.
- Students should be able to adopt the perspective and action orientation of a CEO/Founder.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
- ACCT 2110, 2120; AIMS 2710; BADM 1010, 1020, 1030, 1040; BLAW 2210; ECON 105 or 110 and 120, 230; MATH 111, 112.

Upper Division Requirements:
- AIMS 3770; BADM 4950, 4970; FNCE 3410; INBA 3810; MGMT 3610; MRKT 3510. A cumulative GPA of C (2.0) must be achieved in the major requirements (all business, economics, and math courses).
For purposes of meeting the requirements for the B.B.A., Entrepreneurship major, degree and determination of academic probation, an overall cumulative grade point average of at least a C (2.0) must be obtained in all courses required in the major.

Core, Major, and Elective Entrepreneurship Courses:
- ENTR 3310: Introduction to Entrepreneurship
- ENTR 3330: Social Entrepreneurship
- ENTR 3350: New Venture Creation
- ENTR 3360: Tax Law and Planning for Small Business (FNCE 3460)

The Marketing Major Program offers a single "Track." Students begin by completing the foundational marketing course, Principles of Marketing (MRKT 3510), which is a required core business class for all business and accounting majors. Students must then complete two foundational courses, consisting of Marketing Analysis (MRKT 3520) and Buyer Behavior (MRKT 3530). After this point, students will be required to complete two advanced marketing elective courses of their choice. Students will be permitted to enroll in the elective marketing courses after completing the foundational courses (MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530). Students complete the requirements for the Marketing Major by taking a "capstone" course, Marketing Strategy in the Global Environment (MRKT 4597), which is a course that will integrate their prior coursework in marketing and business and provide a setting under which their prior learning of marketing theory can be considered in an applied context.

Master of Business Administration

Associate Dean and Director of the MBA Program: Rachelle Katz

Introduction

The College of Business Administration offers the MBA degree with an option to earn a Graduate Certificate in International Business. In addition, two dual degree programs are available. Students may apply for separate admission to the Loyola Law School and earn the JD/MBA degree or apply to the Systems Engineering Leadership Program and earn an MBA and an MS in Systems Engineering. There are eight areas of emphasis in the MBA Program. The purpose, admission requirements, program requirements, and options are described in the pages that follow. The traditional MBA Program (MBA) addresses the educational demands of fully-employed persons who recognize the need to continue to build their careers, although full-time enrollment is an option. The Executive MBA (EMBA) is for the experienced business leader who aspires to executive level responsibility.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Loyola Marymount University MBA Program is to provide high quality graduate business education consistent with the Jesuit and Marymount traditions. The MBA Program fosters development of each student's potential to create value, handle risk, and manage change to serve both business and society. The result is the development of ethical leaders possessing the knowledge and skills to effectively manage organizations in a diverse and global economy.

To accomplish its mission, the MBA Program utilizes faculty who regularly extend the boundaries of their discipline and simultaneously demonstrate in the classroom their ability to translate theory into practice. Although teaching styles and techniques vary, all focus on the current issues and technologies that are forming and shaping the many environments of business (political, social, legal, and ethical). Classes range from those that emphasize computer applications to those that delve into ethical concepts and humanistic management. The MBA curriculum is one of breadth first and specialization second. To that end, the basis of the Program is broad and integrating. Areas of specialization are built on this base. By specializing, students are able to focus some of their studies in a single area of emphasis. Additionally, numerous opportunities exist to explore various aspects of global business. These include a full-fledged International MBA Program of studies and a unique overseas integrative experience. The high quality of the MBA Program is confirmed through its accreditation by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business.

Admission Requirements

1. Eligibility for Admission: Applicants for admission to the Program leading to the degree of Master of Business Administration must have a Bachelor’s degree and an acceptable level of scholarship from an accredited institution of higher learning. The degree may be in any academic discipline.

2. Application: Applicants should apply and pay the application fee online at http://apply.embark.com/grad/lmu.

3. Transcripts: Two copies of official transcripts must be sent from each institution of collegiate rank attended by the applicant. Transcripts should be sent to Graduate Admissions Office directly by the other colleague institution(s). All such transcripts become the property of Loyola Marymount University.

4. Graduate Management Admissions Test: All applicants must take the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT).

5. International Students: All international students (including those who have received their Bachelor’s degrees in the U.S.) from countries where English is not the primary language must demonstrate proficiency in the English language by obtaining a minimum score of 600 (250 computer-based) on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). International students who received their high school diploma from a U.S. secondary school do not have to take the TOEFL. Admitted students who pass the TOEFL requirement but are subsequently judged by the faculty to be deficient in English may be directed by the Associate Dean to obtain greater language proficiency by taking appropriate remedial courses in English composition or speech communications. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the Program. Each international student must also provide the Graduate Admissions Office with a certified statement of financial ability. GMAT scores must accompany applications from all students (U.S. or international) whose undergraduate degrees were earned outside the United States. A GMAT score of at least 550 is required for international students with Bachelor’s degrees from outside the U.S. Finally, all applicants with degrees earned outside the United States must have transcripts evaluated for equivalencies to U.S. degrees.

6. Official Evaluations: The MBA Office evaluates the potential candidacy of each applicant. Applications are evaluated only after the following data is received by the Graduate Admissions Office:
   1. application form and personal statement (plus appropriate fees)
   2. official transcripts for all previous collegiate work
   3. GMAT results
   4. TOEFL results (when applicable)
   5. two letters of recommendation
   6. a current resume.

7. Entrance: Students may enter the program in the Fall, Spring, or Summer.

8. Attendance: Attendance in MBA classes is limited to individuals who have been admitted to the MBA Program and who are registered for the class. Auditing of classes by current students is prohibited.

Proficiency Prerequisites

All students admitted to the MBA Program must be proficient in English composition, business mathematics, and computer applications. Successful completion of a college-level course in business math or intermediate algebra is required.

Waivers

Only core courses may be considered for waivers. Waivers are granted by the MBA Director after an evaluation of the student’s academic transcripts. Waivers will only be granted during a student’s first semester of enrollment. Previously-taken courses that are used to waive core courses must cover equivalent material and have been taken in academic programs that concluded less than 5 years prior to MBA Program enrollment. The accreditation level of the school at which equivalent courses were taken determines the necessary grade for waiver acceptability. For example, an LMU core course may be waived for a student who has taken an equivalent course at an AACSB International accredited school if the student achieved a grade of A or B, or at a regionally accredited U.S. school if the grade earned was an A. Courses equivalent to the LMU core that were taken at schools outside the United States or at non-accredited schools or non-traditional schools are not acceptable for waiver.

Challenge Exams

Challenge Exams are only available for the core courses, MBA 601-609. Students who feel that they are sufficiently grounded in the content of a core course by virtue of their work experience or academic study may consider taking the Challenge Exam. Challenge Exams must be taken during the first semester of the student’s enrollment in the MBA Program. Students must fill out a waiver examination request form (available in the MBA Office) and pay the exam fee. Further instructions will be given at that time.

Attendance and Residence

Students are expected to be continuously enrolled in the MBA Program. A leave of absence may be granted for up to one year, at the discretion of the MBA Program Director and Registrar. If a student needs to request a leave of absence, the student must contact the MBA Coordinator to initiate the process. Individuals who remain on leave for more than two years must formally reapply for admission. Readmission is based on the admission criteria and the curriculum that are in effect at the time of the resumption of classes.

Between 10 and 20 classes are required for the MBA degree, depending on waivers and choice of integrative option.

Student Registration and Counseling

Registration must be completed each semester during the dates specified in the University Calendar.

Newly-admitted students meet with the MBA Coordinator prior to their first formal registration. The student’s previous academic experience is evaluated and core course waivers may be granted. All students receive a formal Program outline and a list of waived classes during that meeting.

In subsequent semesters, students are required to obtain course approval for registration by the MBA Coordinator or her designee. Each student takes responsibility for following the individual curriculum plan initially outlined by the MBA Coordinator. Enrolling in other courses may result in those credits not applying toward the degree.

Students are encouraged to meet informally with faculty in their areas of interest for general and career guidance.

MBA Program Policies

Academic Advising

The MBA Coordinator will serve as Academic Advisor for all MBA students and will meet with students periodically to assist in navigating through the Program curriculum.

Students must be advised by the MBA Coordinator who will assist in selecting classes each semester. Advisor Holds are placed on student records and will not be removed until the student has been advised.

Registration takes place exclusively online by accessing the PROWL system. Click on the Student Resources tab to get to the Registration menu.
Academic Probation and Disqualification
Please review the LMU Honor Code for definitions of academic dishonesty and detailed information on the Honor Code process.

Conditions for Academic Probation
Any MBA student who, in any semester, fails to earn a "B" (3.0) average or whose cumulative grade point average in the MBA Program falls below a "B" (3.0) will be placed on academic probation.

Conditions for Disqualification
A student already on probation who has less than a "B" (3.0) grade point average for the semester and who has not achieved a "B" (3.0) grade point average in the MBA Program is subject to disqualification from the Program. This decision will be made after review of the student’s academic coursework by the Program Director.

Please also note that a student can receive no more than two grades below B- throughout their Program. Should the student earn a third grade below B-, the student will be given one opportunity to retake that class the following semester (assuming the student does not also have two semesters on probation). The student may not enroll in other classes concurrently with the repeated course. If the student does not earn at least a B- when retaking the class, the student will be disqualified.

Disqualification terminates a student’s relationship with the University. A disqualified student may not register in any division or session of the University, and is denied all privileges of the University, including all organizations or activities in any way connected with it.

Change of Program or Emphasis
A student who wishes to change a program before completing a degree must submit a new application form to the Graduate Admission Office. A student who wishes to transfer from one emphasis to another before completing a degree must request an approval by the MBA Coordinator.

Course Loads
Fully-employed MBA students should take no more than six semester hours in the Fall or Spring semester unless they have permission from their advisor. All other students may take a maximum of 12 semester hours unless they receive permission from their advisor. During the Summer session, fully-employed students should take no more than three semester hours each term.

Repeating Courses
Students may repeat a course previously taken at LMU in a subsequent term one time only, including any withdrawals; the prior occurrence is excluded from the cumulative grade point average but remains on the transcript. Please note that although the GPA for that term will change accordingly, the academic status of the previous term will not change.

A student who earns an F in a class or receives a third grade below a B-minus will be required to repeat that course. The student will only be allowed to enroll in the repeated course and will not be allowed to take additional classes in that semester.

A student who receives an F in any course must repeat that course before being able to take additional classes.

Grade Appeals
A student who wishes to appeal a grade should first contact his or her faculty member. If a student wishes to appeal the faculty member’s decision after the grade posting, he or she must submit a written request within three weeks to the Chair, Program Director, or Dean of the student’s college. If the appeal process cannot be resolved, an impartial three-person faculty panel will be assigned by the Dean of the respective College to review the request. The panel will individually interview the faculty person and the student. After the interviews, review, and discussion, the panel will submit a formal decision to the Dean of the College, whose decision will be final.

Incomplete Grades
"I" (Incomplete) indicates that the student’s work is incomplete. The student must remove the "I" within one year of receiving it. For students in the MBA Program who elect to do the Integrative Project, the time limit is one year. In those cases, the IP (Work in Progress) code is used. If an Incomplete has not been removed after the specified period of time, the Incomplete grade will automatically change to a "W" (Withdrawal). Students who wish to retake the course must pay regular tuition for the repeated course.

When a professor has granted an "I," it is the student’s responsibility to arrange a deferred grade. The professor submits a "Deferred Grade Form" with the final grade to the Office of the Registrar. Incompletes which are not removed within the time limit given are computed as "I." A student with two Incompletes will be blocked from registration.

Any graduate student who in a given term receives a grade of I (Incomplete) for a course and who subsequently completes the course will receive a grade that is retroactive to the term when the student first registered for the course with all the impact it entails on the student’s academic standing.

Independent Study
Independent Studies classes must be sponsored by a full-time faculty member and approved by the MBA Program Director. Independent Studies can only be invoked twice during a student’s MBA program.

There are time constraints associated with an Independent Studies course. The approval process for Independent Studies must be completed during the semester prior to the one during which the student expects to enroll in the course.

All questions about Independent Studies should be directed to the MBA Coordinator. The MBA Coordinator is the arbiter of the process facilitating Independent Studies.

Jesuit Network

Jesuit Transfer Network
Students from schools that are parties to the Multilateral Agreement may complete their degree requirements at another Agreement School, subject to the admission standards of the receiving school.

LMU MBA students who have completed more than half of their degree requirements may take courses that apply towards their LMU degree requirements at another Jesuit-affiliated school and still receive their degree from LMU, assuming that they take the courses approved by the LMU MBA Coordinator and earn at least a B in each course.

Those students who have completed less than half of their degree requirements at LMU may transfer to another Jesuit-affiliated school, assuming they meet the receiving school’s admission standards, and receive credit for some or all LMU coursework to apply towards the degree requirement at the receiving school. The receiving school determines the transfer credits they will accept.

LMU will only accept courses towards the degree with grades of B or better.

Students who transfer to LMU from other Jesuit MBA programs are required to maintain the standards of graduate students at LMU and are governed by the guidelines established within the University Bulletin. For more information, visit http://mba.lmu.edu/about/jesuittransfer.htm.

Students who transfer in from other Jesuit MBA Programs but will be receiving their degree from their original school are considered Visiting Students (non-degree). The MBA Program admits these students on a space available basis.

International Study Classes
Students may take no more than one (1) MBA international study class offered by another Jesuit institution.

MBA Degree Program
To qualify for the Master of Business Administration degree, the admitted student must satisfy the requirements of at least 18 courses. As many as 9 of the initial or core curriculum courses may be waived for students who demonstrate that they have mastered the body of knowledge contained in them. Nonetheless, a minimum of 30 graduate MBA courses must be taken at LMU to satisfy the University’s residence requirement.

All courses are 3 semester hours. Course syllabi are on file in the MBA office.

MBA Course Categories
Two broad divisions of courses exist in the MBA Program: the core and the advanced curriculum.
Core Curriculum

The core curriculum consists of 9 specific courses that comprise the common body of knowledge of business administration as defined by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International). Core courses are prefixed MBAA and numbered in the 60X series (MBAA 601-609).

Core courses are described in the next section. They include the following:
- MBAA 601: The Legal and Ethical Environment of Business
- MBAA 602: Financial & Managerial Accounting
- MBAA 603: Business Statistics
- MBAA 604: Business Economics
- MBAA 605: Management and Organizational Behavior
- MBAA 606: Marketing Management
- MBAA 607: Operations Analysis and Decision Support Systems
- MBAA 608: Financial Management
- MBAA 609: Management Information Systems

Several topics which are vital to the common body of knowledge in business are not directly referenced in the titles of the nine core courses. These topics include the following: business ethics, social influences, political influences, computer applications, organizational theory, interpersonal communications, integrating analysis, and the international dimension of business.

Because of their critical nature for emerging business leaders, many of these topics are included as major elements within each core course. For example, MBAA 605, Management and Organizational Behavior, includes modules on organizational theory, interpersonal communication, business ethics and the international dimension of business. Similar matrixed break-downs occur in the other core courses. Viewed from a topical standpoint, the international dimension of business is addressed in MBAA 604, 605, 606, 608, and 609.

The Advanced Curriculum

The advanced curriculum consists of 9 additional courses. All courses in the advanced curriculum are elective, but certain constraints exist to ensure that each graduate has an acceptable and intelligently constructed program of studies. Within the advanced curriculum, the student is given an opportunity to obtain both specialized knowledge in an Area of Emphasis and generalized knowledge in supporting areas. The curriculum also provides ample opportunity to integrate the knowledge obtained through the above specialization and generalization studies.

Specialization

Depth in a specialized field of knowledge is obtained by the selection of three courses within one of eight designated Areas of Emphasis. These areas and their course designator prefixes are listed below:
- MBAB: Management and Organizational Behavior
- MBAC: Marketing Management
- MBAD: Information and Decision Sciences
- MBAE: Human Resource Management
- MBAF: Financial Decision Systems
- MBAG: International Business Systems
- MBAH: Entrepreneurial Organizations
- MBAJ: Accounting Decision Systems

Generalization

By nature, MBA programs that are similar to LMU’s follow the classic AACSB International model mandate that candidates for graduation have a broad academic background rather than one of extensive specialization.

Generalization in the Advanced Curriculum is obtained in the following way:

Students must take 5 advanced electives from at least 3 fields in addition to the specialized Area of Emphasis. An additional requirement is that no more than 2 such breadth courses may be taken within a single area. For example, a student whose specialized Area of Emphasis is MBAB, Management and Organizational Behavior, would take 3 MBAB electives for the Specialization requirement and for the Generalization requirement take 2 MBAC, 2 MBAD and 1 MBAE elective. Another student having the same specialization, may prefer to obtain even greater generalization by taking 1 MBAC, 1 MBAD, 1 MBAE, 1 MBAF and 1 MBAG elective.

Students may earn a second emphasis by taking one additional course in the MBA Program. That course must be an elective from the second area and assumes that the student has already completed two breadth electives from that second area.

Integration

The integrating experience is designed to draw together the knowledge gained in the Program into a combined focus. Because of this, such courses are taken toward the end of the student’s Program. Three integrative options are available:

Option One, MBAI 692, the Integrative Project, is an intensive original analysis and solution of a significant business problem. The student’s project proposal is reviewed by the Associate Dean. When his/her proposal is approved, the student is assigned to work on a one-to-one basis with a faculty member until the project is satisfactorily completed. The faculty member provides general guidance and ensures that the completed project is of high quality. Students who choose to take the integrative project option must take either MBAI 610, Management Strategy, or MBA 690, International Regional Strategies: Cultural and Industrial, in their advanced curriculum.

Option Two, MBAI 691, Comparative Management Systems (CMS), is an Integrative course that involves three weeks travel outside the United States. Prior to departure, students participate in a prerequisite advanced elective course, MBA 690, International Regional Strategies: Cultural and Industrial, during which they perform area studies of the nations to be visited and participate in seminars conducted by area and industry specialists. The industries visited are held constant for each annual CMS Program. Students are grouped by business functional areas and meet with executives from those areas in each firm visited. Group and individual papers comprise final outputs for the course.

Option Three allows the student to take 3 designated Strategy electives. Strategy electives are designated by 6X0 or have the word “strategy” in the title. All students who elect this option must take MBAI 610, Management Strategy, or MBAI 690, International Regional Strategies: Cultural and Industrial, plus 2 additional strategy courses. Each designated Strategy elective provides the student with a general management or functional area perspective on the development and implementation of high level corporate strategy. Taken together, the 3 selected electives give the student an integrative view of the total strategic planning and implementing processes. Students who have waived all core courses and who choose this option must take a minimum of 11 courses (rather than 10) to satisfy the residence requirement.

Students who follow this option observe how firms determine and implement corporate strategy from the standpoint of several functional areas. The strategy courses provide an overall integrative focus as a capstone to the student’s MBA studies.

International MBA Certificate

The International MBA Certificate emphasizes a strong business curriculum interspersed with intensive studies of global business practices, environments, and cultures. The Comparative Management Systems sequence provides a unique capstone to the program.

Students who fulfill the requirements below receive the degree Master of Business Administration plus a Certificate in International Business.

To qualify for the Certificate in International Business, MBA students must complete at least nine advanced courses in addition to the core, and comply with the following:

Depth or Specialization—through the selection of one of six areas of emphasis

Breadth or Generalization—through international electives

Integration—through the Comparative Management Systems courses

An area of emphasis is selected from one of the following fields:
- MBAB: Management and Organizational Behavior
- MBAC: Marketing Management
- MBAE: Human Resource Management
- MBAF: Financial Decision Systems
- MBAH: Entrepreneurial Organizations

Three elective courses comprise an area of emphasis. One of the electives must be the international study of the field, such as International Finance or International Marketing.
International electives comprise the breadth of the advanced curriculum. At least 5 courses must be taken in this category. At least 1 course must be taken from each group of international electives.

Functional—outside of area of emphasis Regional Practicum
Free International Elective
Strategic—MBAI 690

The integrative experience requirement is satisfied by participating in the Comparative Management Systems class MBAI 691.

MBA Advantage Certificate Program for Alumni

Program Description
MBA Advantage, a certificate program for alumni of LMU and other AACSB International-accredited MBA programs, can provide MBA alumni with the opportunity to complete 3 courses and earn a certificate in an additional area of emphasis.

Tuition rates will vary. Please contact the MBA Office and the Office of Student Accounts for more information.

Areas of Emphasis
Management and Organizational Behavior
Marketing Management
Information and Decision Sciences
Human Resource Management
Financial Decision Systems
International Business Systems
Entrepreneurial Organizations
Accounting Decision Systems
Competitive Strategy

Dual-Degree Programs

JD/MBA Program

The JD/MBA Program is designed for the full-time student who wishes to combine his/her graduate studies in law and business administration. It requires an intensive full-time commitment and superior capability to handle the academic rigors of two equally intensive graduate programs.

Admissions
Applicants to the JD/MBA Program must first apply separately to both the Law School and the MBA Program. Only after a student is admitted to both the Law School and the MBA Program will the application to the JD/MBA Program be considered. Acceptance to both schools does not guarantee admission to the JD/MBA Program.

Applications to the JD/MBA Program are due in the Law School Admissions Office by the first of July at the conclusion of the applicant’s first year at the Law School.

Course of Study
Students enrolled in the JD/MBA Program plan a specific course of study with the MBA Program Coordinator. Although no undergraduate business classes are required, students who have taken business courses may qualify to have additional MBA requirements waived (see waiver policy). JD/MBA students must take a minimum of 8 classes in the MBA program.

Specific Course Paradigm for Master of Business Administration

The following course paradigm satisfies the MBA degree requirements for the JD/MBA Program:

I. CORE COURSES

The core curriculum courses, prefixed MBAA, comprise the first level or common body of knowledge studies in business administration. All core courses must be taken or waived before students may proceed to the advanced curriculum.

MBAA 602 Financial and Managerial Accounting

MBAA 603 Business Statistics
MBAA 604 Business Economics
MBAA 605 Management and Organizational Behavior
MBAA 606 Marketing Management
MBAA 607 Operations Analysis and Decision Support Systems
MBAA 608 Financial Management
MBAA 609 Management Information Systems
of less than "C" in any 600-level course will not have the course count toward their degree. The overall minimum GPA required for graduation is 3.0.

MBA Courses

Core MBA Courses
- MBAA 601  Legal and Ethical Environment of Business
- MBAA 602  Financial & Managerial Accounting
- MBAA 603  Business Statistics

Introduction

The Executive MBA (EMBA) program is a 21-month program for experienced mid-level executives with a bachelor's degree and at least 6 years of professional, managerial, or entrepreneurial experience. Classes meet all day Friday and Saturday and every other weekend.

Executive MBA students bring a deep understanding of the workplace and managerial experience into the classroom. Their diverse knowledge base becomes an important shared-learning tool for fellow students, creating a broad range of perspectives on wide-ranging business issues and contributing to a challenging and enriching learning environment. You will enter and graduate as a group having experienced a high level of collaborative learning and exposure to real-world business situations taught from an executive management level perspective.

The current program began in August 2010 and ends in May 2012.

Application Process

The Executive MBA program requires a Bachelor’s degree with an acceptable level of scholarship from an accredited institution of higher learning and six or more years of increasing responsibility in professional, managerial, or entrepreneurial positions.

Admission to the Executive MBA program is individualized and based on a candidate’s potential to pursue graduate study. Each candidate is evaluated on the cumulative evidence received including, but not limited to, work and management experience, career accomplishments, potential for advancement, letters of recommendation, personal interview, information provided in the application form, undergraduate and graduate (if any) record, and GMAT (if required). Selection is based on academic potential without regard to race, creed, color, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, age, or disability.

How to Apply

Application deadline was July 1, 2010, for the Executive MBA class that started in August 2010. Applications received after the deadline will be considered if spaces are available.

- Schedule your personal interview

Candidates for the Executive MBA must have an interview with a member of the admissions committee. If you are considering candidacy, you are encouraged to interview early in the admissions process to assess the fit between the program and your experience, expectations, and personal development needs, and to determine if you are required to take the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT).

- Complete the application for admission

  Please type or print clearly. Give your full legal name.

- Include a $100 application fee

  This is non-refundable. Your check should be made out to Loyola Marymount University. If a check is written for you by someone else, please make sure your name appears on its face.

- Send for official transcripts from all colleges and universities attended

  Official records must be sent directly from the registrar of the issuing institution to EMBA Admissions. Transcripts submitted will not be returned, nor will copies be forwarded by LMU to other institutions.

- Request two letters of recommendation

  You should request these from persons with whom you have closely worked and who can evaluate your abilities, accomplishments, and potential. Where applicable, at least one letter should come from your supervisor. Recommenders should use one of the postage paid envelopes provided by EMBA Admissions to send their letters directly to EMBA Admissions.

- Obtain your company’s sponsorship

  You must have a support statement from your employer acknowledging that you will be given the necessary time off from work to attend classes and other official program functions. Please have your employer complete the proper form and send it to EMBA Admissions using the postage paid envelope provided.

- Provide the official score of your Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), if required

  The Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) is required only if your prior academic work and professional experience does not show clear evidence of strong quantitative and analytical reasoning skills. A determination that the GMAT is required will be made after your personal interview and application screening. If the GMAT is required, your results should be sent to EMBA Admissions (ETS code 4403).

  The GMAT is a computer-adaptive test (CAT) that is available year-round at test centers throughout the world. Visit the MBA Explorer® website at http://www.mbaexplorer.com for quick answers to most of your questions and the latest GMAT information. If you have additional questions, contact an Educational Testing Service customer service representative at 609.921.9000. Telephone lines are open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., EST.

- Review and Notification

  A formal notice will be sent to each candidate after the application and complete records are received, the interview conducted, and the admission committee has made its recommendation. If you are admitted, you will be expected to confirm your commitment with a non-refundable payment of $1,000. This pre-payment will be applied to tuition charges and will reserve one of the LMU EMBA positions for you.

The Executive MBA Curriculum

The Executive MBA curriculum employs a modular structure with the focus shifting from analysis and evaluation in Year One to strategic application and execution in Year Two. The 21-month, 58-credit-hour program is presented in four modules and an interim summer session between Years One and Two. The learning process is accomplished through three levels of integration.

Knowledge Content: To enhance relevance of core business concepts to the workplace, knowledge content (finance, accounting, economics, statistics, marketing, leadership, performance management, and strategy) is presented by instructors with significant real-world experience in theme-based modules that closely approximate their application in real-world situations.

Managerial Competencies: Core managerial competencies (problem solving and decision making, communicating and interpersonal relations) are used to integrate and enhance the application of knowledge, experience, and learned concepts into the workplace.

Integrated Learning Environment: Relevance and enhanced retention are enabled through action-based assignments, illustrative real-world cases studies, integrated skill application projects, and on-scene domestic and international field trips.

The major components of the program are the Classroom Experience, Skills Application Projects, and off-campus Learning Experiences.

Classroom Experience

Classroom sessions are comprised of presentations by highly-qualified faculty and business leaders. Learning is facilitated through interaction between participants and faculty, exercises approximating real management issues, case studies, and exploring management concepts found in readings and text materials. Individual skill development is stressed, with the aim of equipping executives with strategies they can use to improve their own decision-making and leadership capabilities.

Skill Application Projects

Skill application projects provide important experiential learning by "forcing" the use of business concepts learned in the classroom to solve real business problems. Each module or major curriculum focus uses a team project to facilitate the transference of knowledge into practical application. Projects are real business issues faced every day, such as a merger or acquisition, ethical decisions, opening new markets, major reorganization, or a functional business problem. Web-based group interaction and e-mail are used to facilitate completion of group assignments.

Learning Experiences

Learning experiences provide unique educational opportunities that augment classroom instruction. These are fully integrated into the curriculum and also provide experiential learning in the actual practice of management.

- Executive Leadership Retreat
  You begin the Executive MBA program with a four-day residential retreat where we help you set learning goals, form study teams, and engage in a variety of workshops and team-building exercises. We also include a workshop for our students and their spouses/significant others addressing the importance of achieving balance between family, work, and school.

- Business Research Skills and Field Research Project
  Between the first and second year, you will learn business research skills and conduct an in-depth study of an actual business’s sectors and specific companies within it. You will learn how to apply concepts learned in the classroom to actual business situations, and your recommendations and solutions will carry real consequences.

- Industry/Government Sector Study
  Between the first and second year, we visit a domestic government and/or business center for one week where you gain firsthand exposure to the forces and personalities that shape policies and decisions. You will learn how businesses are currently adapting their operations to successfully compete in today’s marketplace. Recent visits have included Sacramento, CA, and the neighborhood wine industry, and Washington, D.C.

- International Trip
  In Year Two, you will take a two-week journey to one or more major, non-U.S. business centers that will broaden your understanding of what it takes to manage in today’s global business environment. In recent years, we have traveled to South America, China, India, Southeast Asia, and Europe. Our students regularly cite the visit as a highlight of the program.

Expectations for Executive MBA Students

The Executive MBA is a cohort program where students proceed through a fixed curriculum as a group. Learning is facilitated through collaborative assignments where students work closely with each other, with faculty, and within study teams. A significant and critical part of the learning is achieved through open and honest dialog with fellow students and faculty.

Success in the program depends heavily on attitude and how students interact with and work with other classmates. Students are expected to develop an awareness of self that requires a willingness to engage in self-discovery, to look at oneself objectively and honestly, and to respect the opinions and perspectives of fellow classmates, faculty, and administrators. Students agree to and accept the following guidelines:

- Actively participate in regular team meetings and activities
- Fulfill commitments made to the team including homework and team projects
- Support other team members
- Actively work to create a high performance team
- Be open to feedback from faculty, team members, and class members
- Provide feedback to team members and class members
- Treat fellow students, faculty, and administrators with dignity, decency, and mutual respect

Failure to adhere to these guidelines may result in dismissal from the program.

The EMBA Curriculum Sequence

The EMBA is built and organized around key business challenges, with courses that integrate core business concepts and tools with real business situations to address these challenges. Coursework hours for an individual course may vary from 1 to 4 semester hours, and some courses may not be offered for each class, or in the module indicated; however, total credit hours is 58 semester hours.

The MBA degree is awarded by the College of Business Administration at the successful completion of the program.

Year One—MBA Fundamentals

Module 1: Knowledge Foundation and Language of Business

The emphasis of this module is to assess the impact of the global economy on the economic value of the firm by strengthening your executive ability to acquire and maintain capital resources. Course work aims at improving decision making by laying a solid foundation in quantitative and analytical skills.

The module includes:

- MBAP 602 Accounting and Control
- MBAP 604 Applied Business Economics
- MBAP 608 Managerial Finance
- MBAP 626 Executive Communications I

The coursework is applied in a real-world skill application project, MBAP 611, Corporate Expansion Project, which ties the course work together and provides actual practice in using quantitative data to support a major financial decision.

Total: 12-14 semester hours

Module 2: Leadership to Improve Organizational Performance

The focus of this module is to enable executives to maximize human potential for improving organizational performance. You develop an understanding of your own leadership and decision-making styles to greatly improve your leadership ability.

- MBAP 603 Decision Support Foundation
- MBAP 622 Strategic Human Resources Management
- MBAP 623 Leadership in the 21st Century
- MBAP 624 The Manager as Decision Maker
- MBAP 625 Managing Technology
- MBAP 627 Executive Communications II

By the end of the module, you have gained fundamental knowledge and skills to improve organizational performance. Moreover, you will understand how to use your own leadership style more effectively. This is applied in a skill application project, MBAP 612, Leadership Practicum, which includes a capstone business simulation.
Total: 12-14 semester hours

Year Two—Strategic Application

Module 3: Knowledge to Lead in the Global Business Environment

This module expands your horizons beyond functional and internal topics to global approaches, presenting you with a variety of complex and inter-related issues. Each course is led by an experienced faculty member.

The module includes:
- MBAP 615 Field Consulting Project
- MBAP 631 Strategy Formulation in the Global Environment
- MBAP 632 Applied Economics Environment
- MBAP 633 Changing Global Economic Environment
- MBAP 634 Marketing and Social-Cultural Environment
- MBAP 635 Legal Environment of Business

The application of learning is accomplished through a skill application project, MBAP 613, Business Opportunity Assessment, which involves the identification and evaluation of an international business opportunity. A major report and presentation integrate module concepts into a supportable recommendation for board-level decision.

Total: 12-14 semester hours

Module 4: Strategic Leadership to Achieve Long-Term Success

This module, the capstone experience of the program, emphasizes executive leadership required to create and communicate clear direction for the organization’s future and for carrying out change to achieve long-term results. The objective is to enhance your ability to apply human and capital resources to achieve a long-term competitive advantage for your organization. Particular emphasis is given to ethical conduct, integrity, and socially responsible action.

The module includes:
- MBAP 641 Executing Strategy in the Global Environment
- MBAP 642 Deal Making
- MBAP 643 Strategic Marketing
- MBAP 644 Corporate Governance

The module also includes the conclusion of the following courses, which focus on interaction with others, development of self-awareness, the education of the whole person, and developing a well thought-out plan for professional growth. They span the entire program:
- MBAP 661 Team Performance and Group Dynamics (begins in Leadership Retreat)
- MBAP 662 Ethics and Spirituality in the Workplace (begins in Module 1)
- MBAP 663 Professional Growth Planning (begins in Module 2)

Learning from this and previous modules is integrated into a skills application project, MBAP 614, Strategic Opportunity Implementation. This project is a comprehensive implementation plan for the business opportunity identified and evaluated in the Module 3 skill application project.

Total: 12-14 semester hours

Learning Experiences: Four learning experiences provide educational opportunities that augment classroom instruction.
- MBAP 628 Business Research Skills
- MBAP 651 Introduction to Executive Leadership (The Leadership Retreat)
- MBAP 652 Field Study on Conducting Business Domestically (The Industry/Government Sector Study)
- MBAP 653 Business in the International Environment (The International Experience)

Total: 5 semester hours
Program Total: 58 semester hours
By engaging and fully participating in academic programs in CFA, our students should be able to:

- Integrate and incorporate the knowledge of their disciplines into their own work in a creative and increasingly accomplished way
- Develop the capacity to be receptive to the critiques of others and to be deeply self-reflective about their own work
- Experience their work as central to their own personal development and accept their responsibility to other people and the world we share
- Offer discerning responses to the human expressions and created art works of others
- Collaborate with others in exploring how to create and communicate, bringing the interior world of our private selves into the public sphere in ways that engage and enlighten.

By engaging and fully participating in academic programs in CFA, our students should value:

- Imagination, intuition, and spirituality as an essential part of life
- The power of human creativity and human communication to transform our innermost private lives and our relationships in an increasingly diverse and complex public sphere
- The complexity and diversity of human experience reflected in an openness to respond to other people from varied backgrounds, cultures, and belief systems in a socially just and compassionate way
- The role that the arts and communication play in creating and re-creating cultures, meanings, and expectations that shape our lives in profound ways.

Application of General University Requirements

The University requirements for admission, graduation, and all general rules and regulations of the University as set forth in this Bulletin are applicable to and binding upon all students enrolled in the College of Communication and Fine Arts.

Teacher Preparation Program

The College of Communication and Fine Arts offers a subject matter preparation program in art education specially designed to meet the State of California subject matter requirements for a secondary credential. The Bachelor of Arts degree with an emphasis in Art Education is designed to allow completion of the California Preliminary Single Subject (Secondary) credential in four years. This program is offered in conjunction with the School of Education. All students interested in teaching art at a secondary level should contact Teresa I. Lenihan as soon as possible and should also contact the School of Education to arrange a time to attend an Undergraduate Information Session.

College Curriculum

The curriculum of each department in the College of Communication and Fine Arts incorporates required courses in general education, major sequences, and elective courses which complement and enhance the student’s major field of concentration.

Core Curriculum for the Baccalaureate Degree in the College of Communication and Fine Arts

American Cultures

3 Semester Hours

Course Selection

First- and second-year students choose from any lower division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. Third- and fourth-year students choose from any upper division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. A single course will generally not fulfill two core requirements. The only exception is a course that satisfies another core requirement which is also cross-listed as AMCS.

College Writing
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
ENGL 110 will fulfill the college writing requirement. ENGL 100 will not fulfill the college writing requirement but is required of certain students based on their performance in the essay written in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in ENGL 110. All students who receive a grade of C- or lower must retake ENGL 110 as soon as possible.
Choose: ENGL 110.

Communication or Critical Thinking
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Communication: Choose from CMST 100, 110, 130, or 140.
Critical Thinking: Choose from CMST 206, PHIL 220.
Communication Studies majors must choose CMST 100 or 206.

Critical and Creative Arts
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Critical Arts and one course from Creative Arts.

Critical Arts: Choose from ANIM 100; ARHS 200, 201, 202, 321, 340, 345; DANC 281, 381; FTVS 210, 314, 315; MUSC 102, 104, 303, 365; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, or 430.
Creative Arts: Choose from ANIM 120; ART 150, 151, 153, 278, 280, 350; DANC 163; ENGL 205, 311 (Prerequisite 202), 312 (Prerequisite 201); MUSC 105, 106, 107; PROD 200; SCWR 220; THEA 110, 400.
Courses must be taken outside of the student’s major program of study.

History
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Western Civilization and one course from Contemporary Societies.

Western Civilization: Choose from HIST 100 or 101.
Contemporary Societies: Choose from HIST 152, 162, 172, 182, or 192.

Literature
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Prerequisite: Successful completion of college writing requirement.
Choose from CLCV 200, 210, 220, 230; ENGL 130, 140, 150, 170; FNLT 180; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, or 430.

Mathematics
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Choose MATH 102 or higher. Some majors require a specific mathematics course, which also fulfills this requirement.

Science and Technology
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Choose one lower division course from a department other than Mathematics. Courses numbered 260-279 in each department of the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering are specifically designed for non-science majors. Choose from BIOL, CHEM, CMSI, ELEC, MECH, NTLS, or PHYS.

Philosophy
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose PHIL 160. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempted from the lower division requirement.

Upper Division:
Choose one PHIL course from 320 through 330.

Social Sciences
6 Semester Hours
Students must select one of the following options:
1. Two courses from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105. Courses must be from different departments.
2. One course from: AFAM 115, APAM 117, CHST 116, or WNST 100; and one course from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105.
3. Two courses from the same department. The first is selected from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105. The second course in the same department is selected from upper division courses that the student is qualified to take.

Theological Studies
6 Semester Hours
Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose from the 100-level series of THST courses. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempted from the lower division requirement.

Upper Division:
Choose from the 300-level series of THST courses only.

Note: International/Global Studies
The current core curriculum includes many courses dealing with international and global studies. All students are required to complete HIST 100 or 101, which deal with European culture. In addition, it is recommended that students take additional core courses which include the study of European cultures such as: ARHS 200, 201, 202; CLCV 200, 210, 220; DANC 281; FNLT 180; FTVS 314; MUSC 102; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341; THST 320, 322, 331. To further augment the understanding of world cultures, it is recommended that students also choose at least one core course that includes the study of Africa, Asia, the Pacific, or Latin/Indigenous America. These core courses include: ARHS 321; DANC 381; HIST 172, 182; MUSC 303, 365; POLS 155; SOCL 105; THEA 348; THST 180, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385.

Recommendations
Students are encouraged to enrich their program of study with selected electives from the following areas. Consult the Bulletin for specific offerings.

Business
Students are encouraged to take a course in the issues of business. Consult the Bulletin listings.

Computer Skills
Students are expected to become proficient in computer skills. Courses or workshops may be taken to help students develop existing skills.

Foreign Language
Students are encouraged to study foreign languages to the intermediate level. LMU offers Chinese, Filipino, French, German, Greek (Modern and Classical), Italian, Japanese, Latin, and Spanish on a regular basis.

International/Global Studies
Students are encouraged to select elective courses that deal with international and/or global issues. Consult the Bulletin listings.

Study Abroad
A semester of international study abroad is also recommended. Consult the Study Abroad office.
Total Program
120 semester hours are required for graduation with the following distribution:
   a. a maximum of 36 upper division semester hours in any one department will be accepted toward the 120 semester hours requirement; and
   b. at least 45 semester hours are required from upper division offerings.
Students should consult the Dean’s Office for specific policies applicable to the College of Communication and Fine Arts.

Individualized Study Program
Admission to the Individualized Study Program in Communication and Fine Arts requires:
1. a B (3.0) grade point average.
2. the submission of an Individualized Study Program form delineating courses and signed by the student’s advisor and the chairperson of the advisor’s department.
3. the submission by the advisor of a complete curriculum from an accredited college or university.
4. the signature of the Dean of the College.
All subsequent changes in the Individualized Study Program require points 2, 3, and 4 above.
Students registering for an Individualized Study Program are advised that their diploma and transcript will read "Individualized Study" and not the specific major they elect within that program.

Faculty
Co-Chairpersons: Katherine Anne Harper, Teresa Muñoz
Associate Professors: Katherine Anne Harper, Garland P. Kirkpatrick, Teresa I. Lenihan, Diane M. Meyer, Damon Willick
Assistant Professors: Han Dai-Yu, Saeri Cho Dobson, Dmitry Kmelnitsky

Mission
Within the framework of the University’s mission, the Department of Art and Art History is committed to giving students educational opportunities combining creativity, professional, and scholarly study in the visual arts.

Objectives
The philosophy of the Department rests on the premise that its students should receive a broad education that combines creativity and scholarly study. Two majors are offered, Studio Arts and Art History. The foremost objective is to prepare students intellectually and professionally for a career in Studio Arts and Art History and/or graduate studies. Courses offered to undergraduate majors and non-majors stress the cultural value of the visual arts.

Degrees
Two majors are offered, Studio Arts and Art History.
Students may also complete a minor.
The Department is a fully accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design.

Semester Hours
For studio classes, a semester hour of credit, one unit, represents three hours of work each week. In lecture and seminar courses, an hour of credit represents one hour each week in class and two hours of work outside of class.

Art History Major (ARHS)
The major in Art History is designed to increase the student’s understanding of the meaning and purpose of visual arts. Utilizing an interdisciplinary approach, courses examine the historical development, formal expression, and societal role of visual culture, art, and architecture.

Goals for Art History Majors
Courses expose students to a broad understanding of world history through the visual arts, providing a full awareness of the historical, spiritual, and cultural contexts of the works of art. In addition, classes foster excellent research skills, critical thinking, and advanced writing in preparation for graduate studies or professional careers.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students majoring in Art History should be able to:
• Demonstrate that they comprehend historical contexts for diverse artistic traditions.
• Exhibit knowledge of the impact of diverse cultural contexts on the production and understanding of artistic traditions.

Students majoring in Art History should know:
• Methods for analyzing works of visual culture, art, and architecture within their appropriate historical, social, religious, and philosophical contexts.
• How to think critically and articulate clear ideas about visual culture, art, and architecture and their historical and contemporary significance.
• The necessary research and writing skills to formulate and articulate meaningful statements and documents on visual culture, art, and architecture.

Students majoring in Art History are presented with the opportunity to value:
• The aesthetic, theoretical, and historical properties of works of visual culture, art, and architecture.
• The power of visual culture to communicate deep human ideas and emotions.

Major Requirements
Lower Division Requirements:
12 semester hours of lower division courses: ARHS 200, 201, 202, and any 3 semester hours of one lower division Studio Arts course.

Upper Division Requirements:
30 semester hours of upper division courses, including ARHS 449 and 6 semester hours of a non-Western Art History course (ARHS 316, 318, 320, 321, 420, 421, 425, 425, 428, or any non-Western ARHS 498 course).
Required: A year of college level foreign language (French or German recommended; select from FREN 101, 102, 203, 204 or GRMN 101, 102, 203, 204).
A minimum cumulative GPA of C (2.0) must be obtained in the major requirements.
A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 is required for changing a major into the department.

Minor Requirements (ARHS)
18 semester hours: ARHS 200, 201, 202; and 9 semester hours in upper division courses selected under the direction of an advisor in the department. Studio Arts majors who elect an Art History minor are required to take the three upper division requirements and an additional 3 semester hours of upper division work for the total of 21 hours in the minor. (ARHA)
Recommended: ARHS 449 and 6 semester hours of a non-Western Art History course (ARHS 320, 321, 420, 421, 425, 428, or special approved course).

General Information

Students in Studio Arts (STAR) are expected to engage in studio work in addition to scheduled class time. Most studios are open to enrolled students outside of class time on a 24-hour basis. For studio classes, students should anticipate approximately three hours of outside of class studio work every week for each semester hour of course credit. In lecture and seminar courses, students should anticipate approximately one hour each week in class and two hours of work outside of class for each semester hour of course credit.

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours: ART 153 or 160, and 15 semester hours of Studio Arts electives with at least 6 semester hours in upper division courses.

Studio Arts Major (STAR)

Description and Goal

This Studio Arts program of study provides a broad foundation in the techniques, concepts, and professional orientation related to an area of emphasis chosen by the student in either Art Education, Fine Arts, Graphic Design, or Multimedia Arts.

Students are required to declare their chosen emphasis during the first semester Sophomore year. Entering transfer students are required to declare their chosen emphasis at the time of registration for classes.

The goal of all areas is to encourage individual creative exploration and to develop student understanding of artistic and cultural expression.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students majoring in Studio Arts (STAR) should know:

- The basic definitions, concepts, and techniques in visual arts
- How to discover their unique capabilities and personal artistic expression
- How to solve creative and aesthetic problems in the visual arts.

Students majoring in Studio Arts (STAR) should be able to:

- Represent a distinct sensibility
- Make artistic decisions based on an awareness of traditional and current art movements and technological advancements
- Expand their cultural and critical view of the history of art
- Critically analyze and assess artworks and concepts
- Prepare a portfolio needed to enter graduate studies or a professional career.

Students majoring in Studio Arts (STAR) are encouraged to value:

- The on-going learning and development of overall technical knowledge
- The abilities of others
- Expertise in the arts
- The awareness of art history within the larger human context
- The pursuit of new skills and insights for personal growth
- Service to others and the promotion of justice.

Minor Requirements

Students majoring in Studio Arts (STAR) should know:

- The ability to represent a distinct sensibility
- The awareness of art history within the larger human context
- The pursuit of new skills and insights for personal growth
- Service to others and the promotion of justice.

Secondary Teacher Preparation in Art

Secondary Teacher Preparation in Art

B.A. Degree in Studio Arts with an Emphasis in Art Education

The Art Education Emphasis is designed to create reflective, informed, caring, and capable artists who are skilled in using interpersonal and creative tools for teaching careers in California schools at the secondary level (grades 6-12). Students interested in earning a State of California Single Subject Teaching Credential in Art must fulfill all the requirements for the major in Studio Arts (STAR) with an Emphasis in Art Education (ARTE) and the requirements for a minor in Secondary Education (SEED). With the help of their advisor, students can carefully design a schedule to complete the program during their four years at LMU. Students who seek graduation with an Art Education Emphasis and a teaching credential should ideally declare the Art Education Emphasis as a freshman.

The LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Art is approved by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing. The Department of Art and Art History is a fully accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design.

310.338.4400) to sign up for the program and to discuss their course of study.

Please contact the School of Education at soeinfo@lmu.edu for information about all available Secondary Teacher Preparation Programs (STPP). All students interested in teaching Art in middle schools or high schools should meet with their departmental advisors as soon as possible and must also attend a mandatory School of Education Undergraduate Information Session. Please call 310.338.7845 to obtain the next scheduled meeting time and to confirm attendance. The advisor for STPP students regarding the School of Education is Terri Taylor (taylor@lmu.edu 310.338.7755).

The Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation (CUTP) is also available to assist students interested in teaching careers in both secondary and elementary education. Please contact Dr. Bernadette M. Musetti, Senior Director and Associate Professor of Liberal Studies (bmusetti@lmu.edu 310.338.4402). CUTP has a library of information and also sponsors several informational programs every year. CUTP is located in UH 3404, 310.338.1748.

Major Requirements for a Major in Studio Arts (STAR) with an Emphasis in Art Education (ARTE)

Core Requirements
Consult with the Director of Secondary Teacher Preparation of Art for Core recommendations. HIST 162 or POLS 135 required for students pursuing a teaching credential and recommended for all Art Education Emphasis students.

Lower Division Requirements (24 semester hours)
24 semester hours of lower division courses: ART 153, 160, 255, 257, 260, 275; ARHS 200 and 201; and ART 154, 278, 280, or 285 as the foundation for the Studio Arts Focus.*

Note: ARHS 200 also satisfies Critical Arts Core, and ART 153 satisfies Creative Arts Core.

Upper Division Requirements (27 semester hours)
27 semester hours of upper division courses: ART 355, 396 or 397, 455, 490 or 497; 9 semester hours of upper division ART electives*, ARHS 419, and a non-Western Art History course (ARHS 316, 318, 320, 321, 420, 421, 425, 428 or any non-Western ARHS 498 course).

*Studio Arts Focus Requirement
Out of the 9 semester hours of upper division ART electives, 6 must be in the same Studio Arts Focus. Select both lower and upper division courses from within the same Studio Arts Focus. Courses must be selected under the advisement of the Director of Secondary Teacher Preparation of Art.

Requirements for State of California Secondary Teaching Credential and a Minor in Secondary Education (SEED)
Art Education Emphasis students interested in earning a State of California Secondary Teaching Credential are encouraged to declare a Minor in Secondary Education.

The following education course requirements apply ONLY to those students who entered LMU after Spring 2003.

EDLC 400 Sociocultural Analysis of Education
EDES 401 Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
EDCE 412 Fieldwork: Secondary Directed Teaching
EDLC 414 Theories of Second Language Acquisition
EDLC 425 ELD Methods and SDAIE
EDES 428 Reading/Language Arts for the Single Subject
EDSS 440 Education of Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs

 Prerequisite courses along with these additional requirements are necessary for applying to the School of Education to earn the State of California Teaching Credential:
- Cumulative GPA of 2.8 or better
- CBEST original passing score report
- 20 hours of grade-level instruction (letter from ARTsmart Program Director)
- U.S. Constitution Requirement (HIST 162 or POLS 135)
- Fingerprint Clearance

• Tuberculosis (TB) Skin Test
• School of Education Application Form
• Statement of Intent
• Candidate Information Sheet
• Four Letters of Recommendation
• Technology Requirement (self-verification form)

Additionally, prerequisite courses are required along with these additional requirements and are necessary for applying to the School of Education to earn the State of California Teaching Credential.

All students interested in art education are required to consult closely with the CFA Dean’s office, the Director of Secondary Teacher Preparation of Art, and the School of Education for the updated program requirements. Consultation is critical to ensure timely completion of the programs. Additionally, students should contact the School of Education to arrange a time to attend an Undergraduate Information Session.

Fine Arts Emphasis

Major Requirements

Fine Arts Emphasis majors choose a concentration in:

- Ceramics (FACR)
- Drawing/Painting (FADP)
- Photography (FAPH)
- Printmaking (FAPR)

then select both lower and upper division courses from within the same concentration.
In consultation with an advisor, students may select an individualized option in Fine Arts concentrations (FAIS, Fine Arts--Individualized Studies).

Lower Division Requirements:
27 semester hours of lower division courses: ART 153, 160, 260, 275 or 276; ARHS 200, 201, 202; and 6 semester hours from one of the concentrations listed below.
- Ceramics: ART 276 and 278.
- Drawing/Painting: ART 154 and 257.
- Photography: ART 280 and 285.
- Printmaking: ART 154 and 285.

Upper Division Requirements:
27 semester hours of upper division courses: 12 semester hours from one of the concentrations listed below; 6 semester hours of ART electives; ART 397, 497; and an upper division non-Western Art History (ARHS 316, 318, 320, 321, 420, 421, 425, 428, or any non-Western ARHS 498 course).
- Drawing/Painting: Choose from ART 356, 358, 359, 378, 398, 453, or 454. (Recommended: ART 385 or 386, 300 or 301 and/or 400 and/or 401.)
- Photography: ART 380, 382, and 480; ARHS 340. (Recommended: ART 387, 398 Special Topics in Photography.)
- Printmaking: ART 353 or 368, 380, 387, and 485. (Recommended: ART 353 or 368, 380, 387, and 485.)

Graphic Design Emphasis (GRPH)

Graphic Designers are the visual communicators who capture our attention and imagination through the innovative uses of typography and imagery. From books to brands, to film titles, motion graphics, posters, and websites, graphic design surrounds us. The graphic design curriculum prepares students to envision the future of this persuasive social medium.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
24 semester hours of lower division courses: ART 153, 154 or 257, 160, 260, 275 or 276, 280; ARHS 200 or 201 or 202, 203.

Upper Division Requirements:
33 semester hours of upper division courses: ART 302, 303, 360, 368, 369; 460 or 468, 490, and two courses from either A. Intensive Professional Track or B. Interdisciplinary Track (see below); ARHS 360 and one upper division non-Western Art History (ARHS 316, 318, 320, 321, 420, 421, 425, 428, or any non-Western ARHS 498 course).
a. Intensive Professional Track
This spectrum of studio electives is designed to broaden the outlook on the design professions. The following courses should be selected in consultation with an advisor: ART 304, 362, 366 or 367, 396, 495.

b. Interdisciplinary Track
This spectrum of studio electives is designed to broaden the outlook on graphic design as an aesthetic practice. The following courses should be selected in consultation with an advisor: ART 355, 382, 374 or 383, 388, 453, 480.

Multimedia Arts Emphasis (MTMD)

Students who elect a Multimedia emphasis are interested in a future of authoring and designing in a world of new media and emerging technologies. This Emphasis provides a strong and flexible foundation in the visual arts and an understanding of critical theory, with the addition of computer science for a solid grasp of underlying technologies. The Multimedia Internship provides real-world experience with galleries, agencies, and production studios. Multimedia students at Loyola Marymount have the flexibility to concentrate in one of the following areas, and to hone in their creative and professional interests: TEXT, IMAGE, SOUND, or MOTION.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

- Students choose a concentration in Text, Image, Sound, or Motion, then choose both lower and upper division courses from within that same concentration. In consultation with an advisor, students may select an individualized option in Multimedia Arts Concentrations.
- Text: ARHS 200, 201; ENGL 201, 202; SCWR 220.
- Motion: ANIM 120, 220, 230, 250; DANC 160, 163; PROD 180, 200, 250.

Upper Division Requirements:

- 33 semester hours of upper division courses: ART 303, 363, 366, 367, 374, 382, 383, 494; ARHS 340 or 360 or 419.
Choose two courses from one of the following concentrations: Text, Image, Sound, or Motion below. In consultation with an advisor, students may select an Individualized option in Multimedia Arts concentrations.

Text: ARHS 340, 345, 360; ART 360, 362, 368; ENGL 311, 312; SCWR 320; THEA 400.

Image: ART 356, 360, 362, 368, 380, 453 or 454, 480; PROD 365, 366.

Sound: MUSC 303, 304; RECA 468, 498; THEA 312, 314.

Motion: ANIM 320, 330, 350, 352; DANC 381, 397; PROD 365, 366.

Recommended Courses
It is also recommended that the student take additional courses in Animation, Studio Arts, Art History, Communication Arts, and Computer Science.

Communication Studies

Faculty
Co-chairpersons: Wenshu Lee, Dean Scheibel
Professors: Wenshu Lee, Abhik Roy, Dean Scheibel, Philip C. Wander (President’s Professor)
Associate Professors: Barbara J. Busse, Jay B. Busse, Paige Pettyjohn Edley, Michele Hammars, Patricia Oliver, Kyra L. Pearson, Nina Maria Reich
Assistant Professor: Craig O. Rich

Mission
The Communication Studies Department encourages in its faculty and its students an education that fosters the development of the whole person, while promoting a commitment to social justice and cultural diversity. Our curriculum and faculty confront the most pressing contemporary political, social, and moral issues of our time.

To this end, our program prepares students to communicate effectively in the service of human dignity, civic engagement, and global equity. It seeks out and cultivates a faculty committed to generating scholarship and creating a curriculum balancing communication theory and practice. We strive to create an environment that facilitates faculty involvement in scholarship, outreach, and leadership in local, national, and international arenas.

Drawing on the unique cultural, commercial, and civic mix in the Los Angeles area, our program takes critical and creative approaches to personal and professional experience. Our faculty prepares students to distinguish themselves in a variety of professions, including education, law, social advocacy, politics, and non-profit and corporate communication. Our overriding goal, however, transcends professional achievement. It is to offer our students and ourselves the tools to make our global community a more equitable and just place to live and work.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students majoring in Communication Studies should know:

1. Basic communication theories and principles
2. The significance of cultural differences in communication practices

Students majoring in Communication Studies should be able to:

1. Demonstrate an ability to write and speak effectively
2. Critically analyze, assess, and interpret scholarly and everyday discourse.

Students majoring in Communication Studies are encouraged to value:

1. Critical orientation to the study of communication practices
2. Diversity issues in communication
3. A broad understanding of the relationships among communication, social justice, and ethics.

Major Requirements: (42 semester hours) (CMST)

Lower Division Requirements:
12 semester hours of lower division: CMST 130, 170, and 203 and 204 (both completed with a grade of C [2.0] or better). CMST 100 or 206 must be taken to fulfill the communication skills requirement in the University core.

Upper Division Requirements:
30 semester hours of upper division: Satisfactory completion of CMST 351, 352, 451, and 452 (all four completed with a grade of C [2.0] or better). Six courses of "communication applications" selected from CMST 330, 335, 336, 375, 376, 385, 386, 387, 393, 390, or 495.

Dance—Department of Theatre Arts and Dance

Faculty
Co-chairperson: Patrick Damon Rago
Professors: Scott T. Heinzerling, Judith M. Scalin
Associate Professor: Patrick Damon Rago
Assistant Professor: Teresa L. Heiland

Mission
Loyola Marymount University’s Dance Program is committed to the belief that all people can dance and that each person can dance many dances.

Dancing educates and enlivens the body, Movement experience, which is designed to purposefully integrate the physical act of dancing with the working of the mind and the flow of life energy and spirit, has potential to educate the whole person. Through studying dance as art and dance as cultural and personal experience, the life of a human being can be lived with integrity and vitality. Students come to know themselves so that they may better communicate with an understand people who not only...
travel similar paths but also those who come from widely diverse backgrounds.

The Dance Program at LMU is committed to the application of rigorous and excellent physical training; ongoing authentic personal reflection; and thoughtful, critical analysis of aesthetic, scientific, historic, cultural, and pedagogical issues as they relate to dance and movement studies. The Dance Program is, likewise, committed to the power found in celebration, imagination, joy, and practiced discernment.

Dance majors earn a B.A. degree and are well prepared for advanced study in graduate school as well as careers in performing, teaching, and related work in the fields of business and health care.

The Dance Program is housed in the Department of Theatre Arts and Dance and offers coursework for the Dance major (in a general track or performance track), the Dance minor, and for the student who wishes to pursue dance as an elective or general education. The program is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Dance.

Dance Major (DANC)

Student Learning Outcomes

DOING: Upon and after graduation, a Dance major will:

- Dance with an articulate, centered, expressive, and skilled body
- Perform modern dance, ballet, jazz, and world dance—at least two of these at the intermediate-advanced level
- Connect the work and play of the body with the life of the mind and the spirit
- Discern the difference between an uninformed, unconscious reaction and the spark of impulse that can be generated from informed intuition
- Use informed intuition and imagination to address issues in art and life
- Maintain health through a practice of integration of body, mind, and spirit and a balance between activity and stillness, work and rest
- Understand and communicate with people from diverse backgrounds using appropriate listening and observing skills along with appropriate oral, written, and dance-movement skills and sensibilities
- Interactively use knowledge of dance and dancing along with knowledge of the other arts, humanities, business, and the sciences to ask questions and solve life and art problems
- Employ media and technology to learn about dance, make dances, and navigate the world in many other ways
- Write cogently and speak thoughtfully about dance, dancers, and dancing
- Seek, lead, and participate in one’s community
- Seek solitary time for reflection and study.

KNOWING: Upon graduation, a Dance major will:

- Understand the critical importance of diversity in dance, dancers, and dancing as well as in the life of culture at large
- Recognize similarities and differences between and among diverse peoples and phenomena and acknowledge the potential opportunities and challenges therein
- Understand the workings of the physical and emotional body as described through the study of somatics, the sciences, and psychology
- Analyze the interactive stages of the creative process and employ critical analysis when uncovering questions and building "answers"
- Comprehend the process and craft of dance composition and understand aesthetic valuing in dance
- Know historical and cultural traditions in dance
- Know fundamental principles of teaching dance to others
- Understand and appreciate the role of music, theatre, and media-technology in the making and presentation of dance.

VALUING: Upon graduation, a Dance major will:

- Identify personal values as a center from which to depart and return as one is tested through life experience
- Respect life in its diverse expressions
- Acknowledge the power of, and seek continued development of, interactive and integrated physical-spiritual-emotional consciousness
- Appreciate the voices of intuition and imagination
- Tolerate chaos, confusion, and uncertainty long enough to arrive at invention and transformation when making art and live life in all its expression
- Know oneself in order to have the strength, freedom, and will to give to others
- Appreciate that knowledge is cognitive, emotional, and sensory
- Appreciate that knowledge is a critical companion to intuition
- Recognize how being "truthful," "heartful," and "mindful" ultimately leads to transformation and connection to one's life purpose
- Appreciate the importance of working as a community of dancers, colleagues, work associates, friends, and family and understand that this kind of work does not replace the need for solitary reflection and creation
- Appreciate that inviting more people to the "table of dance" could augment physical health of American people and enhance intrapersonal and interpersonal compassion and empathy.

Dance Generalist Track (GENL)

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

Interdisciplinary Applied Programs

Director
Dean Scheibel

Objectives
The philosophy of Interdisciplinary Applied Programs (IDAP) rests on the premise that students should receive a broad education that combines creativity and scholarly activity. IDAP deepens students’ intellectual and professional preparation for careers.

Music

Faculty
Chairperson: Mary C. Breden
Professors: Mary C. Breden, Rae Linda Brown, Paul W. Humphreys, Mark Saya, Virginia Saya
Assistant Professor: Michael Miranda
Clinical Assistant Professor: Wojciech Kocyan

Objectives
The purpose of the Department of Music is to provide quality music instruction both for students who wish to pursue music as a career and for students who wish to enrich their lives through non-career oriented study and performance. Students and faculty work together to foster aesthetic involvement and creative and scholarly inquiry that support a vital community of music learning. Instruction emphasizes a personal approach. Through the presentation of diverse musical programs, the department also sustains and enriches the cultural vitality of the University and its surrounding communities. The work of the department further supports the goals of Jesuit and Marymount education by strengthening the socializing influence of music both within the University and the world at large.

The Department of Music offers the Bachelor of Arts in Music degree, the requirements of which can serve as an excellent foundation for students undertaking advanced studies in preparation for such careers as musicology, composition, ethnomusicology, music librarianship, and pedagogy-oriented teaching. In addition to meeting all general University admissions requirements, students who wish either to major or minor in Music must meet specific Department of Music entrance requirements.

Loyola Marymount University and the Department of Music are accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students majoring in Music should be able to:

- Develop physical coordination and technical skills required for specific musical activities (conducting, singing, instrumental performance)
- Apply essential principles of music theory and form to the study and evaluation of musical scores (critical skills)
- Display familiarity with musical notation in performance and original composition (creative skills).

Students majoring in Music should know:

- The historical evolution of Western music as evidenced by style periods, performance practices, and representative composers and their works
- The varieties of music as a cultural phenomenon seen in its interrelationship with belief systems, life-ways, and language.

Students majoring in Music are presented with the opportunity to value:

- The power of music as an expression and reflection of human emotion and responsiveness
- The experience of aesthetic engagement that allows for deep identification with music
- The synthesis of perspectives—physical, technical, analytical, historical—that leads to a cultured musical sensibility and artistic performance.

Admission to the Major and Minor

An audition in the applied emphasis (Instrument or Voice) is required before admission to the major or minor. Audition requirements appropriate to each instrumental and voice emphasis are available from the Secretary of the Department of Music.

A grade of C (2.0) or better is required in:

- MUSC 122 (Music Theory & Form II)
- MUSC 181, 280, 281 (Applied Lessons)

Foreign Language Requirement

Two semesters of foreign language(s) through selection of one of the following options:

- ITAL 101, 102 or GRMN 101, 102 or
- FREN 101, 102 or
- ITAL 101, GRMN 101 or
- ITAL 101, FREN 101 or
- GRMN 101, FREN 101

The language options selected may be taken credit/no credit but require the approval of the Chairperson and the applied emphasis instructor.

Music Major/Minor

Music majors are required to complete a minimum of four semesters, and Music minors two semesters, of individual instruction in the following emphasis areas:

- Piano, Guitar, Percussion, Strings, or Voice:
  - MUSC 180, 181, 280, 281 (Major/4 semester hours)
  - MUSC 180, 181 (Minor/2 semester hours)

Each semester hour of earned credit in private applied lessons requires the following:

- A. One 50-minute private lesson weekly (total 14)
- B. Enrollment in MUSC 101, Studio Class
- C. Minimum of one (1) Studio Class performance per semester

Only students who have been officially accepted through audition and declared music majors or minors by the Department of Music may enroll in private applied lessons (180, 181, 280, 281, 380, 381, 480, 481).

No applied music fee is required.

Practice room facilities (free of charge) are available to all applied music students enrolled for credit.

Applied music courses are repeatable for credit. Majors who wish to continue credit enrollment beyond minimum requirements may enroll in the subsequent MUSC 380, 381, 480, and 481 offerings.

Music Non-Major/Non-Minor

Individual instruction is available in Piano, Guitar, Drum Set, Strings, and Voice:

- Permission of professor required.
- There is an applied music fee of $420.00 per semester for fourteen 30-minute weekly lessons. Applied music courses are repeatable for credit.
- Class instruction is available in Piano, Guitar, and Voice for students at the beginning level:
  - MUSC 175, 176, 177 Piano Class
  - MUSC 178 Voice Class
  - MUSC 179 Guitar Class

These classes meet once weekly, have a limited enrollment, and may only be repeated once for credit. There is a $50 lab fee for the piano classes.

Ensembles

Music Major/Minor

Music majors are required to complete four semesters, and Music minors two semesters, of active participation in an ensemble appropriate to the area of individual instruction emphasis.

Music Non-Major/Non-Minor

Membership is open to all students and the University community on audition-after-enrollment basis.

Theatre Arts—Department of Theatre Arts and Dance

Faculty

Co-chairperson: Kevin J. Wetmore, Jr.

Associate Chairperson and Production Coordinator: Katharine M. Noon

Professors: Diane Benedict, Charles E. Erven, Katharine B. Free, Beth Henley (Presidential Professor), Ron Marasco, Judith Royer, C.S.J.

Associate Professors: Katharine M. Noon, Kevin J. Wetmore, Jr.

Objectives

The Theatre Arts curriculum is planned to provide a broad quality education in the humanities and to develop in the student an appreciation of the whole self and the universality of the human experience. The Theatre Arts program promotes an environment that nurtures self-expression within all aspects of the discipline, ranging from acting and design to technical theatre and the history and theories surrounding these practices. Faculty and students collaborate to enhance creative involvement in and promote aesthetic and scholarly inquiry into the art of theatre and performance. Participation on all levels in the performing arts is central to this work. Through the production and study of both Western and world theatrical traditions, the program contributes to the cultural vitality of our students, the university, and the surrounding community. The Theatre Arts program supports the mission and goals of the university with a commitment to educating the whole person and providing students with the tools to be an active participant in the service of faith and the promotion of justice, and is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Theatre. The program offers the Bachelor of Arts in Theatre degree, the requirements of which can serve as an excellent foundation for those students pursuing a career in theatre, film, and television, for those who wish to enrich their lives through non-career oriented study and performance, and for those pursuing MFA and PhD degrees in performance, design, history, and performance theory.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students majoring in Theatre Arts should be able to:

- Strengthen their skills in observation, concentration, and imagination
- Effectively apply learned acting techniques to performance and/or creative works of their own
- Interpret dramatic texts and critique theatrical performance using appropriate critical language and analytical frameworks
- To integrate effective use of body and voice in communication in a theatrical space
- Read technical drawings, and apply a basic understanding of scenery, scenic materials, construction procedures, and standard theatrical lighting practices to theatre production
- Identify the basic elements of stage direction; analyze a play script from the point of view of the director; articulate and defend a production concept; develop actor-coaching skills; and

Marital and Family Therapy

Faculty

Chairperson: Debra Linesch
Mission Statement

The Graduate Department of Marital and Family Therapy offers a graduate program leading to a Master of Arts in Marital and Family Therapy. In addition to State of California required curriculum in traditional marital and family therapy coursework, the program is augmented with art therapy coursework. The department provides its graduates with comprehensive training in both verbal and nonverbal modalities. The structure of the program begins with the foundational marital and family therapy coursework, teaching sound theoretical understandings as well as a variety of clinical strategies, including art therapy as a modality. Additional coursework focuses on the art therapy process providing graduates with training in clinical art therapy and giving them breadth and skill in a nonverbal modality.

The Department provides two- and three-year programs of rigorous academic work combined with two clinical internships of approximately 840 hours and 420 hours of direct client contact. Initiated at Immaculate Heart College in 1974, the Department moved to Loyola Marymount in 1980. It encourages well-trained, traditionally grounded marital and family therapists who can expertly utilize art therapy within their clinical work. This philosophy effectively facilitates the comprehensive successes of our graduates within the systems that deliver mental health services in our communities.

The curriculum is designed to meet all the academic requirements established by the State of California’s Board of Behavioral Science Examiners for the M.F.T. license. The core curriculum and the additional training in art therapy allow the graduate to apply for registration with the American Art Therapy Association.

Student Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the Department of Marital and Family Therapy should know:

- A broad theoretical basis for the practice of art psychotherapy
- The complex societal culture in which they are engaging
- The legal and professional responsibilities of the licensed practicing psychotherapist.

Graduates of the Department of Marital and Family Therapy should be able to:

- Advance to professional engagement in the mental health community
- Describe individual and family dynamics according to the theory and concepts of the discipline of marriage and family therapy
- Delineate short-term and long-term psychotherapeutic goals and develop treatment plans
- Synthesize the art therapy modality with traditional theoretical approaches and use a variety of techniques and interventions to achieve systemic change
- Present case material in verbal and written form at a professional level
- Work with others from varied and diverse perspectives
- Engage in critical scholarly discourse in the field of art psychotherapy.

Graduates of the Department of Marital and Family Therapy are encouraged to value:

- An increasing commitment to change as part of the psychotherapeutic and artistic process
- The ongoing development of multicultural competencies
- Engagement with the community in the service of social justice.

Admission Requirements

- A Bachelor’s degree from an accredited institution with a GPA of 3.0 ("B") average or higher
- Prerequisites in Psychology and Studio Art
  1. A minimum of eighteen (18) semester hour credits (or twenty-seven [27] quarter-hour credits) of study in studio art which demonstrates proficiency and disciplined commitment in art making
  2. A minimum of twelve (12) semester hours credits (or [18] quarter-hour credits) of study in psychology, which must include developmental psychology and abnormal psychology
- Submit an application with a $50 application fee.
- Satisfactory score on the Miller Analogies Test (MAT)
- Autobiography with emphasis on personal life experiences rather than educational or occupational information
- Portfolio of art work
- Personal interview
- A $250 deposit must accompany your letter of acceptance within 21 days of notification by the University of your admission into the program. The deposit is applied toward tuition and is non-refundable.

- Admission is on a rolling basis

Program Requirements

The Master of Arts degree will be granted upon satisfactory completion of a minimum of 60 semester hours. A total of eleven practicum semester hours are applied towards the required total semester hours of credit. The internship fulfills a minimum of 840 hours with 420 direct client contact hours. The internship includes a minimum of two hours a week of supervision. This is provided by licensed psychotherapists who are approved by Loyola Marymount University.

Students enrolled in the full-time Master of Arts in Marital and Family Therapy program will complete the degree requirements in two years. A three-year day program is also available.

Students are required to maintain a "B" (3.0) grade point average in both classroom and internship tracks.

The Department takes seriously its role in the training of therapists. The personality as well as the intellectual capability of each student is carefully evaluated. In light of this, a student may be disqualified from the program for factors other than grades.

Students are required to receive personal psychotherapy during the first two semesters in the program.

Faculty members are practicing clinicians. The courses they teach are directly related to their work experience and area of expertise.

Summer Study Abroad in Mexico

The Graduate Department of Marital and Family Therapy has established a summer Study Abroad program in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico. While obtaining a master's degree at LMU, students are encouraged to attend the summer program at which they are able to fulfill degree requirements, broaden their appreciation for issues of culture and, specifically, the Mexican culture. Classes available are MFTH 620, 622, and 629.
FRANK R. SEAVER COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Administration
Dean: Richard G. Plumb
Associate Deans: Gary Kuleck, James M. Landry
Graduate Director: Stephanie E. August

College Mission Statement
The Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering is dedicated to providing outstanding educational opportunities in science, engineering, and mathematics in a mentoring environment to an increasingly diverse student body. The College emphasizes development of the whole person through its focus on ethical behavior and service to society.

The Graduate Programs in the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering provide opportunities for working professionals to enhance their skills and knowledge through a modern, professionally rigorous and conveniently administered curricula which balance theory and practice in the areas of engineering, engineering management and leadership, computer and environmental science and the teaching of mathematics to advance their careers, serve the needs of society and meet the challenges of an ever-changing, complex world.

College Goals
particularly applicable to the College are these goals: (1) to develop in the student the understanding that education is a self-discipline, and to place a greater responsibility for learning on the individual, (2) to integrate ethics into the curriculum in order to develop personal and professional integrity, (3) to help the student to become cognizant of the changing needs of humankind while interpreting and implementing the ever-increasing body of knowledge, (4) to encourage the student to recognize the wide applicability of scientific, engineering, and mathematical methods and to become skillful in their use, (5) to prepare the student for a world of accelerating scientific and technological change, (6) to impress upon the student that education must be a continuous process throughout one’s professional career, and (7) to enable the Loyola Marymount graduate, through theological and philosophical studies, to impress upon the student that education must be a continuous process throughout one’s professional career, and (7) to enable the Loyola Marymount graduate, through theological and philosophical studies, to make absolute and genuinely intellectual decisions and commitments about truth as it exists in the world and about one’s own nature as a human being.

Programs
The College offers degree programs in Applied Mathematics, Athletic Training, Biochemistry, Biology, Chemistry, Civil Engineering, Computer Science, Electrical Engineering, Engineering Physics, Environmental Science, Individualized Studies, Mathematics, Mechanical Engineering, Natural Science, Physics, and Systems Engineering, Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering faculty also teach the math, science and technology component of the University core curriculum.

Courses numbered from 260-279 are designed specifically to meet the University core requirements in math, science and technology for students not majoring within the College. With the exception of MATH 101, other lower-division courses in the College may also satisfy University core requirements. Check with your Dean’s office.

Application of General University Requirements
The University requirements for admission and graduation and all general rules and regulations of the University as set forth in this Bulletin are applicable to and binding upon all students enrolled in the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering.

Degrees Offered
Bachelor of Arts in: Biology and Mathematics
Bachelor of Science in Engineering in: Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering
Bachelor of Science in: Applied Mathematics, Athletic Training, Biochemistry, Biology, Chemistry, Computer Science, Engineering Physics, Environmental Science, Individualized Studies, Mathematics, Natural Science, and Physics
Master of Arts in Teaching in: Mathematics
Master of Science in Engineering in: Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering
Master of Science in: Computer Science, Environmental Science, and Systems Engineering

In addition, the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering offers Certificate Programs in Mechanical Engineering and Engineering and Productivity Management.

Teacher Preparation Programs in Biology, Chemistry, and Mathematics
The College offers subject matter preparation programs in mathematics and in science specifically designed to meet State of California subject matter requirements for a secondary teaching credential. Both the Bachelor of Arts degree in Mathematics (see the Mathematics section) and the Bachelor of Science degree in Natural Science following the secondary science emphasis in either Biology or Chemistry (see the Natural Science section) are designed to allow completion of the 2042 California Preliminary Single Subject (Secondary) credential in four years, although this may require some summer coursework. These programs are offered in conjunction with the School of Education. The College also offers courses in mathematics and science to support the multiple subject credential program for teaching elementary school (see the Liberal Studies section in the Liberal Arts part of the Bulletin).

All students interested in teaching mathematics or science at the secondary level should inform their departmental advisors as soon as possible and should also contact the School of Education to arrange a time to attend an Undergraduate Information Session.

The Center for Student Success in Science and Engineering
The Center for Student Success in Science and Engineering is designed to provide a wide range of services and special activities aimed at enhancing students’ academic performance and career potential. The services provided include career workshops, counseling on summer jobs and research internships, counseling on graduate and health professional schools, Academic Excellence Workshops, support for science and engineering clubs, and community outreach to local high schools, including a science and engineering summer camp. For more information about the Center for Student Success in Science and Engineering, contact Barbara A. Christie, Ph.D., Director, at 310.258.8647 or bchristie@lmu.edu.

Core Curriculum
Students in the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering will follow core curriculum A, B, or C below, depending on degree plan.

Note: Engineering and Engineering Physics students should follow Core Curriculum B.

A. Core Curriculum for the Bachelor of Science Degree

American Cultures
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
First- and second-year students choose from any lower division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. Third- and fourth-year students choose from any upper division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. A single course will generally not fulfill two core requirements. The only exception is a course that satisfies another core requirement which is also cross-listed as AMCS.

College Writing
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
ENGL 110 will fulfill the college writing requirement. ENGL 100 will not fulfill the college writing requirement but is required of certain students based on their performance in the essay administered in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in ENGL 110. All students who receive a grade of C- or lower must retake ENGL 110 as soon as possible.

Choose: ENGL 110.

Communication or Critical Thinking
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Communication:
Choose from CMST 100, 110, 130, or 140.

OR Critical Thinking:
Choose from CMST 206 or PHIL 220.

Critical/Creative Arts
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Choose from ANIM 120; ART 150, 250, 350; DANC 163; MUSC 105, 106; THEA 110, 400.

History
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Western Civilization.

Western Civilization:
Choose from HIST 100 or 101.

Literature
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Choose from CLCV 200, 210, 220, 230; ENGL 130, 140, 150, 170; FNLT 180; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, or 430.

Prerequisite: Successful completion of college writing requirement.

Mathematics, Science and Technology
18 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is met by the curriculum of the major.

Philosophy
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose PHIL 160. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempted from the lower division requirement.

Upper Division:
Choose one course from PHIL 320 through 330.

Social Sciences
6 Semester Hours

Student must select one of the following options:
1. Select two courses from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105.

Courses must be from different departments.
2. Select one course from: AFAM 115, APAM 117, CHST 116, or WNST 100; and one course from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105.
3. Select two courses from the same department. The first is selected from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105. The second course in the same department is selected from upper division courses that the student is qualified to take.

Theological Studies
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose from the 100-level series of THST courses. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempted from the lower division requirement.

Upper Division:
Choose from the 300-level series of THST courses only.

Note: International/Global Studies
The current core curriculum includes many courses dealing with international and global studies. All students are required to complete History 100 or 101, which deal with European culture. In addition, it is recommended that students take additional core courses which include the study of European cultures such as: CLCV 200, 210, 220; FNLT 180; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341; THST 320, 322, 331.

To further augment the understanding of world cultures, it is recommended that students also choose at least one core course that includes the study of Africa, Asia, the Pacific, or Latin/Indigenous America. These core courses include: GEOG 100; POLS 105; THEA 348; THST 180, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385.

Recommendations
Students are encouraged to enrich their program of study with selected electives from the following areas. Consult the Bulletin for specific offerings.

Business
Students are encouraged to take a course in the issues of business. Consult the Bulletin listings.

Computer Skills
Students are expected to become proficient in computer skills. Courses or workshops may be taken to help students develop existing skills.

Foreign Language
Students are encouraged to study foreign languages to the intermediate level. LMU offers Chinese, Filipino, French, German, Greek (Modern and Classical), Italian, Japanese, Latin, and Spanish on a regular basis.

International/Global Studies
Students are encouraged to select elective courses that deal with international and/or global issues. Consult the Bulletin listings.

Study Abroad
A semester of international study abroad is also recommended. Consult the Study Abroad Office.

Biology

Faculty
Chairperson: Philippa M. Drennan
Professors: Philippa M. Drennan, Martin Ramirez, Eric Strauss (President)
Associate Professor: John P. Waggoner III
Assistant Professors: Wendy J. Binder, Kam D. Dahluquist, Gary Kuleck,
M. Catharine McElwain, Carl R. Urbinati

The mission of the Biology Department is to promote an appreciation for and understanding of the science of biology in our students. The particular objectives of the Biology Department are to: (1) provide students with a broad background in the biological sciences; (2) enable students to master the essential concepts of biology; (3) develop students' ability to think critically about scientific information and solve scientific problems; (4) enable students to articulate ideas and present information in both written and oral forms in a clear, organized fashion; (5) encourage students to participate in original research; (6) promote interdisciplinary scholarship; (7) teach students the skills of both field and laboratory biology, and enable them to participate directly in the scientific discovery process; (8) facilitate students' independent exploration of career opportunities; and (9) participate in the University's effort to educate non-science majors in the areas of science and technology.

The B.S. in Biology
The B.S. in Biology degree prepares students for a variety of careers following graduation. Substantial numbers of students go on to health professional schools to study medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, optometry, podiatric medicine, and veterinary medicine. Other students go on to various graduate programs in the basic biological sciences (e.g., physiology, genetics, molecular biology, immunology, microbiology, marine biology, ecology, etc.), college teaching, and positions in industry and in research and development.

The B.S. in Biology program provides for the opportunity to double major in Biology-Chemistry, Biology-Physics, Biology-Mathematics, Biology-Engineering, and Biology-Psychology. A special option is available in Marine Biology.

Major Requirements, Lower Division: for the B.S. in Biology
BIOL 101*, 102*, 111*, 112*, 201*, 202*, CHEM 110*, 111*, 112*, 113*, 220, 221, 222, 223; MATH 122*, 123 (MATH 131, 132 may be substituted for MATH 122, 123); PHYS 253, 254.

* A student must complete with a C (2.0) average the lower division requirements indicated by asterisks, including a C (2.0) average in BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112, 201, and 202, prior to becoming eligible to take any upper division biology course.

The B.A. in Biology
The B.A. in Biology degree is a general liberal arts and sciences program. The core curriculum for the B.A. in Biology is identical to that of the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts except no additional core mathematics, Science and Technology courses are required. The B.A. will allow for a double major with other liberal arts programs. Pre-professional students should select the program leading to the B.S. degree.

Major Requirements, Lower Division: for the B.A. in Biology
BIOL 101*, 102*, 111*, 112*, 201*, 202*; CHEM 110*, 111*, 112*, 113*, 220, 6 semester hours of mathematics to include MATH 122*, plus 3.0 additional semester hours in science to be approved by the Department Chairperson.

* A student must complete with a C (2.0) average the courses indicated with an asterisk, including a C (2.0) average in BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112, 201, and 202, prior to becoming eligible to take any upper division biology course.

Major Requirements, Upper Division: (both B.S. and B.A. in Biology)
27 (B.S.) or 24 (B.A.) upper division semester hours in Biology, to be selected from the groups listed below, and to include at least 4 laboratory courses.

(a) One course in Cell/Organism Function, to be selected from BIOL 351, 353, 355, 356, 357.
(b) One course in Molecular Biology, to be selected from BIOL 330, 367, 437, 439, 443, 478, 479.
(c) One course in Organismal Diversity, to be selected from BIOL 312, 328, 329, 333, 334, 335, 338, 361, 422.
(d) One course in Populations, to be selected from BIOL 315, 316, 318, 328, 329, 338, 422, 474, 475, 477.

Note: BIOL 328, 329, 338, or 422 can satisfy only (c) or (d).
(e) One 2 semester hour seminar or research course.
(f) 3 (B.S.) or 2 (B.A.) additional upper division biology courses.
(g) The above requirements must also include one plant biology course to be selected from BIOL 311, 312, 315, 353, 437, and one field biology course to be selected from BIOL 312, 318, 328, 329, 333, 338, 380, 381, 422, (BIOL 312 can satisfy only one of these two categories).

In addition to the 27 or 24 required semester hours, upper division biology courses may be taken as electives. Students preparing for specific graduate careers should discuss appropriate courses with their advisors.

To graduate as a biology major, a student must accumulate a C (2.0) average in all major requirements.

Minor Requirements
BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112, 201, and 202; CHEM 110 and 112; plus 7 semester hours in upper division BIOL courses. The upper division courses for the minor must be selected under the direction of the Chairperson of the Department.

An average grade of C (2.0) must be accumulated in all lower division requirements prior to taking upper division courses. An average grade of C (2.0) must also be accumulated in all upper division courses included in the minor.

| B.A. Degree—Biological Curriculum (120 S.H.)

* The course sequence in Mathematics depends on the results of the Mathematics Placement Exam.

Students who have completed MATH 122 or 131 may begin the physics sequence in the Fall semester of either the sophomore or junior year.

The sequence of the University Core courses should be discussed with the student’s advisor.

Chemistry and Biochemistry

Faculty

Chairperson: S. W. Tina Choe
Professors: S. W. Tina Choe, Rebecca D. Crawford, James M. Landry, James A. Roe
Associate Professors: Lambert A. Doezema, Jeremy E.B. McCallum, David A. Moffet, Thomas J. Reilly
Assistant Professors: Nicole C. Bouvier-Brown, Emily A. Jarvis

The chemistry and biochemistry curricula provide students with a solid foundation necessary for careers in research, health professions, teaching, and industry. The flexibility of the programs gives students the opportunity to explore areas that build upon that foundation. Examples of these areas include forensics, environmental science, and material science. In addition, students acquire skills in critical thinking and problem solving useful in other professions such as law and business.

Chemistry and biochemistry are empirical sciences. In addition to intellectual mastery of the disciplines, the major programs also develop practical experimental skills. The LMU student obtains "hands on" experience, both in traditional synthetic and analytic bench chemistry, as well as in major contemporary methods and techniques, enhanced by the department’s collection of modern instrumentation.

Because of the complex and sensitive nature of the equipment and techniques of chemistry and biochemistry, continued participation in the programs is contingent on appropriate development of the ability to work maturely and responsibly in the laboratory.

Chemistry

Objectives

There are two tracks available in the chemistry major, ACS-certified track and General track.

The Bachelor of Science degree program, approved by the Committee on Professional Training of the American Chemical Society (ACS), ACS-certified track in Chemistry, is designed to prepare the student not only for immediate entry into the profession of chemistry at the Bachelor’s level but also for graduate study toward advanced degrees.

The Bachelor of Science degree program, General track in Chemistry, provides the student with a flexible program that builds upon a solid fundamental knowledge in chemistry. Students work with their advisors/Chairperson to select upper division elective courses in emphasis areas like health sciences—which include but are not limited to medicine, pharmacy, dentistry, optometry—and areas such as forensics, environmental chemistry, education, etc.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements: ACS-certified track and General track

CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113, 220, 221, 222, and 223. A grade of at least C (2.0) is required in each of the CHEM courses. BIOL 101 and 111; CHEM 190; MATH 122 and 123; PHYS 253 and 254. With approval of the Chairperson, MATH 131 and 132; PHYS 101 and 201 may be substituted, as a complete package, for MATH 122 and 123; PHYS 253 and 254. An average of C (2.0) is required for the BIOL, MATH, and PHYS courses.

Upper Division Requirements: ACS-certified track

33 upper division semester hours of CHEM courses, including CHEM 330, 331, 340, 341, 360, 361, 370, 371, 390, 391, 490, and 491. For UD CHEM electives, a minimum of 2 lecture courses and 1 lab credit must be selected from CHEM 342, 343, 372, 373, 420, 421, 430, and 460. The remaining semester hours may be fulfilled with any UD CHEM elective.

Upper Division Requirements: General track

31 upper division semester hours of CHEM and CHEM/Emphasis courses, including CHEM 340, 341, 360, 361, 370, 371, 390, 391, 490, and 491. CHEM UD electives and Emphasis UD electives can be selected from any 300- and 400-level courses offered in the Chemistry and Biochemistry Department. The Emphasis courses can also be selected from other CSE departments. All UD elective courses must be approved by and developed in conjunction with your academic advisor/Chairperson. Example emphasis areas are: Chemical Education, Environmental Chemistry, Health Sciences (Medicine, Pharmacy, Dentistry, Optometry, etc.) and others.

For both ACS-certified and General tracks: except for CHEM 390 and 490, a grade of at least C (2.0) must be obtained in each course included in the upper division requirements of the major. All upper division courses must be completed at LMU. Strongly recommended for those intending graduate study: CHEM 399/499. A maximum of 12 semester hours of Chemistry/Biochemistry Internship and/or Directed Research (CHEM 393, 399, 493, 499) may be included toward the 124-hour baccalaureate requirement.

To be eligible for the Dean’s list, students must have completed 15 semester hours at LMU for that semester.

Minor Requirements: Chemistry

BIOL 101, 111; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113, 220, 221, 222, 223; plus a minimum of 7 upper division semester hours of CHEM courses including one upper division laboratory course. These must be selected under the direction of the Chairperson of the Department. Upper division chemistry courses used for the minor cannot also count toward the individual’s major.

A grade of C (2.0) must be obtained in each course included in the minor.

No chemistry minor is available in conjunction with a biochemistry major.

It is suggested that the student interested in in-depth study of both subjects should major in chemistry and minor in biochemistry.

versity and that describe the expected accomplishments of graduates during the first several years following graduation. Civil Engineering program graduates will:

1. Be productive in the civil engineering profession or other professional fields;
2. Uphold the code of ethics of the profession and be cognizant of social justice issues in the practice of civil engineering;
3. Further develop their professional and technical skills through graduate studies and continuing education;
4. Be involved with civil engineering professional organizations; and
5. Exhibit leadership in the practice of civil engineering.

To accomplish these program educational objectives, analysis and design courses in the fields of environmental, geotechnical, hydraulic, structural, and water resources engineering are offered in addition to preparatory courses in oral and written communications, mathematics, sciences, and basic mechanics. A broad base of theory and design is provided along with discussion of current issues and practices of the profession. Through class assignments, students will become proficient in the use of computers and pertinent software, spreadsheets, presentations, drawing, and geographical information system (GIS) programs. Integrated with these courses is the University core curriculum.

Design in Civil Engineering

The civil engineering student participates in design projects throughout the curriculum both as an individual and as a member of a design team. The design experience varies in complexity as the student progresses through the program ending with the senior capstone design experience. Engineering design is the process of devising a system, component, or process to meet a specified need in an optimal manner. While the resulting design must stay within the appropriate specifications and constraints, consideration must also be given to economic, social, and environmental impacts and constructability. Accomplishing these varied goals requires creativity and involves considerable decision making. Many design projects are performed while part of a project team.

Civil Engineering and Environmental Science Graduate Program

Admission Requirements

All applicants must possess a bachelor of science (B.S.) degree or undergraduate engineering degree, which shall include:

- General Chemistry, 3 semester hours (1 course)
- Mathematics through one year of college calculus
- Total all science—12 semester hours or 4 courses, which could include biology, microbiology, chemistry, or physics.

The Department may require new applicants who lack an adequate background in mathematics, chemistry, or science to take additional courses prior to being admitted to or continuing in the program.

A completed application form and $50 application fee. Admission into the program is in strict conformity with the requirements for all graduate students. Upon review of the student’s undergraduate and professional preparation, additional admission requirements may be set by the Civil Engineering Graduate Studies Committee of the Department.

Program Requirements

The LMU graduate program in civil engineering and environmental science offers three major fields of study: 1) Master of Science (M.S.) in Environmental Science, 2) M.S. in Engineering in Civil Engineering with emphasis in Environmental Engineering, and 3) M.S. in Engineering in Civil Engineering with emphasis in Water Resources Engineering and Hydrology.

The candidate for the Master of Science in Engineering degree in Civil Engineering or Master of Science in Environmental Science must satisfy the following requirements:

I. Complete with a 3.0 ("B") average a minimum of 30 semester hours which include core courses listed in item 1A below and elective courses listed in item 1B below. At least 18 semester hours must be at the 600 level. Students that have taken any of the core or elective courses below as part of his/her undergraduate degree at LMU will be required to take a different course as part of the M.S. program. (Equivalent courses at other institutions will be considered on a case by case basis.)

A. Required core courses for each field of study

- M.S. in Environmental Science: CIVL 504, ENVS 631, ENVS 633, and ENVS 644 (12 semester hours), plus the Comprehensive Examination (CIVL 600, zero semester hours);
- M.S. in Civil Engineering with emphasis in Environmental Engineering: ENVS 631, ENVS 633, ENVS 644, CIVL 640, and CIVL 641 (15 semester hours), and Comprehensive Examination (CIVL 600, zero semester hours);
- M.S. in Civil Engineering with emphasis in Water Resources Engineering: ENVS 631, CIVL 608, CIVL 620, and CIVL 654 (12 semester hours), and Comprehensive Examination (CIVL 600, zero semester hours).

B. Electives courses for each field of study

- M.S. in Environmental Science: Choose at least two courses from CIVL 620, CIVL 640, CIVL 641, ENVS 635, and ENVS 645 (minimum 6 semester hours);
- M.S. in Civil Engineering with emphasis in Environmental Engineering: Choose at least two courses from ENVS 635, ENVS 645, CIVL 610, and CIVL 620 (minimum 6 semester hours);
- M.S. in Civil Engineering with emphasis in Water Resources Engineering: Choose at least two courses from ENVS 633, ENVS 635, CIVL 607, CIVL 609, CIVL 634, CIVL 635, and CIVL 656 (minimum 6 semester hours).

C. Courses in other departments (maximum of 3 semester hours), independent studies (maximum of 3 semester hours), and thesis preparation (maximum of 6 semester hours) may be taken as additional electives with the consent of the Program Director and the other department.

D. The remaining semester hours would be elective courses from the list below, to bring the total semester hours to 30.

Graduate Courses (See sections 1A and 1B above for required core courses and elective courses in each field of study. A description of each course is provided in the Course Description section.)

- CIVL 504 Applied Fluid Mechanics
- CIVL 602 Membrane Treatment Systems
- CIVL 603 Sustainable Engineering and LEED
- CIVL 604 Climate Change, Impacts, and Sustainability
- CIVL 605 Engineering Communications
- CIVL 607 Hydraulic Analysis and Design
- CIVL 608 Groundwater Hydrology
- CIVL 609 Open Channel Hydraulics
- CIVL 610 Water and Wastewater Treatment Systems Design
- CIVL 612 Air Pollution Analysis
- CIVL 613 Solid Wastes Engineering
- CIVL 614 Industrial Waste Management
- CIVL 615 Theory and Design of Waste Outfall Systems
- CIVL 620 Computer Applications in Water Resources and Environmental Systems
- CIVL 634 Groundwater Management
- CIVL 635 Contaminant Transport in Groundwater
- CIVL 640 Physical and Chemical Treatment Processes
- CIVL 641 Biological Treatment Processes
- CIVL 648 Hazardous Substances Management
- CIVL 649 Contaminated Site Remediation
- CIVL 650 Fundamentals of Environmental Health Risk Assessment
- CIVL 654 Surface Water Hydrology
- CIVL 656 Water Resources Systems Modeling
- CIVL 665 Economics of Water Resources
- CIVL 670 Contracts and Specifications
- CIVL 699 or ENVS 699 Independent studies (maximum of 3 semester hours)
- CIVL 695 Thesis (see Item 3 below)

- ENVS 500 Geology
- ENVS 615 Environmental Impact Reports
- ENVS 618 Applied Oceanography
- ENVS 625 Inland Waters
- ENVS 631 Principles of Water Quality Management
- ENVS 633 Aquatic Chemistry
- ENVS 635 Chemical Fate and Transport
- ENVS 644 Applied Microbiology
- ENVS 645 Environmental Engineering and Science Laboratory
- ENVS 650 Watershed Management
Ill. Thesis Option. With the consent of the Department, the student may elect a thesis, which may satisfy up to 6 semester hours of the elective requirements. The student may enroll for a maximum of 3 semester hours of Master’s Thesis in any semester or summer session for a maximum of 6 semester hours. Students electing this option must obtain a thesis advisor before Departmental consent will be considered. Formal requirements may be obtained from the Department.

In addition to the above requirements, the candidate of the Master of Science in Engineering degree in Civil Engineering (Environmental Engineering emphasis and Water Resources Engineering emphasis) must possess an undergraduate Engineering degree or pass the Fundamentals of Engineering examination given by the State of California prior to applying for graduation. Students who do not qualify under this condition will receive the Master of Science degree in Environmental Science upon completion of the program.

Sequence of Courses

Students starting the program in the Summer session. ENVS majors should take CIVL 504—Applied Fluid Mechanics during their first Summer session. CIVL majors should limit their course work to electives. Registering for CIVL 620—Computers and Environmental Analysis is not permitted. Students should then follow the program outlined below for "Students starting the program in the Fall semester."

Students starting the program in the Fall semester. Both ENVS and CIVL majors should take ENVS 610—Chemistry for Environmental Engineers and Scientists and ENVS 631—Principles of Water Quality Management. At the student’s option, an elective may be taken provided there are no prerequisites. In the subsequent Spring semester, the student should take ENVS 633—Aquatic Chemistry and ENVS 644—Applied Microbiology. Again at the student’s option, an elective may be taken provided there are no prerequisites. During the subsequent Summer session, both ENVS and CIVL majors should take ENVS 645—Environmental Engineering and Science Laboratory, and at the student’s option, CIVL 620—Computers and Environmental Analysis. ENVS majors who have not previously taken CIVL 504—Fluid Mechanics should take it at this time and defer ENVS 645—Environmental Engineering and Science Laboratory or CIVL 620—Computers and Environmental Analysis at the student’s option to a subsequent Summer session. During the subsequent Fall semester, both CIVL and ENVS majors should register for CIVL 605—Engineering Communications, CIVL majors, and ENVS majors intent on taking the Fundamentals of Engineering examination and changing their major to CIVL, should also register for CIVL 640—Applied Fluid Mechanics, and ENVS majors who have not previously taken CIVL 504—Fluid Mechanics should be taken.

Students starting the program in the Spring semester. Both ENVS and CIVL majors limited to taking electives which do not have prerequisites. The students are not allowed to take ENVS 633—Aquatic Chemistry and ENVS 644—Applied Microbiology (typical Spring offerings because these classes have prerequisites. The subsequent Summer session, the student should follow the program outlined above for "Students starting the program in the Summer session."

Mission Statement
- The Master of Science program in Electrical Engineering is designed to provide theoretical knowledge as well as practical applications in the areas of communication systems, digital systems and computer engineering. Through these programs, working engineers are given an opportunity to continue their education on a part-time basis.

Admission Requirements
Students seeking admission should have completed an undergraduate program in electrical engineering, computer science, or a closely related field. To be considered for admission, students must submit an application, $50 application fee, a statement of intent, and transcripts. Letters of recommendation and the Graduate Record Exam (GRE) are optional. However, the GRE Subject Test in Computer Science is strongly recommended for all applicants to the Master of Science in Computer Science who do not hold an undergraduate degree in Computer Science. Additional coursework may be recommended or required as a condition of admission.

Transfer Credit
Students may transfer up to six (6) semester hours for courses completed at another regionally accredited college or university. Credits to be transferred must be taken prior to admission. Course grade must be at least a "B," and course must not have been used to satisfy degree requirements at another college or university.

Program Requirements
During the first semester of attendance, the student should prepare a program of study with a faculty advisor. A degree candidate is required to complete, with an average grade of at least 3.0 ("B"), a program of study that must include thirty or more semester hours of graduate-level coursework and which may include additional prerequisite (undergraduate) courses, as deemed appropriate by the advisor in consultation with the department. Of the graduate-level coursework, at least fifteen semester hours are to be in 600-level courses. Students must achieve a grade of B (3.0) or better in all 500-level courses. Applicable courses generally include both CMSI and ELEC courses offered by this department, as well as appropriate courses from mathematics or other disciplines.

Electrical Engineering
A Master of Science in Engineering (M.S.E.) degree is offered in Electrical Engineering. Programs of study are composed of courses in the areas of VLSI design and communications. The program must include at least fifteen hours at the 600-level, including ELEC 601, plus the following courses:

1. Introduction to Microprocessors II (ELEC 584)
2. Probability and Random Processes (ELEC 532)
3. Introduction to Communication Systems (ELEC 521)

One or more of these required courses may be waived if the student demonstrates satisfactory completion of a similar course, or competence in the subject matter. Waived courses will be replaced by electives at the 500 or 600 level.

Computer Science
Undergraduate Program Description
The computer science curriculum consists of classroom and laboratory experiences related to the following topics: algorithms and data structures, theory and design of computer programming languages and systems, operating systems, compilers, interaction design, computer graphics, distributed systems, database systems, artificial intelligence, networks, and organization and design of microprocessor-based computer systems. The curriculum embraces the values, best practices, and philosophy of the open source culture.

The B.S. degree is awarded upon successful completion of the computer science curriculum. Department criteria for graduation include completion of all courses in the curriculum with a minimum grade point average of C (2.0) in the Upper Division Requirements listed below.

A minor field program in computer science is also offered, which emphasizes traditional topics such as programming and data structures. The course requirements are CMSI 185, 186, 281, 284, and two upper division CMSI electives.

Objectives
The program educational objectives for graduates are: 1) preparation for professional practice; 2) preparation for advanced study; 3) promotion of the ideas of life-long learning; 4) development of self-fulfillment through professional activity; and 5) development of ethical values and personal responsibility.

The program educational objectives are met by providing a curriculum which follows contemporary guidelines for computer science. Mathematics and digital hardware courses are important components of the curriculum. In addition to these traditional technical courses, and in keeping with the Jesuit tradition of educating the whole person, the curriculum includes core requirements in the humanities, communications, social sciences, and the fine arts.

Opportunities for involvement in professional societies, student design competitions, public open source projects, research with faculty, and University co-curricular activities are plentiful and help to accomplish these objectives.

Computer Science Curriculum (Undergraduate)
(124 S.H.)

Major Requirements
Lower Division Requirements:
CMSI 185, 186, 281, 282, 284; ELEC 281; MATH 131, 132, 248.

Upper Division Requirements:
CMSI 370, 371, 385, 386, 387, 401, 402, 486, 488; ELEC 385;
MATH 360, 366.

Electives
The 21 semester hours designated as electives must include one course in laboratory science and one course of upper division computer science.

Students are encouraged to prepare, in consultation with an advisor, a coherent set of electives, so as to:

1. Customize a computer science curriculum to feature a field of emphasis, such as scientific computing, business applications, or games and animation.
2. Achieve a minor or build strength in a field related to computer science, such as psychology, linguistics, engineering, logic, foreign languages, animation, economics, or the technical arts.
3. Achieve breadth in the undergraduate curriculum.

Objectives
The electrical engineering program has established the following program educational objectives that are consistent with the mission of the University and the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering. The objectives describe the expected accomplishments of graduates during the first several years following graduation. The electrical engineering program graduates will:

1. Perform effectively as practicing engineers and/or successfully undertake graduate study in electrical engineering or related fields;
2. Meet the challenges of the future through continuing professional growth; and
3. Exhibit concern for service and justice through leadership within their profession, as well as the community as a whole.

These program educational objectives are met by providing a curriculum which has both breadth and depth. Engineering science and design, mathematics and basic sciences are significant components of the electrical engineering program. In addition to these traditional technical courses, and in keeping with the Jesuit tradition of educating the whole person, the curriculum includes core requirements in the humanities, communications, and the fine arts.

Opportunities for involvement in professional societies, student design competitions, and University co-curricular activities are plentiful and help to accomplish these objectives.

Design in Electrical Engineering
Design is interwoven throughout the electrical engineering curriculum, culminating in a formal senior design project course. Freshman and sophomore engineering courses provide an introduction to design. The two junior and first semester senior laboratory courses extend this design experience to the integration of material from the upper division electrical engineering courses. Finally, the senior design project experience builds on the analytical and theoretical background developed throughout the curriculum as well as topics covered in the University’s core curriculum.

Electrical Engineering Undergraduate Program

Program Description
The electrical engineering curriculum consists of classroom and laboratory experiences related to the following topics: engineering design, electrical and electronic circuits and models, control systems, communication systems, design of analog and digital systems, and organization and design of microprocessor-based computer systems.

The electrical engineering curriculum leads to the B.S.E. degree in Electrical Engineering. Department criteria for graduation include completion of all courses in one of the two emphases, electrical engineering or computer engineering, with a minimum grade point average of C (2.0) in the Upper Division Requirements.

A minor field program in electrical engineering is also supported. Course work includes 18 semester hours to be determined in consultation with the Department Chairperson. All minor field programs require the approval of the student’s major field faculty advisor and the Department Chairperson in the student’s major field.

Accreditation
The electrical engineering program is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, 111 Market Place, Suite 1050, Baltimore, MD 21202-4012; telephone: 410.347.7700.

The freshman engineering faculty advisors advise all engineering students during the General Engineering curriculum. The principles and concepts that students learn during the first two semesters. Students must consult each semester with their freshman advisor and register for the appropriate courses listed under the General Engineering curriculum. Any variation from the recommended paradigm must be approved by the freshman advisor. The proper sequence of all courses should be discussed with the student’s advisor.

General Engineering

A General Engineering curriculum is offered during the first three semesters in which all requirements are nearly identical regardless of major. This provides maximum flexibility since students can switch to any major at any time during their first three semesters without losing any time or credit. During this period, students can be classified as "Undecided Engineering" or can opt for one of the engineering majors—civil, electrical, or mechanical engineering. The principles and concepts that students learn during the General Engineering curriculum provide the foundation necessary for more advanced study in all engineering disciplines.

The freshman engineering faculty advisors advise all engineering students during the first two semesters. Students must consult each semester with their freshman advisor and register for the appropriate courses listed under the General Engineering curriculum. Any variation from the recommended paradigm must be approved by the freshman advisor. Unless unusual circumstances suggest otherwise, a commitment to a particular major should be made before the second semester of the sophomore year. Students will then be assigned to a faculty advisor within their major. The Office of the Registrar must be informed whenever a student changes or declares a major.

Mission Statement
The Master of Arts in Teaching Mathematics program provides an opportunity for secondary school teachers to broaden their background in mathematical science and to correlate this knowledge with current education practice.

Admission Requirements
Students seeking admission to the Master of Arts in Teaching Mathematics program should have completed an undergraduate program in mathematics or a closely related field. The applicant must have completed a minimum of six upper division courses in Mathematics with a 3.0 (‘B’) average. If an upper division course in algebra is not included in the six courses required as prerequisites, a student entering the program will be required to take an upper division algebra course.

To be considered for admission, students must submit a Graduate Division application, $50 application fee, a statement of intent, and transcripts from all colleges/universities attended. A cumulative GPA of 2.8 as an undergraduate or a 3.0 GPA in at least 9 units of graduate level coursework is required. A letter of recommendation addressing the student’s mathematical background and teaching experience, if any, is also required.

Program Requirements
During the first semester of attendance, the student should prepare a program of study with a faculty advisor. A degree candidate is required to complete, with an average grade of at least 3.0 (‘B’), a program of study that includes thirty or more semester hours of graduate-level coursework, as deemed appropriate by the advisor in consultation with the department. Of the graduate level coursework, at least fifteen semester hours are to be in Mathematics and fifteen in Education. Available courses in Mathematics include topics courses in Real Variables, Complex Variables, Algebraic Structures, Geometry, Topology, Numerical Analysis, Probability and Statistics, Mathematical Modeling, Operations Research, and History of Mathematics. All fifteen hours of work in Education are to be at the graduate level.

In addition, all candidates for the Master of Arts in Teaching Mathematics are required to register for and complete an approved project in mathematics or mathematics education, MATH 695 (MAT Final Project). It is recommended that the student register for MATH 695 in the semester in which she or he intends to complete the project.

Mathematics Undergraduate Program

Objectives
Mathematics, as an intellectual activity, is both an art and a powerful tool for problem solving and for understanding the physical universe. A mathematics major explores the different facets of the discipline through a broad spectrum of courses in applied, computational, and pure mathematics. In addition to exploring mathematics, a student majoring in mathematics takes classes from other fields (e.g., science and education) that help her/him prepare for her/his chosen career. The Department’s programs allow a student to focus on different aspects of the discipline and lead to one of three undergraduate degrees:

- Bachelor of Arts with a major in Mathematics
- Bachelor of Science with a major in Mathematics
- Bachelor of Science with a major in Applied Mathematics

The Department offers minors in Pure Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, and Secondary Education Mathematics. These minors are designed for students majoring in another field (e.g., engineering, physics, business, economics, computer science, or liberal studies) who wish to develop an undergraduate background in mathematics that goes beyond the requirements of their degree program.

In addition to its major and minor degree programs, the Mathematics Department serves every department in LMU’s four Colleges, the School of Film and Television, and the School of Education through the core curriculum and by providing students in other majors courses designed to serve the mathematical needs of their fields of study.

Learning Outcomes
1. Content Proficiency. In each of the following subject areas of mathematics:
   a. calculus and analysis,
   b. abstract and linear algebra,
   c. probability, combinatorics and statistics,
   d. elementary numerical methods;
   students will be able to:
   1. State and use basic definitions and theorems.
   2. Solve basic problems.
   3. Decide on useful approaches to more complicated problems.
   4. Explain the central concepts of the subject.

2. Communication. Students will be able to communicate mathematics both orally and in writing. They will do so according to accepted standards in mathematics.

3. Tools. Students will employ a variety of tools such as the library, Internet, computers, and calculators to solve problems and do undergraduate research.

4. Independent Learners. Students will be able to independently investigate a mathematical topic.

5. Career and Professional Preparation. LMU mathematics graduates will be prepared to engage in mathematics-related professions or in a graduate school academic environment. This preparation will include significant pre-professional experiences.

Mathematics Placement Examination
The purpose of this examination is to determine the level of preparation of the student and to place her/him in the appropriate mathematics course. Any student with three years of high school mathematics including two years of algebra and one year of geometry should be adequately prepared to take this examination. However, students may wish to review these areas.

All first-year students with majors in the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering or the College of Business Administration, or who are Economics majors or Liberal Studies majors, must take the mathematics placement examination. Psychology majors are required to take MATH 104. All other majors are required to take MATH 102 or higher (see the section on Proficiency in Mathematics).

All students transferring into the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering or the College of Business Administration, or who are Economics majors or Liberal Studies majors, must take the mathematics placement examination unless they have transferred a college algebra or higher level college mathematics class approved by the Mathematics Department before entering LMU.

Any student, no matter her/his major, who plans to take MATH 106, 111, 112, 120, 122, or 131 and who has not transferred a college algebra or higher level college mathematics class is required first to take the mathematics placement examination. The mathematics placement examination may only be taken once.

General Major Requirements
Students must complete the corresponding Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science University Core requirements as defined by the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering; students will choose the proper sequence of University Core courses in consultation with their advisor.

Mathematics majors and minors are not permitted to enroll in a mathematics course without a minimum grade of C (2.0) in that course’s prerequisite. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in each course in the lower division major requirements. A minimum cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) is required in the upper division major requirements for graduation.

Lower Division Major Requirements
MATH 131, 132, 190, 191, 234, 245, 248, 250, 282; one science course chosen from BIOL 101, 102; CHEM 110, 112, 114; CMSI 185, 281; PHYS 101, 201. The Bachelor of Science in Mathematics and the Bachelor of Science in Applied Mathematics degrees require an additional science course chosen from the courses listed above; a second CMSI or PHYS course may also be counted towards the Bachelor of Arts degree in Mathematics (please see upper division requirements below).

Bachelor of Arts with a Major in Mathematics
This major is designed for students who are interested in pursuing a career in teaching mathematics at the secondary (i.e., high school) level. With the help of her/his advisor, the student may design a schedule carefully so that s/he can complete the 2042 California Preliminary Single Subject (Secondary) Teaching Credential during her/his four years at LMU. For more details on the additional requirements for a Teaching Credential, and a sample four-year curriculum which includes both the requirement for the Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics and the Teaching Credential, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin. Furthermore, a program may be designed that allows a student to complete the mathematics degree, credential, and a Master of Arts in Teaching Mathematics at LMU in five years including two summer sessions.

Upper Division Requirements (11 courses):
MATH 321, 331, 357, 360, 490, 493 or 497, 550, and one additional 3 semester hour upper division MATH elective (excluding MATH 301, 302) chosen in consultation with her/his advisor; EDES 488; and two 3 semester hour EDxx courses chosen from the list of requirements for the preliminary single subject secondary credential or one such EDxx course and one course from BIOL 101, 102, 201, 202; CHEM 114, 220; CMSI 185, 281, 282; or PHYS 101, 201.

Bachelor of Science with a Major in Mathematics
This degree program is designed for students who want a broad foundation in mathematics. By choosing appropriate mathematics electives in consultation with her/his faculty advisor, the student can emphasize in pure mathematics, applied and computational mathematics, or a combination of both. The degree can be tailored to meet the needs of students who expect to pursue a graduate degree in pure mathematics, expect to pursue a graduate degree in applied mathematics, or intend to work in a mathematics-related field in industry.

Upper Division Requirements (10 courses):
MATH 321, 331, 357, 360, one of MATH 491, 493, 495, or 497, and five additional 3 semester hour upper division MATH electives (excluding MATH 301 and 302) chosen in consultation with her/his advisor.

Bachelor of Science with a Major in Applied Mathematics
This degree program is designed for students who want an interdisciplinary program that combines the study of applied and computational mathematics with a scientific area of specialization. This program can be tailored to meet the needs of students who expect to pursue a graduate degree in applied mathematics or science, expect to double-major or minor in a scientific field, or intend to work in a mathematics-related interdisciplinary field in industry.

Upper Division Requirements (10 courses):
MATH 321, 357, 331, 360, 495 or 497, and three additional 3 semester hour upper division MATH electives (excluding MATH 301 and 302) chosen in consultation with his/her faculty advisor, and two upper division courses in a scientific area of specialization chosen in consultation with her/his faculty advisor and approved by the chair of the mathematics department. Note: Some areas of specialization require additional sophomore-level classes before upper-division coursework can begin; the faculty advisor will discuss these details with the student.

Biomathematics
Under the direction of an advisor, the student selects courses from the fields of biology, chemistry, computer science, and mathematics and obtains a Bachelor of Science degree through the Individualized Studies Program.

Any deviation from the above programs requires formal approval of the student’s advisor and the Department Chairperson.

Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Mathematics
For information on this program, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics Curriculum
Required in the courses included in the minor.

490, and 550. A cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) or better is required in the courses included in the minor.

Minor in Applied Mathematics Requirements
At least 24 semester hours including MATH 131, 132, 234, 245; MATH 355, 360 or 366; MATH 321 (MATH 248 is a prerequisite for MATH 321, so the MATH 321 option requires 27 semester hours), 357, 560, or 562; and MATH 250 or one additional 3 semester-hour upper division MATH course chosen in consultation with the applied mathematics minor advisor. A cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) or better is required in the courses included in the minor.

Minor in Pure Mathematics Requirements
At least 24 semester hours including MATH 131, 132, 234, 248; MATH 331, 350, or 366; MATH 321, 357, 471, or 550; and MATH 250 or one additional 3 semester-hour upper division MATH course chosen in consultation with the pure mathematics minor advisor. A minimum cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) is required in the courses included in the minor.

Minor in Secondary Education Mathematics Requirements
At least 24 semester hours including MATH 131, 132, 234, 248, 360, 490, and 550. A cumulative grade point average of C (2.0) or better is required in the courses included in the minor.

Description
Mechanical Engineering is very broad in scope and is pertinent to a variety of engineering activities and products, such as transportation vehicles, energy generation, machine mechanisms, manufacturing systems, structures, and processing plants. The Mechanical Engineering program provides a solid foundation for work in all of these fields. The flexible and modern curriculum covers contemporary technology as well as the fundamentals for future technologies. It is designed to prepare students for graduate school as well as for employment in industry. Engineering design is a major emphasis of the curriculum, and students work on various aspects of design projects throughout, culminating in a comprehensive capstone design project. Modern, well-equipped research laboratories support the curriculum. These laboratory facilities include computer-aided design and engineering, manufacturing, the materials science and materials processing, rapid prototyping, renewable energy, robotics, solid mechanics, thermal and fluid systems, and tribology.

Accreditation
The Mechanical Engineering program is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, 111 Market Place, Suite 1050, Baltimore, MD 21202-4012; telephone: 410.347.7700.

Mission
The mission of the Mechanical Engineering Department is to provide a high quality, practice-oriented, design-focused curriculum that prepares students for both graduate studies and leadership roles in industry.

Educational Objectives
The Mechanical Engineering program has established the following program educational objectives that are consistent with the University’s mission and Department’s program outcomes. During the first 3-5 years after graduation, Mechanical Engineering graduates will:

1. Advance in their professional careers and pursue graduate studies and continuous learning in areas relevant to their long-term goals;
2. Demonstrate leadership in professional activities such as research, experimental studies, and industrial projects;
3. Be capable of working effectively in cross-functional teams, communicating effectively, and participating in the practice of mechanical engineering design; and
4. Contribute to professional societies and demonstrate ethical conduct.

These program educational objectives are accomplished through the major requirements, the core curriculum, design competition experiences, internships, research opportunities, professional society involvement, and extracurricular activities.

Admission Requirements
Submit a completed application form and $50 application fee. Students seeking admission into the M.S. program should have completed an undergraduate curriculum in Mechanical Engineering or a related field from an ABET-accredited university. Students seeking admission into the Certificate in Lean and Quality program should have completed an undergraduate curriculum in any engineering discipline from an ABET-accredited university. If, in the judgment of the Program Director, a particular applicant does not have the required background, a series of "catch-up" courses will be suggested. Upon the successful completion of these courses, the applicant would then be admitted into the graduate program. Detailed information about the admission requirements for foreign students is available from the Graduate Admissions Office. The students applying for the combined B.S./M.S. degrees must apply in the Fall semester of their Senior year, indicating the "Combined B.S. and M.S." on their application form. All other application requirements remain the same. If admitted, they will take their first graduate course in the Spring semester of their Senior year.

Program Requirements
All courses listed below are 3 semester hours, unless otherwise noted. Each lecture-type course meets once a week.

Requirements for Master of Science in Engineering Degree, major in Mechanical Engineering
The candidate for the degree of Master of Science in Engineering who majors in Mechanical Engineering is required to complete, with a 3.0 ("B") grade point average, all of the following elements (1 through 5) of the studies:

* MATH 357 and MATH 360 are both required but can be taken in any order.
 Either MATH 491, MATH 493, MATH 495, or MATH 497 is required (one course only) for the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics.
1. The following three core courses:
   MECH 500  Quality
   MECH 504  Engineering Mathematics
   MECH 594  Project Management

   Note: The course MECH 500 is also a part of several certificate programs. If this course is already taken for a certificate, then another elective course must be taken to satisfy either the core or the other certificate requirement.

2. Either six elective Mechanical Engineering courses selected in disciplinary groupings by a particular student and approved by the Program Director, or two Mechanical Engineering certificate programs selected from the seven certificate programs listed below, (for a total of six courses), or one certificate program plus three courses. The disciplinary grouping may include a maximum of two courses of Independent Studies. MECH 599. The certificate program, if chosen, must be completed prior to the M.S.E. program.

3. Either two elective engineering courses or the Thesis course MECH 686. The selection of the elective courses must be approved by the Program Director. Possible courses include Mechanical Engineering courses and non-restricted Electrical, Civil, or Systems Engineering, and Computer Science courses, or courses transferred from other institutions upon the prior approval of the Program Director.

4. All 500-level courses must have the grade of at least 3.0 (“B”). The grade for each course transferred from another institution must be at least 3.0 (“B”). The grade for any 600-level course must be at least 2.0 (“C”), provided the overall GPA in the program is at least 3.0 (“B”).

5. A total of 33 semester hours of coursework (30 semester hours if the Thesis option, MECH 686, is selected).

Requirements for the Combined B.S./M.S. Degrees, major in Mechanical Engineering

Only LMU Seniors in Mechanical Engineering are eligible to apply for the combined degree program. Admission will take place in the Fall semester of the Senior year. The remaining requirements are as follows:

1. Complete nine 500- or 600-level courses (approximately half of each, subject to the Program Director’s approval).
2. One of the courses must be the Independent Studies course MECH 599 of at least three semester hours. It is highly recommended that this course be taken in the first summer session between the Senior and the Fifth year, or in the Fall of the Fifth year.
3. The overall GPA of all nine courses must be at least a 3.0 (“B”), the grade in each 500-level course must be at least 3.0 (“B”), and the grade in each 600-level course must be at least 2.0 (“C”).

The course load should be as follows:

Spring Semester of Senior Year
Complete one 500- or 600-level course, to be credited towards the M.S. degree, increasing the normal course load from 15 semester hours to 18 semester hours. An undergraduate student who takes only 12 semester hours in the semester can take two 500- or 600-level courses towards the M.S. degree. Upon satisfactory completion of the undergraduate program after the Senior year, the student will be eligible to receive a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering, and to participate in the undergraduate commencement ceremony.

Summer after the Senior Year
The student must take one 500- or 600-level course during each Summer session (for a total of two courses). The student is responsible for their housing during the summer. A student can apply for on-campus housing, if available.

Fall Semester of the Fifth Year
The student must take three 500- or 600-level courses.

Spring Semester of the Fifth Year
A student must take three 500- or 600-level courses. A student who has taken two rather than one graduate course in the Senior year will need to take only two courses in the Spring of the Fifth year, for a total of nine courses. A student who has satisfactorily completed the above requirements (1, 2, 3) will be eligible to receive the Master of Science degree, major in Mechanical Engineering, in May of the Fifth year.

A student who must adjust her/his academic progress due to personal reasons may be allowed to follow an adjusted schedule with the approval of the Program Director. The requirements will remain the same.

Requirements for Certificate Programs

The candidate for any certificate program in Mechanical Engineering is required to complete the three courses listed under that certificate program. The grade in any 500-level course must be at least 3.0 (“B”), the grade in a particular 600-level course must be at least 2.0 (“C”), and the grade-point average for all three courses must be at least 2.7 (“B-”). The certificate will be granted upon the completion of the three courses.

A student completing any certificate program is free to apply for admission to another certificate program in the M.S.E. program in Mechanical Engineering, or in any other engineering program at LMU if the requirements have been satisfied.

Certificate in Mechanical Design
MECH 512  Advanced Mechanics of Materials
MECH 611  Advanced Elements of Design
MECH 651  New Product Design and Development

Certificate in Materials Engineering
Three of the following five courses:
MECH 511  Materials Selection in Design
MECH 515  Composites
MECH 517  Fracture Mechanics
MECH 633  Electronic Properties of Materials
MECH 634  Fatigue

A student may elect to replace MECH 515 or MECH 633 with MECH 599, Independent Studies, Research in Materials and Engineering.

Certificate in Structural Dynamics
MECH 518  Shock & Vibration Engineering
MECH 538  Structural Dynamics
MECH 638  Random Vibrations

Certificate in Finite Element Methods
MECH 512  Advanced Mechanics of Materials
MECH 516  Finite Element Methods
MECH 631  Elasticity

Certificate in Systems Engineering
MECH 500  Quality
MECH 552  Systems Engineering
MECH 594  Project Management

Certificate in Thermal Engineering
Three of the following four courses:
MECH 542  Turbomachinery
MECH 543  Propulsion
MECH 623  Advanced Thermodynamics
MECH 643  Convecive Heat Transfer

Certificate in Lean and Quality
MECH 500  Quality
MECH 552  Systems Engineering
MECH 660  Lean Methods

Note: The courses listed under the certificate programs are for guidance only. A student enrolled in any certificate program may petition the Program Director to have any listed course replaced by another course to pursue his/her individual educational goals, or if that course is canceled, or already taken.

Assistant Professor: Sarah L. Strand
Clinical Faculty: Daniel A. Ramirez, Todd C. Schoeppe

The Natural Science Department offers programs of study applying basic scientific knowledge to either multidisciplinary fields of study or specialties not easily accommodated through the traditional science disciplines. The Department offers three majors: the Natural Science major, with emphases in Pre-Physical/Occupational Therapy and Secondary Science Education; the Athletic Training major, and the Environmental Science major. All students in the Department of Natural Science are required to complete an Independent Studies course. This can be accomplished by carrying out a research project under the guidance of a faculty member or through an internship in the area of interest.

Bachelor of Science in Natural Science

The Natural Science major provides specialized programs to provide prerequisite training for graduate programs in physical and occupational therapies (and other allied health professions) and content preparation for a high school teaching credential.

General Science Emphasis

Objectives
The Natural Science major, General Science emphasis, is designed to serve those students interested in a broad education combining general science, engineering science, and liberal arts.

The program prepares students interested in the areas of law, business, elementary education, studio and graphic arts, journalism, and other professions for work where a science background could be an asset.

Major Requirements
66 semester hours are to be taken from course offerings in the Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Natural Science, Physics, and Engineering.

Lower Division Requirements:
- NTLS 190 and one additional course must be taken in Natural Science. BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113; two MATH courses, including MATH 122 or 131; and PHYS 253, 254. In order to be eligible to take an upper division science course, a student must have a C (2.0) average in the lower division science courses.

Upper Division Requirements:
- 27 semester hours must be taken in upper division offerings in the Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Natural Science, or Physics. This includes an upper division NTLS course with laboratory and two additional upper division laboratory courses. Up to 6 semester hours of internship courses, undergraduate research courses, and natural science teaching courses can be counted toward the upper division science requirement.

- This requirement includes completion of 3 semester hours of Independent Studies at the senior level to enhance development of the student's science program.

- A student must have a C (2.0) average in upper division science courses.

Minor Requirements
18 semester hours consisting of four courses at the lower division level (excluding NTLS 190) and two courses at the upper division level. In addition, one laboratory course is required.

- This minor is not available to students within the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering.

- ___ ___ Upper Division Science with Lab 4
The proper sequence of the University Core courses should be discussed with the student’s advisor. The course sequence in Mathematics depends on the results of the Mathematics Placement Examination.

Pre-Physical/Occupational Therapy Emphasis

Objectives
This emphasis provides the student with the required courses in science, mathematics, psychology, and liberal arts needed to apply to either physical therapy or occupational therapy graduate programs. In addition, students are required to do internship work in a physical therapy or occupational therapy setting. This internship experience helps satisfy the volunteer hours required by the physical therapy or occupational therapy graduate programs.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113; MATH 104, 122; NTLS 151, 152, 153, 154, 190, 255; PHYS 253, 254; PSYC 100.

In order to be eligible to take an upper division science course, a student must have a C (2.0) average in the lower division science courses.

Upper Division Requirements:
27 semester hours must be taken in upper division offerings in the Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Natural Science, or Physics and must include NTLS 495. This includes an upper division NTLS course with laboratory and two additional upper division laboratory courses. Up to 6 semester hours of internship courses, undergraduate research courses, and natural science teaching courses can be counted toward the upper division science requirement.

A student must have a C (2.0) average in upper division science courses.

The following upper division psychology courses are required: PSYC 332 and 352.

Secondary Science Education Emphases

Objectives
The Science Education Program is designed to prepare students for careers in teaching high school biology or chemistry. The Secondary education emphases offer classroom experience and internship opportunities in addition to the subject matter content required by the State of California. The programs consist of: a breadth of knowledge requirement specifying courses in Biology, Chemistry, Geosciences, and Physics, a concentration requirement which allows for in-depth study in Biology or Chemistry, and an education requirement. Our program has been accredited by the State of California. Students who have successfully completed either the Single Subject Matter Program in Biology (SSEB) or Chemistry (SSEC) do not have to take the CSET (California Subject Examinations for Teachers) exam; completion of the program demonstrates subject matter competency.
Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Natural Science (Biology or Chemistry Emphasis)

For information on this program, see the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program section in this Bulletin.

Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training

Director: David A. Ramirez
Clinical Coordinator: Sarah L. Strand

The Athletic Training major is designed for students interested in pursuing a career as a certified athletic trainer. The profession of Athletic Training is recognized by the American Medical Association as an allied health profession. Certified Athletic Trainers (ATC) are members of the National Athletic Trainers’ Association (NATA) and are medical experts in preventing, assessing, managing, and rehabilitating injuries that result from physical activity. ATCs function as integral members of the health care team in professional sports organizations, colleges and universities, secondary schools, military branches, sports medicine clinics, industrial settings, and other health care venues.

Accreditation

The Athletic Training major curriculum, referred to as the Athletic Training Education Program (ATEP), is accredited through the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE). In order for students to sit for the Board of Certification (BOC) examination, they must graduate from a CAATE accredited program.

Objectives

The LMU athletic training student who successfully completes the ATEP curriculum earning a Bachelor of Science degree in Athletic Training will qualify to take the National Athletic Trainers’ Association—Board of Certification national exam to become a Certified Athletic Trainer. Also, the athletic training program provides the prerequisites needed to apply to graduate programs in a number of allied health careers. These include, but are not limited to, athletic training, physical therapy, occupational therapy, exercise science, and nutrition.

Athletic Training Education Program (ATEP)

The Athletic Training Education Program (ATEP) has a competitive admission process. Entrance into LMU does not guarantee entrance into the Athletic Training Education Program. Application to the ATEP is made during Spring semester of the student’s first year. Interested students will receive an application packet during the first week of NTLS 160.

Transfer students should contact the ATEP Director. If accepted into the formal ATEP, transfer students will have to successfully complete all credits for the major at LMU.

Application requirements for Athletic Training Educational Program include:

- A completed application form
- Verification by an appropriate health care provider that the student is in good health and has had necessary immunizations
- Verification that student can meet technical standards
- Two letters of recommendation
- The completion of observation hours
- A completed clinical proficiencies list
- A transcript showing the successful completion of the following courses taken at LMU with a GPA of 2.50 or better and a 2.70 (B-) in:
  - NTLS 151, 152, 190
  - CHEM 110, 111
  - Good standing in NTLS 160, 162
- Completion of a formal interview with the selection committee.

Notes:

- Deficiencies in one area can be offset by exceptional marks in another.
- Filling these requirements does not guarantee entrance into ATEP since an appropriate student to Certified Athletic Trainer ratio must be maintained to satisfy accreditation requirements.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

- BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113; MATH 104 and 122; NTLS 151, 152, 153, 154, 160, 162, 190, 255; PHYS 253, 254; PSYC 100.

In order to be eligible to take an upper division science course, a student must have a C (2.0) average in the lower division science courses.

Upper Division Requirements:

- 39 semester hours must be taken in upper division natural science courses which include: NTLS 355, 356, 360, 362, 368, 369, 397, 460, 462, 464, 468, 469, 478, 480, 485, 488, and 497.
- A student must have a C (2.0) average in upper division science courses.

One upper division psychology course is required: PSYC 332 or 352.

Physics

Objectives

The B.S. Physics degree provides a solid foundation in classical and modern physics. This program is well suited for the student who wishes to continue the study of physics at the graduate level, leading to a career in research and/or university teaching. With a proper choice of electives, the physics degree is also suitable for a variety of other careers requiring graduate education. Physics graduates can pursue advanced studies in fields such as optics, biophysics, geophysics and space science, nuclear engineering, business management, or law. Some physics majors choose electives that prepare them for medical school. Physics graduates can also select immediate employment in a number of areas, including high school teaching and various areas of industrial science and technology. Because of the flexibility of the physics major, with its numerous electives, it is possible to double major in physics and some other discipline. Examples of double degrees that can be completed in four years are physics and math, or physics and chemistry. Each of these double majors is very powerful, in that it develops the ability to solve problems that require a knowledge of two separate disciplines.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

CHEM 111, 114; ENGR 160; MATH 131, 132, 234, 245, 250; PHYS 101, 195, 201, 206, 212.

Each course in MATH and PHYS listed above must be passed with a grade of C or better.

Upper Division Requirements:

MATH 355 and one from MATH 350, 357 or 360; PHYS 301, 302, 312, 322, 411, 451, and three upper division physics electives selected from the following: 351, 361, 371, 421, 441, 461, 471. Seniors must complete the capstone experience, PHYS 480, and senior thesis, PHYS 481. To graduate, a student must have at least a 2.0 average in all upper division physics courses.

Minor Requirements

21 semester hours with at least 6 semester hours in upper division courses. These shall include PHYS 101, 201, or PHYS 253, 254; 206.

A grade of C or better is required for every course included in the minor.

Engineering Physics

Objectives

The B.S. Engineering Physics degree provides extensive education in engineering as well as physics. The curriculum combines the strengths of a physics curriculum (with emphasis on understanding basic principles) and an engineering curriculum (with emphasis on applications). Graduates are especially well prepared for either graduate work in engineering or applied physics or for immediate employment by companies with an engineering research orientation. With the right electives, the curriculum provides excellent preparation for graduate work in biomedical engineering.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

- CHEM 111, 114; ELEC 210, 213, 220, 281; ENGR 100, 160; MATH 131, 132, 234, 245, 250; PHYS 101, 195, 201, 206, 212.

Each course in MATH and PHYS listed above must be passed with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

Upper Division Requirements:

- ELEC 301, 353, 354; MATH 355; PHYS 301, 302, 321, 322, 411, and two upper division physics electives selected from the following: 351, 361, 371, 421, 441, 461, 471. Seniors must complete the capstone experience, PHYS 480, and senior thesis, PHYS 481. Students must also take a two-course sequence in a technical area. Among the options are: ELEC 302 and ELEC 383; MECH 323 and PHYS 451; ELEC 371 and ELEC 423. To graduate, a student must have at least a 2.0 average in all upper division physics courses.

Mission Statement
The mission of the Systems Engineering MS program is to provide working engineers and scientists with the skills and modern tools needed to manage complex, interdisciplinary technical endeavors and systems engineering teams to enable the realization of successful systems. The students may select the following study plans:

1. The Systems Engineering MS program.
2. The Systems Engineering Leadership Program (SELP) offering a dual-MS/MBA degree to provide integrated engineering and business skills for becoming systems engineering managers and leaders.
3. The Systems Engineering MS program with a Technical Focus or Concentration in another science, engineering or computer science discipline providing multidisciplinary breadth. The student pursuing this option will take three Electives in another graduate program offered by the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering at LMU. The student’s prior education must provide suitable preparation for such studies. The course plan must be approved by both the Director of Systems Engineering and the Director of the Technical Focus program.
4. A post-baccalaureate Certificate in Systems Engineering providing the skills required for conducting and managing basic systems engineering activities.

Admission Requirements
Students applying to the SELP must be accepted into both the Systems Engineering Program and the MBA Program. The following requirements must be satisfied for admission into any of the programs listed above:

- Application to Graduate Division (https://apply.embark.com/Grad/LMU/89) and $50 application fee
- Bachelor’s degree in engineering or science from an ABET-accredited program with a grade point of 3.0 (“B”) or better
- GMAT exam score (only for the MBA program)
- Three or more years of related work experience or permission of the Program Director
- Essay discussing how the graduate program fits the applicant’s career goals

Promising applicants who do not satisfy these requirements will be considered for provisional admission based upon their performance on the GMAT test, or their classroom performance during their first year in the program.

Schedule
The Systems Engineering MS program and Systems Engineering with Technical Focus MS program are designed to be completed in about two years by a working student taking two courses per semester. The dual degree Systems Engineering Leadership Program is designed to be completed in about three years. The Certificate program can be completed within one year. Students can be admitted anytime during the academic year. The application deadlines for admission are April 15 for the Summer session, July 15 for the Fall semester, and December 15 for the Spring semester.

Systems Engineering (SE)

Program Requirements
The students will be expected to adhere to the LMU policies and procedures stated in this Bulletin and those established by each course instructor. Students who receive a grade of less than “B” in any 500-level course or a grade of less than “C” in any 600-level course will not have the course count toward their degree. The overall minimum GPA required for graduation is 3.0 in the MS programs and 2.7 in the Certificate program.

The MS student must complete the requirements (a-c):

a. Core Requirements for the MS in SE degree:
   SELP 500  Quality*
   SELP 530  Systems Architecting
   SELP 540  Engineering Ethics
b. Three Elective courses:
For MS in Systems Engineering:
SELP 671  Spacecraft Design, SELP 673 New Product Design and Development,* or SELP 675 Introduction to Modeling and Analysis (one of three)
SELP 685  Systems Engineering Case Studies*
SELP 694  Systems Engineering Seminar

For MS in Systems Engineering with Technical Focus in X:
Three graduate courses selected by the student from another graduate science, engineering or computer science program offered by the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering at LMU, subject to approval of both the Director of Systems Engineering and the Director of the selected program. The courses must be at the 500 or 600 level, and at least one of the three courses must be at the 600 level.

c. SELP 695 Integrative Project/Thesis*:
With the approval of the SELP Program Director, other SELP courses may be submitted for the courses listed above.

Course requirements for the Certificate in Systems Engineering:
SELP 500  Quality
SELP 552  Systems Engineering
SELP 594  Project Management

With the approval of the SELP Program Director, other SELP courses may be substituted for one of the three above to meet the Certificate requirements.

Systems Engineering Leadership (SELP)
Program Requirements
The SELP students will be expected to meet the course requirements in both the Systems Engineering and the MBA programs. SELP students will be expected to adhere to the policies and procedures established for all students in the MBA program. The System Engineering portion of the requirements (11 courses) is exactly the same as those listed above under "Systems Engineering Program Requirements". The MBA requirements include 12 courses listed below. Additional information about the MBA program, including procedures for waiving core MBA courses, may be found in the MBA section of this Bulletin. Students who receive a grade of less than "B" in any 500-level course or a grade of less than "C" in any 600-level course will not have the course count toward their degree. The overall minimum GPA required for graduation is 3.0.

MBA Courses
Core MBA Courses
MBAA 601  Legal and Ethical Environment of Business
MBAA 602  Financial & Managerial Accounting
MBAA 603  Business Statistics

Introduction
The School of Education offers graduate programs in the following areas of study: Administration, Bilingual Education, Catholic Inclusive Education, Catholic School Administration, Reading Instruction, Educational Studies, School Psychology, Elementary and Secondary Education, School Counseling, and Special Education. The School of Education also offers a doctorate in Leadership for Social Justice.

The high quality of the education program is confirmed through its accreditation by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing, the National Association of School Psychologists, the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, and Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

Mission of the School of Education
In accordance with the Mission of Loyola Marymount University, the faculty, staff, and students of the School of Education understand and declare our purpose to be the encouragement of life-long learning and academic excellence, the education of the whole person, and the promotion of service and justice for all. We commit ourselves to serving public and private education by fostering excellence inspired by the Jesuit and Marymount traditions of Catholic education.

Goals of the School of Education
The faculty, staff, and students of the School of Education strive to work collaboratively in a student-centered environment to be professionals who act to:

- Value and respect all individuals
  We believe in the worth of each individual. We affirm the inherent dignity and value of each person as a child of God. Therefore, we believe that all individuals have the potential to be successful learners with unique characteristics and experiences that bring positive value and meaning to the learning experience.
  - Promote social justice
    We recognize the existence of social inequity, marginalization, and the different faces of oppression, and we commit ourselves to work actively for the establishment of a just and equitable society. While it is important to understand critically the structures, practices, and discourses that cause and perpetuate injustice, we also aim to nurture transformative structures, practices, and discourses that actively promote greater equity. This commitment challenges us to think with a global perspective, to embrace the notion of a preferential option for the poor, and to act with a conviction of equity.
  - Promote cultural responsiveness
    We recognize diversity as a strength, and we commit ourselves personally and professionally to serve culturally and linguistically diverse populations. These populations include those who represent cultural diversity broadly defined, including race, ethnicity, socio-economic status, gender, religion, sexual orientation, ability, and age. Among other valuable theories and approaches, we utilize sociocultural and constructivist perspectives in teaching and learning. We value these and other perspectives that promote active participation in learning as well as meaningful and authentic instruction and assessment and emphasize students’ cultural and linguistic background experiences.

- Integrate theory and practice
  We strive to unite theory and practice in a reciprocal relationship that mutually informs each other. We are a community of reflective practitioners, guided by critical inquiry and social responsibility. We actively engage in educational research, including faculty/student collaboration. We affirm the use of technology in education as authentic, meaningful, and accessible to all learners.
- Develop moral, intellectual, responsible, and caring leaders
  We are committed to the preparation of educators who will be leaders in the field and who reflect high standards of ethics and values. We seek to be, and to encourage others to be, women and men who have the intellectual skills to critically evaluate educational issues, have the moral conviction to respond as agents of change, and exhibit an ethic of care in the service of others.
- Collaborate and share leadership across communities
  We believe in the value of working collaboratively with the districts, schools, parents, and students of the communities we serve to successfully educate all learners. We recognize, support, and promote the gifts and talents of community members and encourage their participation in decision-making processes.

Candidate Outcomes and Proficiencies

Unit Outcome 1: Respect and value all individuals and communities

Proficiencies for Teacher Candidates
The candidate knows, values, and integrates the diversity of students and their communities
The candidate promotes a culture of high expectations for all
The candidate engages learners using inclusive teaching strategies and practices
The candidate uses multiple resources to better understand and serve learners and their communities

Proficiencies for Other Professional School Personnel
The candidate knows, values, and integrates the diversity of students and their communities
The candidate promotes a culture of high expectations for all
The candidate engages learners using inclusive professional strategies and practices
The candidate uses multiple resources to better understand and serve learners and their communities

Unit Outcome 2: Educate by integrating theory and practice

Proficiencies for Teacher Candidates
The candidate demonstrates knowledge of historical, philosophical, socio-political, economic, and legal influences on education
The candidate uses a critical lens to evaluate and deliver subject matter
The candidate reflects on personal experience of self and others to inform educational practice
The candidate knows and models exemplary professional practices
The candidate utilizes multiple research methodologies
The candidate integrates content and pedagogical knowledge, academic skills, and technology in professional practice

Proficiencies for Other Professional School Personnel
The candidate demonstrates knowledge of historical, philosophical, socio-political, economic, and legal influences on education
The candidate uses a critical lens to evaluate and support the delivery of content knowledge
The candidate reflects on personal experience of self and others to inform professional practice
The candidate knows and models exemplary professional practices
The candidate utilizes multiple research methodologies
The candidate integrates theory, skills, and technology in professional practice

Unit Outcome 3: Advocate for access to a socially just education

Proficiencies for Teacher Candidates
- School Personnel
- The candidate demonstrates effective communication and collaboration
- The candidate promotes academic excellence
- The candidate uses pedagogical skills to implement principles of equity and empowerment
- The candidate understands and responds to issues related to the preferential option for the poor and marginalized groups
- The candidate advocates for and critically uses technology
- The candidate demonstrates a commitment to ongoing professional development including participation in professional organizations

Proficiencies for Other Professional
- The candidate demonstrates effective communication and collaboration
- The candidate promotes academic excellence
- The candidate uses pedagogical skills to implement principles of equity and empowerment
- The candidate understands and actively responds to issues related to the preferential option for the poor and marginalized groups
- The candidate advocates for and critically uses technology
- The candidate demonstrates a commitment to ongoing professional development including participation in professional organizations

Unit Outcome 4: Lead in order to facilitate transformation

Proficiencies for Teacher Candidates
- The candidate practices effective, ethical, and moral leadership
- The candidate shares and collaboratively constructs an inclusive vision with learning communities
- The candidate seeks, reflects upon, and responds to constructive feedback
- The candidate understands the factors and utilizes the processes that lead to systemic change
- The candidate understands and promotes equitable and effective assessment and evaluation systems

Proficiencies for Other Professional
- The candidate practices effective, ethical, and moral leadership
- The candidate shares and collaboratively constructs an inclusive vision with learning communities
- The candidate seeks, reflects upon, and responds to constructive feedback
- The candidate understands the factors and utilizes the processes that lead to systemic change
- The candidate understands and promotes equitable and effective assessment and evaluation systems

School of Education Academic Regulations

Graduate Admissions Policies
Applicants for graduate programs are encouraged to contact SOE Admissions for advice and assistance in meeting the admission requirements.

Categories of Admission
- Categories of admission for the Credential, Master of Arts degrees, Education Specialist degree, and Doctoral degree programs are as follows:
  - Formal Admission: Formally admitted students are those who have completed the entire application process and have been accepted by a particular program with no conditions or provisions.
  - Provisional Admission: Provisionally admitted students are those who are missing one or more items for formal admission.
  - Controlled Admission: Students who are admitted on Controlled Admission are either missing their official transcripts with degrees posted or who were accepted through the exceptions process. Students on Controlled Admission are admitted under academic probation. Students admitted on Controlled Admission are required to:
    - Submit two sets of official transcripts with bachelor’s and/or Master of Arts degree posted
    - Receive at least a "B" (3.0) or better in each of their first two courses (6 units)
    - Remain in good standing in the academic program
    - Enroll in a maximum of two courses for a maximum of one semester.
    - To continue in the program, students must advance to provisional or formal admission status by the end of the first semester or by completion of their first six semester hours.
  - Non-Degree Status: Students admitted as non-degree students are not guaranteed admission to the School of Education.

Exception Policy
Applicants who have been denied admissions based on GPA may appeal through the exceptions process upon recommendation of the program director or admissions coordinator. A student with a GPA below 2.8 and above 2.5 may submit a written petition for admission. Candidates accepted through exceptions process will be admitted on controlled admission status as described above.

Graduate Transfer Credit
School of Education graduate students must submit transfer credit requests at the time of admission in order to receive credit toward a degree for graduate-level work taken at other regionally accredited colleges and universities. The request must be in writing and accompanied with a course syllabus and Bulletin description for each course they wish to transfer. All transferred course credit requested must have received a grade of at least 3.0 (B). Courses used to satisfy a degree requirement at another college or university cannot be used for transfer credit with the exception of core or prerequisite requirements. Students may request a transfer for up to 6 semester (9 quarter) hours of graduate units. Transfer coursework may not be more than five years old. Transfer credit requests received after admission will not be considered. The Office of the Registrar grants final approval of transfer credit.

Adding a Second LMU Master of Arts Degree
A student who has earned a Master of Arts degree from the School of Education may apply up to three applicable core courses from that degree toward a second Master of Arts degree with the approval of the program director. The student must successfully complete all other requirements for the second degree.

Advising

Orientation
New students are strongly encouraged to attend Student Orientation.

Academic Advising
Upon admission to the School of Education, students are assigned an academic advisor. The advisor will assist students with course sequencing, enrollment, and monitor their progress toward program completion. Students are advised to schedule a meeting with their academic advisor as soon as possible after admission and consult with their academic advisor regularly on program requirements and registration.

Professional Advising
Faculty are available to meet with students to discuss professional, career, academic, and educational issues. Students are encouraged to see their program director for professional advisement.

Technology
The School of Education emphasizes and supports the use of technology throughout its programs. To aid in the integration of technology, the School of Education maintains a computer lab as well as two computer classrooms in University Hall. The lab is available for use by School of Education students and faculty only. Hours are posted at the lab and at the School of Education website (http://soe.lmu.edu). The eClassrooms are intended for whole class instruction and are available for reservation by faculty. There are several general use student computer labs in various locations on campus.

Basic Technology Skills
All SOE applicants must verify that they are capable of basic technology skills necessary for success in the School of Education.

E-mail Accounts
The School of Education will utilize students’ LMU e-mail accounts to contact students. Students must check this account regularly or forward it to a preferred account. Students should contact the Student Help Desk for information on e-mail and network access accounts.

ePortfolio/LiveText
LiveText is web-based software used by students to complete fieldwork and course assignments. All undergraduate, Masters, Education Specialist, credential, and certificate students enrolled in the School of Education are required to purchase and utilize LiveText. An ePortfolio fee is assessed student at the beginning of their first semester of enrollment. The fee covers a three-year subscription for LiveText. Students taking more than three years to complete their programs will be reassessed the ePortfolio fee.

Grading
Credit/No Credit (CR/NC)
A number of courses in the School of Education are offered on a Credit-No Credit basis. Credit indicates a graduate student has earned at least a "B" or an undergraduate student has earned at least a "C" in the course. Certain State mandated credential courses must be taken for a grade. Instructors should be consulted for clarification.

Incomplete (I)
A grade of Incomplete "I" may be requested by the student to the instructor in extraordinary circumstances and when a candidate has completed a minimum of 80% of the course work. The instructor may not approve the request. Graduate students with more than two Incompletes will be blocked from registration.

In Progress (IP)
In Progress grades are given in fieldwork classes when the academic calendars of the PK-12 school and the university do not align. The In Progress grade indicates that the fieldwork is in progress at the time grades were submitted. An IP grade will be replaced by a grade of CR or NC.

Support for Candidates’ Development of Academic and Professional Standards
The School of Education is committed to the development of the qualified educators to work in public, private, and Catholic schools. This commitment is made to the candidates, to the students with whom they will work, and to the general public we serve. The faculty strives to enhance each candidate’s ability to work effectively with students and families, and to be highly sought by schools and school districts. During the candidate’s course of study in the School of Education, the faculty will provide feedback and support to candidates in both their academic and professional development.

Academic Development
When a candidate is not able to meet the minimum academic expectations in a course, the instructor will conduct one-on-one meeting(s) with the candidate to develop a remediation plan. This plan may include, but is not limited to: referral to the program director; tutorials provided by the faculty; support from peers; or a referral to the University’s Learning Resource Center. If the candidate is not able to attain the minimum course grade needed for graduation, he/she may retake the course to attain a higher grade with approval from the program director.

All candidates are required to maintain a minimum semester and cumulative GPA of 3.0 during their course of study. Candidates will be placed on academic probation if they fail to meet the minimum GPA. The candidate will be required to meet with the program director who will monitor the candidate’s progress. Students on academic probation must receive a "B" or better in the following semester or be subject to disqualification from the University.

Professional (Non Academic) Development
The School of Education, the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education have determined that non-academic qualities are necessary for educators to be successful. Non-academic factors include behaviors, dispositions, and attitudes that educators must positively develop and demonstrate. If a candidate fails to meet appropriate professional expectations in class or in field placements, the School of Education will assist with the student’s professional development.

Assistance with professional development will take the following steps:

- The instructor will consult with the student and complete a Concerns Form.
- The instructor and program director will work with the student to develop a remediation plan. Assistance may include: specific tutorials provided by any member of the faculty; a referral to LMU Student Psychological Services; or other referrals.
- The instructor, program director, and student will meet with the associate dean if necessary.
- The program director will monitor the student’s progress in accordance with the developed remediation plan.

Students who cannot uphold academic or non-academic standards may be disqualified from their program. Students who are disqualified from one program in the School of Education are not eligible for any other program in the School.

Comprehensive Assessment
All students completing a Master of Arts degree must successfully pass a Comprehensive Examination, a Culminating Experience, or successfully complete a thesis in their subject area.

Statement of Professional Disposition
The National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) requires the LMU School of Education to assess the professional dispositions of education credential and degree candidates. According to NCATE, professional dispositions are “The values, commitments, and professional ethics that influence behavior toward students, families, colleagues, and communities and affect student learning, motivation, and development as the educator’s own professional growth. Dispositions are guided by beliefs and attitudes related to values such as caring, fairness, honesty, responsibility, and social justice.” Throughout a candidate’s program, the faculty will assess the School of Education Unit and Program Professional Dispositions and determine if the candidate is meeting the professional expectations. If the candidate is not meeting the professional expectations may result in a remediation process for the candidate. In extreme cases, failure to meet professional expectations could warrant dismissal from an education program. The School of Education holds four Unit Dispositions that shape the professional expectations for all candidates: “We strive to be, and to educate professionals to be, educators who: Respect and value all individuals and communities; Educate by integrating theory and practice; Advocate for access to a socially just education; and Lead in order to facilitate transformation.”

Comprehensive Examination
Students are required to enroll in and receive credit for 6995, Comprehensive Examination, to complete the Master of Arts degree. There is a fee charged for this zero semester hour course.

The comprehensive examination is not just a quantitative or cumulative extension of the examination content of all required courses. Rather, it examines a candidate’s ability to apply acquired knowledge and experiences to a set of practical problems within the candidate’s field of specialization. The comprehensive examination can be written and/or oral. The various Master of Arts degrees have specific requirements as to what type of comprehensive examination is required. Students should consult their program director as to the type of comprehensive examination required.

Thesis
Select programs within the School of Education offer a thesis option in place of the comprehensive examination. The course requirement section of each program will indicate whether this option available. Students in those programs who are interested in this option must meet the thesis guidelines as specified by their program director. In addition to meeting the thesis criteria and guidelines, students in the thesis option must complete EDLA 6950, Advanced Research Methods; EDLA 6951, Advanced Research Design; and EDCE 6955, Master of Arts Thesis I. Continuing course enrollment in EDCE 6956 and EDCE 6957, Master of Arts Thesis II and III may also be required.

Graduation
A commencement ceremony is held at the end of the Spring term for those candidates who wish to participate. Please consult the Registrar’s website for more detailed information.

Application for Degree
Degrees are awarded at the end of the Spring, Fall, and Summer terms. Candidates must submit a formal application for degree to the Office of the Registrar. The deadlines to apply for degree are listed in the University calendar. The degree will not be posted to the candidate’s transcript if an application for degree is not submitted. See the Registrar’s website for more detailed information.

Requirements for Graduation
1. All requirements for the degree must be met prior to the degree date.
2. The date of the degree posted on the student’s transcript and diploma is the one by which all graduation requirements, including the application for degree, have been completed.
Failure to comply with these regulations will preclude the granting of a degree. Those who have applied for a degree and do not complete the requirements before the projected date of completion for which they applied are required to reapply in a later semester.

School of Education Academic Awards
The School of Education will name an Outstanding Student for each graduate and undergraduate program, with the exception of the Doctoral program. The recipient must be a student graduating in the current academic year. The candidates for these awards are nominated and voted upon by faculty in recognition of the graduate’s academic, personal, and professional qualities that best exemplify the mission and goals of the School of Education.

Credential Application Process
The California Commission on Teacher Credentialing issues credentials upon the recommendation of the School of Education.
A credential application must be submitted to the School of Education Credential Office at the completion of the candidate’s credential program requirements. Final transcripts that reflect completion of program requirements must be requested from the Office of the Registrar and submitted to the Credential Office. See the School of Education credential section of the website at http://soe.lmu.edu for detailed information on the credential application process.

Student Records and Materials
All materials submitted to the School of Education are property of the School of Education and will not be returned to the student. Students are advised to make copies of all materials submitted for their records.

Statement of Professional Dispositions
The National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) requires the LMU School of Education to assess the professional dispositions of education credential and degree candidates. According to NCATE, professional dispositions are “The values, commitments, and professional ethics that influence behavior toward students, families, colleagues, and communities and affect student learning, motivation, and development as the educator’s own professional growth. Dispositions are guided by beliefs and attitudes related to values such as caring, fairness, honesty, responsibility, and social justice.” Throughout a candidate’s program, the faculty will assess the School of Education Unit and Program Professional Dispositions, and failure to meet professional expectations may result in a remediation process for the candidate. In extreme cases, failure to meet professional expectations could warrant dismissal from an education program. The School of Education holds four Unit Dispositions that shape the professional expectations for all candidates: “We strive to be, and to educate professionals to be, educators who: Respect and value all individuals and communities; Educate by integrating theory and practice; Advocate for access to a socially just education; and Lead in order to facilitate transformation.”

The Ed.D. in Educational Leadership for Social Justice is a three year cohort program which prepares leaders for public, Charter, Catholic, and private education. The program will prepare leaders to assume positions of responsibility, transform educational settings, serve as agents of social change, and raise academic achievement levels for all. The focus of the program will be on the promotion of leadership for equity, the study of educational reform, and research in diverse contexts for the purpose of integrating academic excellence with social responsibility. The program has an integrated research core which allows candidates to pursue topics in:

- P-12 Public Education
- P-12 Catholic/Private/Charter Education

Candidates who meet the Professional Administrative Services admission requirements and are enrolled in the doctoral program may earn the Professional Administrative Services Credential by completing the required coursework. This does not apply to the Preliminary Administrative Services Credential. Deadline to apply is January 25.

Admission Requirements

The goal of the Doctoral Program is to educate and prepare moral, ethical, and competent leaders to take key positions and help transform educational settings to better serve the needs of all students and their families.

This goal is achieved through the following objectives:

i. To prepare leaders to critically engage complex issues impacting education and student achievement and to demonstrate commitment to social justice.

ii. To offer a rigorous course of study that connects theory, practice, and advocacy in leadership, equity, and diversity.

iii. To prepare candidates who are knowledgeable in advanced research methodologies and able to design, implement, and evaluate educational policies, programs, and practices.

iv. To help meet existing and projected needs for moral ethical leaders throughout the pre K-12 public, charter and private education system.

Course Requirements

School Psychology

Academic Program Director: Brian P. Leung
Assistant Program Director: Emily Fisher
E-Mail: bleung@lmu.edu

Introduction

The School Psychology program is designed to prepare graduates to work as school psychologists in elementary and secondary schools. All school psychologists employed by the public schools in California are required to hold the Pupil Personnel Services (PPS) credential in school psychology.

The LMU School Psychology program is a rigorous three year cohort program consisting of 63 semester hours with courses during fall, spring, and summer terms. Candidates will receive an M.A. in Educational Psychology after the successful completion of 54 semester hours (after the second year), and the Ed.S. and P.P.S. credential in School Psychology after the successful completion of 63 semester hours (third year).

Master of Arts in School Psychology, Combined with a PPS Credential—School Psychology

The LMU School Psychology is approved by both California (CTCC) and national (NASP) accrediting agencies. Program content is informed by the School of Education Conceptual Framework, and social justice is a strong emphasis of the program. Almost all courses have service learning assignments in which candidates learn and serve in schools and in the greater community. Field placements in the schools are required during year two (practicum) and year three (internship). Passing the Praxis exam in School Psychology at the program cutoff score (160) is required for graduation, and passing the exam at the national cutoff score (165) will result in candidates becoming Nationally Certified School Psychologists (NCP). After two years in the schools, program graduates will qualify to sit for the Licensed Educational Psychologist (LEP) exam administered by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences.

An undergraduate major or minor in Psychology, or major in a closely related field is required to apply. Applicants whose undergraduate major is other than psychology may apply but are required to have completed 18 selected undergraduate semester hours (6 courses) in psychology which cover the following topics:

Psychology Prerequisites:
- Introduction to Psychology
- Learning and Motivational Theories
- Developmental Psychology
- Statistics or Experimental Psychology

Plus two courses from the following areas:
- Social Psychology
- Abnormal Psychology
- Personality Theory

This program admits as a cohort in the fall semester only. The application deadline for admissions is February 15.

For additional information about the School Psychology program and admission information, please visit the SOE website or contact the School of Education at soeinfo@lmu.edu.

Program Learning Goals and Outcomes

• Goal 1: To provide candidates with a high-quality training program consisting of a meaningful and relevant curriculum and structured field experiences informed by research and practice.

  Outcome: Program graduates are school psychologists who practice with a scientist-practitioner mindset in all areas of service to students, teachers, and families.

• Goal 2: To equip our candidates with comprehensive knowledge and skills to enable them to provide a full range of direct and indirect services to support student achievement as highly qualified school psychologists.

  Outcome: Program graduates are versatile school psychologists able to provide a comprehensive range of services to schools.

• Goal 3: To develop and train candidates to become highly qualified school psychologists who promote social justice, are responsive to the needs of the diverse populations in schools, and advocate for fair and equitable educational practices.

  Outcome: Program graduates are school psychologists who practice with culturally relevant and responsive practice to help close the achievement gap among various diverse student groups.

• Goal 4: To provide our candidates with high expectations and a high level of support, which includes attention to the development of all aspects of candidates to promote academic excellence and lifelong learning.

  Program graduates are school psychologists who are lifelong learners and are always mindful of service to others.

Admission Requirements

2. Two copies of official transcripts from all colleges/universities attended. These should be included in your complete application packet to the Graduate Division.
3. Completion of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE). The requirement is waived for those who already possess a Master’s degree from an accredited university.
4. Completed and signed Technology Requirement Form.
5. A Statement of Intent, attached to your online application. The prompts to address are included in the School Psychology application packet.
6. Three letters of recommendation. At least one of these should be from a practicing school psychologist, Director of Psychological Services, Director of Pupil Personnel Services, or licensed psychologist familiar with the role of a School Psychologist.

After the complete application has been received, it will be reviewed by the School Psychology Admissions Committee to determine the applicant pool for the next step—1-hour group interview that will take place in late February or early March. Participation in this interview is mandatory for admission. Candidates selected for admission will be notified by no later than the end of March.

After being admitted to the School Psychology program, candidates must fulfill several post-admission requirements.

Formal Admissions Requirements

1. Pass all 3 sections of the CBEST no later than the end of the first semester in the program.
2. Receive CTC Certificate of Clearance by the end of the first semester. Instructions on how to complete this process are included in the School Psychology application packet.

The PPS credential in School Psychology is only available to those currently enrolled in the School Psychology M.A. and Ed.S. program, and passing the Comprehensive Examination (ETS Praxis II Series, School of Psychology).

Course Requirements

EDSS 6500  Foundation of Ethical, Professional, and Legal Practice in School Psychology

Special Education

Academic Program Director: Victoria L. Graf
E-mail: vgraf@lmu.edu
Assistant Director: Marianne Mitchell
E-mail: mmitchell@lmu.edu

Introduction
The Special Education program prepares candidates from a variety of academic backgrounds to work with culturally and linguistically diverse students with exceptional needs. Candidates may pursue graduate work in the following areas:

- Education Specialist Credential: Mild/Moderate Disabilities (Preliminary). The Education Specialist Credential: Mild/Moderate Disabilities authorizes candidates to teach K-12 students with specific learning disabilities, mild to moderate mental retardation, attention deficit/attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, and serious emotional disturbance
- Mild/Moderate Preliminary Credential in combination with a Master of Arts degree in Special Education with Cross-Cultural Emphasis.
- Master of Arts degree in Special Education with Cross-Cultural Emphasis.
- Certificate in Catholic Inclusive Education
- Master of Arts in Catholic Inclusive Education

Master of Arts in Special Education
The Special Education programs allows students from a variety of academic backgrounds to pursue an Education Specialist Credential: Mild/Moderate Disabilities (Preliminary) and/or a Master of Arts degree in Special Education with cross-cultural emphasis, or a Master of Arts in Catholic Inclusive Education or a Certificate in Catholic Inclusive Education.

Application Deadlines:
Fall Semester: June 15
Spring Semester: November 15
Summer Term: March 15
8. Observation/Volunteer Hours Plan of Action: Candidates must complete at least 20 hours of experience working with culturally diverse youths in the required age level for the program (elementary, 5-12 years of age; secondary, 13-19 years of age).

9. Basic Skills Proficiency Requirements: All Multiple (Elementary) Subjects and Single (Secondary) Subject applicants must meet the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing requirements for basic skills by obtaining a passing score on the CBEST examination.

10. Subject Matter Competency Test (CSET) Plan of Action: Candidates must demonstrate mastery of the required subject matter by passing the appropriate subject matter exam (CSET). Candidates will provide a Plan of Action, written statement, on when the CSET will be taken. Candidates must provide an original passing score report to the School of Education.

11. Fingerprint Clearance: Information about fingerprint clearance (also known as Live Scan) is included in the Admissions information packet. Official results of the Certificate of Clearance must be received by the Credential Office prior to enrolling in education courses. All fees associated with fingerprint clearance are the responsibility of the student.

12. Tuberculin Test: Candidates must submit an official copy of their tuberculin skin test results, given within one year.

13. Technology Requirement: Candidates may satisfy the technology requirement by either completing a self-verification form or verifying the completion of an approved course through another institution. Candidates must register for LiveText during the first education course. The e-Portfolio fee is assessed during the first semester of enrollment.

14. Interview with the Academic Program Director/Assistant Director: Following the submission of all requirements to the Graduate Division, the candidate will be contacted to schedule an admissions interview with the Program Director or Assistant Director.

15. Admission Status: Following the interview, the candidate’s application will be reviewed by the Associate Dean. Candidates are admitted on either Controlled or Provisional Admission to the appropriate Master of Arts and/or Credential Program.

16. Advisement: Academic Advising: Immediately upon admission, the student must schedule an appointment with the Academic Advisor. The Academic Advisor advises candidates on appropriate course sequence and program information. All candidates are required to meet with the Academic Advisor once a semester.

Professional Advising: All candidates are required to meet with the Professional Advisor (Program Director or Assistant Director) once a semester. Candidates will discuss academic course progress, career plans and goals, dispositional issues, and other issues related to the teaching profession.

Field Experiences

Students in the Mild/Moderate Credential program choose one of three routes to the credential/Master of Arts Degree.

Traditional Candidates

Students following this path will complete all coursework before beginning their field experiences as student teachers. LMU will facilitate the candidates’ placement as student teachers. All prerequisites requirements apply to the candidate choosing the traditional route.

University Intern Candidates

A candidate following this path is employed full-time at a public school in a district that has a partnership with LMU. The candidate takes courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the field requirements of the credential. Candidates seek out their own employment as Interns unless the candidates are in a cohort program where placement is facilitated through the program (e.g., Teach for America). Interns must be employed to teach at least 60% in the area of the credential, and the contract must state that the teacher is contracted to teach in the area in which the candidate is seeking a credential.

It is necessary that the student holds a University Intern credential and complete the program pre-service requirement in order to be enrolled in the Intern program. University Intern credentials are issued for new placements at the beginning of the fall semester only. Candidates must submit a Verification of Employment form, signed by the School District that holds a partnership agreement with Loyola Marymount University.

Teacher Practitioner Candidates

The teacher practitioner candidate is employed full-time at a non-public school. The candidate takes courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the requirements of the credential. The candidate seeks out his/her own employment as a teacher practitioner. The teacher practitioner must be employed at least 60% in the area of the credential. The teacher practitioner must fulfill all the field requirements listed including the program pre-service requirements.

Culminating Program Requirements

Additional Coursework Required for the Master’s Degree

Enroll in and complete EDSS 6995 Comprehensive Exam (0 semester hours)—fee required.

Exit Interview

The candidate must schedule an exit interview with the Special Education Director or Assistant Director. The exit interview must be completed prior to submitting an application for a credential and Master’s degree.

Application for Credential

When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a preliminary teaching credential (fee required, see SOE website for more information).

Intern/Practitioner Credential Requirements

Eligibility for the Intern Credential is determined by the following guidelines set by the California Commission on Teacher Credential (CCTC).

Reading Instruction Competence Assessment (RICA)

After completing EDES 6201 (Foundations of Elementary Literacy Instruction), or EDES 6250 (Improvement of Literacy in Single Subject Classroom) candidates are required to take, pass and submit an original score report of the RICA to the Special Education program advisor.

Application for Master of Arts Degree

Candidate must complete an application for a Master of Arts degree with the Office of the Registrar the semester prior to the completion of degree requirements.

An exit interview with the Special Education Program Director/Assistant Director must be completed prior to submitting applications for a credential and Master’s degree.

Application for Credential
When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a preliminary teaching credential. An additional fee required. See website for more information.

Application for Master’s Degree
When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a Master’s degree with the Office of the Registrar.

Professional Level II Mild/Moderate Specialist Credential
Candidates who have completed the Preliminary Level Mild/Moderate Specialist credential program and have a full-time special education teaching position working with students with mild/moderate disabilities must enroll in an approved program for the Professional Level II Education Specialist credential within 120 calendar days of services on the preliminary credential. Teachers in day-to-day of long-term substitute positions are not eligible for this program.

In the Professional Level II program, candidates work with a district-assigned support provider and a university advisor to develop a professional induction plan that includes advanced coursework, professional experiences, and a one-year mentorship with the assigned support provider. The program is designed to meet the candidate’s individual needs and professional development.

Candidates may complete a Master’s degree, a multiple or single subject credential or non-college professional development activities as part of their Professional Specialist program.

A candidate has five years after the preliminary Level I Mild/Moderate Specialist credential to complete the requirements for the Professional Level II Mild/Moderate Specialist credential.

NOTE: The Professional Level II program is a collaborative program with Mount St. Mary’s College. Loyola Marymount University candidates will enroll for courses at LMU but will take selected course at the Doheny campus of Mount St. Mary’s College. For more information please contact: Dr. Victoria Graf at vgraf@lmu.edu.

Program Requirements

Thirty semester hours (upper division) beyond the Bachelor’s degree must be successfully completed and must include the following courses:

1. Core Special Education Requirements (10 semester hours)

- EDSS 6310  Professional Induction Planning Seminar (0 semester hours)
- EDSS 6311  Advanced Issues in Assessment and Instruction of Students (3 semester hours)
- EDSS 6312  Consultation and Collaboration for Students with Special Needs (3 semester hours)
- EDSS 6313  Supportive Environments for Students with Behavioral and Emotional Needs (3 semester hours)
- EDSS 6314  Professional Educators Evaluation Seminar (1 semester hour)

2. Electives (3 semester hours) or Non-University Option (45 hours)

Depending on individual needs and professional goals, candidates may elect to complete an elective course or complete 45 hours of approved professional development activities.

3. Professional Clear Requirements

Health Education for Educators: Candidates may satisfy the Health Education requirements in one of the following ways:

- Successful completion of EDUS 8000
- Successful completion of a 2042 approved course through another institution. It is recommended that the candidates obtain approval from the School of Education Credential Office prior to taking class. Official transcripts must be submitted as evidence of course completion.

Master of Arts in Special Education with a Cross-Cultural Emphasis

The Master of Arts Degree in Special Education with a Cross-Cultural Emphasis enables candidates to develop a deeper understanding of theory, research, and practice in special education with particular concentration on students with mild/moderate disabilities from diverse cultural and linguistic backgrounds.

Eligible students will also be able to complete courses towards the Education Specialist Mild/Moderate Disabilities Teaching Credential. Upon completion of the program, candidates should be prepared for the public/private school setting or a doctoral program and to make a significant contribution to the field of Special Education.

Program Requirements

Option I: This program is designed for candidates who are also pursuing the Education Specialist Mild/Moderate Disabilities Teaching Credential. This program is a total of 30 semester hours. 5000-level coursework and directed student teaching semester hours are not credited toward an academic degree. Candidates may choose to pursue additional coursework for the SB 2042 Multiple Subjects or Single Subject Teaching Credential. Please contact the Chair of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education for more information.

Option II: This program is designed for candidates who want an advanced degree preparation for doctoral studies or specialization in the fields of Special Education. This program is a total of 30 semester and includes:

- At least 3 semester hours in statistics and research methods
- A Special Education core of at least 15 semester hours
- Appropriate restricted electives as approved by the Special Education advisor to complete the minimum number of program semester hours
- Comprehensive Assessment

Comprehensive Assessment

- EDSS 6995  Comprehensive Exam: Special Education (fee required—0 semester hours)
- Thesis Option: See Program Director for approval.

Thesis Option

- EDLA 6950  Advanced Research Methods
- EDLA 6951  Advanced Research Design (1 semester hour)
- EDSS 6955  Master’s Thesis I (1 semester hour)
- EDSS 6956  Master’s Thesis II (as needed) (1 semester hour)
- EDSS 6957  Master’s Thesis III (as needed) (1 semester hour)

Learning Outcomes

In accordance with the Mission and Goals of the School of Education, the Elementary and Secondary Education programs strive to work collaboratively in a student-centered environment to be professionals who act to value and respect all individuals, promote social justice, promote cultural responsiveness, integrate theory and practice, develop moral, intellectual, responsible, and caring leaders, and to collaborate and share leadership across communities.

Programs also strive to be, and to educate professionals to be, educators who: Respect and value all individuals and communities; Educate by integrating theory and practice; Advocate for access to a socially just education; and Lead in order to facilitate transformation.

For additional information, please refer to the School of Education Mission and Goal Statements.

Elementary and Secondary Education Graduate Program

Introduction

The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education offers a variety of credential and graduate programs that emphasize the preparation of excellent teachers to educate the culturally and linguistically diverse populations in K-12 public or private schools. Accredited by the National Council for the Education of Teacher Education and the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing, we provide professional preparation in research-based exemplary practices that include the requisite knowledge, skills, and dispositions required to ensure equity and excellence in education. As a result of our Masters and credential program, graduates are highly regarded by their colleagues and leaders in the schools, districts, and communities in which they teach. Teacher preparation and professional development options in the Department provide access to the Jesuit and Marymount traditions and correspond to the core tenets of the School of Education’s Conceptual Framework.

Academic Programs
- Elementary Education
- Secondary Education
- Early Childhood Education

Teaching credential requirements (listed with each program) are governed by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CTC) and are subject to change.

Students interested in pursuing credentials in Elementary or Secondary Education must attend an information session to begin the application process. Contact the School of Education Admissions Coordinator at 310.338.7845 or soeinfo@lmu.edu for information session dates and times.

Traditional Candidates (Credential Candidates Only)
Candidates following this path will complete all coursework before beginning their culminating experiences as student teachers. LMU will facilitate the candidate’s placement as student teachers. Placements must be completed in the subject or grade level that is authorized by the credential.

Priority Application Deadlines for Master of Arts and/or Credential Programs
- Fall semester—June 15
- Spring semester—November 15
- Summer session—March 15

Students applying for admission to the School of Education are highly encouraged to submit their applications for admission and all supporting documents by the priority deadlines outlined above. Qualified applicants meeting this deadline will be given priority consideration for program admission.

Elementary Education
Master of Arts in Elementary Education with a Preliminary 2042 Multiple Subjects Credential
The combined Multiple Subject Preliminary Credential and Master of Arts in Elementary Education program is designed for graduate students who are seeking teaching positions in grades K-5 or any self-contained classrooms in grades 6-8. A student successfully completing either program is eligible to receive a Master of Arts in Elementary Education as well as to apply for a California Preliminary Multiple Subject Credential.

Provisional Admission Requirements for Master of Arts and/or Credential
Elementary Education requires the following for provisional admission:

1. Attendance at an Information Session (for credential candidates only)
   Please contact the Director of Student Recruitment at soeinfo@lmu.edu for more information or to RSVP.

2. Submission of Graduate Application and Application Fee
   Applicants will receive the complete application packet and instructions at the information session.

3. Candidate Information Sheet
   Applicants must submit the Candidate Information Sheet with the complete application packet.

4. Statement of Intent
   Applicants must write a 3-5 page essay describing how their experiences, qualities, and goals reflect the School of Education’s motto—REAL (Respect, Educate, Advocate, Lead). For additional information on REAL, see http://soe.lmu.edu. The Statement of Intent should be included with the application.

5. Letters of Recommendation
   Applicants must submit three letters of recommendation to the Graduate Division. At least one letter must verify the applicant’s experience and familiarity with the age group appropriate to the candidate’s interest.

6. Grade Point Average (GPA) Requirement
   A cumulative undergraduate GPA of 2.8 or higher or a GPA of 2.85 or higher in the last 60 units of the applicant’s undergraduate degree or a GPA of 3.0 or higher obtained in 9 units of graduate work. Students who do not meet this requirement may be recommended to the Exceptions Committee by the Academic Program Director.

7. Transcripts
   Applicants must submit two sets of official transcripts with their bachelor’s degree posted. If applicants are in the process of completing the degree at the time of application, they must submit official transcripts with the degree posted by the start of registration for the following semester. Candidates who have attended more than one college or university must submit two sets of official transcripts from each college/university attended.

8. Observation/Volunteer Hours Plan of Action
   Candidates must complete at least 20 hours of experience working with culturally diverse youths in the required age level for the program (elementary, 5-12 years of age).

9. Basic Skills Proficiency Requirements
   All Multiple (Elementary) Subjects applicants must meet the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing requirements for basic skills. An official passing score on one of following examinations is required to demonstrate proficiency in basic skills:
   - CBEST
   - CSET: Multiple Subjects Plus Writing Skills examination—only multiple subjects candidates

10. Subject Matter Competency Test (CSET) Plan of Action
    Candidates must demonstrate mastery of the required subject matter by passing the appropriate subject matter exam (CSET). Candidates will provide a written Plan of Action, on when the CSET will be taken. Candidates must provide an original passing score report to the School of Education.

11. Fingerprint Clearance

Please contact the Director of Student Recruitment at soeinfo@lmu.edu for more information or to RSVP.
The application for fingerprint clearance (also known as Live Scan) should be completed on-line. Official results of the Certificate of Clearance must be received by the Credential Office prior to enrolling in education courses. All fees associated with the fingerprint clearance application must be included with the application to the Credential Office and are the responsibility of the student.

12. Tuberculin Test
Candidates must submit an official copy of their tuberculin skin test results, given within one year.

13. Technology Requirement
Candidates may satisfy the technology requirement by either completing a self-verification form or verifying the completion of an approved 2042 course through another institution. Candidates must register for LiveText during the first prerequisite course. An e-Portfolio fee is assessed during the first semester of enrollment.

14. Interview with the Academic Program Director/Assistant Director
Following the review of the complete application packet, the candidate will be contacted to schedule an admissions interview with the Academic Program Director/Assistant Director.

Upon completing the interview, the candidate’s application is submitted to the Associate Dean for review and recommendation. Once a recommendation is made, candidates will receive written correspondence from the School of Education and Graduate Admissions explaining their admission status. Candidates are notified of their admission status approximately two weeks after completing their interview with the Academic Program Director/Assistant Director.

15. Admission Status
Candidates are admitted on either Controlled or Provisional status to the appropriate Education Master of Arts and/or Credential Program.

16. Advisement
Immediately upon being either Controlled or Provisionally admitted, the student must schedule an appointment with the Academic Advisor.

Academic Advising: All candidates are required to meet with the Academic Advisor once a semester. Candidates are advised on appropriate course sequence and program information.

Professional Advising: All candidates are expected to meet with the Professional Advisor (Program Director/Assistant Director) once a semester. Candidates will discuss academic progress, career plans and goals, dispositional issues and other issues related to the teaching profession.

Formal Admission Requirements for Master of Arts and/or Credential
Review by the Teacher Admission and Advisory Committee (TAAC): After the requirements for formal admission, outlined below, have been completed, the candidate will apply to the Teacher Admission and Advisory Committee (TAAC) for Formal Admission review. The Academic Advisor will facilitate the application process. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed and submitted, including the resolution of any incomplete grades received in the prerequisite courses. Candidates will be notified of the Committee’s decision in writing. All documents become property of the University and will not be released to any person or institution unless required by law.

1. Advising
   a. Academic Advising: All candidates are required to meet with the Academic Advisor once a semester. Candidates are advised on appropriate course sequence and program information.
   b. Professional Advising: All candidates are expected to meet with the Professional Advisor (Program Director/Assistant Director) once a semester. Candidates will discuss academic progress, career plans and goals, dispositional issues and other issues related to the teaching profession.

1. Grade Point Average: The GPA requirement may be met in one of the following ways: an undergraduate cumulative GPA of 2.8 or higher; GPA of 2.85 or higher in the last 60 units of the applicant’s undergraduate degree; GPA of 3.0 or higher in nine units of graduate coursework.
2. Verification of the Unavailability of a State of California Commission of Teacher Credentialing Approved Induction Program: This program is only available to candidates who do not have access to an approved induction program. Eligible applicants must submit a completed form signed by the school/district where they are employed, releasing them to participate in the Professional 2042 Clear Credential Program.

3. Valid California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential: Applicants must submit a copy of their valid California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential.

4. Graduate Division Application and Application Fee: Applicants must submit an application for admission, two recommendation forms, the Candidate Information Sheet and the application fee. The application fee is waived for LMU Alumni.

5. Verification of Employment or Intent to Hire: Applicants must submit a completed form signed by their principal verifying employment for the duration of advanced coursework in the Professional 2042 Clear Credential Program.

6. Transcripts: If applicants have earned a Master of Arts degree, official transcripts must be submitted with the degree posted. Applicants that have earned units beyond a Bachelor’s degree, official transcripts from any and all institutions where courses have been taken must be submitted. For applicants that have recently completed an academic program in the School of Education, this requirement may be waived.

7. Statement of Intent: Applicants must write a 3-5 page essay describing the way in which their experiences, qualities, and goals reflect the School of Education’s motto—REAL (Respect, Educate, Advocate, Lead). For a complete explanation of REAL see the School of Education website, http://soe.lmu.edu. This requirement is waived for LMU alumni returning after an absence of less than one year.

8. Professional 2042 Clear Credential Program Contract: A contract committing applicants to complete the advanced coursework in one year may be submitted along with the application materials. Applicants signing the Professional 2042 Clear Credential contract are eligible for a grant applied towards tuition.

9. Additional Units Plan of Action Form: Applicants must complete this form to clarify how they will obtain the additional units beyond their Bachelor’s degree required to clear their credential. Applicants must have a total of 30 units beyond their Bachelor’s degree to clear their credential. (See Master of Arts in Literacy Education section.)

10. Interview with the Program Director/Assistant Director: Following submission of all materials to the Graduate Division, the applicant will be contacted to schedule an interview with the Director of the Professional 2042 Clear Credential Program. Upon completing the interview, the candidate’s application is submitted to the Associate Dean for review and recommendation. Once a recommendation is made, the candidate will receive written correspondence from the School of Education and Graduate Admissions explaining their admission status. The candidate is notified of their admission status approximately two weeks after completing their admission interview with the Academic Program Director/Assistant Director.

Professional 2042 Clear Credential Advanced Coursework

After being formally admitted to the Professional 2042 Clear Credential Program, candidates will complete the following courses:

- EDES 6080 Advanced Course 1: Special Populations, English-Language Learners, Health, and Technology (3 semester hours, offered Fall only)
- EDCE 6965 Action Research Fieldwork Support Course 1 (1 semester hour, offered Fall only)
- EDES 6081 Advanced Course 2: Special Populations, English-Language Learners, Health, and Technology (3 semester hours, offered Spring only)
- EDCE 6966 Action Research Fieldwork Support Course 2 (1 semester hour, offered Spring only)

Additional Semester Hours

Once candidates finish the Professional 2042 Clear Credential Program, they cannot clear their credential until the additional 22 graduate semester hours have been successfully completed and official transcripts are sent to the Credential Office in the School of Education.

Master of Arts in Literacy Education

In addition to the Professional 2042 Clear Credential coursework above, the following additional coursework will result in a Master of Arts in Literacy Education:

- EDES 6340 Educational Linguistics
- EDES 6341 Foundations of Literacy Instruction
- EDES 6342 Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
- EDES 6343 Practicum in Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
- EDES 6103 Curriculum and Instructional Leadership

- EDES 6345 (1 semester hour) Literacy Fieldwork
- EDES 6995 Comprehensive Examination (fee required, 0 semester hours)

One of the following courses:
- EDLC 6100 Anthological Analysis of Cultural Diversity
- EDLA 6105 Assessment and Research Methodology
- EDSS 6106 Human Development and Learning

Application for Clear Credential

When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a clear Professional Clear 2042 Teaching Credential (additional fee required, see website for more information).

Early Childhood Education

Program Director: Leslie Ponciano
Office Location: University Hall 2600

Master of Arts in Early Childhood Education

The graduate program in Early Childhood Education is a multi-disciplinary two-year cohort program leading to a Master of Arts degree. Students will comprehensively examine the whole child at an advanced level, prenatal development through age 8. In addition to an in-depth understanding of all developmental domains; cognitive, language, social, emotional, and physical, students will gain knowledge of theory, research and best practices. Coursework will include an emphasis on significant issues found in early childhood education, such as environmental influences, children with special needs, diversity, second language learners, public policy, and social justice. This program will prepare students for careers in early childhood education program delivery, such as teaching and administration; in community college instruction; in policy and advocacy; or to pursue further graduate study.

Learning Outcomes

In accordance with the Mission and Goals of the School of Education, the Early Childhood Education Program strives to work collaboratively with students in a supportive environment to create professionals who value and respect all children and families, advocate for social justice, and demonstrate cultural competence. Graduates of the ECE program will integrate theory and research into practice and policy, contribute to our evolving knowledge of children, and exemplify best practices in teaching and caring for young children.

Upon completion of the program,
1. Students will demonstrate mastery of early childhood education terminology as evidenced through exams, written assignments, and oral presentations.
2. Students will apply advanced knowledge of developmental theories and milestones within educational settings.
3. Students will analyze, design, and conduct research, observations, and assessments.
4. Students will demonstrate leadership and advocacy in regards to the relevant issues that families and children face.
5. Students will demonstrate sensitivity to cultural, ethical, disability, and economic issues that impact developmental and educational progress.

For additional information, please refer to the School of Education Mission and Goal Statements.
Graduate Admission Requirements

Application to the Early Childhood Education Master of Arts degree program is accomplished by completing and submitting the following to the School of Education (unless otherwise noted).

Education Requirements: Bachelor’s degree in child development or related field such as psychology, social work, urban studies, liberal studies, etc. Applicants with an unrelated Bachelor’s degree must demonstrate completion at a passing level (C or better) of 12 ECE semester hours, and a minimum of 60 hours of fieldwork (both observation and direct involvement with children will be considered).

GPA Requirement: A cumulative undergraduate GPA of 2.8 or higher or a GPA of 2.85 or higher in the last 60 units of the applicant’s undergraduate degree or a GPA of 3.0 or higher obtained in 9 units of graduate work. Students who do not meet this requirement may be recommended to the Exceptions Committee by the Program Director.

Submission of Graduate Application and Application Fee: Applicants may either submit the LMU Graduate application and fee to the Graduate Division or complete the online application.

Candidate Information Sheet: Applicants must submit the Candidate Information Sheet to the Graduate Division.

Statement of Intent: Applicants must write a 3–5 page essay addressing: 1) elements of your educational and/or personal experience that have contributed to your interest in pursuing graduate study in early childhood education; 2) your career objective(s) and the abilities and skills you possess that will enhance your chances of success; 3) how LMU’s MA program will assist you in achieving your goals, and if applicable: 4) your research area of interest; and 5) any plans for obtaining a subsequent advanced degree.

Letters of Recommendation: Applicants must submit three letters of recommendation to the Graduate Division. At least one letter must verify the applicant’s experience and familiarity with young children. At least one letter must verify the student’s academic experience and abilities.

Transcripts: Applicants must submit, to the Graduate Division, two sets of official transcripts with their bachelor’s degree posted. If applicants are in the process of completing their degree at the time of application, they must submit official transcripts with their degree posted by the start of registration for the following semester. Candidates who have attended more than one college or university must submit two sets of official transcripts from each college/university attended.

Observation/Volunteer Hours Plan of Action: Candidates must complete at least 60 hours of experience working with culturally diverse children between the ages of 0–5 years. Both observation and direct involvement are valid as well as hours accumulated as part of a course requirement.

Tuberculin Test: Candidates must submit an official copy of their tuberculin skin test results, given within one year.

Technology Requirement: Candidates may satisfy the technology requirement by either submitting a self-verfication form or verifying the completion of an approved 2042 course through another institution. Candidates must register for LiveText during the first prerequisite course. The ePortfolio fee is assessed during the first semester of enrollment.

Interview with the Program Director: Following the submission of all requirements to the Graduate Division, the candidate will be asked to schedule a personal interview with the Director of the Early Childhood Education Program. The interview will not be scheduled until all letters of recommendation have been received.

Upon completing the interview, the candidate’s application is submitted to the Associate Dean for review and recommendation. Once a recommendation is made, the candidate will receive written correspondence from the School of Education and Graduate Admissions explaining their admission status.

Advisement: Immediately upon being either Controlled or Provisionally admitted, the student must schedule an appointment with the Academic Advisor. All candidates are required to meet with the Academic Advisor once a semester. Candidates are advised on appropriate course sequence and program information.

Coursework

Traditional Candidates: Candidates following this path will complete the coursework described below with a grade of “B” (3.0) or better before beginning the culminating experience. Traditional candidates will follow a cohort Fall/Spring/Summer schedule in Years 1 and 2.

Interm/Practitioner Candidates: Candidates following this path are employed full-time at an early childhood education setting that has a partnership with LMU. The candidates take courses and must achieve a grade of “B” (3.0) or better while teaching full-time. Some intern/practitioner candidates will follow a cohort Summer/Fall/Spring schedule in Year 1 and a Fall/Spring/Summer schedule in Year 2.

Elementary and Secondary Education Undergraduate Program
Introduction
The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education offers credential programs and minors in Education and is committed to preparing excellent teachers to educate the diverse population in California’s K-12 public and private schools. As an NCATE-accredited program, we offer professional preparation in research-based exemplary practices that include the requisite knowledge, skills, and dispositions required to ensure equity and excellence in education.

Academic Programs
- Elementary Education
- Secondary Education
- Minor in Education

Credential Programs
Preliminary California Teaching Credentials are offered in Elementary Education (SB 2042 Multiple Subjects) and Secondary Education (SB 2042 Single Subject)

If you are interested in the following programs, please see the appropriate Department. For Elementary or Secondary Education with a Bilingual Emphasis see the Department of Language and Culture and for Special Education see the Department of Educational Support Services.

Teaching credential requirements (listed with each program) are governed by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) and are subject to change.

Students interested in pursuing credentials in Elementary or Secondary Education must attend an information session to begin the application process. Contact the School of Education Admissions Coordinator at soeinfo@lmu.edu for information session dates and times.

Initial Application Process for Elementary and Secondary Education Programs
1. Attend a mandatory information session to receive the following application materials:
   - School of Education Application
   - Recommendation forms
   - Subject matter Plan of Action
   - Statement of Intent guidelines
   - Technology Self-Verification form

2. A minimum GPA of 2.8 is required. Students who do not meet this requirement must schedule an appointment with the Academic Program Director to be considered for admission.

APPLICATION DEADLINES: Priority application deadlines are as follows:
- Fall semester—June 15
- Spring semester—November 15
- Summer session—March 15

Students applying for admission to the School of Education are highly encouraged to submit their applications for admission and all supporting documents by the priority deadlines outlined above. Qualified applicants meeting this deadline will be given priority consideration for admission.

Contact the School of Education Admissions Coordinator at 310.338.7845 or soeinfo@lmu.edu for information session dates and times.

Technology Requirement
All education courses require the usage of LiveText. An Electronic Portfolio fee will be assessed upon admission to the School of Education.

Education Minors
Education minors are offered in Elementary Education and Secondary Education. Students may declare a minor in Education so that their Education coursework is acknowledged in their official transcript. Students pursuing a minor must complete 18 semester hours in Education coursework. Please see the Elementary or Secondary Program section for specific courses.
In order to maximize enrollment in Education courses within the undergraduate program, students are strongly encouraged to declare the Education minor early in their career. The Education minor is not applicable to Liberal Studies majors (Multiple Subject Credential). Completion of an Education minor does not equal completion of the requirements for a teaching credential. Students may complete the Education minor without completing all the requirements for a teaching credential. Students wishing to be admitted to the Minor in Education program must complete all the requirements for admission to the School of Education except for the subject matter competency and CBEST requirements. Students must meet with the Program Director to declare the minor and obtain permission for additional coursework.

Elementary Education

Preliminary California Teaching Credential

The 2042 Multiple Subject Preliminary Credential program is designed for students who are seeking teaching positions in grades K-5 or any self-contained classrooms in grades 6-8. A student successfully completing this program is eligible to receive a minor in Elementary Education and to apply for a California Preliminary Multiple Subject Credential.

Requirements for Formal Admission

Review by the Teacher Admission and Advisory Committee (TAA): After the requirements for formal admission, outlined below, have been completed and all application materials submitted, the candidate’s file will be presented to TAAC for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been received. Candidates will be notified of the Committee’s decision in writing. All documents become the property of the University and will not be released to any person or institution.

All of the following requirements must be completed and submitted to the School of Education, University Hall 2100, prior to scheduling an interview with the Academic Program Director.

1. Complete three of the following four prerequisite courses and maintain a GPA of 2.8 or better:
   - EDLC 400 Sociocultural Analysis of Education
   - EDES 401 Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
   - EDLC 414 Theories of Second Language Acquisition
   - EDSS 440 Introduction to the Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Student with Exceptional Needs

Prerequisite courses are only available to sophomores (30 semester hours earned) or higher. Interested first year students should contact the Academic Program Director. Plan to complete the fourth prerequisite prior to student teaching.

2. Teacher Education Application form

3. Statement of Intent

4. Candidate Information Sheet

5. Submit one set of official transcripts from all colleges and universities attended other than LMU

6. Four letters of recommendations. One letter must be from your major advisor

7. Verification of 20 hours of experience working with culturally and linguistically diverse youth groups, ages 4-13

8. Fingerprint Clearance: The original Certificate of Clearance must be received back from the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) at the School of Education

9. Tuberculosis (TB) Skin Test results: Candidates must submit an official copy of their TB test results, given within one year.

10. California Basic Educational Skills Test (CBEST) original passing score report

11. U.S. Constitution Requirement—Satisfied by one of the following:
   - Successfully completing one of the following LMU courses: AMCS 161, HIST 161, HIST 162, or POLS 135; or

   - Completing an approved course at another institution.

12. Subject Matter Plan of Action completion:
   - Students must demonstrate mastery of the required subject matter by passing the Multiple Subject California Subject Matter Exam for Teachers (Multiple Subject CSET). Results of the CSET are valid for only five years.

13. Disposition Rubric: Candidates are expected to uphold both academic and non-academic standards embraced by the School of Education. Non-academic factors include behaviors, dispositions, and attitudes that educators must positively develop. The Disposition Rubric will be used to assess the professional dispositions of our candidates.

14. Technology Requirement

15. Interview with Academic Program Director/Assistant Director

Advising

Academic Advising: All candidates are required to meet with the Academic Advisor once a semester. Candidates are advised on appropriate course sequence and program information.

Professional Advising: All candidates are required to meet with the Professional Advisor (Program Director/Assistant Director) once a semester. Candidates will discuss academic course progress, career plans and goals, dispositional issues and other issues related to the teaching profession.

Requirements for Student Teaching

Review by the Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC): After the requirements for student teaching, outlined below, have been completed the candidate will apply to TARC for review. Applications will be submitted to the Academic Advisor. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed and received. The candidate will be notified of the Committee’s decision in writing. All documents become the property of the University and will not be released to any person or institution.

All of the following are required once you have been formally admitted to the School of Education and must be fulfilled prior to enrollment in student teaching:

1. A "B" (3.0) grade point average must be maintained in all education coursework. A "D" (1.0) is not acceptable in any of the coursework in the sequence.

2. Fingerprint Clearance—A signed Violation Affidavit.

3. TB test results—Valid within one year prior to student teaching.

4. Health Education requirement (verified on transcripts), satisfied by one of the following:
   - Completing EDES 8000 (1 semester hour); or
   - Completing a 2042 approved health education course through another institution.

5. Multiple Subjects CSET original passing score report

6. Disposition Rubric: Candidates are expected to uphold both academic and non-academic standards embraced by the School of Education. Non-academic factors include behaviors, dispositions, and attitudes that educators must positively develop. The Disposition Rubric will be used to assess the professional dispositions of our candidates.

7. Complete the following methods courses (maintaining a GPA of 3.0 or better)
   - EDES 402 Teaching Reading in Today's Elementary Classrooms
   - EDLC 425 Methods in English Language Development and Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English
   - EDES 434 Elementary Curriculum and Methods

- Students must submit an official transcript with the Bachelor’s degree posted to the Credential Office in the School of Education.
- Complete the Credential Application through the School of Education to the Commission on Teacher Credentialing, State of California (additional fee required; see website for more information).

Professional 2042 Clear Teaching Credential
A student has five years after obtaining the preliminary credential to complete the requirements for the professional clear credential. LMU offers a Clear Credential intended for Catholic and Private school teachers who do not have access to a district induction program. For more information, contact the Academic Program Director, Dr. Candace Pindexter, at 310.338.2863.

Secondary Education

Preliminary California Teaching Credential
The 2042 Single Subject Preliminary Credential program is designed for students who are seeking teaching positions in grades 9-12, or in 6-8 school settings that require teachers to teach in departments. A student successfully completing this program is eligible to receive a minor in Secondary Education as well as to apply for a California Preliminary Single Subject Credential. The following Single Subject Preliminary Credentials are offered through the School of Education:
- Art*
- Biology*
- Chemistry*
- English*
- French
- Mathematics*
- Physics
- Social Science*
- Spanish

- Content area with an LMU undergraduate approved program by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC). However, students can major in any content area and still be eligible to receive a Single Subject Preliminary Credential.

Requirements for Formal Admission

Review by the Teacher Admission and Advisory Committee (TAAC): After the requirements for formal admission, outlined below, have been completed and all application materials submitted, the candidate’s file will be presented to TAAC for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been received. Candidates will be notified of the Committee’s decision in writing. All documents become the property of the University and will not be released to any person or institution.

All of the following requirements must be completed and submitted to the School of Education, University Hall 2100, prior to scheduling an interview with the Academic Program Director.

1. Complete three of the following four prerequisite courses and maintain a GPA of 2.8 or better:

3. Health Education for Educators: Candidates may satisfy the Health Education requirement in one of the following ways:
   1. Successful completion of EDES 8000
   2. Successful completion of a 2042 approved course through another institution. It is recommended that the candidate obtain approval from the School of Education Credential Office prior to taking class. Official transcripts must be submitted as evidence of course completion.

   Professional Advising: Schedule an appointment with the Bilingual/Bicultural Program Director/Assistant Director.

   CSET Score Report: Original score report verifying 100% successful completion of all sections of the Multiple Subjects CSET.

   Disposition Rubric Score: The professor for EDCE 6201 will submit a score to the Academic Advisor.

   Fieldwork Application: Candidates must complete the fieldwork application and violation affidavit with the Academic Advisor. They must then schedule an interview with the Coordinator of Clinical Education.

   CSET, LOTE, Test 3: BCLAD candidates must pass Test 6 (Spanish or Mandarin language) of the BCLAD exam prior to enrolling in student teaching. Candidates who are completing or have completed a degree with a Spanish or Chinese major are exempt from this requirement.

Culminating Fieldwork Requirements

1. Student Teaching:
   - EDCE 5976 Bilingual Elementary Directed Teaching (9 semester hours)
2. TPA Tasks 3 and 4: 0 semester hours, fee required
   EDCE 5952  TPA Task 3
   EDCE 5953  TPA Task 4

3. Complete EDLC 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Bilingual Elementary Education: Fee required; or Master’s Thesis Option

4. Exit Interview: The candidate must schedule an exit interview with the Bilingual Education Program Director. The exit interview must be completed prior to submitting an application for a credential and Master of Arts degree.

Reading Instruction Competence Assessment (RICA)

After completing EDES 6201 (Foundations of Elementary Literacy Instruction), candidates are required to take, pass, and submit an original score report of the RICA to the School of Education prior to the completion of their student teaching.

Application for Credential

When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a preliminary teaching credential (additional fee required, see SOE website for more information).

Application for Master of Arts Degree

Candidates must complete an application for a Master of Arts degree with the Office of the Registrar the semester prior to the completion of degree requirements.

Intern/Practitioner Candidates

University Intern: A candidate following this path is employed full-time at a public school in a district that has a partnership with LMU. The candidate takes courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the field requirements of the credential. Candidates seek out their own employment as an Intern unless the candidate is part of a cohort program where placement is facilitated through the cohort program. The Intern must be employed to teach at least 60% in the area of the credential, and the contract must state that the teacher is contracted to teach in the subject/grade in which the candidate is seeking a credential. It is necessary that the student hold a University Intern credential in order to be in the Intern program.

University Intern Admission Requirements

All applicants to the University Intern Program must complete all the application requirements for the Bilingual Elementary Education Program. Eligibility for the Intern Credential is determined by the following requirements set forth by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC):

University Intern Credential Requirements

- Original approved Basic Skills Proficiency examination score report with passing score
- Original CSET score report with passing score
- Verification the U.S. Constitution requirement has been met
- Undergraduate degree posted on official transcripts
- Verification of employment
- Commit to completing the academic program in two years
- Certificate of Clearance (fingerprint application and fee)
- Application for credential and fee

Once candidates have satisfied the above guidelines, an application for the University Intern credential is available through the Academic Advisor. The California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) is responsible for the awarding of the University Intern Credential.

Teacher Practitioner: In this program, a candidate is employed full-time at a private or Catholic school. The candidate takes courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the requirements of the credential. An additional requirement of 60 observation hours in a public school setting is required to meet the credential requirements (see Academic Advisor for further details). Candidates seek out their own employment as a Teacher Practitioner. The Teacher Practitioner must be employed to teach at least 60% in the subject/grade of the credential.

Teacher Practitioner Admission Requirements

All applicants to the Teacher Practitioner Program must complete all the application requirements for the Bilingual Elementary Education Program. All requirements must be met to be eligible for an admissions interview with the Bilingual Education Director. All program admission requirements must be met.

1. Verification of Employment:
   - Candidates must submit a signed Verification of Employment form. The candidate must be employed by a school district that holds a partnership agreement with Loyola Marymount University.
   - CSET: submit official passing score report to the Academic Advisor for Intern Candidates only.

2. Interview with the Bilingual Education Program Director:
   - Upon submission of all application requirements, applicant will be contacted for an interview.

3. Advisement: Immediately upon being provisionally admitted, the student must schedule an appointment with the Academic Advisor.

Formal Admission Requirements

1. Program Advising:
   - All candidates must meet with the Program Advisor to complete a course sequence and receive program information and a student handbook.

2. Prerequisite Courses:
   - Candidates must complete the following courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDCE 5970  Field Experience I
     - EDCE 5971  Field Experience 2
     - EDES 6200  Elementary Curriculum and Methods
     - EDUR 6960  Introduction to Teaching and Learning
   - Candidates must complete two of the following four courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDLC 5000  Cultural Paradigms of Education
     - EDES 5001  Applied Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
     - EDES 5003  Second Language Acquisition: Theory and Policy
     - EDSS 6001  Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs

3. Disposition Rubric Score:
   - Candidate chooses a professor of one of the four prerequisite courses to complete the Disposition Rubric and submits the score to the Academic Advisor.

4. Professional Advising:
   - Candidate schedules an appointment with the Bilingual Education Program Director.

Teacher Admission and Advisory Committee (TAAC) Review:

After the requirements for provisional and formal admission have been completed, the candidate’s file will be submitted to TAAC for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed, including the resolution of any incomplete grades received in the prerequisite courses. Candidates will be notified of the committee’s decision in writing.

Note: All documents become property of the University and will not be released to any person or institution unless required by law.

Course Requirements

1. Candidates will need to complete the following prior to enrolling in EDUR 6961, EDCE 5952 TPA 3 and EDCE 5953 TPA 4:

2. Teaching Performance Assessments:
   - Tasks 1 and 2 (0 semester hours with fees):
     - EDCE 5950  TPA Task 1
     - EDCE 5951  TPA Task 2

3. Health Education for Educators:
   - Candidates may satisfy the Health Education requirement in one of the following ways:
     - Successful completion of EDES 8000
• Successful completion of a 2042 approved course through another institution. It is recommended that the candidate obtain approval from the School of Education Credential Office prior to taking class. Official transcripts must be submitted as evidence of course completion.

4. Professional Advising: Schedule an appointment with the Bilingual Education Program Director.

5. CSET Score Report: Original score report verifying 100% successful completion of all elements of the CSET.

6. Disposition Rubric Score: The professor for EDES 6201 will submit a score to the Program Advisor.

7. Additional Coursework Required for the Master of Arts Degree (these requirements also meet the requirements for the BCLAD Spanish or Mandarin credential):
   - EDLC 5320: Chicano/Latino Cultures: An Interdisciplinary Perspective
   - EDLC 5324: Bilingualism and Biliteracy
   - EDLC 6520: Primary Language Methodology in Bilingual Settings
   - EDLC 5324: Bilingualism and Biliteracy
   - EDLC 5330: Chinese/American/American Chinese Cultures: An Interdisciplinary Perspective
   - EDLC 6330: Methodology for Chinese Language Instruction in Bilingual Settings

8. BCLAD candidates must complete the fieldwork application and violation affidavit with the Academic Advisor.

9. Verification of Employment: Candidates must submit a signed verification of employment form prior to enrollment into EDUR 6961.

Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC):
After all the steps outlined above have been completed, the candidate’s file will be submitted to the Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC) for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed, including the resolution of any incomplete grades received in any courses. Candidates will be notified of the committee’s decision in writing.

Culminating Fieldwork Requirements
1. EDUR 6961: Portfolio and Assessment
2. TPA Tasks 3 and 4: (10 semester hours; fee required)
   - EDCE 5952: TPA Task 3
   - EDCE 5953: TPA Task 4
3. CSET-Test 3: BCLAD candidates must pass test 6 (Spanish language) of the BCLAD exam prior to enrolling in EDUR 6961. Candidates who are completing or have completed a degree with a Spanish major are exempt from this requirement.
4. Complete EDLC 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Elementary Education: Fee required; or Master’s Thesis Option

Exit Interview
The candidate must schedule an exit interview with the Bilingual Education Director. The exit interview must be completed prior to submitting an application for a credential and Master of Arts degree.

Application for Credential
When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a preliminary teaching credential (additional fee required, see SGE website for more information).

Reading Instruction Competence Assessment (RICA) Plan of Action
After completing EDES 6201 (Foundations of Elementary Literacy Instruction), candidates are required to take, pass, and submit an original score report of the RICA to the School of Education prior to the completion of their student teaching.

Introduction
The Department of Specialized Programs in Urban Education offers credential and Master of Arts degree programs designed for teachers who are employed as the teacher of record in either a private or public school. The Department prepares teachers to work in urban settings where the student population is economically, linguistically, and culturally diverse.

Admission Requirements
Each specialized program cohort in Urban Education has special admission requirements in addition to the requirements listed in this section. Additional admission requirements for these specialized program cohorts are communicated to applicants during the admission process.

1. Graduate Application and Fee
2. Statement of Intent: Applicants must write a 3 to 5 page essay describing how their experience and professional goals are compatible with the Mission and Goals of the School of Education at Loyola Marymount University.
4. Grade Point Average Requirement: This requirement is met in one of three ways:
   a. A cumulative undergraduate degree GPA of 2.8 or higher
   b. A GPA of 2.85 of higher in the last 60 units of the applicant’s undergraduate degree
   c. A GPA of 3.0 or higher obtained in 9 semester hours of graduate work

Applicants who do not meet the GPA requirement will need to file an appeal with the Exceptions Committee.
5. Transcripts: Applicants must submit two sets of official transcripts in sealed envelopes with their application. The transcript for the undergraduate degree must show that the undergraduate degree has been posted. Applicants who have attended more than one college or university must submit transcripts from all colleges or universities attended.
6. Basic Skills Proficiency Requirement: All credential applicants must meet the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing basic skills requirement. An official passing score on one of the following examinations is required to demonstrate proficiency in basic skills:
   a. The California Basic Skills Examination Test (CBEST)
   b. CSET Multiple Subjects plus Writing Section (for multiple subjects only)
7. Subject Matter Competency: All credential applicants must meet the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing subject matter requirements. This requirement can be met in the following ways:
   a. Passing score on the appropriate examination in the California Subject Examination for Teachers (CSET)
   b. Completion of an approved subject matter program (for single subject candidates only)
8. Certificate of Clearance: Candidates must be able to successfully apply for a Certificate of Clearance with the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing prior to teaching full time.
9. Technology Requirement: Candidates must satisfy the technology requirement through self-verification of basic technology skills or by completion of an approved course.
10. Interview: Candidates will be asked to schedule an interview with the appropriate program personnel.
11. Verification of Employment: Applicants must document employment as a full time teacher using the appropriate form provided by the Department.

LMU|LA CAST: Los Angeles Catholic Archdiocesan School Teachers

Department Chair: Edmund F. Litton
The LMU|LA CAST program is offered in the School of Education through a partnership with the Department of Catholic School of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Candidates in the program are able to complete a Master of Arts Degree and a State of California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential. The LMU|LA CAST program is an important professional development opportunity for educators employed in Catholic Schools. Some of the unique features of the program include:

- Saturday classes
- Classes are taught in a hybrid format (traditional classes combined with online classes)
- Substantial scholarships are offered
- Candidates have the opportunity to collaborate with other Catholic school teachers
- Candidates are required to infuse technology in teaching and learning

To be eligible for the LMU|LA CAST program, candidates must meet the following requirements:
1. All the admission requirements outlined in the sections for teaching credentials in Multiple and Single subjects for University Interns and Teacher Practitioners
2. Candidates must be a full-time teacher or administrator in a Catholic school in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Administrators (e.g., Vice Principal, Principal) must be able to teach at least part-time while enrolled in the LMU|LA CAST program. Teacher aides and pre-school teachers are not eligible for the LMU|LA CAST program.
3. Candidates must attend an information meeting held in October (for Spring admission) and February (for Fall admission). Information on these meetings is given to principals of Catholic schools and is also available from the School of Education.
4. All candidates complete the program as a cohort and must be able to commit to the two year program. Candidates must sign a contract agreeing to program conditions prior to starting the LMU|LA CAST program.

EDES 6200 Elementary Curriculum and Methods
LMU|Teach for America Partnership

Director: Edmundo F. Litton

This comprehensive two-year program combines coursework for the Master of Arts in Elementary Education, Secondary Education, or Special Education with a preliminary teaching credential while participating in Teach for America in Los Angeles. The Bilingual Crosscultural Academic and Language Development or BCLAD teaching credential (Spanish emphasis) can be added to the credential if a candidate meets the requirements of this program (see BLACD section in the Department of Language and Culture in Education). A Master of Arts in Child and Adolescent Literacy or Education Administration may be available to applicants who already have a teaching credential, pending transcript evaluation.

Introduction

The School of Education is committed to social justice and closing the achievement gap in our most under-resourced schools. In order to advocate for education in our Los Angeles community, the School of Education has partnered with Teach for America (TFA), the national corps of outstanding leaders of all academic majors who commit to teach in public schools and become lifelong leaders in the effort to expand opportunity for children. The LMU|TFA Partnership provides graduate training and field experience required to obtain a preliminary teaching credential and Master of Arts degree.

Course Requirements for the Teach for America Program

CREDENTIAL COURSEWORK

MULTIPLE SUBJECTS CREDENTIAL

- EDUR 5010: Theories of Teaching, Learning and Assessment (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5012: Culture and Language Learning in Urban Education (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5014: Multiple Subjects Curriculum and Instruction (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5004: Elementary School Literacy and Language Development (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5016: Teaching Students with Special Needs in Urban Education (3 semester hours)
- EDCE 5970: Field Experience 1 (1 semester hour)
- EDCE 5971: Field Experience 2 (1 semester hour)
- EDCE 5972: Field Experience 3 (1 semester hour) (as needed)

SINGLE SUBJECT CREDENTIAL

- EDUR 5010: Theories of Teaching, Learning and Assessment (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5012: Culture and Language Learning in Urban Education (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5005: Literacy and Language Development in the Content Areas (3 semester hours)
- EDUR 5016: Teaching Students with Special Needs in Urban Education (3 semester hours)
- EDCE 5970: Field Experience 1 (1 semester hour)
- EDCE 5971: Field Experience 2 (1 semester hour)
- EDCE 5972: Field Experience 3 (1 semester hour) (as needed)

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Admission to the LMU|TFA Partnership is limited to candidates who have been admitted and matriculate to TFA in the Los Angeles region. Admission to the program is contingent upon the availability of space and meeting all deadlines.

Candidates must complete all admission requirements outlined in either the Multiple Subjects or Single Subjects credential program as described in respective sections. Please refer to the Teacher Practitioner/Intern sections of Elementary or Secondary Education in this bulletin for more details.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

LMU|TFA Partnership students admitted to the program are required to attend the Welcome Orientation Weekend in August. The orientation includes such topics as program expectations, the academic program, dispositions, fieldwork requirements, financial aid, student account responsibilities, and registration. Eligible students are also required to participate in all institutional grants.

RECOMMENDED COURSEWORK SEQUENCE FOR COMBINED MASTER OF ARTS IN URBAN EDUCATION AND CREDENTIAL PROGRAM (DEGREE PENDING APPROVAL)

LMU|TFA Partnership students take their coursework over a period of two years. Exceptions to the recommended sequence must be approved by the Department Chair and Credential Manager.

The sequence of professional coursework is outlined at the August Orientation. The LMU|TFA Partnership is comprehensive and includes all the coursework and field experience required to obtain a preliminary teaching credential and Master of Arts degree.
model in Catholic schools, will be instrumental in maintaining the traditions of Catholic education in Los Angeles.

The ideal candidate has an ardent desire to work with young people. There are no prerequisite courses, other than a Bachelor’s degree in any field. PLACE Corps recruits nationally. Interested students in the local area should attend an information meeting in the fall and subsequent application distribution meeting.

PLACE Corps members work under contract as teachers for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Acceptance into the program is contingent upon the availability and offer a compatible teaching position in an Archdiocesan PLACE Corps partner school. A portion of the Corps member's salary will contribute toward housing and other member expenses.

Participants of this service corps may be eligible for the AmeriCorps Educational Award and an LMU grant which contribute toward tuition.

PLACE Corps members are required to maintain a single lifestyle during their two-year commitment.

Those admitted to the new cohort are required to attend the Orientation Weekend in April. The orientation includes such topics as program expectation, the academic program, housing, and program funding. Incorporated into the weekend is an opportunity for the PLACErs to meet their principals. Contracts for employment will be offered by the Archdiocese through the individual school.

Application Deadline: The application deadline for PLACE Corps is January 31. The full-time commitment begins the subsequent summer.

Admission Requirements

Acceptance into the PLACE Corps admits an average of 25 members per cohort. Admission to the PLACE Corps requires the following:

1. Candidates must complete all admission requirements outlined in either the Multiple Subject or Single Subjects credential program as described in respective sections. Please refer to the Teacher Practitioner/Intern sections of Elementary or Secondary Education in this bulletin for more details.
2. Graduate Division application, PLACE Corps application, statement of intent, three letters of recommendation, signed letter of commitment, and a Judicial Affairs clearance
3. Interview with PLACE Corps Candidate Selection Committee
4. Observation Hours: All candidates must present acceptable evidence of having completed at least 20 hours of observation in a culturally and linguistically diverse setting within the age range they are planning to teach. It is beneficial to the candidate to do so within a public school setting as these 20 hours may be applied towards the 60 hours of public school observations required for credential requirements for teachers in private and parochial schools. Any remaining hours of public school observations still required may be completed during the first summer of PLACE Corps participation.

Program Requirements

PLACE Corps members will begin their two-year commitment with participation in a program summer retreat designed to support and inspire members. Participants are invited to become actively involved in ongoing spiritual aspects of the program while fully engaged in the community.

In addition to specific program requirements, PLACErs must satisfy all contractual obligations of the school to which they are assigned.

In the fall, while living in community, PLACE Corps members will begin their teaching, along with taking two classes (generally one night per week) each semester.

For the most part, over the two-year period, PLACE Corps members will be enrolled in courses as a cohort. If a PLACEr has an academic background which includes prior education courses, the PLACE Corps staff will work with the PLACEr in making appropriate adjustments to his/her respective course of study. Exceptions to the recommended sequence must be approved by both the PLACE Corps director and coordinator. PLACErs must take only their prescribed courses and may not take any additional coursework concurrently.

The sequence of academic coursework will be outlined at the Orientation Weekend in April. The PLACE Corps academic program is comprehensive and includes all the coursework and field experience required to obtain a State of California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential and Master of Arts degree.

Elementary Education Intern/Teacher Practitioner Program

Master of Arts in Elementary Education with a Preliminary 2042 Multiple Subjects Credential

The combined Multiple Subject Preliminary Credential and Master of Arts in Elementary Education program is designed for graduate students who are currently contracted to teach in grades K-5 or any self-contained classroom in grades 6-8 in either public or private schools. A student successfully completing the program is eligible to receive a Master of Arts in Elementary Education as well as be able to apply for a California Preliminary Multiple Subject Credential. Application and admissions procedures vary based on the selected cohort program.

Intern Credential Requirements

Eligibility for the Intern Credential is determined by the following guidelines set forth by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC):

1. Original approved Basic Skills Proficiency examination score report with passing score
2. Original CSET score report with passing score
3. Verification the U.S. Constitution requirement has been met
4. Undergraduate degree posted on official transcripts
5. Verification of employment
6. Two-year academic program
7. Certificate of Clearance (fingerprint application and fee)
8. Application for credential and fee

Once candidates have satisfied the above guidelines, an application for the intern credential is available through the Program Director or Department Chair. Please schedule an appointment with the Program Director of Department Chair. The California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) provides guidance on the application process.

Candidates in the PLACE program may also have the option of completing the degree requirements for the Master of Arts degree in Child and Adolescent Literacy or Catholic Inclusion. More information can be obtained from the PLACE Program Director.
dentaling (CCTC) is responsible for the awarding of the University Intern Credential.

Intern Candidate: A candidate following this path is employed full-time at a public school in a district that has a partnership with LMU. The candidate takes courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the field requirements of the credential. Candidates seek out their own employment as Interns unless the candidates are in a cohort program where placement is facilitated through the program (e.g., Teach for America). The Intern must be employed to teach at least 60% in the area of the credential, and the contract must state that the teacher is contracted to teach in the subject/grade in which the candidate is seeking a credential. It is necessary that the student hold a University Intern credential in order to be enrolled in the Intern program.

Teacher Practitioner Candidate: Teacher practitioner candidates are employed full-time at a private or Catholic school. The candidates take courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the requirements of the credential. There is an additional requirement of 60 observation hours in a public school setting required to meet the credential requirements (see Program Director for details). Candidates seek out their own employment as a Teacher Practitioner unless the candidate is part of a cohort program (e.g., Teachers of Tomorrow: Partners in Los Angeles Catholic Education—PLACE: Los Angeles) where placement is facilitated through the cohort program. The teacher practitioner must be employed to teach at least 60% in the subject/grade of the credential.

Program Requirements
1. Candidates will need to complete the following prior to enrolling in EDUR 6961, TPA 3 and TPA 4:
   - Complete the remaining courses below with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDLC 5000 Cultural Paradigms of Education
     - EDES 5001 Applied Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
     - EDLC 5003 Theories of Second Language Acquisition
     - EDSS 6001 Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs
   - Complete both of the following courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDLC 5200 Methodology in English Language Development and Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English for Elementary Educators
     - EDES 6201 Foundations of Elementary Literacy Instruction

2. Teaching Performance Assessments: Tasks 1 and 2 (two zero semester hour courses with associated fees):
   - EDCE 5950 TPA Task 1
   - EDCE 5951 TPA Task 2

3. Health Education for Educators: Candidates may satisfy the Health Education requirement in one of the following ways:
   - Successful completion of EDES 8000
   - Successful completion of a 2042 approved course through another institution. It is recommended that the candidate obtain approval from the School of Education Credential Office prior to taking class. Official transcripts must be submitted as evidence of course completion.

4. Professional Advising: Schedule an appointment with the Program Director.

5. CSET Score Report: Original score report verifying 100% successful completion of all elements of the CSET.

6. Disposition Rubric Score: The professor for EDES 6201 will submit a score to the Program Director.

7. Fieldwork Application: Candidates must complete the fieldwork application and violation affidavit with the Academic Advisor. They must then schedule an interview with the Coordinator of Clinical Education.

8. Verification of Employment: Candidates must submit a signed verification of employment form prior to enrollment into EDUR 6961.

9. Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC):
   - After all the steps outlined above have been completed, the candidate’s file will be submitted to the Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC) for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed, including the resolution of any Incomplete grades received in any courses. Candidates will be notified of the committee’s decision in writing.

Culminating Fieldwork Requirements
1. EDUR 6961 Portfolio and Assessment
2. TPA Tasks 3 and 4: Two zero semester hour courses with associated fees.
   - EDCE 5952 TPA Task 3
   - EDCE 5953 TPA Task 4

Additional Coursework Required for the Master of Arts Degree

OPTION 1: Elementary Education
Choose one of the following courses and complete with a 3.0 or better:
- EDLC 6100 Anthropological Analysis of Cultural Diversity
- EDSS 6103 Curriculum and Instructional Leadership
- EDLA 6105 Assessment and Research Methodology
- EDSS 6106 Human Development and Learning

Complete EDUR 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Elementary Education: Fee required.

OPTION 2: Literacy and Language Arts
The Master of Arts in Literacy and Language Arts combined with the 2042 Preliminary Multiple Subjects or Single Subject Teaching Credential offers the opportunity for a graduate student to receive both a preliminary teaching credential and a Master of Arts degree. Candidates who initially applied for admission to the credential program only must add the Master of Arts degree prior to the pre-fieldwork assessment.

Program Requirements

1. All 2042 Preliminary Multiple Subjects Teaching Credential courses
2. Additional Required Coursework
   - EDES 6342 Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
   - EDES 6343 Practicum in Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
3. Comprehensive Assessment: Candidates meet with the program director to discuss their timeline and enrollment in either the comprehensive exam or the thesis project series.
   - EDES 6995 Comprehensive Exam: Literacy (fee required) or Thesis Option (See program director for detailed course sequence)

OPTION 2: Literacy and Language Arts

1. Choose two of the following courses and complete with a 3.0 or better:
   - EDLC 6100 Anthropological Analysis of Cultural Diversity
   - EDES 6103 Curriculum and Instructional Leadership
   - EDLA 6105 Assessment and Research Methodology
   - EDSS 6106 Human Development and Learning

   Students in specialized cohort programs may take an Education elective selected by the Program Director or Department Chair.

2. Complete EDES 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Elementary Education: Fee required.

OPTION 1: Elementary Education

1. Complete EDES 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Elementary Education: Fee required.

Master of Arts in Secondary Education with a Preliminary 2042 Single Subject Credential

The combined Single Subject Preliminary Credential and Master of Arts in Secondary Education program is designed for graduate students who are seeking teaching positions in grades 9-12, or in 6-8 school settings that require teachers to teach in departments (Traditional Secondary Candidate) or students who are currently contracted to teach in grades 9-12, or in 6-8 school settings that require teachers to teach in departments (Intern/Practitioner Candidate). A student successfully completing this program will be eligible to receive a Master of Arts in Secondary Education as well as be able to apply for a California Preliminary Single Subject Credential.

The following Single Subject Preliminary credentials are offered through the School of Education:

- Art
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Physical Education (Dance)
- Earth Science
- English
- French
- Mathematics
- Physics
- Social Science
- Spanish

Intern/Practitioner Candidates

Intern Candidate: A candidate following this path is employed full-time at a public school in a district that has a partnership with LMU. The candidate takes courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional coaching in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the field requirements of the credential. Candidates seek out their own employment as interns unless the candidates are in a cohort program where placement is facilitated through the program (e.g., Teach for America). The intern must be employed to teach at least 60% in the area of the credential, and the contract must state that the teacher is contracted to teach in the subject/grade in which the candidate is seeking a credential.

It is necessary that the student hold a University intern credential in order to be enrolled in the intern program.

University Intern Credential Requirements

Eligibility for the University Intern Credential is determined by the following guidelines set forth by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC):

1. Original CBEST score report with passing score
2. Original CSET score report with passing score
3. Verification the U.S. Constitution requirement has been met
4. Undergraduate degree posted on official transcripts
5. Verification of employment
6. 2-year academic program completion plan
7. Certificate of Clearance (fingerprint application and fee)
8. Application for credential and fee

Once candidates have satisfied the above guidelines, an application for the intern credential is available through the Program Director or Department Chair. The California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) is responsible for the awarding of the University Intern Credential.

Teacher Practitioner Candidates

Teacher practitioner candidates are employed full-time at a private or Catholic school. The candidates take courses while teaching full-time. This employment status, along with additional supervision in the classroom provided through LMU, fulfills the requirements of the credential. There is an additional requirement of 60 observation hours in a public school setting required to meet the credential requirements (see Academic Program Advisor for details). Candidates seek out their own employment as a Teacher Practitioner unless the candidate is enrolled in a cohort program (e.g., PLACE) where placement is facilitated through the cohort program. The teacher practitioner must be employed to teach at least 60% in the subject/grade of the credential.

Provisional Admission Requirements

1. Verification of Employment: Candidates must submit a signed Verification of Employment form. The candidate must be employed by a School District that holds a partnership agreement with Loyola Marymount University.

2. Subject Matter Competency (for Intern Candidates only): Candidates must demonstrate mastery of the required subject matter by either passing the appropriate California Subject Exam Test (CSET) OR by completing a 2042 approved subject matter program. Either option needs to be completed and verified prior to enrollment in EDUR 6961 Portfolio and Assessment and TPA 3 and TPA 4.
   - CSET Option: Candidates will provide a written statement documenting when the CSET will be taken. Candidates must provide an original passing score report to the School of Education prior to enrollment in EDUR 6961 Portfolio and Assessment and TPA 3 and TPA 4.
   - 2042 Approved Subject Matter Program: Candidates must complete a 2042 approved Subject Matter Program. Candidates must provide a written statement on when the subject matter coursework will be completed. Candidates will provide a letter verifying 100% completion of the subject matter requirement prior to enrollment in EDUR 6961 Portfolio and Assessment and TPA 3 and TPA 4.

3. Interview with the Elementary/Secondary Academic Program Director/Assistant Director: Upon submission of all application requirements, applicant will be contacted for an interview.

4. Advisement: Immediately upon being provisionally admitted, the student must schedule an appointment with the Program Director or Department Chair.

Formal Admission Requirements

1. Academic Advising: All candidates must meet with the Program Director to complete a course sequence.

2. Prerequisite Courses:
   - Candidates must complete the following courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDCE 5970 Field Experience I
     - EDCE 5971 Field Experience 2
     - EDUR 6960 Introduction to Teaching and Learning
   - Candidates must complete two of the following four courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDLC 5000 Cultural Paradigms of Education
     - EDSS 6001 Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs
     - EDES 5250 Methodology in English Language Development and Specialized Design of Instruction in English for Secondary Educators
     - EDCE 5953 Application of Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
   - Candidates must complete one of the following courses, depending on subject emphasis of the credential:
     - EDES 5970 Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs
     - EDES 5251 Methods in Teaching Secondary Languages Other than English
     - EDES 5252 Methods in Teaching Secondary Social Studies
     - EDES 5253 Methods in Teaching Secondary English
     - EDSS 6001 Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs
     - EDLC 5000 Cultural Paradigms of Education
     - EDSS 6001 Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs

3. Disposition Rubric Score: Candidate chooses a professor of one of the four pre-requisite courses to complete the Disposition Rubric and submits the score to the Program Advisor.

4. Professional Advising: Candidate schedules an appointment with Academic Program Director/Assistant Director.

5. Teacher Admission and Advisory Committee (TAAC) Review: After the requirements for provisional and formal admission have been completed, the candidate’s file will be submitted to TAAC for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed, including the resolution of any incomplete grades received in the prerequisite courses. Candidates will be notified of the committee’s decision in writing.

Note: All documents become property of the University and will not be released to any person or institution unless required by law.

Program Requirements

1. Candidates will need to complete the remaining courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better prior to enrolling in EDUR 6961, TPA 3, and TPA 4:
   - EDLC 5000 Cultural Paradigms of Education
   - EDES 5001 Applied Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
   - EDLC 5003 Theories of Second Language Acquisition
   - EDSS 6001 Teaching Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs
   - Complete both of the following courses with a grade of "B" (3.0) or better:
     - EDLC 5250 Methodology in English Language Development and Specialized Design of Instruction in English for Secondary Educators
     - EDES 6250 Improvement of Literacy in the Single Subject Classroom

2. Teaching Performance Assessments: Tasks 1 and 2 (two zero semester hour courses with associated fees):
   - EDE 5950 TPA Task 1 in the subject emphasis of the credential
   - EDE 5951 TPA Task 2

3. Health Education for Educators: Candidates may satisfy the Health Education requirement in one of the following ways:
   - successful completion of EDES 8000
   - successful completion of a 2042 approved course through another institution. It is recommended that the candidate obtain approval from the School of Education Credential Office prior to taking class. Official transcripts must be submitted as evidence of course completion.

4. Professional Advising: Schedule an appointment with the Program Director.

5. Subject Matter Competency: Submit to the Academic Advisor either
   - original score report verifying 100% successful completion of all elements of the CSET, OR
   - letter verifying 100% completion of the subject matter coursework from a 2042 approved program.

6. Disposition Rubric Score: The professor for EDES 6250 will submit a score to the Program Director.

7. Fieldwork Application: Candidates must complete the fieldwork application and violation affidavit with the Academic Advisor. They must then schedule an interview with the Coordinator of Clinical Education.

8. Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC): After all the steps outlined above have been completed, the candidate’s file will be submitted to the Teacher Advisory Review Committee (TARC) for review. It is the candidate’s responsibility to ensure that all items have been completed, including the resolution of any incomplete grades received in any courses. Candidates will be notified of the committee’s decision in writing.

Culminating Fieldwork Requirements

1. Enroll in Fieldwork: EDUR 6961 Portfolio and Assessment

2. Enroll in TPA Tasks 3 and 4: Two zero semester hour courses with associated fees:
   - EDE 5952 TPA Task 3
   - EDE 5953 TPA Task 4

Additional Coursework Required for the Masters Degree

OPTION 1: Secondary Education

1. Choose one of the following courses and complete with a 3.0 or better:
2. Complete EDES 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Secondary Education: Fee required.

OPTION 2: Literacy and Language Arts

The Master of Arts in Literacy and Language Arts combined with the 2042 Preliminary Multiple Subjects or Single Subject Teaching Credential offers the opportunity for a graduate student to receive both a preliminary teaching credential and a Master of Arts degree. Candidates who initially applied for admission to the credential program only must add the Master of Arts degree prior to the pre-fieldwork assessment.

Program Requirements
1. All 2042 Preliminary Single Subject Teaching Credential courses
2. Additional Required Coursework
   - EDES 6342: Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
   - EDES 6343: Practicum in Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
3. Comprehensive Assessment: Candidates meet with the program director to discuss their timeline and enrollment in either the comprehensive exam or the thesis project series.
   - EDES 6995: Comprehensive Exam: Literacy (fee required)
   or
   - Thesis Option (See program director for detailed course sequence)

Exit Interview
The candidate must schedule an exit interview with the Program Director/Assistant Director. The exit interview must be completed prior to submitting an application for a credential and Master of Arts degree.

Application for Credential
When all requirements have been completed, candidates must complete an application for a preliminary teaching credential (additional fee required, see SOE website for more information).

Application for Master of Arts Degree
Candidates must complete an application for a Master of Arts degree with the Office of the Registrar the semester prior to the completion of degree requirements.

Practitioner: Master of Arts without credential

This program is designed for practitioners who do not successfully pass the CSET prior to enrollment in EDUR 6961 Portfolio and Assessment. Instead, candidates must complete all of the requirements detailed above for Provisional Admission, Formal Admission and Program Requirements.

OPTION 1: Secondary Education
1. Choose two of the following courses and complete with a 3.0 or better:
   - EDLC 6100: Anthropological Analysis of Cultural Diversity
   - EDES 6103: Curriculum and Instructional Leadership
   - EDLA 6105: Assessment and Research Methodology
   - EDSS 6106: Human Development and Learning
   - EDES 6995: Comprehensive Exam in Secondary Education (fee required)
2. Complete EDES 6995 Comprehensive Exam in Secondary Education: Fee required.

OPTION 2: Literacy and Language Arts

The Master of Arts in Literacy and Language Arts combined with the 2042 Preliminary Multiple Subjects or Single Subject Teaching Credential offers the opportunity for a graduate student to receive both a preliminary teaching credential and a Master of Arts degree. Candidates who initially applied for admission to the credential program only must add the Master of Arts degree prior to the pre-fieldwork assessment.

Program Requirements
1. All 2042 Preliminary Single Subject Teaching Credential courses.
2. Additional Required Coursework
   - EDES 6342: Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
Teaching Performance Assessment

In addition to the required coursework, candidates for the teaching credential must also pass all tasks of the Teaching Performance Assessment (TPA).

Master of Arts in Urban Education

All classes in the teaching credential program (except for the field experience courses) are transferred to the Master of Arts degree program. Candidates transfer up to 15 semester hours of coursework.

For the Master of Arts in Urban Education degree, candidates complete one core course and four courses in a concentration. Courses for the concentration are selected in consultation with the director of the program.

Culminating Required Course: EDUR 5018, Research in Urban Education (3 semester hours). This course should be the last course in the sequence and serves as the culminating experience in the program. A comprehensive research project, equivalent to a thesis, is required in this course.

Concentrations

1. Literacy: A concentration designed for candidates interested in studying literacy practices effective in urban settings.
   EDES 6340  Educational Linguistics
   EDES 6342  Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
   EDES 6343  Practicum: Diagnosing and Developing Literacy Skills
   EDES 6103  Curriculum and Instructional Leadership
   EDUR 5018  Research in Urban Education

2. Digital Learning: A concentration that explores the role of technology in teaching and learning in urban schools.
   EDUR 5018  Research in Urban Education
   EDUR 6324  Technology in Multicultural Settings
   EDUR 6327  Learning and Teaching with Technology
   EDUR 6328  Survey of Digital Technologies for Urban Education
   EDUR 6329  Assistive Technology

3. Educational Policy and Administration: Candidates in this concentration learn about administrative practices that promote effective teaching and learning in urban education. Candidates also study federal and state policies in education.
   EDUR 5018  Research in Urban Education
   EDSS 6102  Context of Schooling
   EDLA 6427  Advocacy
   EDLA 6428  Business of Education
   EDLA 6429  Specializing in Charter Schools
   or
   EDLA 6842  Leadership in Catholic Education

4. Curriculum, Teaching and Learning: Candidates in this concentration learn how to become curriculum leaders in their field. Course topics include research in the specified content area (including advanced teaching methodologies) and curriculum transformation.
   EDUR 5018  Research in Urban Education
   EDUR 6103  Curriculum and Instructional Leadership
   EDLA 6104  Evaluation of Instruction
   EDLA 6105  Assessment and Research Methodology
   EDSS 6943  Seminar in Advanced Teaching Methodologies (Content Area Specific)

5. Language and Culture: Candidates in this concentration have the option of studying for a bilingual teaching credential (emphasis in Spanish or Mandarin).
   EDUR 5018  Research in Urban Education
   EDLC 5522  Intercultural Education
   EDLC 5524  Bilingualism, Cognition, and Identity Development
   EDLC 5320  Chicano/Latino Cultures (Spanish)
   EDLC 6320  Primary Language Methodology in Bilingual Settings (Spanish)
   or
   EDLC 5330  Chinese/American Cultures (Mandarin)

Introduction

Catholic schools are an integral part of the educational systems of urban centers across the United States, serving as pillars for many communities, particularly in economically disadvantaged areas. In Los Angeles, more than 80,000 children and their families rely on these schools to provide the moral, spiritual and intellectual underpinnings that have enabled so many Catholic school graduates to become productive, socially conscious adults.

But these schools are facing significant challenges. Enrollment in Catholic schools has declined 12 percent nationally in the last decade. Many schools are struggling financially, Catholic school systems are in need of professional development for teachers and administrators, along with research into the most effective approaches to running the schools and educating increasingly diverse student bodies.

With the Center for Catholic Education, the LMU School of Education will be better positioned to assist the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, as well as Catholic school systems across the country, in ensuring that the rich tradition of Catholic education endures and grows. The CCE brings together a broad range of successful programs at SOE to advance PK-12 Catholic education by training school leaders and teachers, increasing awareness of Catholic schools' impact on communities, and developing innovative ways to support Catholic schools. The Center for Catholic Education will serve as an anchor for Catholic schools in Los Angeles and nationally so that the rich tradition of Catholic education continues to shape morally and socially conscious men and women.

The Center for Catholic Education is committed to leadership development, teacher preparation, and research and outreach.

Programs

The Center for Catholic Education offers programs in specialized cohorts:

- LMU|LA CAST: For teachers employed by the Archdiocese of Los Angeles
- PLACE Corps: Teachers who are part of a teaching service corps in partnership with the Archdiocese of Los Angeles

LMU|LA CAST: Los Angeles Catholic Archdiocesan School Teachers

Department Chair: Edmundo F. Litton

The LMU|LA CAST program is offered in the School of Education through a partnership with the Department of Catholic School of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Candidates in the program are able to complete a Master of Arts Degree and a State of California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential. The LMU|LA CAST program is an important professional development opportunity for educators employed in Catholic Schools. Some of the unique features of the program include:

- Saturday classes
- Classes are taught in a hybrid format (traditional classes combined with on-line classes)
- Substantial scholarships are offered
- Candidates have the opportunity to collaborate with other Catholic school teachers
- Candidates are required to infuse technology in teaching and learning

To be eligible for the LMU|LA CAST program, candidates must meet the following requirements:

1. All the admission requirements outlined in the sections for teaching credentials in Multiple and Single subjects for University Interns and Teacher Practitioners
2. Candidates must be a full-time teacher or administrator in a Catholic school in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Administrators (e.g., Vice Principal, Principal) must be able to teach at least part-time while enrolled in the LMU|LA CAST program. Teacher aides or pre-school teachers are not eligible for the LMU|LA CAST program.
3. Candidates must attend an information meeting held in October (for Fall admission) and February (for Spring admission). Information on these meetings is given to principals of Catholic schools and is also available from the School of Education.
4. All candidates complete the program as a cohort and must be able to commit to the two year program. Candidates must sign a contract agreeing to program conditions prior to starting the LMU|LA CAST program.

Course Requirements for the LMU|LA CAST Program

PLACE Corps—Partners in Los Angeles Catholic Education

Director: Diana Murphy

Introduction

This comprehensive two-year program combines coursework for the Master of Arts in Elementary Education or Master of Arts in Secondary Education with a State of California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential while participating in a Catholic teacher service corps. A Master of Arts in Reading Instruction or Special Education may be available to applicants who have had an undergraduate emphasis in education coursework, pending transcript evaluation.

The PLACE Corps is a nationally recognized teaching service corps in partnership with the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and the University of Consortium for Catholic Education (UCCE). The PLACE Corps is built upon three pillars: spirituality, community, and professional development. This University program incorporates full-time teaching in an under-resourced Los Angeles Archdiocesan elementary or high school with an academic program through the School of Education.

The ideal candidate for the PLACE Corps is an enthusiastic recent college graduate who has an appreciation for Catholic education and wishes to “give something back.” The PLACE Corps member, serving as a role model in Catholic schools, will be instrumental in maintaining the traditions of Catholic education in Los Angeles.

The ideal candidate has an ardent desire to work with young people. There are no prerequisite courses, other than a Bachelor’s degree in any field. PLACE Corps recruits nationally. Interested students in the local area should attend an information meeting in the fall and subsequent application distribution meeting.

PLACE Corps members work under contract as teachers for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Acceptance into the program is contingent upon the availability and offer a compatible teaching position in an Archdiocesan PLACE Corps partner school. A portion of the Corps member’s salary will contribute toward housing and other member expenses.

Participants of this service corps may be eligible for the AmeriCorps Educational Award and an LMU grant which contribute toward tuition. PLACE Corps members are required to maintain a single lifestyle during their two-year commitment.

Those admitted to the new cohort are required to attend the Orientation Weekend in April. The orientation includes such topics as program expectations, the academic program, housing, and program funding. Incorporated into the weekend is an opportunity for the PLACErs to meet their principals. Contracts for employment will be offered by the Archdiocese through the individual school.

Application Deadline: The application deadline for PLACE Corps is January 31. The full-time commitment begins the subsequent summer.

Admission Requirements

Acceptance into the PLACE Corps admits an average of 25 members per cohort. Admission to the PLACE Corps requires the following:

1. Candidates must complete all admission requirements outlined in either the Multiple Subject or Single Subjects credential program as described in respective sections. Please refer to the Teacher Practitioner/Intern sections of Elementary or Secondary Education in this bulletin for more details.
2. Graduate Division application, PLACE Corps application, statement of intent, three letters of recommendation, signed letter of commitment, and a Judicial Affairs clearance
3. Interview with PLACE Corps Candidate Selection Committee
4. Observation Hours: All candidates must present acceptable evidence of having completed at least 20 hours of observation in a culturally and linguistically diverse setting within the age range they are planning to teach. It is beneficial to the candidate to do so within a public school setting as these 20 hours may be applied towards the 60 hours of public school observations required for credential requirements for teachers in private and parochial schools. Any remaining hours of public school observations still required may be completed during the first summer of PLACE Corps participation.

Program Requirements
PLACE Corps members will begin their two-year commitment with participation in a program summer retreat designed to support and inspire members. Participants are invited to become actively involved in ongoing spiritual aspects of the program while fully engaged in the community.

In addition to specific program requirements, PLACErs must satisfy all contractual obligations of the school to which they are assigned.

In the fall, while living in community, PLACE Corps members will begin their teaching, along with taking two classes (generally one night per week) each semester.

For the most part, over the two-year period, PLACE Corps members will be enrolled in courses as a cohort. If a PLACEr has an academic background which includes prior education courses, the PLACE Corps staff will work with the PLACEr in making appropriate adjustments to his/her respective course of study. Exceptions to the recommended sequence must be approved by both the PLACE Corps director and coordinator. PLACErs must take only their prescribed courses and may not take any additional coursework concurrently.

The sequence of academic coursework will be outlined at the Orientation Weekend in April. The PLACE Corps academic program is comprehensive and includes all the coursework and field experience required to obtain a State of California 2042 Preliminary Teaching Credential and Master of Arts degree.

SCHOOL OF FILM AND TELEVISION

Administration
Dean: Stephen Ujlaki
Associate Dean: Mark Evan Schwartz

Objectives
All School of Film and Television courses, whether they be humanistic inquiries into the nature of the media or professionally-oriented exercises in creating film and television, are aimed at developing critical discernment and equipping the student with the technical, theoretical, and aesthetic means to communicate these insights effectively to an audience.

Graduate Program
The School of Film and Television offers three Master of Fine Arts (M.F.A.) degrees: Film and Television Production, Feature Film Screenwriting, and Writing and Producing for Television.

Mission Statement
The Master of Fine Arts degrees offered by the School of Film and Television at Loyola Marymount University are based on a professional academic program and designed to foster original and creative work in film and television production and writing. The emphasis is on understanding and mastering visual storytelling in an atmosphere which allows students to explore and express their ideas with ever increasing creative and technical skills.

The School of Film and Television is committed to a relatively small graduate program. Given the large number of qualified applicants, the review process is necessarily very selective. Graduate study in this program is a full-time, intensive endeavor; only the most motivated and serious students can be considered.

Admission Requirements
All applicants must have a Bachelor’s degree from an accredited university. The department welcomes applicants who have received degrees in unrelated fields.

There are only a limited number of openings in the graduate School of Film and Television programs and applications are reviewed and accepted ONLY for the Fall semester each year.

Applicants must submit ALL materials to the Graduate Division by February 15. These materials include: application, $50 application fee, detailed personal statement, all transcripts, GRE scores, two letters of recommendation, and supplemental materials. Supplemental materials include any creative work in written and/or multi-media formats (DVD preferred) that illustrate a particular talent or expertise that the applicant would like to highlight for the selection committee. Students applying to the Screenwriting emphasis must submit a writing sample.

A $250 deposit must accompany your letter of acceptance within 15 days of notification by the University of your admittance into the program. The deposit is applied toward tuition and is non-refundable.

Program Options
There are three degree programs within the graduate School of Film and Television at Loyola Marymount University: Film and Television Production, Feature Film Screenwriting, and Writing and Producing for Television. These majors come to fruition in the graduate thesis project for production students, and a portfolio for screenwriting students. Thesis projects take a minimum of one year to complete, usually spanning the final year of graduate work. They comprise 6 semester hours of graduate credit required for the Master of Fine Arts degree. Students do not have the option of the traditional Master’s research thesis.

Graduate Prerequisites
Students will also be required to take a specified number of graduate prerequisites. Graduate students are on a provisional status until their graduate prerequisites are successfully completed. These prerequisites are required and may not be waived.

Undergraduate Program

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
The School of Film and Television offers four majors: Animation, Film and Television Production, Recording Arts, and Screenwriting.
The 12-26 semester hours (depending upon program) of requirement must be completed by all students, including transfer students, before upper division classes are attempted.

Upper Division Requirements:
The requirements are between 24-33 semester hours chosen from the 300-500 level School of Film and Television courses under the direction of the appropriate school program advisor. All majors must complete a senior thesis project accomplished through ANIM 495 and 496; PROD 400, 450, or 460; RECA 470; or SCWR 420 and 421.

Change of Program/Major
There is a formal application procedure for students who wish to be accepted into the School of Film and Television or who wish to transfer from one SFTV program to another. This procedure is explained in the SFTV Application Form available from the School.

Applications are due on the last working day of February for admission to the following Fall semester and on the last working day of September for admission to the following Spring semester.

Application of General University Requirements
The University requirements for admission, graduation, and all general rules and regulations of the University as set forth in this Bulletin are applicable to and binding upon all students enrolled in the School of Film and Television.

School Curriculum
The curriculum of the School of Film and Television incorporates required courses in general education, major sequences, and elective courses which complement and enhance the student’s major field of concentration.

Core Curriculum for the Baccalaureate Degree in the School of Film and Television

American Cultures
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
First- and second-year students choose from any lower division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. Third- and fourth-year students choose from any upper division course listed or cross-listed as AMCS. A single course will generally not fulfill two core requirements. The only exception is a course that satisfies another core requirement which is also cross-listed as AMCS.

College Writing
3 Semester Hours
Course Selection
ENGL 110 will fulfill the college writing requirement. ENGL 100 will not fulfill the college writing requirement but is required of certain students based on their performance in the essay written in all ENGL 110 sections during the first week of classes. A minimum grade of C (2.0) is required in ENGL 110. All students who receive a grade of C- or lower must retake ENGL 110 as soon as possible.

Choose: ENGL 110.
Communication or Critical Thinking
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Communication: Choose from CMST 100, 110, 130, or 140.
OR
Critical Thinking: Choose from CMST 206, PHIL 220.

Critical and Creative Arts
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Critical Arts and one course from Creative Arts.

Critical Arts: Choose from ANIM 100; ARHS 200, 201, 202, 321, 340, 345; DANC 281, 381; MUSC 102, 104, 303, 365; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, 430.
Creative Arts: Choose from ANIM 120, ART 150, 151, 153, 278, 280, 350; DANC 163; ENGL 205, 311 (Prerequisite 202), 312 (Prerequisite 201); MUSC 105, 106, 107; SCWR 220; THEA 110, 400.

History
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
This requirement is satisfied by taking one course from Western Civilization and one course from Contemporary Societies.

Western Civilization: Choose from HIST 100 or 101.
Contemporary Societies: Choose from HIST 152, 162, 172, 182, or 192.

Literature
3 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Prerequisite: Successful completion of college writing requirement.
Choose from CLCV 200, 210, 220, 230; ENGL 130, 140, 150, 170; FNLT 180; THEA 240, 245, 331, 336, 341, 346, 347, 348, 349, or 430.

Mathematics, Science and Technology
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
All students take MATH 102 and 103 and one other course in Science and Engineering. The MATH 102 course is designed to allow students to attain a level of mathematical literacy which will enable them to deal with the types of mathematical questions that they will encounter on a regular basis after they graduate.

The course in science and engineering introduces the student to the methodology used in that field of science or engineering. These courses include laboratories and/or demonstrations providing the student with hands-on experience.

Courses ordinarily recommended to students majoring outside the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering are those numbered 260-279 in each department within the College. Courses in this series are specifically designed for the non-major.

All other lower division courses (at least 3 semester hours) in the Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering also satisfy this requirement.

Only one mathematics course will be credited toward the Mathematics, Science and Technology component of the Core.

Philosophy
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose PHIL 160. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempted from the lower division requirement.

Upper Division:
Choose one PHIL course from 320 through 330.

Social Sciences
6 Semester Hours

Student must select one of the following options:

1. Select two courses from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105. Courses must be from different departments.
2. Select one course from: AFAM 115, APAM 117, CHST 116, or WNST 100; and one course from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105.
3. Select two courses from the same department. The first is selected from ECON 100, 105, 110, 120; GEOG 100; POLS 135, 155; PSYC 100; SOCL 100 or 105. The second course in the same department is selected from upper division courses that the student is qualified to take.

Theological Studies
6 Semester Hours

Course Selection
Lower Division:
Choose from the 100-level series of THST courses. Transfer students who enter LMU with a minimum of sixty (60) accepted transfer hours are exempted from the lower division requirement.

Upper Division:
Choose from the 300-level series of THST courses only.

European Satellite Program

Students in the School of Film and Television have the opportunity to participate in an extensive production study abroad experience in Bonn, Germany. The program focuses on documentary film production and European media and culture. Courses are taught by both LMU faculty and German instructors. The program’s structure includes three-week workshops and immersive, hands-on production training. Cultural opportunities while overseas include film festivals (depending on the season), exhibitions, theater performances, tours of film and television studios, and a trip to Berlin. Participating students will earn 13-15 semester hours of credit, including the production sequence, and will produce a 10-minute documentary that can be distributed or exhibited at festivals or through other channels.

The FITS Europe study abroad program partners LMU’s School of Film and Television.

For more details on the program, please visit LMU’s Study Abroad Office and FITS Europe.

Animation

Faculty
Chairperson: José Garcia-Moreno
Associate Professors: Rob Burchfield, José Garcia-Moreno
Assistant Professors: Adriana Jaroszewicz, Thomas F. Klein

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
35 semester hours of lower division courses distributed as follows:
ANIM 100, 110, 120 (completed with a grade of B [3.0] or better), 220, 230, 250, 260; ART 153, 154; 2 semester hours of Drawing for Animation (ART 200, 201); FTVS 210; and SCWR 220.

ART 153—also counts as a creative arts core class.
FTVS 210 also counts as a critical arts core class.
Upper Division Requirements:

- ANIM 490, 495, 496 and at least 12 semester hours of upper division electives.

Minor Requirements

18 semester hours divided into 9 semester hours of lower division work from:

- ANIM 100, 110, 120; and 9 semester hours of upper division Animation work under the direction of the Chairperson and/or Animation committee.

The proper sequence of these courses should be discussed with the student’s advisor.

Objectives

The department proposes that Animation at LMU represents a solid cross-disciplinary pre-professional degree in animation studies. Accordingly, we choose to stress a solid lower division knowledge base across the salient animation disciplines taught in any given animation curriculum. Moreover, we choose to stress a higher dimension of flexibility in upper division courses to allow students the freedom to determine their course and career destinations within the protocols of a classical Ignatian education.

Our goal via this curriculum is to foster the unique personal vision of each of our students in addition to supporting the collaborative filmmaking process. Hence, we propose that students create their own personal individual project in their third year, culminating in a final group project during their senior year.

We hope to nurture animation artists to be prepared to assume creative leadership roles in the animation industry—whether it will be in the studio system or as independent artists. We further aspire to cultivate developing artists that reflect the School of Film and Television’s primary focus of new storytelling grounded in humanism, innovation and diversi-

Learning Outcomes

To promote the unique personal artistic vision of each of our students in addition to supporting the collaborative filmmaking process.

- To foster a higher order of industry connectivity
- To develop humanistic animation storytellers, grounded in the pillars of innovation, diversity and social justice
- To prepare students for the ever evolving world of technologi-

Suggested Additional Electives—Animation Program

Acting: Especially helpful for those interested in character animation, where the animator is the actor or actress.
Cinematography and Lighting: Useful for 3D computer animation/stop motion.
Computer Programming: Useful for interactive media and new technology.
Dance: Also useful for those interested in character animation. These classes will foster an additional understanding of movement, meter, and rhythm.
Design: 2D, 3D, and multimedia.

Directing
Drawing: Any drawing courses in addition to those required are recommended, especially for those interested in character animation. When appropriate (and pending approval of specific instructors), students are encouraged to attend additional sections of the life drawing labs. Other drawing courses may be taken at the Union school, ASIFA, and any number of other art academies in the Los Angeles area.
Editing: Recommended especially for those without any previous film background.
Music: As a source and as a partner.
Mythology, Literature: For understanding storytelling.

Film, Television, and Media Studies

Faculty
Interim Director: Susan Scheibler
Professor: Lawrence Wenner (Von der Ahe Chair in Communications and Ethics)
Associate Professors: Torrey Barber, Patrick J. Connolly, S.J., Richard P. Hadley, Jr., Susan Scheibler

Objectives
Film, Television, and Media Studies is an academic interdisciplinary program that provides students the opportunity to understand the many ways that filmmakers have used the media as a means of personal expression as well as a tool for understanding the world. Through their Film and TV courses, students gain the tools that allow them to critically examine the ways in which their own perceptions have been shaped and influenced by media texts. FTVS classes are academically rigorous, depending on analytic as well as critical tools that are informed by reading in media and cultural history. The program is an integral part of the School of Film and Television, providing the theoretical, historical, and cultural frameworks within which SFTV students apply their practical skills, whether they are directing, producing, filming, editing, writing, and/or recording sound for movies.
Film, Television, and Media Studies students gain an appreciation of the basic elements of film and/or television language and acquire the tools that will enable them to be more thoughtful consumers as well as producers of media texts. Through a careful study of film history, students will understand and appreciate the development of cinematic and televisual media within their historical and cultural contexts. Courses focusing on national cinemas open up and deepen their understanding of other cultures, national histories, and religious viewpoints. Courses that focus on ethical and political issues encourage students to think about the ways that media can be used to create a more just world. In all FTVS classes, students explore the many ways that media texts reflect, shape and question cultural values, attitudes, and beliefs, including but not limited to representations of race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, class, and nationality.

Film, Television, and Media Studies Student Learning Outcomes
Students minorin in Film, Television, and Media Studies will

• Know and demonstrate knowledge of film history, including key movements and important filmmakers
• Know and demonstrate understanding of at least one film/TV genre or auteur and one national cinema or international TV
• Value diverse approaches to film and TV production

Film, Television, and Media Studies Minor Requirements
The Film, Television, and Media Studies Minor consists of 18 semester hours, with at least 12 being upper division, structured as follows:

• Foundational courses: Either FTVS 210 Art of Cinema or 212 Art of Television
• Film History: Either FTVS 313 Survey of American Film or 314 Survey of International Film
• Film stylistics: One TV or Film genre (FTVS 315, 430-439, 440-447), or Film Authors (FTVS 412)
• International Film or TV: One national cinema (FTVS 420-429) or International TV

Two upper division electives

Film and Television Production

Faculty
Chairperson: Charles Swanson
Professors: Glenn Gebhard, Art Nomura, John A. Stewart, Donald Zirpola
Associate Professors: Howard S. Lavick, Sylvia Morales, Rev. Luis Proença, Gregory Ruzzin
Assistant Professors: Mikael R. Kreuzriegler, Vanessa Newell, Charles Swanson, Kennedy Wheatley

Objectives
The School of Film and Television’s major in Film and Television Production is designed to enable students to express their ideas on the screen—whether that screen is in a theater, at home, or held in one’s hand. Beyond the existing television and theatrical feature landscape, new forms of media empower a single person to be both a worldwide broadcaster and a very selective receiver. Digital technologies have created new ways of working that transcend the traditional distinctions between film and television. The Film and Television Production major combines the best of both of these fields.

Students admitted to this rigorous major become quickly immersed in the act of storytelling for the screen. They encounter and study great works of world cinema, both past and present, and ponder the ramifications of the emerging media of the future. They receive expert hands-on training in writing the screenplay, directing actors, cinematography, sound recording and design, and editing. In the process, each student learns about the challenging relationship between art and technique, and how both serve each other. Students learn the practical aspects of mounting a production: budgeting, location scouting, casting, set design and construction, post production, and the importance of safety in all aspects of what they do. Complete premier state of the art equipment and technology are available 24/7—all in service of story. Through teamwork, students learn an appreciation for all of the artists who labor to serve the story, and the camaraderie that comes from working as part of a crew engaged in a large, collaborative creative enterprise.

Students also learn to find their individual voices, and express their own points of view, on projects driven by their own creative choices. Beginning with their work on a series of short and intermediate films, students forge the fundamental skills of visual storytelling. Each student’s experience culminates with a final project in which advanced students write, cast, direct and edit their own thesis films.

These projects may be entirely from the imagination, or they may document the real world. These finished works are produced and owned by the students, and may be distributed and celebrated far beyond the confines of our campus, through the exciting world of festivals, theatrical, television, and other channels of local, national, and international exhibition.

Production Graduate Program

Graduate Director: Kennedy Wheatley
Office Location: Xavier 209
MFA Degree

Production Prerequisites

- PROD 500  Production I
- RECA 500  Sound I
- SCWR 501  Writing for Production

Failure to maintain a "B" in prerequisites will lead to disqualification from the program.

The student may petition to repeat (one time only) deficient prerequisite course work.

Graduate Production Requirements

A. Film Studies (9 semester hours)

Select three of the following:
- FTVS 512  Seminar in Television Genres
- FTVS 513  Seminar in American Film
- FTVS 514  Seminar in European Film
- FTVS 515  Seminar on the Documentary
- FTVS 517  Seminar in TV Programming
- FTVS 518  Analysis of Video Games
- FTVS 611  Seminar in Film Genres
- FTVS 612  Seminar in Film Authors
- FTVS 613  Seminar in National Film
- FTVS 614  Seminar in Television and Video

B. Screenwriting (3 semester hours)

One of the following:
- PROD 530  Documentary Pre-Production I
- SCWR 530  Writing for Production I

C. Production (12 semester hours)

- PROD 550  Production II (3 semester hours)
- PROD 565  Cinematography (3 semester hours)
- PROD 600  Production III (fiction and non-fiction) (6 semester hours)

D. Film Process Seminars (6 semester hours)

- RECA 567  Seminar in Sound
- PROD 668  Pre-Production Planning

E. Advanced Production Technique Seminars (9 semester hours)

Select three of the following:
- PROD 666  Advanced Editing
- PROD 669  Advanced Cinematography
- PROD 680  Seminar in Directing
- PROD 685  Advanced Production Technique Seminar
- PROD 690  Post-Production Effects
- RECA 568  Advanced Post-Production Sound
- SCWR 520  Inter. Screenwriting

F. Internship (3 semester hours)

- PROD 688  Internship

G. Thesis Project (9 semester hours)

The thesis project requires completion of three courses which divide the project (fiction or non-fiction) into pre-production, production and post-production phases.

Pre-Production Thesis Project (3 semester hours)

Select one of the following:
- SCWR 620  Writing for Production II (Fiction thesis)
- PROD 626  Documentary Pre-Production II (Non-fiction thesis)

The Production Thesis Project (3 semester hours)

- PROD 650  Thesis Project
- PROD 670  Thesis: Post-Production

Prior to registration for the Thesis Project (PROD 650), the student must come before the Thesis Committee to advance to candidacy based upon the work completed towards this goal. Once advanced to candidacy, the student must take PROD 650 (with the instructor of record) and PROD 670 (with the instructor of record) until the project is completed and signed off by the Thesis Committee and the Dean in order to successfully complete the requirements for the M.F.A. degree. The Thesis Committee form adopted by the School must be obtained from the SFTV Graduate Office and signed by all committee members in order for the student to be advanced to candidacy.

63 total graduate semester hours are required for the M.F.A. in Production (Film and Television).

Students must screen a master copy for approval. Upon approval, the master copy must be submitted to the thesis committee to complete the requirements. All Thesis productions are required to have a full card that reads:

This production was done in partial fulfillment of degree requirements at LOYOLA MARYMOUNT UNIVERSITY

If necessary, additional registration in PROD 671 (for 3 semester hours each semester) will be required in subsequent semesters until the project is completed. The normal sequence of classes is outlined below. Please note: History and Theory courses may be taken any semester.

First Year

Fall Semester

Film and Television Production Undergraduate Program

Film and Television Production Undergraduate Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completing the program, students majoring in Film and Television Production will know:

- The basic techniques of visual storytelling
- The processes of producing, directing, screenwriting, cinematography, editing, sound recording and design, and set design
- The current technologies involved in the creation of film and television production
- Strategies for future dissemination of their work.

Upon completing the program, student majoring in Film and Television Production will value:

- A wide variety of cinematic forms of expression
- The importance of film and television history and theory
- Technically accomplished and aesthetically engaging productions
- The diversity and contributions of fellow students
- Collaboration and teamwork in the production process
• Individual expression through cinematic and other forms.

Upon completing the program, student majoring in Film and Television Production will be able to:

• Clearly communicate story, theme, and concept in their works
• Apply learned techniques of film and television production to creative works of their own
• Give constructive feedback, and implement revision of their own creative work based on feedback received
• Balance creative and organizational skills
• Practice teamwork, while developing leadership skills
• Create and treat content in innovative and imaginative ways.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
- 21 semester hours of lower division courses distributed as follows: FTVS 200; 210 or 212; PROD 180; PROD 200 and 250 (completed with a grade of B [3.0] or better); RECA 250; and SCWR 220.

Upper Division Requirements:
- Satisfactory completion of PROD 300 and SCWR 327 or PROD 326 and 350; PROD 365, 366, and 379; RECA 367; PROD 400, 450, or 460; one upper division advanced PROD course (courses ending with 98 are by permission only); one upper division advanced course in the School of Film and Television (courses ending with 98 are by permission only); two cinema/TV history courses chosen from FTVS 313-518 (FTVS 398, 498, or 598 require special permission).

Recording Arts

Faculty
- Chairperson: Mladen Milicevic
- Professor: Mladen Milicevic
- Associate Professor: Roger Pardee
Assistant Professor: Kurt Daugherty

Objectives
Recording Arts students explore the theoretical and practical elements of sound recording, reproduction, and design—the fundamentals crucial to successful work in all media that tap into the creative power of sound.

Given the enormous influence of these media, it is vital that these studies are given perspective by courses in LMU’s Liberal Arts core curriculum. Recording Arts students are also required to take one music class that deals with the fundamentals of music theory. In upper division courses, students study the science of sound behavior, reproduction, and modification. They learn audio techniques that apply to both film/television sound production and produces an advanced recording arts senior project. Creative collaboration is key to success in this field.

Recording Arts Student Learning Outcomes

Recording Arts students will understand:
- The physical and psychoacoustic properties of sound
- The techniques of making, editing, and processing sound recordings
- The aesthetic contribution of sound to media.

Recording Arts students will be able to:
- Make technically competent recordings of music as well as production and post-production sound for film and television media
- Effectively edit and process sound for those media
- Create technically competent and aesthetically pleasing mixes for those media.

Recording Arts students will value:
- The transformative power of challenging and meaningful art
- The collaborative and rigorous nature of working in sound for music, film, and television
- The cultural impact and significance of this media—past, present, and future.

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:

Screenwriting Graduate Program

Contact Information
Graduate Director: Kennedy Wheatley
Office Location: Xavier 209
Telephone: 310.338.3765

Objective
The School of Film and Television is dedicated to the mission of "Master Visual Storytelling Grounded in Humanism, Innovation, and Diversity." The primary objective of both screenwriting areas of emphasis is to prepare students to work in the entertainment industry as screenwriters for both film and television. In the pursuit of this objective, students learn through practical application by creating works in various art forms such as feature film screenplays and teleplays. In doing so, students create a portfolio of work that can be used to gain representation from professional artist management, attract the interest in their work and themselves as writers from all levels in the entertainment industry, and gain employment.

Students applying for the MFA Screenwriting Program are required to indicate the program of interest and submit appropriate writing samples with their application.

MFA Feature Film Screenwriting
The MFA in Feature Film Screenwriting primary goal is to train students to write and work in long-form storytelling. Progressing from the core courses, the feature film screenwriting student must complete a portfolio, which consists of three feature-length screenplays and develop a project adapted from another medium. Students can also take courses in television writing as electives.

First Year (18 Semester Hours)

Fall Semester
- SCWR 510 Producing and Directing for Feature Film
- SCWR 540 Elements of Feature Film Screenwriting

Choose one of the following (3 s.h.):
- FTVS 611 Seminar in Film Genres

Total Semester Hours: 51

MFA Writing and Producing for Television
The MFA in Writing and Producing for Television goal is to train hyphenates—writer-producers—who will become the creative leaders of television programming. Progressing from the core courses, the television writing student must complete a portfolio, which consists of a one-hour "spec" teleplay, a half-hour "spec" teleplay, an original television pilot (one hour or half hour), and produce a presentation of the pilot. Students can also take courses in feature film writing as electives.

First Year (18 Semester Hours)

Fall Semester
- SCWR 511 Intro to Television Producing
- SCWR 550 Elements of Television Writing
- FTVS 512 Seminar in Television Genres

Spring Semester
- FTVS 517 Seminar in Television Programming

Free Writing Elective (3 s.h.)

Second Year (15 Semester Hours)

Fall Semester

Screenwriting Undergraduate Program

Major Requirements

Lower Division Requirements:
12 semester hours of lower division courses distributed as follows: FTVS 200; FTVS 210 or 212; PROD 200; SCWR 220 (completed with a grade of B [3.0] or better).

Upper Division Requirements:
Satisfactory completion of SCWR 320, 321, 325 or 426, 329, 420, 421, 428; and two cinema/TV history courses from FTVS 313-518 (FTVS 398, 498, or 598 require special permission). In consultation with the advisor, it is also recommended that the student take courses outside the major in writing, literature, and drama courses from English, Classics, and Theatre Arts department offerings.

Minor in Screenwriting for English Majors
The School of Film and Television offers a minor as an option to students majoring in the writing emphasis in the English Department. The minor consists of 18 semester hours.

Required Courses:
- FTVS 210 Art of the Cinema
- SCWR 220 Beginning Screenwriting
- SCWR 320 Intermediate Screenwriting
- SCWR 321 Completing or Rewriting the Feature

Upon completion of the required courses, students will choose two from the following:

SECONDARY TEACHER PREPARATION

Introduction

The Loyola Marymount University Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation exists to provide matriculation-to-graduation advising and other academic and professional support to undergraduates preparing for careers in K-12 teaching. The Center also serves as a resource for faculty and staff who provide instruction and other services in LMU’s subject-matter teacher preparation programs.

In carrying out its work, the Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation is informed by the Mission and Goals of Loyola Marymount University, which emphasize the encouragement of learning, the education of the whole person, the service of faith, and the promotion of justice. For the encouragement of learning, the Center facilitates academically challenging teacher preparation programs where the faculty model effective pedagogy. The Center contributes to the education of the whole person through a vision of the educational process as the simultaneous formation of intellect, moral character, the senses and the imagination. The Center’s role in the service of faith includes training future Catholic educators as well as cultivating respect in all our future teachers for the rich diversity of faith traditions in our multicultural society. To promote justice, the Center educates our future teachers to be agents of positive social change for all members of global society.

All LMU undergraduates who foresee a career in K-12 teaching, whether enrolling in a formal teacher preparation program or not, are encouraged to contact the Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation for support throughout their time at LMU.

Art Education

Secondary Teacher Preparation in Art

Secondary Teacher Preparation in Art

B.A. Degree in Studio Arts with an Emphasis in Art Education

The Art Education Emphasis is designed to create reflective, informed, caring, and capable artists who are skilled in using interpersonal and creative tools for teaching careers in California schools at the secondary level (grades 6-12). Students interested in earning a State of California Single Subject Teaching Credential in Art must fulfill all the requirements for the major in Studio Arts (STAR) with an Emphasis in Art Education (ARTE) and the requirements for a minor in Secondary Education (SEED). With the help of their advisor, students can carefully design a schedule to complete the program during their four years at LMU. Students who seek graduation with an Art Education Emphasis and a teaching credential should ideally declare the Art Education Emphasis as a freshman.

The LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Art is approved by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing. The Department of Art and Art History is a fully accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design.

Students should consult with the Director/Advisor of Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Art, Professor Terry Lenihan (tlenihan@lmu.edu 310.338.4409) to sign up for the program and to discuss their course of study.

Please contact the School of Education at soeinfo@lmu.edu for information about all available Secondary Teacher Preparation Programs (STTP). All students interested in teaching Art in middle schools or high schools should meet with their departmental advisors as soon as possible and must also attend a mandatory School of Education Undergraduate Information Session. Please call 310.338.7845 to obtain the next scheduled meeting time and to confirm attendance. The advisor for STTP students regarding the School of Education is Terri Taylor (ttaylor@lmu.edu 310.338.7755).

The Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation (CUTP) is also available to assist students interested in teaching careers in both secondary and elementary education. Please contact Dr. Bernadette M. Musetti, Senior Director and Associate Professor of Liberal Studies (bmusetti@lmu.edu 310.338.4402). CUTP has a library of information and advice for teachers and also sponsors several informational programs every year. CUTP is located in UH 3404, 310.338.1748.

Major Requirements for a Major in Studio Arts (STAR) with an Emphasis in Art Education (ARTE)

Core Requirements

Consult with the Director of Secondary Teacher Preparation of Art for Core recommendations. HIST 162 or POLS 135 required for students pursuing a teaching credential and recommended for all Art Education Emphasis students.

Lower Division Requirements (24 semester hours)

24 semester hours of lower division courses: ART 153, 160, 255, 257, 260, 275; ARHS 200 and 201; and ART 154, 278, 280, or 285 as the foundation for the Studio Arts Focus.*

Note: ARHS 200 also satisfies Critical Arts Core, and ART 153 satisfies Creative Arts Core.

Upper Division Requirements (27 semester hours)

27 semester hours of upper division courses: ART 355, 396 or 397, 455, 490 or 497; 9 semester hours of upper division ART electives*, ARHS 419, and a non-Western Art History course (ARHS 316, 318, 320, 321, 420, 421, 425, 428 or any non-Western ARHS 498 course).

*Studio Arts Focus Requirement

Out of the 9 semester hours of upper division ART electives, 6 must be in the same Studio Arts Focus. Select both lower and upper division courses from within the same Studio Arts Focus. Courses must be selected under the advisement of the Director of Secondary Teacher Preparation of Art.

Requirements for State of California Secondary Teaching Credential and a Minor in Secondary Education (SEED)

Art Education Emphasis students interested in earning a State of California Secondary Teaching Credential are encouraged to declare a Minor in Secondary Education.

The following education course requirements apply ONLY to those students who entered LMU after Spring 2003.

EDLC 400  Sociocultural Analysis of Education
EDES 401  Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years
EDCE 412  Fieldwork: Secondary Directed Teaching
EDCL 414  Theories of Second Language Acquisition
EDLC 425  ELD Methods and SDAIE
EDES 428  Reading/Language Arts for the Single Subject
EDSS 440  Education of Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Exceptional Needs

 Prerequisite courses along with these additional requirements are necessary for applying to the School of Education to earn the State of California Teaching Credential:

- Cumulative GPA of 2.8 or better
- CBEST original passing score report
- 20 hours of grade-level instruction (letter from ARTsmart Program Director)
- U.S. Constitution Requirement (HIST 162 or POLS 135)
- Fingerprint Clearance
- Tuberculosis (TB) Skin Test
- School of Education Application Form
- Statement of Intent
- Candidate Information Sheet
- Four Letters of Recommendation
- Technology Requirement (self-verification form)

See School of Education listing for additional requirements and information.

Explanation of Coursework Required

Candidates must complete major requirements and liberal arts core requirements that address the four domains of competence. The courses listed above under pre-major, lower-division (12 semester hours), and upper-division (30 semester hours) will demonstrate competence in the Four Domains.

Candidates complete coursework in the Four Domains of Competence, including:

- the literature and textual analysis requirement by taking a minimum of ten literature courses (these ten courses are included in those listed above)
- the language, linguistics, and literacy requirements by taking ENGL 559, Linguistics; and EDLC 414, Theories of Second Language Acquisition
- the rhetoric and composition requirement by taking ENGL 110, College Writing; ENGL 574, Rhetoric and Media; and ENGL 565, Theory of Teaching Writing and Literature
- the communications, speech, media, and creative performance requirement by taking one communications course (CMST 100, Introduction to Public Speaking; CMST 110, Interpersonal Communication; or CMST 130, Argument and Debate); one theatre course (THEA 110, Beginning Acting; THEA 120/121, Basic Stagecraft and Stagecraft Lab; THEA 251, Theatre Practicum: Performance; or THEA 451, Theatre Practicum: Performance); and one media course (ENGL 574, Rhetoric and Media).

Candidates must also complete extended studies in one of the domains. This extended study consists of 6 semester hours or 2 electives in the selected domain. Students may not choose one course from one domain and one course from another. They must select their two elective courses from within one domain. Students can specialize in every genre and/or period and can select from a wide range of theory and writing courses, both creative and professional.

1. Domain Course Listings:
2. Literature and Language Analysis
3. Language, Linguistics, Literacy
4. Composition and Rhetoric
5. Communications, Speech, Media, and Performance

Advising Assistance

A message from the School of Education: Please contact the School of Education at soeinfo@lmu.edu for information about all available Secondary Teacher Preparation Programs. All students interested in teaching English in middle schools or high schools should meet with their departmental advisors as soon as possible and must also attend a mandatory School of Education Undergraduate Information Session. Please call 310.338.7845 to obtain the next scheduled meeting time and to confirm attendance. The advisor for STPP students regarding the School of Education is Terri Taylor, taylorj@lmu.edu, x87755.

The Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation (CUTP) is also available to assist students interested in teaching careers in both secondary and elementary education. Please contact Dr. Bernadette M. Musetti, Senior Director and Associate Professor of Liberal Studies, 310.338.4402, bmusetti@lmu.edu, UH 3407. CUTP has a library of information and advice for teachers and also sponsors several informational programs every year. CUTP is located in UH 3404, 310.338.1748.

Students interested in completing the coursework for the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in English must fulfill all of the requirements for the major in English and must also fulfill special course requirements specified by the State of California. These requirements are set forth in detail in the "Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in English" section of the University Bulletin under English Department.

Students should consult with the Director/Advisor for the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in English, Dr. Linda Bannister (lbannister@lmu.edu), UH 3875, x82854 to sign up for the program and to discuss their course of study.

Undergraduate-Level Coursework Plan for the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for English

The Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for English is designed for students who anticipate teaching English in grades 6-8 or 9-12. Because of the rigorous standards set by the State of California for teacher credentialing, the Program at LMU is very specific in terms of the coursework you will be taking. With careful planning, however, it is possible to complete an English major, the University’s Core Curriculum requirements, the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for English, and the School of Education’s required courses in four years (eight semesters).

Secondary Teacher Preparation Program

Bachelor of Arts with Major in Mathematics

Secondary Teacher Preparation Program

This major is designed for students who are interested in pursuing a career in teaching mathematics at the secondary (i.e., middle or high school) level. With the help of her/his advisor, the student may design a schedule carefully so that s/he can complete the degree and 2042 California Preliminary Single Subject credential in four years at LMU.

Included in the program, students complete University and College core lower division. Additionally, students complete eight upper division math core. The required upper division math courses are: MATH 321, 331, 357, 360, 490, 493 or 497, 550, and one additional 3 semester hour upper division MATH elective (excluding MATH 301 or 302) chosen in consultation with her/his advisor.

In addition, the Bachelor of Arts requires students to complete EDES 488 and two three semester EDxx courses chosen from the list of requirements for the preliminary single subject secondary credential program. Those doing both the Bachelor of Arts and the credential will have to complete the other requirements for the credential program.

Four-Year Plan for Mathematics Major, Secondary Teacher Preparation Program, including the Preliminary Single Subject Credential

Freshman Year

Fall Semester:
- MATH 131 Calculus I (4 semester hours)
- MATH 190 Workshop in Math (2 semester hours)
- ENGL 110 College Writing (3 semester hours)
- University Core (PSYC 100†) (3 semester hours)
- University Core (Comm/Critical Thinking) (3 semester hours)

Spring Semester:
- MATH 132 Calculus II (4 semester hours)
- MATH 191 Workshop in Math II (2 semester hours)
- Science Requirement–choose one of the following: PHYS 101 or 201 or CMSI 185 or 281 (3/4 semester hours)
- HIST 100 Foundations of Western Civilization to 1500 or HIST 101 Wester Traditions (3 semester hours)
- THST 1xx (3 semester hours)

Sophomore Year

Fall Semester:
- MATH 234 Calculus III (4 semester hours)
- MATH 248 Intro to Methods of Proof (3 semester hours)
- University Core (Creative Arts) (3 semester hours)
- HIST 162* Contemporary America (3 semester hours)
- University Core (Literature) (3 semester hours)
- PHIL 160 Philosophy of Human Nature (3 semester hours)

Spring Semester:
- EDLC 400* Education Requirement (3 semester hours)
- MATH 245 Ord Differential Equations (3 semester hours)
- MATH 250 Linear Algebra (3 semester hours)
- MATH 282 Elem Numerical Methods (3 semester hours)
- MATH 293 Field Experience (0 semester hours)
- EDES 401* Educational Psychology for the Childhood and Adolescent Years (3 semester hours)

Junior Year

Fall Semester:
- EDSS 440 Intro to the Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Student with Exceptional Needs (3 semester hours)
- MATH 321 Real Variables (3 semester hours)
- MATH 360 Intro to Probability and Statistics (3 semester hours)
- THST 3xx (3 semester hours)
- EDLC 414 Theories of Second Language Acquisition (3 semester hours)
- EDES 461 Teaching Performance Assessment (0 semester hours)

Spring Semester:
- MATH 331 Elements of Group Theory (3 semester hours)
- MATH 3xx Mathematics Upper Division Elective (excludes 301 or 302) (3 semester hours)
- MATH 490 History of Mathematics (3 semester hours)
- PHIL 320 Ethics or 330 Contemporary Moral Problems (3 semester hours)
- EDLC 425 Methods in English Language Development and Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English (3 semester hours)

Senior Year

Fall Semester:
- EDES 488 Trends in Teaching Secondary Math (3 semester hours)
- EDES 462 Teaching Performance Assessment 2 (0 semester hours)
- MATH 357 Complex Variables (3 semester hours)
Spring Semester:

• MATH 493 Seminar for Educators or 497 Thesis (3 semester hours)
• MATH 550 Geometry (3 semester hours)
• University Core (Critical Arts) (3 semester hours)

Spring Semester:

• EDES 8000 Health Education (1 semester hour)
• EDES 428 Reading/Language Arts for Single Subject Teachers (3 semester hours)
• EDCE 463 Teaching Performance Assessment 3 (0 semester hours)
• EDCE 412 Secondary Directed Teaching (9 semester hours)
• EDCE 484 Teaching Performance 4 (0 semester hours)

* HIST 162 satisfies both the U.S. Constitution requirement for the preliminary teaching credential and 3 semester hours of the history core requirement. POLS 135 satisfies both the U.S. Constitution requirement for the preliminary teaching credential and 3 semester hours of the social science core requirement.

 This class is required for the student who wishes to get a secondary teaching credential.

 For the student who is working on the teaching credential, these semester hours can be used for secondary directed teaching (EDCE 412).

† Note: With the approval of the Chairperson of Mathematics and the Associate Dean of Science and Engineering:

1. EDLC 400 can be substituted for AMCS 100.
2. EDES 401 can be substituted for an upper division Psychology class to be paired with PSYC 100 to satisfy the 6 semester hours of Social Science requirement.

This four-year plan serves only as a general model. Students should meet with their advisors at least once a semester to discuss progress in the program and plans for future semesters.

Social Science

Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science

The LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science is designed for students who are seeking history and social science teaching positions in grades 6-8 or 9-12 in school settings that are departmentalized.

This program includes courses both in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts and the School of Education, and it leads towards the 2042 Preliminary Single-Subject Teaching Credential granted by the State of California Commission on Teacher Credentialing.

Students are able to complete the LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science at the same time that they complete a B.A. degree with a major either in History or Political Science. The LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science has been approved by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing.

Please contact the Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation for information about all available Secondary Teacher Preparation Programs. All students interested in teaching English in middle schools or high schools should meet with their departmental advisors as soon as possible and must also attend a mandatory School of Education Undergraduate Information Session. Please call 310.338.7845 to obtain the next scheduled meeting time and to confirm attendance.

In order to meet the academic requirements of the LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science, students must complete the following courses granting either 141 semester hours of credit for a Political Science major or 120 semester hours of credit for a History major.

 Required Core Courses in the Secondary Teacher Preparation program in Social Science (27 semester hours)

Undergraduate-Level Coursework Plan for the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science (History)

The Secondary Teacher Preparation Program in Social Science is designed for students who anticipate teaching history and social science in grades 6-8 or 9-12 in school settings that are departmentalized. Because of the rigorous standards set by the State of California for teacher credentialing, the Program at LMU is very specific in terms of the coursework you will be taking. With careful planning, however, it is possible to complete a History major, the University’s Core Curriculum requirements, the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program’s subject-matter courses in social science, and the School of Education’s required courses in four years (eight semesters). Students with a History major, choosing to complete this four-year plan, will fulfill all of the required coursework at the undergraduate level that will lead to a B.A. degree, with a major in History, and the California 2042 Preliminary Social Science Single-Subject Credential.

Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for Spanish

Please contact the Center for Undergraduate Teacher Preparation for information about all available Secondary Teacher Preparation Programs. All students interested in teaching Spanish in middle or high schools should meet with their departmental advisors as soon as possible and must also attend a mandatory School of Education Undergraduate Information Session. Please call 310.338.7845 to obtain the next scheduled meeting time and to confirm attendance.

Students interested in completing the coursework for the Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for Spanish must fulfill the requirements for the major in Spanish and take two additional courses specified by the State of California Commission on Teacher Credentialing.

This program includes courses both in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts and the School of Education.

The LMU Secondary Teacher Preparation Program for Spanish is approved by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing.

AEROSPACE STUDIES

All University Colleges and Schools

Faculty
Alexis Bailey, Charles Corley, Won In, Daniel Krunglevich, Erik Torguson

General Military Course
The first two years of Aerospace Studies (AERO 100, 200) are designated the General Military Course (GMC) for students enrolled in Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC). There are no prerequisites for these courses, and all University students may participate. These courses focus on developing individual communication skills, basic leadership traits, understanding the environment of the Air Force officer, and comprehending the historical development of the United States Air Force in the national security structure. AERO 100 and 200 may be taken concurrently to allow late entry into the program by second-semester freshmen and sophomores.

Professional Officer Course
The last two years of AFROTC (AERO 300, 400) are designated the Professional Officer Course (POC) for students enrolled in AFROTC. They are designed to prepare cadets for duty as officers in the United States Air Force and provide students with a working knowledge of advanced leadership and management theories and applications, as well as an understanding of the United States national security processes. The POC includes academics, interaction with military and national security professionals, and the practice of leadership and management in a large group environment.

Special Notes
Aerospace Studies are open to all students who wish to take these classes as electives, whether they are cadets or not. Courses may or may not count toward graduation, depending upon the student’s major. Students should consult their Dean and Department Chairperson for allowable courses. Leadership laboratories are mandatory for members of the cadet corps but optional for students taking the academic courses as electives.

Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps Program
The AFROTC program at Loyola Marymount University is conducted by active duty Air Force Officers assigned to the Department of Aerospace Studies. The program is designed to prepare qualified men and women for careers as commissioned officers in the United States Air Force. Textbooks, uniforms, and all other equipment used in this program are furnished by the Air Force at no expense to the student.

Air Force ROTC offers two-, three-, and four-year scholarships. Additionally, Loyola Marymount University supplements some Air Force ROTC scholarships with room and board.

A nominal four-year program consists of two years of the General Military Course, followed by two years of the Professional Officer Course. Admission into the Professional Officer Course is limited to those students who successfully pass required written, oral, and physical examinations. During the summer between the sophomore and junior year, cadets are required to attend four weeks of field training at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, to familiarize them with Air Force life. The Air Force furnishes all uniforms, equipment, and transportation. Students also receive pay and allowances authorized by current directives at the time of field training attendance. After successfully completing field training, qualified cadets enter the Professional Officer Course and receive $300-500 per month, tax-free, during the final two years of AFROTC.

AFROTC offers students expanded access to management theories and practice, exposure to industry and military leaders, and opportunities to better comprehend international political and security environments. While most training takes place on the LMU campus, it includes extensive interaction with students from other local universities and colleges who participate in the program. In addition to a commission upon graduation, cadets may apply for careers as pilots, navigators, space and missile operators, business administrators, engineers, health professionals, intelligence, officers, and many other leadership positions.

Bioethics

BIOE 595
Survey Course in Bioethics

1 Semester Hour

The course surveys the major developments in bioethics and focuses on some of the most important ethical, legal, and medical issues associated with clinical decision-making. Lectures and group discussion of case studies are used to create a highly interactive learning environment.

CR/NC grading only.

BIOE 600
Methodological Issues in Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

Bioethics represents a complex intellectual phenomenon. Although an established academic field, it still struggles to find a formal and coherent methodology for the analysis of ethical problems triggered by advances in medicine and the life sciences. The course will, first, look at the historical roots of bioethics, concentrating, in particular, upon the original contribution of theologians and, later on, of philosophers to the field. It will, then, discuss the dominant theories in contemporary bioethics, among others: principlism in its various versions, rights-based theories, casuistry, virtue ethics, and the ethics of care.

BIOE 602
Historical Foundations of Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

This course will present the history and intellectual development of key ideas and concepts in bioethics. It will include an analysis of the forces that have shaped bioethics including sociological, technological, and others. The key ideas include, but are not limited to, the basis of human dignity, sanctity of life, codes of ethics, health and illness, professional roles, medical technology, autonomy, beneficence/nonmaleficence, euthanasia, quality of life, truth-telling, playing God, stewardship, and justice.

BIOE 604
Medical Anthropology and Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

This course will explore the role of culture in medicine and how cultures inform ethical discernment. This may include the acculturation of physicians and other health providers in medical training, the acculturation of different people from various ethnic, linguistic, and geographic backgrounds, the variety of understandings of health and illness (including pain) in different cultures, the different ways in which death is understood, and the differences in how medical technology is perceived as an intervention into one’s life. Particular focus would be placed on how these differences influence moral judgment or sentiment regarding specific issues (i.e., specific issues may be used as examples). A section on how diversity in cultures relates to objectivity in ethics may also be included (i.e., how moral relativism is understood in a pluralistic society).

BIOE 610
Theological Issues in Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

This course will introduce the student to the basic theological concepts, frameworks, and analyses that have been used by both Catholic and Protestant theologians in their discussions of bioethics. After reviewing the various relationships between religion and medicine and the role that theological reflection can play in bioethics, several specific topics will be discussed and analyzed in depth. Topics such as assisted reproductive technologies, abortion, genetic control, care of severely handi-capped neonates, death and dying, and the meaning and application of "quality of life" to contemporary issues will be discussed in both lecture and seminar formats.

BIOE 620
Jurisprudence and Healthcare Law

3 Semester Hours

This course will introduce the student to the basic theories and principles of jurisprudence. In addition, it will familiarize the student with the various types of constitutional and statutory laws that have been promulgated on issues related to bioethics. Special attention will be given to how legal theories and promulgated laws have contributed to bioethics.

BIOE 630
Topics in Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

The course is an analysis of some of the important topics in bioethics. Students will familiarize themselves with the ethical questions surrounding major topics in contemporary bioethics. The course will focus on one or more of the following topics: medical research with human subjects, organ transplantation, death and dying, and the development of techniques for human reproduction.

BIOE 633
Social Justice and Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

This course will examine how social justice is addressed in bioethics. Attention will be paid to the relationship between micro-ethics and macro-ethics. Different theories of justice will be presented along with specific moral problems facing contemporary health care. These may include globalization, resource allocation, medicine versus allocating those funds to other initiatives.

BIOE 635
Organizational Ethics and Healthcare

3 Semester Hours

This course will address ethical issues in the organization of health care. It will attend to the ethical issues regarding the structures of health care delivery, including decisions on what services to provide and how. For example, should one health care institution enter into a partnership with another? Should Hospital A close its transitional care unit? How is this decision made? This may also include the philosophical basis of health care policy (including the moral significance of policies— are they expressions of middle axioms or norms?). Theological issues (in particular for Catholic or faith-based organizations) in corporate identity and how that identity shapes the services provided and the relationships to other organizations (e.g., to what extent and how does a Catholic organization cooperate with a non-Catholic entity) will also be discussed.

BIOE 640
Clinical Bioethics and Religious Traditions

3 Semester Hours

This course will focus on the clinical and religious aspects of bioethics in a hospital setting. Every week the students will attend two sets of clinical rounds in an Intensive Care Unit (ICU). During these rounds certain ethical issues will emerge from patient care, and the students will be responsible for researching these issues during the week. On the other class day, the students will attend class at LMU, and seminar discussions of various ethical issues involved in clinical medicine from different religious traditions, e.g., Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, Islamic, etc., will be held.

Offered in the Summer only.

BIOE 650

Introduction to Clinical Medicine

3 Semester Hours

This course will introduce the non-clinically trained students to basic medical terminology and clinical medicine in order that they will be able to participate in a bioethics consultation in a medical center. In addition, the course will discuss the ethical dimensions of the physician-patient relationship through a study of the philosophy of medicine.

BIOE 660

Ethical Theories in Bioethics

3 Semester Hours

The course serves as a general introduction to the theories and problems of moral philosophy for students in bioethics, comprising both a historical and a systematic component. Main ethical versions of moral philosophy will be studied, in particular, virtue ethics, deontological theories, utilitarianism, individual liberalism, and communitarianism. Students will understand the function and importance of general ethical frameworks for the articulation of bioethical problems. Although the course interest is on the "application" of theories, the focus will be on the fundamental theoretical thrust of different approaches to ethics. Classic texts from Aristotle, Thomas Aquinas, Hume, Kant, Mill, and others will be studied.

BIOE 670

Foundations of Theological Ethics

3 Semester Hours

This course is devoted to a critical analysis of theological ethics firmly rooted in the historical method. The goals are to uncover the foundations of theological ethics and then to study the various ethical methods, methodological issues, critical questions, and the personalities who have shaped the discipline of theological ethics. Special attention will be given to the Roman Catholic tradition. The course will proceed through both lecture and discussion formats, and applications will be made to contemporary topics in bioethics.

Chinese

CHIN 101

Elementary Chinese I

3 Semester Hours

This course is designed for students who have little or no knowledge of Chinese. Students will be introduced to fundamentals of Mandarin Chinese. Students will develop communicative skills and learn to read and write in spoken style Chinese.

This course requires participation in a weekly one-hour integrated drill session.

Fall semester only.

CHIN 102

Elementary Chinese II

3 Semester Hours

This course is a continuation of CHIN 101. Students will continue learning the fundamentals of Mandarin Chinese. The four aspects of language skills—listening, speaking, reading, and writing in spoken style Chinese—are equally emphasized.

This course requires participation in a weekly one-hour integrated drill session.

Spring semester only.

Prerequisite: CHIN 101 or by LMU Placement Exam.

Builds upon the fundamentals of Mandarin Chinese studied in CHIN 101 and 102. Students will further intensively practice oral skills and increase their reading and writing skills.

This course requires participation in a weekly one-hour integrated drill session.

Fall semester only.

Prerequisite: CHIN 102 or by LMU Placement Exam.

CHIN 204

Intermediate Chinese II

3 Semester Hours

This course is a continuation of CHIN 203. Students will continue to build upon the fundamentals of Mandarin Chinese. Four aspects of language—listening, speaking, reading, and writing—are equally emphasized. Students will be introduced to more idiomatic expressions, grammatical structures, and cultural elements. Students are expected to write short paragraphs and do oral presentations. The basic written style will also be introduced.

This course requires participation in a weekly one-hour integrated drill session.

3 Semester Hours

This course will help students continue to develop their four skills of aurally understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. Many of the grammatical constructions introduced in first and second year Chinese will be repeated in this course with increasing sophistication in terms of style and usage. In this course, students are required to comprehend and produce paragraph-level Chinese. Rigorous practice of spoken and written style Chinese in complex communicative activities will be conducted. Students will also do intensive reading of expository writings on a variety of cultural topics.

Prerequisite: CHIN 204 or by LMU Placement Exam.

CHIN 306

Advanced Chinese II

3 Semester Hours

This course is designed to help students to continue to develop their skills or aurally understanding, speaking, reading, and writing; moreover, this course helps students improve their understanding of today's China and ensures that students solidify their language and literacy skills. It seeks to enable students to give formal reports, give factual accounts, read materials, and write essays, reports, and all types of correspondence in written style Chinese.

Metaphysics
3 Semester Hours
A study of major metaphysical theories including those of Plato, Aristotle, and Aquinas.

PHIL 662
Personalist Metaphysics
3 Semester Hours
An exploration of the thesis that the personal self is the most dynamic dimension of reality, contrasting both classical metaphysics and phenomenological realism with a range of reductionist accounts of the person. Particular points of contact include economism, scientism, and individualism.

PHIL 664
Philosophy of Mind
3 Semester Hours
An examination of the nature of mind and its relation to the physical world. Topics might include consciousness, subjectivity, the self, personal identity, neuroscience, cognitive psychology, artificial intelligence, and cognitive ethology.

PHIL 666
Philosophy of Science
3 Semester Hours
A detailed philosophical examination of some aspect of natural science. Topics might include science and pseudoscience, scientific explanation, theoretic confirmation, laws of nature, scientific revolutions, scientific realism, and social constructivism.

PHIL 670
Social and Political Philosophy
3 Semester Hours
A study of the interrelation of the person and community, focusing on such questions as: Is the human person, at the deepest level, a whole rather than a part? How can we best evaluate contractarian, utilitarian, and natural law views of the common good? Does liberal individualism do justice to either the person or the common good?

PHIL 672
Virtue Ethics
3 Semester Hours
A study of contemporary reappropriations of Aristotle by such authors as MacIntyre, Anscombe, Veach, and Porter.

PHIL 678
Ethics
3 Semester Hours
A survey of major ethical theories including those of Aristotle, Kant, and Mill.

Accounting

ACCT 2110

Financial Accounting

3 Semester Hours

This is the first course in a two-accounting-course sequence that is required for all business majors and business minors. This course introduces the student to 1) the role of accounting in business and society, 2) the basic concepts and techniques of financial accounting and 3) the use of financial statements for decision-making purposes. Topics covered include a summary of the accounting cycle, analyzing and recording transactions, accounting valuation and allocation practices, preparation, interpretation, and analysis of financial statements.

Prerequisites: BADM 1010, 1020; MATH 111 or 112 or 131, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 2120

Accounting Information for Decision Making

3 Semester Hours

This course involves study of managerial accounting, in which economic information (both qualitative and quantitative) is used to make strategic business decisions. This course is the second of two introductory accounting courses (business core prerequisite: ACCT 2110, Financial Accounting) required for all business majors and as a prerequisite to all other accounting courses. Managerial accounting information is used to make decisions that guide the organization through planning, organizing, directing, and controlling activities. Strategic decision making requires a future orientation to the information, with relevant and flexible data. This course draws heavily from economics, finance, management, and marketing.

Prerequisites: ACCT 2110; BADM 1010, 1020, 1030; MATH 112 or 131, all with a minimum grade grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 3110

Intermediate Accounting I

4 Semester Hours

This course begins the in-depth study of financial accounting and reporting. Topics covered include the environment of the standard setting process for financial accounting and reporting, the conceptual framework, accounting cycle procedures, financial statement preparation and financial disclosures, basic ratio analysis, and accounting standards and procedures for cash, notes and accounts receivable, and inventories. Uses and limitations of the balance sheet and the income statement are studied. Researching accounting issues through the use of a database and accounting websites are a course requirement.

Prerequisites: ACCT 2120 and BADM 1030, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 3120

Intermediate Accounting II

4 Semester Hours

This course continues the in-depth study of financial accounting and reporting introduced in ACCT 3110. The conceptual and procedural aspects of some of the most complex and controversial topics in financial accounting are studied. Topics include the accounting for property, plant, and equipment, intangible assets, investments, long-term debt, derivatives, leases, deferred taxes, stock options, error correction, and the statement of cash flows. Coverage of these topics includes an historical perspective, learning the current standards under generally accepted accounting principles, awareness of the flaws and limitations in current practice, and possible future directions.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3110 with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 3130

Cost Management

4 Semester Hours

This course continues the process of analyzing economic events within the framework of accounting information systems and the use of information in the management decision-making process. Students are expected to analyze and evaluate business operations and activities. The topics will include those of the traditional product costing methods as well as cost management topics. Advanced topics of decision making structure, together with the measurement of performance, and the new competitive environment are covered during the last part of the semester. This course draws heavily from other disciplines, especially the fields of management and economics.

Prerequisite: ACCT 2120 with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 3140

Accounting Information Systems

3 Semester Hours

This course introduces students to the fundamentals of accounting information systems including transaction processing, system documentation techniques, business process, and internal controls. Accounting software and spreadsheets are used to illustrate these AIS fundamentals and reinforce financial and managerial accounting concepts within the context of an accounting information system. (Accounting majors only, except by permission of instructor.)

Prerequisites: ACCT 2120 and BADM 1030, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 3197

Internship

1 Semester Hour

The objective of this one-semester-hour course is to help students achieve a worthwhile learning experience relevant to their major program of study. The internship, conducted with an off-campus organization, will help the student gain insights relative to his/her strengths and weaknesses in the job environment.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3110 with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 4110

Advanced Financial Accounting

4 Semester Hours

This course completes the undergraduate study of financial accounting and reporting. An emphasis is placed on consolidated financial statements. Additional topics covered include foreign currency transactions, translation of the financial statements of foreign entities, governmental accounting for local and state governments, and accounting and reporting of private not-for-profit organizations. (Accounting majors only, except by permission of instructor.)

Prerequisites: ACCT 3120 with a minimum grade of C (2.0) and 3140.

ACCT 4120

Federal Income Taxation
4 Semester Hours

This is a comprehensive study of federal tax laws and administration with emphasis on the taxation of individuals. In addition, application of the components of the federal income tax formulas for partnerships, corporations, and other business entities will be examined. (Accounting majors/minors only, except by permission of instructor and approval of Associate Dean.)

Prerequisite: ACCT 3110 with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ACCT 4150

Accounting Ethics, Professionalism, and the Public Interest

3 Semester Hours

Accountants and the accounting profession play an important role in society. This role is examined in this course through an in-depth study of accounting ethics, professionalism, and the public interest. Students will learn about and analyze the history of the profession; the legal and ethical responsibilities of the profession; important legislation that has impacted the profession and the practice of accounting, particularly auditing; and the current environment in which accountants and auditors work. Students will also gain exposure to moral reasoning and ethical decision making, and will be encouraged to adopt the objectivity, integrity, and ethical standards necessary to serve society as an accounting professional. (Accounting majors only, except by permission of instructor.)

Prerequisites: ACCT 3110 with a minimum grade of C (2.0), BADM 1020.

ACCT 4160

Auditing

4 Semester Hours

This course covers the methodology used by public accountants to obtain and evaluate evidence regarding assertions concerning financial statements and internal controls over financial reporting. Ethical and legal aspects of the auditing profession are examined with special reference to ramifications of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. (Accounting majors only, except by permission of instructor and approval of Associate Dean.)

Prerequisites: ACCT 3120, with a minimum grade of C (2.0), 3130, 3140; ECON 230.

ACCT 4180

Fraud Examination

3 Semester Hours

An introductory course designed for business managers and those beginning careers in accounting and auditing. The course stresses the nature of fraud, its litigation, approaches to detecting and preventing fraud, fraud inquiry methods, and reports issued by fraud examiners. Specific topics covered include: financial statement fraud, asset conversion frauds, computer frauds, and bankruptcy frauds. The course advocates a more careful and skeptical view of financial transactions and information.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3110.

Applied Information Management Systems

AIMS 2710

Management Information Systems

3 Semester Hours

This course is designed to introduce students to the key concepts in MIS (Management Information Systems) and to enhance understanding of the issues that business organizations face when developing and managing information systems. The course will examine the fundamental principles associated with IT development and management and the increasing impact of information technology in business organizations. The field is in a state of flux, so the course will also examine emerging technologies and IT trends. By completing the course, students should be better equipped to make IT-related decisions, to participate in IT projects, and to communicate more knowledgeably with IT experts.

Must be taken in residence at LMU.

Prerequisite: BADM 1030 with a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

AIMS 3710

Database Management Systems

3 Semester Hours

This course is intended for the student who wishes to become more proficient at developing and managing database applications. It is designed to provide an introduction to the conceptual foundations underlying database management systems, with an emphasis on its applications in business and organizations. The course begins with an introduction to the fundamental principles of database design—from data modeling to the actual implementation of a business application. Particular emphasis will be placed on the careful planning and analysis of business needs, which will lead to the appropriate development of an Entity-Relationship Model. Using these principles, each student will design and implement a database application using Access. Part of this course will employ lectures describing database theory, as well as hands-on tutorials demonstrating database concepts using Access. The second part of the course will further investigate the relational model, which is the basis for the most popular DBMS products on the marketplace today (i.e., Oracle, SQL Server, MS Access, Sybase). Topics to be studied include relational algebra, Structured Query Language (SQL), and maintaining data integrity in a relational design. In addition, important managerial concerns will be covered including database administration and the management of multi-user databases. No prior knowledge of database management systems is required, although a strong aptitude for computer-related work is helpful.

Prerequisites: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710; BADM 1030 or consent of instructor and approval of Associate Dean.

AIMS 3720

Object-Oriented Analysis and Design

3 Semester Hours

The course deals with fundamental concepts and issues in object-orientation essential for the development of application systems. Emphasis is placed on use of Use Cases to gather the information requirements for the application system and to model the software system using object-oriented (OO) modeling techniques. The course also emphasizes approaches to produce correct and flexible models. The Unified Modeling Language (UML) notation is used throughout to document the analysis and design process. The roles of the analyst(s), the designer(s), and the user(s) are discussed.

Prerequisites: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710; BADM 1030, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0) or consent of instructor and approval of Associate Dean.
AIMS 3770
Production Operations Analysis

3 Semester Hours

This course will introduce students to decision making and model building in the management of operations which create products and/or services. The principles of Operations Management apply throughout the world to all productive enterprises. It doesn't matter if a good or a service is being produced, efficient production methods require the effective application of the concepts, tools, and techniques that are covered in this course. Hands-on learning is an important feature of the course. For each topic, a case analysis requires the use of Excel and/or other specialized operations management software to reinforce the underlying theoretical details.

Prerequisites: BADM 1030, ECON 230, MATH 112 or 131, all with a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

AIMS 3780
IT and Supply Chains

3 Semester Hours

This course will teach the importance of information, its uses and the technologies that enable supply chain managers to make better decisions and improve the performance of the supply chain. In addition to providing a strategic framework for analyzing supply chains, students will learn information sharing and planning strategies to improve supply chain coordination and mitigate the bullwhip effect. Topics include technologies and decision models in the areas of forecasting, inventory management, and transportation, pricing strategies, reducing supply chain variability, and managing incentives.

Prerequisites: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710 and 3770.

AIMS 3797
Internship

1 Semester Hour

The objective of this one-semester-hour course is to help students achieve a worthwhile learning experience relevant to their major program of study. The internship, conducted with an off-campus organization, will help the student gain insights relative to his/her strengths and weaknesses in the job environment.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710.

AIMS 4720
Object-Oriented Programming

3 Semester Hours

The course covers fundamental concepts in OOP programming using the Java language. Objects represent entities in the real world with properties whose values define their states, and with methods that describe the operations that can be performed on the objects. Objects can interact with each other by sending and receiving messages among themselves. In Java, the objects are represented as program modules, which encapsulate a portion of the objects’ characteristics and operations or behavior. The course will cover basic concepts dealing with object-oriented problem-solving and software development. Students will learn problem-solving skills and apply them to real-world program design and construction in the Java language.

Prerequisites: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710; BADM 1030, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

AIMS 4730
Business Data Communications

3 Semester Hours

An introduction to the use of data communications and other automation systems in the business environment, including the study of local and wide area networks, voice and electronic mail, video conferencing, and other automation tools in support of management.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710 or consent of instructor and approval by Associate Dean.

AIMS 4740
Web-based Development

3 Semester Hours

This course will introduce students to Web-based Development using various web design and development software as well as programming languages. The emphasis is on the business use of the web and its integration with business strategy and activities along with developing skills in creating effective web sites. The course will teach the students the basics of web development and will introduce them to the Mobile Web and Mobile Application development. Students will also learn about the current developments taking place in this area.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710.

AIMS 4750
Business Intelligence and Data Mining

3 Semester Hours

Current management practices place an increasing dependence on the use of information to manage a business—business intelligence tools and systems play a critical role in this regard. To help managerial decision makers do their job effectively, it is necessary to understand the decision making process, the nature of data/information used in the decision making process and the role of information technology (in particular, business intelligence technologies) in that process. The course focuses on data mining, data warehousing and aspects of knowledge management along future directions and development of business intelligence tools in the context of business networks and collaborative online environments.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710.

AIMS 4770
Information Technology Security

3 Semester Hours

This course will introduce students to Information Technology Security in the corporate setting through various hands-on practice/experiments as well as Harvard Business School cases. The emphasis is on the business use of information security knowledge and its integration with business strategy and process along with developing skills in measuring information security, identifying security vulnerabilities, managing security risks, monitoring and preventing potential security breaches, and creating secured business practice procedures. The course will teach the students the basics of Information Technology Security and will introduce them to theory and technology of wireless network security, e-commerce security, securing online advertising as well as business continuity and disaster recovery.

Prerequisite: ACCT 3140 or AIMS 2710.
AIMS 4790
Capstone Project

3 Semester Hours
This course will enable students to practice team-oriented problem-solving skills in the context of undertaking and completing a complex IT project, and to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of IT concepts and techniques in tackling analysis, design, and implementation of solutions to complex IT problems. The course will enable students to acquire and demonstrate their understanding, use and proficiency in project management skills related to tackling IT projects, and to practice their written and oral communication skills in the write-up and presentation of their projects.

Prerequisites: The three required upper division AIMS courses for the specific track.

Business Administration

BADM 1010
Business Perspectives—Introduction to Ethical Decision Models

1 Semester Hour
This course covers two general topics that will be modified slightly based on individual faculty perspectives and style. The first part of the course deals with a variety of legal, social, and institutional dimensions of the environment in which business is conducted. This will include:

• The relationship between business and the society natural environment in which it operates;
• The relationship between business and the values of the society; the legal and business context in which we find "ethics" in today's workplace—corporate ethics programs, the Federal Sentencing Guidelines for Organizations, Sarbanes-Oxley, and other business regulations;
• The relationship between business, society, and Jesuit values.

The second part of the course aims to help students learn how to work with two different approaches to ethical reasoning:

• A "values" approach (which echoes the "virtue ethics" approach taken by most corporate ethics programs), and
• An approach that connects with the methodology students will be exposed to in their ethics requirement (a secular approach based on an analysis of both the consequence of actions and the intrinsic merit of the actions themselves).

The objective of this course is introducing our students to the centrality of ethics in our mission, and importance of ethical standards in the business leaders' decision process.

Required for ALL majors in the College of Business Administration.

BADM 1030

Business Perspectives—Information Technology in Organizations

1 Semester Hour

This course provides an introduction to information technology and computing with emphasis to its applications in business and organizations. The course will be devoted to problem-solving and acquiring personal productivity software skills essential for effective and efficient use of IT in business and organizations. Emphasis is on use of the computer in problem-solving, and will be hands-on in a laboratory setting. The course is designed to cover the following:

• Application software use to solve problems: Problem-solving/analytical skills—mental processing/logical thinking stage, procedure development, e.g., uses of control structures and flowcharting techniques in developing business procedures, etc. Use of spreadsheet, e.g., Excel, in modeling and data analysis; spreadsheet calculations—use of Excel and user-defined functions, what-if type analysis; use of graphs—creating and editing charts, and printing worksheets, etc.
• Information Technology use for knowledge workers: Use of knowledge work productivity software, e.g., Excel; what is knowledge work and knowledge workers—analysis of individual knowledge work tasks/activities of, for example, managers, accountants, financial analysts, lawyers, etc.; knowledge workers and information management; collaboration among knowledge workers—analysis of work activities and information requirements or management, etc.; data organization, access and management of internal organizational data and external data—role of IT, e.g., Internet and WWW in knowledge worker productivity.
• The Internet and WWW: Operation and functional uses; IP addresses, datagrams, domain names, TCP/IP; and the World Wide Web, use of URLs, browsers, and search engines—for information searches, etc.

The objectives of this course are:

• To introduce students to the important concepts and terminology fundamental to an understanding and appreciation of information technology and its uses in business and organizations.
• To establish a firm foundation and proficiency in problem-solving skills in computing using flowcharting techniques, acquiring personal productivity skills in the use of application software packages, in particular, Excel for spreadsheet modeling and analysis, and the use of the Internet and the WWW for Required of ALL majors in the College of Business Administration.

Business Perspectives—Globalization

1 Semester Hour

This course is designed to provide freshman or sophomore students with knowledge of the critical aspects of globalization, key trends in the global economy, and build an appropriate educational plan at the early stage of their college years.

The objectives of this course are:

- To introduce students to the driving forces behind globalization and evaluate how globalization has affected the U.S. economy.
- To discuss our main trading partners and investors along with the key trends in international trade and foreign direct investment. Additionally, the course addresses the key players and their roles in the global economy.

Through an in-depth analysis of these issues, students are expected to learn:

- The current trends and future prospects of the global economy.
- The meaning of globalization and its impacts on the U.S. economy as well as career implications of global economy.

Required for ALL majors in the College of Business Administration.

Analytical Concepts and Methods for Business

3 Semester Hours

The course is meant as an introductory basis for students seeking a minor in Business Administration. Topics will include fractions, decimals vs. percentages, Excel spreadsheets vs. calculators, future and present value, interest rates, compounding, credit terms in personal finance, probabilities, weights, mean or expected value, statistics, variance, standard deviation, sample vs. population statistics, correlation and covariance, and linear estimations.

Required for ALL Business Administration minors.

BADM 3020

Economic Environment, Marketing, and Business Law Concepts

3 Semester Hours

This is a basic course in economics, marketing, and business law which will give the Business Administration minor student an introduction to the three subjects. After taking this course, the student will be prepared to take more advanced courses in the various subjects covered.

Required for ALL Business Administration minors.

BADM 3030

Key Concepts of Accounting and Finance

3 Semester Hours

This course provides a timely and relevant introduction to key accounting and finance concepts. With a focus on strategic techniques for decision making in the corporate environment, it aims to provide students with a general, real-world understanding of financial statements, budgeting, financial analysis, managerial accounting, valuation, financial markets, investments, risk, ethics, and how firms raise capital.

Required for ALL Business Administration minors.

Business and Social Responsibility in the Global Economy

3 Semester Hours

This is an applied course that focuses on the interactions of business, government, and societal institutions. Particular attention is directed to such topics as economic systems, stakeholder management, political and legislative process, sustainability, and corporate governance. Themes of ethics, social responsibility, and leadership will be emphasized. There are two specific goals: 1) The student grasps the broad issues of corporate social responsibility and 2) The student develops decision making skills needed to lead a corporation to productive solutions.

Must be taken in residence at LMU.

Senior standing required.

BADM 4970

Strategic Management

3 Semester Hours

This is an applied course that develops strategic thinking skills to enable managers to position the business to achieve and sustain superior competitive performance. This course addresses issues of both strategy design and implementation in the complex global economic environment. The course requires students to draw upon and integrate knowledge and skills developed throughout their business education.

Must be taken in residence at LMU.

Senior standing required.

BLAW 2210

Legal and Regulatory Environment

3 Semester Hours

A survey course on the general concepts found in Business Law. The student will be exposed to legal, ethics, and regulatory terminology, concepts, and reasoning found when working within the business and government environment.
Prerequisites: BADM 1010 and 1020, both with a grade of C (2.0) or higher.

BLAW 3210

Business Law Applications and Cases

3 Semester Hours

The course offers a detailed study of the nature of contracts and their applications in business organizations, personal property, real property, and commercial transactions. A focus will be placed on interpreting the law through existing case studies.

Prerequisite: BLAW 2210.

BLAW 3270

Marketing Law

3 Semester Hours

To acquaint students with fundamental concepts, principles, and rules of marketing law that concern marketers and consumers in day-to-day activities, in private business relationships, and in their relationship with government. The course will focus on various legal constraints, problems and ramifications which should be recognized and addressed by marketers when making pricing, product, promotion, and distribution decisions.

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

3 Semester Hours

This course is designed to introduce students to entrepreneurship as an integral part of our economy at the local, regional, national, and global level. Students will learn about the processes involved in taking entrepreneurial ideas from conception to new venture launch, with emphasis placed on the creativity, critical thinking skills, and flexibility essential to recognizing business opportunities and assessing those opportunities' feasibility in uncertain, dynamic markets. At a more detailed level, students will be exposed (through readings and experiential exercises) to issues of creativity and innovation, feasibility analysis, "proof of concept" development, and new venture leadership.

Junior standing required.

Prerequisites: BADM 1010, 1020, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ENTR 3330

Social Entrepreneurship

3 Semester Hours

In this course, students are introduced to the field of social entrepreneurship—the process of using an entrepreneurial mindset and business skills to create innovative approaches to societal problems. We explore the social entrepreneurship landscape and examine the latest innovations in business models, legal forms, financing alternatives, and management strategies. Students are expected to identify their passions and work on relevant business ideas or field projects that will equip them with hands-on experience.

Junior standing required.

Prerequisites: BADM 1010, 1020, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).
ENTR 3350
New Venture Creation
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to provide students with a hands-on opportunity to learn how a new venture opportunity is developed. In the process of completing a business plan, students will 1) learn to think critically about business concepts, and 2) complete primary and secondary research about fundamental strategic, operational, financial, marketing, and HR issues.

ENTR 3380
Small Business Management
3 Semester Hours
This integrative course allows students to combine skills learned in all business disciplines. The focus is on the identification and analysis of operating problems confronting the small business manager.
Junior standing required.
Prerequisites: BADM 1010, 1020, all with a minimum grade of C (2.0).

ENTR 3397
Internship
1 Semester Hour
The objective of this one-semester-hour course is to help students achieve a worthwhile learning experience relevant to their major program of study. The internship, conducted with an off-campus organization, will help the student gain insights relative to his/her strengths and weaknesses in the job environment.
Prerequisite: ENTR 3310.

ENTR 4310
Entrepreneurial Finance
3 Semester Hours
In this course, students are introduced to the financial aspects of small businesses and entrepreneurial ventures. The key topics include evaluating new business ideas and ventures, reading and understanding financial statements of rapidly growing companies, and developing financing strategies. We also discuss various debt and equity alternatives of financing, the different valuation techniques, and key tactics and approaches to negotiating term sheets.
Prerequisites: ACCT 2110, FNCE 3410.

ENTR 4320
Real Estate Finance, Investment, and Entrepreneurship
3 Semester Hours
This course introduces students to gathering relevant data (both primary and secondary data) to build financial models for analyzing, interpreting, and making decisions on evaluation of alternative real estate investment opportunities with alternative financial structures. Hands-on entrepreneurial learning makes use of cases, gathering primary data, financial modeling, and estimating the most an investor should pay for a specific property. More specifically, this course includes determining a property's "investment value," financing strategy, risk analysis, taxation, market area supply and demand analysis by property type (e.g., single-family homes, apartments, office, retail, warehouses, and other industrial properties), alternative investment ownership (e.g., sole proprietorships, REITs, Limited Partnerships, LLCs, etc.), as well as evaluating alternative financing instruments in both primary and secondary markets.
Prerequisite: FNCE 3410.

ENTR 4340
International Entrepreneurship
3 Semester Hours
This course focuses on developing knowledge and skills in three key components of international entrepreneurship: initiating entrepreneurial ventures, managing international business transactions, and dealing with multicultural business environments. The course includes a feasibility study of an international small business venture start up, case study, and experiential learning.
Prerequisite: INBA 3810.

ENTR 4350
Entrepreneurial and Small Business Marketing
3 Semester Hours
Whereas traditional marketing courses often assume that marketers are operating in a predictable environment with generous budgets, this course examines shoestring methods to be used under conditions of considerable uncertainty.
Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

ENTR 4370
Product Design and Development
3 Semester Hours
This course, a joint venture between LMU and OTIS College of Design, provides an overview of the key concepts, frameworks, and issues in product design and development. Students are expected learn to work effectively in an interdisciplinary team to construct a business concept, design a new product, and complete a prototype.
Prerequisite: ENTR 3350 with a minimum grade of B (3.0).

ENTR 4381
Managing New and Growing Ventures
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to provide students with theoretical and practical knowledge about new and young businesses. Print and live cases will be used to facilitate in-depth exploration of the typical start-up, operating, and growth challenges facing entrepreneurial companies. Guest speakers (founders of or investors in new ventures) will share their entrepreneurial journeys. Students will participate in a team project where they meet with the founder(s) of a local entrepreneurial venture, identify key challenges facing that venture, and develop an in-depth plan to address these challenges.
Prerequisite: ENTR 3310.

Mentoring and Management
3 Semester Hours
This course will help students increase professional skills by connecting them with a mentor. Students will be asked to formulate specific developmental goals that the mentor can provide with assistance in reaching. A broad overview to careers theory in general, and mentoring theories and practices in particular, will be provided. In addition to structured mentoring learning experiences, students will also have the opportunity to develop important work skills in planning, organizing, and managing a project. In some cases, mentors may involve protégés in projects related to their profession that will enable students to gain valuable hands-on experience. There may also be some projects available with non-profits and the First Year program on campus through collaboration with the Center for Service and Action for students and mentors to work on together. In this way, the class will embody the LMU mission of men and women in service for others. The first part of the class will be structured around addressing three basic questions by completing standardized assessments, undertaking a rigorous self reflection, setting developmental goals, enhancing career-related skills, and by completing a professional development project.

Prerequisite: MGMT 3610.

MGMT 3697

Managing Career Success

3 Semester Hours

It is increasingly clear that career planning and ongoing career management activities are essential to career success. Career management activities in organizations are clearly linked to employee retention and key productivity measures. To help generate experience-based insights for future career preparation and planning, this course involves a personally relevant off-campus internship or meaningful work experience of at least 20 hours, regular journal recording of ongoing observations and insights, a mock employment interview, informational interviews of professional in the field, a minimum of 10 different self-assessment exercises, and an off-campus networking assignment. Course learning culminates in the completion of a final in-depth individual report that describes insights and specific short- and long-term plans for future career management.

Prerequisites: MGMT 3610, 3620.

MGMT 4672

Managing a Global Workforce

3 Semester Hours

This course helps students recognize important human resource management (HRM) issues underlying current international and global business conditions, as well as understand key HRM challenges and practices (e.g., cross-cultural management, managing international assignments, global talent management) relevant to effective strategic management and business development in important countries and regions of the global economy. In addition, personal competencies and international issues are examined that are relevant to students' own future careers within the global workforce.

Prerequisites: INBA 3810, MGMT 3610.

MGMT 4680

Employee Relations and Retention

3 Semester Hours

Employee Relations is the functional area of Human Resource Management whose primary focus is to develop and maintain effective working relationships with employees within union and non-union environments. At a minimum, it is the task of managers and HR professional to have the knowledge and ability to adhere to organizational policy and state and federal labor law. However, to be truly competitive, managers and HR professionals must strive to advance beyond the minimum standards and focus on the development and retention of their employees as well. This course will present an in-depth overview to Employee Relations along with best practice retention strategies currently employed by leading organizations. This class is designed to address several key questions related to Employee Relations and Retention: 1) What skills are needed by employees, managers, and HR professional to be successful in this arena? 2) Why do we care about Employee Relations and Retention? 3) Who are the primary stakeholders and what are the inter-relationships? 4) How does organizational context affect Employee Relations and Retention? Employee Relations and Retention are critical to the bottom line success of organizations. As future employees, managers, and perhaps for some students, Human Resource professionals, it is critical to be familiar with the fundamental laws, policies, programs, and skills related to developing oneself and the organization's human capital.

Prerequisite: MGMT 3610.

MGMT 4690

Strategic Human Resource Management

3 Semester Hours

In this course students learn from lectures, cases, and assigned readings about how the various areas of the human resource function (e.g., HR planning, staffing, training, performance management, compensation, employee relations) contribute to an organization's productivity and competitive advantage. A major emphasis is placed on how the human resource function supports effective organization strategy formulation and implementation, as the central role of all managers as HR practitioners in their daily workforce interactions and challenges.

Principles of Marketing

3 Semester Hours

This course covers the essential principles of marketing as a vital component of a business operation, emphasizing marketing's strategic bases and the real-world utilization of both traditional and innovative techniques to influence both the trade and the consumer in making a purchase decision. We will focus on the effects of uncontrollable factors in the environment. In addition, basic controllable variables essential to marketing success will be examined, including marketing analysis, product decisions, pricing, distribution, and promotion. We will explore how marketing guides business strategy, discovers and creates demand for products, and influences product development.

Prerequisites: BADM 1010; ECON 100 or 105 or 110; PSYC 100.

MRKT 3520

Marketing Analysis

3 Semester Hours

The course will introduce students to the basic tools and concepts used for acquiring and evaluating market information. Both qualitative and quantitative approaches to analyzing consumer attitudes and behaviors will be examined, and methods for understanding trends in the marketing environment will be discussed.

Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 3530

Buyer Behavior

3 Semester Hours

This course is designed to refocus the student on the buyer as the object of marketing programs. Social science concepts (from psychology, sociology, anthropology, and economics) are used to examine influences on buyer behavior, as well as to study the buyer decision process itself. Emphasis will be put on how marketers use this knowledge to develop their overall strategies.

Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

1 Semester Hour
The objective of this one-semester-hour course is to help students achieve a worthwhile learning experience relevant to their major program of study. The internship, conducted with an off-campus organization, will help the student gain insights relative to his/her strengths and weaknesses in the job environment.
Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4510
Advertising and Promotion Management
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to introduce students to the field of advertising and promotion in an applied fashion. The emphasis in this course will be on the role of advertising and other promotional mix elements in the integrated marketing communications program (IMC) of an organization. The development of an integrated marketing communications program requires an understanding of the overall marketing process, how companies organize for advertising and other promotional functions, customer behavior, communications theory, and how to set goals, objectives, and budgets. Attention will be given to the various IMC tools used in contemporary marketing including advertising, direct marketing, Internet and interactive marketing, sales promotion, publicity and public relations, and personal selling. We will examine the process by which integrated marketing communications programs are planned, developed, and executed as well as the various factors and considerations that influence this process. We will also discuss the environment in which advertising and promotion takes place and the various regulatory, social, and economic factors that affect an organization’s IMC program.
Prerequisites: MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530.

MRKT 4515
Managing Retail and Service Businesses
3 Semester Hours
The U.S. economy is now dominated by the retail and services sectors. Moreover, understanding and strategically managing customer service is now becoming a critical determinant of business success or failure. Yet, most business school courses have traditionally focused on the manufacturing sector of the economy. This is a potential problem, because the management and marketing of service or retail businesses involve different social, and economic factors that affect an organization’s IMC program. This course will discuss an overarching philosophy that stresses the importance of the integration of the marketing, human resources, and operations functions within the service and retail systems.
Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4525
Competitive Strategy
3 Semester Hours
This course provides an in-depth analysis of competition and competitive strategy in the context of business from both theoretical and applied perspectives. Whereas numerous business classes discuss competitive environments, this course focuses exclusively on theories and strategies that can be used to achieve and enhance competitive advantage in the business marketplace. Competitive models, strategic metaphors, and concepts from game theory are explored in detail. Most importantly, the notions of competitive evolution and interdependence are emphasized and extensively explored. These concepts are then illustrated as they are commonly applied in the business world to enhance an enterprise’s market position. Additionally, the great dangers of applying "cookbook strategies" or off-the-shelf solutions to competitive situations are explained and illustrated.
Prerequisites: MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530.

MRKT 4530
Sports Marketing
3 Semester Hours
This course will introduce students to the unique nature of sport marketing at both the professional and amateur levels. The course will cover the unique aspects of sport marketing and how marketing concepts such as strategic planning and segmentation apply to sport marketing. Students will be introduced to the interrelationship of integrated marketing communications and sport and develop an understanding of sport as industry and the fan as consumer.
Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4540
Professional Selling
3 Semester Hours
An examination of the sales function, encompassing the broad range of methods that sales professionals may employ to build marketing relationships. Steps in the selling process will be explored, including techniques for engaging customers, identifying needs, handling objections, negotiating, requesting orders, and developing and maintaining long term relationships. A particular emphasis will be placed on the role of technology in contemporary sales activities.
Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4545
New Product Development
3 Semester Hours
The development of new products represents one of the most promising avenues by which firms can exploit to maintain and expand their market position in today’s dynamic markets. The course provides a practical introduction to the process of designing and marketing new products and it covers the major phases of product development and launch. All of the critical steps in the new product development process will be discussed in detail, including: opportunity identification and analysis, concept development and testing, product design and pre-market testing and forecasting, and the management and control of the product launch. The particular focus of this class is upon the marketing function. Thus, the class will concentrate on market measurement, the use of that information to develop the benefit targets for the new product, and the ultimate development of marketing mixes (product, price, place, promotion) that will improve the chances for success. As such, the class will provide techniques to interface the marketing function with the functions of R&D, design engineering, and manufacturing, but it is beyond the scope of the course to emphasize these functions per se. The course will be relevant to students who expect to work directly in brand or product management as well as those whose interests are in general management and consulting.

Prerequisites: MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530.

MRKT 4550

Brand Management

3 Semester Hours

The objective of this course is to learn the decision-making processes used by product or brand managers with primary responsibility for the marketing success of the company's products and services, including environmental scanning and coordination of marketing activities for the firm's offerings.

Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4555

Marketing to Companies

3 Semester Hours

In the business market, the customers are organizations (e.g., businesses, governments, and institutions), and these customers represent a huge market opportunity. While we think of companies like Procter & Gamble, Sony, or Ford as sellers, they are also organizational buyers that annually purchase enormous quantities of raw materials and manufactured component parts; they purchase supplies and business services regularly to support operations, and they make large investments in building, equipment, and information technology. It's important to know that building and maintaining a close relationship with an organizational buyer require careful attention to details, meeting promises, and swiftly responding to changing demands.

Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4560

Supply Chain Management and Logistics

3 Semester Hours

This course takes a look at the front-end functions of marketing planning, logistical planning, business relationships, networking, and the marketing benefits of business collaboration inherent in the dynamic channels of distribution used in a global business environment.

Prerequisites: MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530.

MRKT 4570

Pricing Goods and Services

3 Semester Hours

The focus of this course is upon the function of price as a driver of profit. Particular attention will be given to the roles of customers, costs, and competitors ask key concerns when developing pricing strategies. All aspects of pricing within the marketing and business environment will be examined, including theories and models of pricing strategy, and common pricing techniques used in contemporary business practice.

Prerequisites: ACCT 2110, 2120; MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530.

MRKT 4575

Strategic Marketing for Non-Profit Organizations

3 Semester Hours

This course combines traditional studies and 15-30 hours of community-based learning with a non-profit organization selected by the student in concert with LMU's Center for Service and Action. We will study the constructs and application of marketing principles and practices in the non-profit organizations, focusing on those addressing social issues and causes, with a special emphasis on the service of faith and justice. We will explore a variety of techniques non-profit marketers use to further their missions and causes, which include 1) identifying and serving the needs of customers/clients, 2) co-creating value for multiple stakeholders, 3) developing relationships with donor/volunteer, 4) creating partnerships with private sector partners. Through readings, lectures, discussion cases, training seminars/workshops, and community-based learning experiences, students will develop a basic framework for strategic thinking and decision-making in this sector. Students will consider these perspectives while applying marketing concepts including segmentation, positioning, branding, strategic alliance, and the marketing mix.

Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4580

Marketing and Society

3 Semester Hours

This course examines the roles individuals play in society and the economy through the acts of shopping, consuming, discussing, displaying, and disposing of goods and services. In addition, the processes by which organizations conceptualize, reinforce, and exploit these roles in the marketing of goods and services will be examined.

Prerequisite: MRKT 3510.

MRKT 4585

Consumer Research and Analysis

3 Semester Hours

This course covers the application of consumer analysis from the perspectives of demographic, trends, and forecasting. Social, cultural, and psychological factors influencing consumers' decision-making processes will be examined through qualitative and quantitative methods. The overall emphasis will be toward determining implications and conclusions to be drawn from the understanding of consumers and purchase decisions. This course seeks to leverage and deepen knowledge from the marketing core by addressing how consumers understand applications within the marketing sector.

Prerequisites: MRKT 3510, 3520, 3530.

MRKT 4597

Marketing Strategy in the Global Environment

3 Semester Hours

This is the capstone course for students completing the marketing major. This course provides a comprehensive framework for the development of competitive marketing strategies that achieve organizational objectives and build competitive advantage. It teaches students the fundamentals of strategic analysis and strategy development within the context of the global business environment. The course emphasizes the major analytical, ethical, and strategic frameworks of marketing, as specifically implemented within the complex contemporary conditions of global business relationships and activities. The course incorporates experiential learning, case studies, and a simulation project.

Prerequisite: MBAA 608.

MBAG: International Business Systems
This area of emphasis exposes the student to the international marketplace. The courses are grouped into four categories: Functional, Regional, Practicum, and Integrative. All prerequisite courses are at the core level (MBAA 601-609). Thus students who have completed the core may take any MBAG classes without having had previous international coursework. It is recommended, however, that students select courses from different groups rather than taking all their international classes in a single category. Note: This recommendation is a requirement for students seeking the Certificate in International Business.

Functional Courses (MBAG)
The functional courses address the basic functions of business and explore them from an international perspective.

MBAG 637
International Management of Human Resources
3 Semester Hours
This course examines key issues and problems involved in managing human resources on a global scale. In addition to comparative analysis of traditional HRM areas such as staffing, training, performance appraisal, and compensation, special topics include expatriate preparation, repatriation, and managing a foreign and culturally diverse workforce. Also listed as MBAE 637.

Prerequisite: MBA 605.

MBAG 640
International Strategic Management
3 Semester Hours
The formulation and implementation of business and corporate strategies for worldwide operations in the increasing global economy, as opposed to those of purely domestic firms or firms marginally involved in international activities, is examined. The most recently developed approaches and concepts are discussed and applied through the use of extensive international case studies and current readings. Also listed as MBAB 640.

Prerequisite: MBAA 605.

MBAG 641
International Management
3 Semester Hours
Differences in political, economic, and socio-cultural environments around the world challenge managers with opportunities and risks. The primary objective of the course is to help the students achieve understanding of the international business environment and evaluate the agenda facing managers operating in international business contexts. Also listed as MBA 641.

Prerequisite: MBAA 605.

MBAG 646
International Entrepreneurship

This course integrates investment, financing, and dividend policies and practices for multinational corporations. Topics include measuring and managing foreign exchange risk, foreign investment decisions, capital budgeting and cost of capital in an international perspective, political risk, working capital management, and international financial markets. Also listed as MBAF 648.

Prerequisite: MBA 608.
MBAG 649

International Dimensions of Economic Strategy
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to help students develop a clear understanding of the issues surrounding international economic strategy and trade policy, and to provide analytical tools and frameworks with which critical assessment of opportunities and risks can be made. Also listed as MBAF 649.
Prerequisite: MBA 608.

Practicum Course (MBAG)
The practicum course provides students with specific information about the operational aspects of the international marketplace. Its major thrust is the study of practice rather than functional principle.

MBAG 676

The Environment of Business in the European Union
3 Semester Hours
This course will examine the European Union as both a major part of the global marketplace and a policymaking body. Cultural aspects of doing business there will be highlighted and contrasted with other regional areas. Historical references will be included to enhance understanding. Finally, the course addresses current EU issues. Throughout, the major focus will be how all of this impacts marketing practice. Also listed as MBAC 676.
Prerequisite: MBA 606.

Regional Course (MBAG)
The regional course explores the relevant strategies for managing within the economic, social, political, and cultural systems of the international marketplace.

MBAH 673
New Product Design and Development
3 Semester Hours
This course is a team-taught course (professors from Engineering and MBA) that is cross-listed with MECH/SELP 673. The course includes both individual projects and assignments and a team project to create a new product, develop a prototype, and then develop a business plan for bringing the product to market. Each team will involve engineers and MBA students. In the past, the course has created outstanding results, including projects that are actually being taken to market. Teams have competed in international New Venture Competitions representing LMU.
Prerequisites: MBAH 606 and 608.

MBAH 698
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours
Prerequisite: As designated by the MBA Office.

MBAH 699
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours
Prerequisites: MBAH 601-609.

MBAI: Integrative Experience Courses
The Integrative Experience provides a unique final capstone to the MBA Program. Three available options enable the student to provide focus for the knowledge gained in earlier courses. Integrative Experience courses are designed as capstone courses to culminate the student's graduate studies. Students should select and anticipate the scheduling of the courses(s) that will provide the best possible conclusion to the MBA curriculum. Integrative courses should be taken toward the end of the Advanced Curriculum. The intent of the Integrative Experience is to focus the student's previous business training on a single conclusion. Through this opportunity, the student experiences the interrelationships and interactions that exist between all the functional areas of the modern business firm. Integrative Experience courses are both comprehensive and demanding of the student's time and effort.

MBAI 610
Management Strategy
3 Semester Hours
This course deals with the strategic direction of the firm. Tools for the in-depth analysis of industries and competition and techniques for the analysis and creation of competitive advantage are presented. Issues of both formulation and implementation of strategy within the firm are explored. This course seeks to develop the capability to understand and evaluate a firm's strategic situation in depth and to advance viable approaches to addressing the key issues facing it.
Prerequisites: MBAH 601-609.

MBAI 688
CMS Preparation—Fall
This noncredit class is required for CMS activities and mandatory for those planning to participate in the CMS class departing in May. Students will register for this class as they would for any Fall semester course. No tuition is paid at the time of registration, but rather a CMS travel deposit is required. The class will meet one Saturday per month. The schedule will be posted outside the MBA Office.

MBAI 689
CMS Preparation—Spring

0 Semester Hours

This noncredit class is equivalent to MBAI 688, but takes place in the Spring. Students will pay the remaining travel costs required for the CMS trip to be determined by the MBA Office. The balance will be due upon registration.

Prerequisite: MBAI 688.

MBAI 690
International Regional Strategies: Cultural and Industrial

3 Semester Hours

Class sessions held over each month emphasize tools of analysis and comparison, international strategy, regional study, and the industry that has been selected for the year's focus. Individual papers are written on cultural aspects of the international region to be visited and on the group process to date. Group papers are written on the industry, and group presentations are given on visits to representative local firms visited by each group.

Prerequisites: Completion of the core plus MBAI 688 and 689.

MBAI 691
Comparative Management Systems (CMS)

3 Semester Hours

The CMS course commences immediately at the conclusion of MBAI 690. Students continue with the same groups to visit business firms in a number of different countries. Their preparation in the previous course provides them a significant degree of industry and cultural awareness. The duration of the trip is about three weeks. En route, the student groups conduct pre-arranged visits to firms in the designated industry and meet with executives who manage their group's functional area. After each visit, the groups make informal presentations to the rest of the class integrating information gleaned from the visit with that from previous visits. Additional visits with relevant government and industry organizations are included for overall learning enrichment.

At the conclusion of the course, each student submits a final analysis of his/her group. Sub groups write papers on topics of interest and present them to their peers in an academic conference.

Although students may have only one integrative course sequence in their MBA program, it is possible for students to participate a second time in the CMS experience on a directed study elective (MBAI 698) basis.

Prerequisite: MBAI 690.

MBAI 692
Integrative Project

3 Semester Hours

This course provides an opportunity for the student to integrate three fields of study in solving on-the-job problems or by doing primary research. An intensive original research study within one field may also be acceptable. Admission requires approval of the Integrative Project Coordinator. The student works independently with the Integrative Project Coordinator in completing the project. Each project is an effort that is unique to the student and his/her field of study and provides a definite state of the art advancement.

Prerequisite: MBA 610 or 690.

MBAI 697
Internship Experience

1 Semester Hour

This one semester hour Credit/No Credit course will assist students in attaining practical experience relevant to the student's area of emphasis. Course is repeatable.

MBAI 698
Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MBAJ: Accounting Decision Systems

Businesses communicate financial data through the language of accounting. Courses in this area of emphasis are designed to enhance the understanding of how accounting information is developed and how it can be used to optimize organizational goals. Students choosing this area of emphasis will find the knowledge useful in the financial field as well as for strategic and day-to-day business decisions.

MBAJ 611
Modern Corporate Reporting

3 Semester Hours

This course will examine basic concepts that govern financial statement reporting by publicly-held corporations. Actual statements will be used to illustrate the complexities of current disclosure issues. The policy-making environment that produces generally accepted accounting principles in the United States will be critically examined, along with some procedural aspects of financial accounting.

Prerequisite: MBA 602.

MBAJ 613
Profit Planning and Management Decisions

3 Semester Hours

This course provides a conceptual framework for decisions involving a firm's strategies and profitability. Partly based on case study approach, the importance of performance measurement in the decision process is emphasized. Various issues related to the firm's cost structure and pricing models as well as budgeting are covered. Other topics related to the profitability measure such as cost assignment, performance appraisal, and resource allocation are discussed.

Prerequisite: MBA 602.

MBAJ 615
Tax Planning for Management Decisions

3 Semester Hours

An analysis of the effects of the tax law on the investment and business decisions of individuals and organizations. The course will survey tax principles that managers should understand whether they are a sole proprietor or an executive in a partnership or corporation. Tax planning and savings opportunities from the perspective of the entrepreneur, the business enterprise, the employee, and the investor will be emphasized. Also listed as MBAF 615.
Executive MBA Program

MBAP 602
Accounting and Control
1-4 Semester Hours
This course gives managers a better understanding of accounting information and how to use that information to make more informed decisions.

MBAP 603
Decision Support Foundation
1-4 Semester Hours
Covers data analysis through descriptive statistics techniques, an introduction to quantifying uncertainty through the use of probabilities and decision trees, and an introduction to basic regression analysis tools for business forecasting.

MBAP 604
Applied Business Economics
1-4 Semester Hours
This course applies economic concepts and tools to solve contemporary, real-world business problems. Includes economic terminology, issues and methods, determinants of supply and demand, elasticity concepts, understanding the economics of the firm, and characteristics of alternative market structures.

MBAP 608
Managerial Finance
1-4 Semester Hours
Financial planning and analysis for businesses. Emphasizes long-term investment, securities and business valuation, risk vs. return analysis, long-term and short-term financing alternatives, and working capital management.

MBAP 611
Corporate Expansion Project
1-4 Semester Hours
This real-world skill application project ties the course work together and provides actual practice in using quantitative data to support a major financial decision.

MBAP 612
Leadership Practicum
1-4 Semester Hours
This skill application project includes a capstone business simulation, in which students will understand how to use one's own leadership style more effectively.

MBAP 613
Business Opportunity Assessment
1-4 Semester Hours
This skill application project involves the identification and evaluation of an international business opportunity. A major report and presentation integrate module concepts into a supportable recommendation for board-level decision.

MBAP 614
Strategic Opportunity Implementation
1-4 Semester Hours
This skill application project is a comprehensive implementation plan for the business opportunity identified and evaluated in the Module 3 skill application project.

MBAP 615
Field Consulting Project
1-4 Semester Hours
In this course, student teams conduct an in-depth study of an actual business, usually a small disadvantaged or non-profit enterprise. Acting as consultants to the enterprise, students apply concepts learned in the classroom to actual business situations, and their recommendations and solutions carry real consequences. Students gain a framework for managing a consulting project and practice the art of quickly turning complex information into effective oral and written presentations.

MBAP 622
Strategic Human Resources Management
1-4 Semester Hours
Introduces students to key human capital management concepts and tools for managing individual and organizational performance. Includes human capital and organizational performance; HR strategy development and planning; HR “best practices”; establishing, evaluating, and rewarding performance; high performance management practices; recruitment/retention of superior staff; knowledge management; and work design.

MBAP 623
Leadership in the 21st Century
1-4 Semester Hours
Addresses what it means to be a leader in the 21st century. Focuses on three areas related to leadership: the key framework that defines a leader; the key issues a leader encounters in daily work, such as managing people, professional growth planning, and providing feedback and coaching; and the context within which the leader operates, including organizational change, climate and culture, and organizational power and politics.
policies, help shape the environment in which companies compete.

Managing Technology

Introduces key concepts and tools for leveraging and managing information technology (IT) for business results, including IT literacy, business megatrends where technology is often deployed, foundational rule-breaking technologies, and the IT maturity curve and its usage.

Executive Communications I

This course includes basic elements of corporate communication strategy with an emphasis on writing, presenting, and listening.

Executive Communications II

Emphasizes developing and delivering effective presentations.

Business Research Skills

The course introduces students to business research methods and their application to optimizing strategic decisions. Students will complete a "hands-on" industry analysis project. As part of the project, students will learn how to plan and manage the execution of business research projects; how to conduct data collection in the field (interviews with policy makers and business executives). Special attention will be placed on the development of students' teamwork skills. The project will conclude with a presentation and a research project.

Strategy Formulation in the Global Environment

The first of two courses on Strategic Management. Addresses macro-level issues and how they impact the long-term direction of the firm. External forces (globalization, economic trends, technology trends, political and legal environment, and market trends) are analyzed and evaluated to determine strategies that will lead to and sustain a competitive advantage for the firm.

Applied Economic Environment

Explores how aggregate production and spending interact within free markets in the context of the global economy, including understanding how government policies, including monetary, fiscal, and regulatory policies, help shape the environment in which companies compete.

Changing Global Economic Environment

Helps students understand the intricacy of the global political economy by understanding the issues involving international trade and investment for multinational corporations.

Marketing and Social-Cultural Environment

The first of two marketing courses, where students come to understand how marketing translates the goals of the business into strategies and activities that create a sustainable competitive advantage. The goal is to reach a clear understanding of the elements used to create a marketing plan.

Legal Environment of Business

An introduction to business law in the United States, with emphasis on the court system and on contracts, which are basic to all business activities.

Executive Strategy in the Global Environment

The second course in the Strategic Management sequence. Focuses on the leader's role in setting, implementing, and controlling strategy. Students learn how to integrate and incorporate the leadership skills, competencies, and functional disciplines needed to strategically lead an enterprise in a responsible and ethical manner.

Deal Making

How to select an appropriate market-entry strategy from a range of reasonable alternatives. If the appropriate strategy requires a business combination of some type, students learn how and when to use the appropriate tools and skills to successfully complete various types of transactions, including mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, and business alliances.

Strategic Marketing

The second marketing course that builds upon the marketing concepts and processes explored in Module 3 (MBAP 634). Continues the transition already begun in Module 3 that addressed understanding the marketing environment (marketing mix and product strategies) to developing specific implementation strategies and tactics.

Corporate Governance

Helps students understand the role of corporate governance in protecting the interests of corporate stakeholders. Governance often refers to the formulation and administration of policies designed to protect such interests. Traditionally, corporate governance has been defined as a system that allocates duties and authority among a company's shareholders, board of directors, and managers. More recently, the definition... has been expanded to include stakeholders other than shareholders such as employees, customers, suppliers, regulators, and communities.

MBAP 651
Introduction to Executive Leadership
1-4 Semester Hours
The program begins with a four-day residential retreat where students set learning goals, form study teams, and engage in a variety of workshops and team-building exercises. A workshop specifically designed for students and their spouses/significant others addresses the importance of achieving balance between family, work, and school, and introduces the Spouse/Partner Support Program.

MBAP 652
Field Study on Conducting Business Domestically
1-4 Semester Hours
This course supplements the Business Research Skills course (MBAP 628). The main component of the course is a trip to a major U.S. business center where students draw from readings, the business research, site visits, presentations, and cultural experiences will gain insights and key "lessons learned" regarding the issues, challenges, and potential benefits of conducting business in a major business area, such as California.

MBAP 653
Business in the International Environment
1-4 Semester Hours
A two-week journey to one or more major, non-U.S. business centers that broaden understanding of what it takes to manage in today's global business environment. Each student draws from the international field trip lectures, site visits, presentations, and cultural experiences to gain insight and key "lessons learned" regarding the issues, challenges, and potential benefits of conducting business in an international setting. A major paper that demonstrates how these lessons learned can be applied in actual business setting is required.

MBAP 661
Team Performance and Group Dynamics
1-4 Semester Hours
Helps student study teams perform more effectively in skill application projects, and teaches students about teams and team building so they can use teams more effectively as executives. Includes determinants of team success, developing a team mission and operation guidelines, and monitoring team performance.

MBAP 662
Ethics and Spirituality in the Workplace
1-4 Semester Hours
Effective business leadership requires a commitment to personal leadership development and formation in order to fully realize one's personal goals and maximize the value of the organization and the contribution it makes to stakeholders and society at large. This approach defines valuation in its broadest sense and links one's development as a principle-based leader to how an organization identifies and implements core values within the enterprise.

MBAP 663
Professional Growth Planning
1-4 Semester Hours
Provides the tools, guidance, and professional support for developing a well thought-out plan for professional growth. It effectively lets students apply the tools of analysis used in business to develop a professional growth plan.

Special Studies
3 Semester Hours

ARHS 499
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours
Senior standing required.

Studio Arts
ART 150
Introduction to Studio Arts
3 Semester Hours
Open to non-Studio Arts majors only.
Exploration of the materials, techniques, and inspiration of the artist in the media of drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, and two- and three-dimensional design.

ART 151
Introduction to Drawing and Printmaking
3 Semester Hours
Open to non-Studio Arts majors only.
Development of basic drawing skills in various media and the exploration of printmaking techniques.

ART 153
Drawing I
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to drawing and the development of visual awareness. Experimentation and exploration of technique developed through a variety of subject matter. Varied media, including pencil, charcoal, ink, and conte.

ART 154
Drawing II: Figure Drawing
3 Semester Hours
Development of technique and principles used in Drawing I, ART 153, with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.
Prerequisite: ART 153.

ART 160
Two-Dimensional Design
3 Semester Hours
An examination of the basic elements of two-dimensional design. Course emphasizes visual literacy as well as the conceptual and problem-solving processes used in creating and composing graphic form.

ART 182
Programming for Creative Applications
3 Semester Hours
Emphasis on programming as an art form and as a tool for creative applications. Introduction to computer programming within the context of art and design. Concepts and skills taught enhance student ability to excel in future courses about Internet, animation, interactive media, and game design. Weekly exercises balance concept and technique to reveal potential of computer as medium and tool. Lecture, lab, workshop.

Figure Drawing Workshop I
1 Semester Hour
A studio workshop for art and animation majors with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.
May be repeated once for degree credit.
Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 201
Figure Drawing Workshop II
1 Semester Hour
Continuation of a studio workshop for art and animation majors with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.
May be repeated once for degree credit.
Prerequisite: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 250
Visual Arts for the Elementary Educator
3 Semester Hours
Designed to develop the visual arts for the Liberal Studies student, both personally and professionally. Projects will emphasize a personal exploration of media, techniques, art history, and art fundamentals, as well as the role of the teacher in nurturing artistic expression and aesthetic. Students will compile course material into a professional teaching research portfolio. Participation in the ARTsmart service-learning program is required and is incorporated into class hours.
Liberal Studies majors only.

ART 255
Field Experience in Art
0 Semester Hours
Designed for students interested in secondary art education. Explores practical applications of teaching through planned observation, reflection, and group discussions appropriate for future secondary art teachers. Twenty (20) hours of field observation in a secondary public school art classroom is required.
Art Education Emphasis majors only.
Consent of the Director of Secondary Teacher Preparation of Art required.

ART 257
Painting I
3 Semester Hours
Study of basic theoretical methods and techniques as applied to both representation and abstraction. Acrylic paints will be utilized.
Prerequisite: ART 153, 160, or consent of instructor.

ART 260
Computer Graphics I
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to principles and practices of electronic imaging as they apply to graphics, art, and design.

Recommended: ART 160.

ART 275
Three-Dimensional Design
3 Semester Hours
Examination of the basic elements of three-dimensional design emphasizing the conceptual process and utilizing various media.
Prerequisite: ART 160 or consent of instructor.

ART 276
Ceramic Sculpture
3 Semester Hours
Examination of ceramics as a sculptural medium. Students will explore technical and conceptual processes of ceramics. While clay is the focus, other materials will be utilized.

ART 278
Ceramics I
3 Semester Hours
Basic techniques of hand building and throwing on the potter’s wheel integrated with aesthetic exploration through various projects.

ART 280
Photography I
3 Semester Hours
This course focuses on photography as a medium of personal and artistic expression. Students learn camera, darkroom, and presentation fundamentals, as well as basic digital imaging skills.

ART 285
Introduction to Printmaking
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the basic printmaking and transfer processes, using monoprinting, linocuts, woodcuts, drypoints, water etchings, and collages. Both black and white and multicolor images will be produced.
Recommended: ART 151, 153, and 160.

ART 290
Multimedia Survey
3 Semester Hours
Critical and historical examination of multimedia arts through research, discussions, and presentations.

ART 298
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ART 299
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ART 300
Figure Workshop I
1 Semester Hour
A studio workshop for art and animation majors with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.
May be repeated once for degree credit.
Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 301
Figure Workshop II
1 Semester Hour
Continuation of a studio workshop for art and animation majors with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.
May be repeated once for degree credit.
Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 302
Design: Concept to Form
3 Semester Hours
Design as a visual problem-solving process is explored. Emphasis is placed on the creative processes of design and the visual presentation of design research, the design concept, and the final design. This will include visualization techniques and book binding.
Prerequisites: ART 160 and 260.

ART 303
Experimental Typography
3 Semester Hours
The conceptual aspects of typography as both image and form are explored in print, environmental, and time-based media. Storytelling using typography is emphasized.
Prerequisite: ART 368 or consent of instructor or Multimedia Emphasis major.

ART 304
Image Making
3 Semester Hours
The creation of original imagery is explored using a combination of digital and analog drawing, collage and montage methods. The communicative potential of the image is emphasized through the interplay of context, connotation, and denotation.
Prerequisites: ART 160 and 260.
Recommended: ART 368.

ART 305
ARTsmart Community Service Program
0 Semester Hours
ARTsmart is the community service program of the Department of Art and Art History. The mission of ARTsmart is to provide underserved youth an education in the visual arts. LMU Art and Art History students work in teams to develop and teach lessons that incorporate formal art issues, art history, visual culture, social justice issues, and standards-based education to students in a neighboring K-8 school. Students from a variety of art disciplines are encouraged to volunteer.

ART 350
Visual Thinking
3 Semester Hours
This course promotes concept development and creative thinking. Visual problem solving and projects will be based on a concern for how each person examines and explores, ultimately interprets and recreates the world around them.

ART 355
Experiencing Art and Social Justice
3 Semester Hours
This course is divided into two components: studio arts and service learning. In the studio component, students will create art to explore the relationship between art and social justice. Studio projects include mixed media sculpture, painting, and installation. The students participate in the ARTsmart service-learning program, developing and teaching lessons that emphasize the use of art to incite social change. ARTsmart service time is incorporated into the class hours.

ART 356
Painting II
3 Semester Hours
A continuation of theoretical methods and techniques used in Painting I, ART 257. Emphasis is on color, materials, and individual concept development. A variety of media will be utilized.

Prerequisites: ART 153, 160, and 257, or consent of instructor.

ART 357
Multimedia Computer Arts
3 Semester Hours
Explorations of interactive computer multimedia technologies with emphasis on the development of personal artistic expression.

May be repeated twice for degree credit.

Prerequisite: ART 260.

ART 360
Typography I
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the basic principles of visual design as they are applied to communication problems involving a message and an audience. Students develop conceptual and problem-solving skills to create graphic form for a range of content.

Prerequisites: ART 160, 260, and 368.

Recommended: ARHS 360.

ART 362
Creative Direction
3 Semester Hours
The application of design principles and advertising concepts in the development of conceptual campaigns involving a message and an audience.

Prerequisites: ART 302, 360, and 368.
An introduction to the fundamentals of typography. Emphasis is on developing typographic literacy in terms of history, type classification, nomenclature, letterform anatomy, hierarchy, visual structure, as well as how type works as a compositional element in textual communication.

Prerequisites: ART 160 and 260.

ART 369
Information Design

3 Semester Hours

A practical introduction to the preparation of graphic design for printing. Both the technological and aesthetic challenges of getting ink onto paper are explored through communication design projects.

Prerequisites: ART 160 and 260.

Recommended: ART 368.

ART 370
Beginning Wheel Throwing

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to throwing, glazing, and firing at several temperature levels with the aim of developing skills to enhance the student's artistic voice in the contemporary clay context.

ART 371
Advanced Wheel Throwing

1-3 Semester Hours

Advanced work with wheel thrown forms with the aim of developing a thematic body of creative work in clay.

May be repeated for degree credit.

Prerequisite: ART 370.

ART 372
Jewelry I

3 Semester Hours

A basic jewelry course with an emphasis on creative design and various techniques including fabrication, soldering, forging, wax working, and casting. Also includes bezel stone setting.

ART 373
Jewelry II

3 Semester Hours

Advanced jewelry making with an emphasis on creative design and exploration of various techniques such as fabrication, casting, rolling mill texturing, hydraulic press forming, enameling processes, and the setting of faceted stones. Also an introduction to larger scale, sculptural design.

Prerequisite: ART 372.

ART 374
Motion Graphics

3 Semester Hours

Advanced multimedia-oriented design concepts of the "on-screen" motion graphics and interactive presentations of images, text, motion, and sound.

May be repeated for degree credit.

Prerequisites: ART 160 and 260.

ART 375
Figure Sculpture

3 Semester Hours

Modeling of the human figure with an emphasis on anatomy, leading to the extension of the figure as image.

May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.

ART 376
Sculpture Workshop

3 Semester Hours

Advanced exploration of sculptural problems, techniques, and concepts using a variety of materials.

May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.

Prerequisite: ART 275 or consent of instructor.

ART 377
Drawing and Clay

3 Semester Hours

Emphasis on the surface treatment of ceramic work incorporating drawing, painting, and printmaking techniques.

May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.

Prerequisite: ART 280.

ART 382
Digital Photography

3 Semester Hours

An emphasis on a working expertise in digital imaging, technologies utilizing Adobe Photoshop for image creation, manipulation, with input and output to various media.

May be repeated for degree credit.

Prerequisite: ART 260 or consent of instructor.

Recommended: ART 280.

ART 383
Advanced Multimedia

3 Semester Hours

Advanced investigation in one or more areas of multimedia production based upon research, mentorship, and practical experience that culminates in a final project.

Prerequisites: ART 363 or 374 and ART 366 or 367, or consent of instructor.
Exploration of relief printmaking, photo-etching, and monotype processes. Graphic image making will be pursued through multiprintings. Personal visual development, technical skill, and conceptual development will be emphasized.

Recommended: ART 151 or 285, or consent of instructor.

ART 386
Etching Printmaking

3 Semester Hours

Process using etching, aquatint, and other incising techniques on metal plates. Emphasis on black and white images with an introduction to multicolor printing.

May be repeated for degree credit.

Recommended: ART 151, 280, and 285.

ART 387
Silkscreen Printmaking

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to the use of serigraphy to create posters and fine art prints. Hand-cut, hand-painted, and photographic techniques will be used. The emphasis is on the development of personal expression in the creation of multicolor prints.

May be repeated for degree credit.

Recommended: ART 160 and 280.

ART 388
Screen Printing

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to the use of silkscreening to communicate a message. Basic screening techniques will be used, including using hand-cut, photographic, and computer-generated images. Water-based textile and plastisol inks will be used. Emphasis will be on producing multicolor prints on T-shirts and posters.

May be repeated for degree credit.

Recommended: ART 160, 260, and 280.

ART 396
Professional Practices in Graphic Design

3 Semester Hours

An examination of the career possibilities within the creative landscape of contemporary design. The design internship and portfolio development are emphasized. Participation in the LMU AIGA student chapter is recommended.

Prerequisites: ART 160, 260, and 368.

Recommended: Concurrent enrollment in ART 360.

ART 397
Professional Practices in Fine Arts

3 Semester Hours

Examination of the current state of the studio arts and various career options through research, discussions, and guest speakers. Includes development and presentation of a professional portfolio and resume.

Studio Arts major or consent of instructor required; Junior standing required.

ART 398
Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

ART 399
Independent Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

ART 400
Figure Workshop I

1 Semester Hour

A studio workshop for art and animation majors with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.

May be repeated once for degree credit.

Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 401

1 Semester Hour

Continuation of a studio workshop for art and animation majors with emphasis placed on working from the figure and anatomy.

May be repeated once for degree credit.

Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 453
Drawing III: Formal Issues

3 Semester Hours

This course explores traditional and contemporary issues in drawing. Using a variety of media, content, space, color, value, and form are examined.

May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.

Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 454
Drawing IV: Figure Composition

3 Semester Hours

This course promotes concept development and psychological possibilities inherent in the human form. Using a variety of media, it explores anatomical structure and imaginative composition.

May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.

Prerequisites: ART 153 and 154, or consent of instructor.

ART 455
Methods in Teaching Secondary Art

3 Semester Hours

This methodology seminar is designed to provide opportunities for prospective secondary art educators to critically examine the theoretical, historical, psychological, sociological, and practical applications of art education. Projects will involve the development, implementation, and assessment of a successful and socially responsible art education curriculum. Students will compile course material into a professional teaching resource portfolio.
Prerequisite: ART 255.
Art Education Emphasis majors only.
Junior standing required.

ART 460
Graphic Design II
3 Semester Hours
Graphic Design II builds on the fundamental design principles introduced in ART 360, Graphic Design I. Portfolio-oriented projects cover the gamut of print to electronic media.
Prerequisites: ART 302, 303, 360, 368, and 369.
Recommended: ARHS 360 and ART 468.

ART 468
Typography II
3 Semester Hours
Typography II extends the fundamental concepts introduced in ART 368, Typography I. Projects emphasize the application of typographic principles to multiple levels of text in both print and electronic media.
Prerequisite: ART 368
Recommended: ART 369 and ARHS 360.

ART 478
Ceramics Workshop
3 Semester Hours
Design problems with ceramic materials incorporating wheel-thrown and hand building techniques. Development of a personal style in addition to advanced firing techniques.
May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.

Color Photography
3 Semester Hours
Exploration of general color principles and lab procedures with an emphasis on developing a long-term personal project. Students learn color printing, medium format photography, and digital imaging.
Prerequisite: ART 280.

ART 485
Advanced Printmaking
1-3 Semester Hours
Continuation and more advanced work in relief, etching, or silkscreen techniques.
May be repeated for degree credit with consent of instructor.
Prerequisite: ART 385 or 386 or 387.

ART 490
Senior Design Thesis
3 Semester Hours
The Senior Thesis in Design provides the opportunity to explore design as a liberal arts activity through focused studies around the design disciplines, or the application of design to a specific subject or area of interest. Students independently address topic areas within a creative design project resulting in a body of work (aside from the professional portfolio). The topic(s) should address one or more of the following issues: the societal impact of design; design as a process for innovation; the historic and contemporary contexts of design; design as an experiential medium.
Senior standing required.
Prerequisites: ART 302, 303, 360, 368, 369, and 460 or 468.
Recommended: ARHS 360.

ART 494
Multimedia Internship
3 Semester Hours
Professional experience in multimedia.
Studio Arts majors only.
Consent of instructor required.

ART 495
Advanced Studio Studies
1-3 Semester Hours
Pre-professional directed study in studio art.
May be repeated for degree credit three times.
Permission of instructor and Department Chairperson required.

ART 497
Senior Thesis in Fine Arts
1-3 Semester Hours
This course continues for Fine Arts emphasis students the professional development experience of ART 397, Professional Practices in Fine Arts. The curriculum includes all aspects of exhibition design, promotion, and artwork presentation.
Required for Fine Arts Emphasis majors.
Studio Arts majors, Fine Arts Emphasis only.
Prerequisite: ART 397 or consent of instructor.

ART 498
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ART 499
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours
Senior standing required.

Communication Studies

CMST 100
Introduction to Public Speaking
3 Semester Hours
Designed to assist the student in developing the skills necessary to communicate effectively to others and to listen effectively to communication from others. Development of proficiency in speaking results from the practice and criticism of informative speeches, persuasive speeches, and discussion.
CMST 110
Interpersonal Communication
3 Semester Hours
Examination of students’ communication strengths and weaknesses in order to develop proficiency in interpersonal communication. A variety of practice speaking contexts is provided, including public speaking, group discussion, and problem solving. For non-majors only.

CMST 130
Argumentation and Debate
3 Semester Hours
The principles of reasoning, evidence, and organization of argumentation for debate and related forms of competitive speech; practical application in debate and other forensic speech.

CMST 131
Argumentation Practicum
3 Semester Hours
Forensics competition in various debate formats requiring intramural and intercollegiate debate competition. Prerequisite: CMST 130 and consent of instructor.

CMST 140
Business and Professional Communication
3 Semester Hours
A study of the principles and methods involved in improving oral communication in business and the professions. Emphasis on interviewing, conference speaking, selling, persuading, problem-solving discussions, and interpersonal relations. For non-majors only.

CMST 170
Interpersonal and Small Group Communication
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to introduce the students to interpersonal and small group communication theories, processes, and skills. The course challenges students to examine their own communication behaviors and focus on their strengths and weaknesses as a way to develop and apply new communication skills and proficiencies. The course includes a variety of oral and written presentations at both the individual and group levels.

CMST 198
Special Studies
0-3 Semester Hours

CMST 199
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMST 203
Foundations of Communication Theory
3 Semester Hours
This course introduces students to the field of communication studies and its major areas of inquiry. It begins with an overview of the history of the discipline, tracing its humanistic roots, social scientific orientations, and approaches which combine these two traditions. The course then examines communication studies from the standpoint of four perspectives that can be used to organize major movements in the field: mechanistic, psycho-symbolic, pragmatic, and critical. These perspectives are used to organize the variety of communication theories examined in the course.

Must be completed with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

CMST 204
Introduction to Research in Communication Studies
3 Semester Hours
This course introduces students to scholarship conducted in communication studies. It overviews the research process, including generating research questions, constructing bibliographies, gathering and assessing information, and developing scholarly arguments. Students will learn research techniques, including location and retrieval of information sources (i.e., newspapers, journals, books, electronic databases, and Internet sources). They will apply critical thinking skills to the evaluation of information sources and data/arguments in qualitative and quantitative research. Students will also be introduced to basic aspects of writing for the discipline, as well as expectations for scholarly ethics and proper citation of sources.

Must be completed with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

Prerequisite: CMST 203 with a grade of C (2.0) or better, or consent of instructor.

CMST 206
Critical Thinking and Communication
3 Semester Hours
A study of the techniques of critical thinking as applied to communication and rhetoric.

CMST 298
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMST 299
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMST 330
Advanced Forensics
3 Semester Hours
A study of advanced principles of debate with emphasis on interdisciplinary research on current national collegiate debate topic. Junior standing required.

Prerequisite: CMST 130 or consent of instructor.

CMST 331
Argumentation Practicum
3 Semester Hours
Forensics competition in various debate formats requiring intramural and intercollegiate debate competition.

Consent of instructor required.
Prerequisite: CMST 130.

CMST 335

Gender Communication

3 Semester Hours

Course surveys gender similarities and differences in verbal and nonverbal communication. Emphasis is also placed on how males and females perceive the world and how these perceptions affect the human communication process.

Junior standing required.

CMST 336

Intercultural Communication

3 Semester Hours

A study of the principles and theories of human communication related to cross cultural encounters. Emphasis is placed on cultural relativity, culture shock, verbal and nonverbal interaction, and value differences among diverse cultures.

Junior standing required.

CMST 351

Contemporary Rhetorical Theory

3 Semester Hours

This course provides a survey of major rhetorical themes and theories, including classical, symbolic, argumentation, critical, feminist, and non-Western approaches to rhetoric. Students will explore the relationship between rhetorical theory and practice, the contributions of rhetorical theory to the social world, and the potential for rhetorical studies to inform issues of democratic governance, marginalized groups, social justice, and technology in society.

Must be completed with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

Junior standing required.

CMST 352

Theories of Organizational Communication

3 Semester Hours

This course is designed to introduce the students to the field of organizational communication and the relationship between organization and communication. The course is designed to allow students to examine a range of organizational communication perspectives, theories, issues, and constructs. At the same time, students are encouraged to explore the ways these perspectives shape, expand, and limit our understanding of communicating and organizing. Significantly, the course encourages critical and analytical thinking by using the course content as a basis for critique.

Must be completed with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

Junior standing required.

CMST 353

Organizational Communication Advanced Topical Seminar

3 Semester Hours

Advanced topical studies in organizational communication.

May be repeated once for degree credit with a different topic.

Junior standing required.

CMST 376

Communication and Consulting

3 Semester Hours

Course surveys methods of designing, conducting and evaluating organizational communication change strategies. Emphasis is on various methods of conducting organizational communication needs analysis, designing training programs, implementing organizational development strategies, and evaluating change efforts.

Junior standing required.

CMST 385

Political Communication

3 Semester Hours

Course analyzes the rhetorical dimensions of political campaigns and methods of carrying out various political objectives.

Junior standing required.

CMST 386

Rhetoric of Social Movements

3 Semester Hours

This course is a survey of historical and current events and rhetorical documents of movements for social change. Movements may include: abolitionist (anti-slavery), labor, socialist, women's rights, environmental justice, civil rights (Black, Chicana/o, and Native American), gay and lesbian, and student movements. Emphasis will be placed on rhetorical strategies and tactics relating to effects of movements on systems and structures conceived as dominant; analyses of how social movement actors construct meaning and identity in their discourses is also stressed.

Junior standing required.

CMST 387

Communication and Legal Practice

3 Semester Hours

This course brings the legal trial to the classroom, providing students an opportunity to incorporate an array of communication principles and skills with the experience of trial practice. Students are introduced progressively to key aspects of communication and litigation and participate in exercises that culminate in mock trials before a jury.

Junior standing required.

Consent of instructor required.

Prerequisites: THEA 110 or 111, THEA 210.

THEA 366
Acting for the Camera
3 Semester Hours
This course builds on basic camera acting knowledge and experience through various filmed exercises and scenes.
Lab fee.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only. Consent of Co-Chairperson and instructor required.
Prerequisite: THEA 266.

THEA 370
Directing for the Theatre I
3 Semester Hours
This course examines and practices basic elements of stage direction. Students will explore script analysis from a director's point of view, develop and practice effective communication with actors and designers, and learn to identify elements of direction that communicate story, theme, and concept.
Lab fee.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only. Prerequisites: THEA 111, 120, and 220.

THEA 375
Directing for the Theatre II
3 Semester Hours
Continuation of THEA 370, with emphasis on advanced theory and practicum.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only. Consent of Co-Chairperson and instructor required.
Prerequisite: THEA 370.

THEA 398
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

THEA 399
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

THEA 400
Playwriting
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the techniques of writing one-act plays for the theatre.

THEA 401
The Creative Process
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to guide development in a wide range of substantial creative writing projects including the exploration of music, literature, and art that correlate to a specific theatrical project, requiring research and interviews with professionals in the chosen field of study.
May be repeated once for degree credit.
Consent of Co-Chairperson or instructor required.

THEA 410
Advanced Scene Study
3 Semester Hours
A concentrated approach to advanced scene analysis, with emphasis on working with styles of performance such as classical/rhetoric-based texts, texts from the theatre genres/performance styles.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only. Prerequisite: THEA 210.

THEA 412
Movement for the Actor
3 Semester Hours
The exploration of the acting process through the use of the body, and how an unblocked natural physical connection can expand range, versatility, and full range of expression.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only. Consent of instructor required.
Prerequisites: THEA 111 and 112.

THEA 413
Devised Ensemble Theatre
3 Semester Hours
An introduction and exploration of various contemporary ensemble-devising methods towards the creation of new works for the stage. Through research, writing, physical theatre, and workshop techniques, students will develop the tools to collectively conceive, develop, and present original theatrical work.
May be repeated once for degree credit.
Theatre Arts majors only. Consent of instructor required.
Prerequisites: THEA 111 and 112.

THEA 422
Advanced Costume Design
3 Semester Hours
Advanced study in theatre costume construction including pattern-making, advanced sewing techniques, and millinery.
Prerequisite: THEA 322 or consent of instructor.

THEA 425
Scene Painting
3 Semester Hours
This course is a guide to the tools and techniques used in modern scene painting.
Consent of instructor required.
THEA 426
Advanced Scenic and Lighting Design
3 Semester Hours
This course is an advanced study of scene design and lighting design for the theatre with emphasis on their roles as creative members of a collaborative team.
Prerequisites: THEA 320 and 321.

THEA 427
Scene Painting Lab
0 Semester Hours
Basic scene painting techniques and practices are demonstrated and applied in full scale painting projects. Lab fee covers cost of brushes, paint, and material. Paint clothes required.
Corequisite: THEA 425.

THEA 430
Special Author/Genre Seminar
3 Semester Hours
Study of Shakespeare or other topics in selected authors and/or dramatic genres.
May be repeated only when a different genre is studied.

THEA 435
Special Period Seminar
3 Semester Hours
Study of 20th Century American Drama, American Drama through the 19th Century, Modern British Playwrights, 17th and 18th Century Comedy, or other topics in theatre history.
May be repeated only when a different topic and/or period is studied.

THEA 450
Theatre Practicum: Crew
1-3 Semester Hours
Students are instructed and mentored as they assume positions of managerial or creative responsibility and/or leadership in mounting departmental productions.
May be repeated for credit up to 9 semester hours.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only.
Prerequisite: THEA 250.

THEA 451
Theatre Practicum: Performance
0-3 Semester Hours
The application of further developed actor training methods and techniques in departmental theatrical productions.
May be repeated for credit up to 9 semester hours.
Lab fee.
Audition required.

THEA 453
Playwrights Center Stage
0-3 Semester Hours
A theory and performance course in new play development methods. Practice and participation as writers, actors, and production managers/assistants or new play interns in staged readings and/or workshops.
May be repeated for degree credit up to 6 semester hours.
Consent of instructor required.

THEA 461
Acting: Special Genre
3 Semester Hours
An exploration of advanced acting techniques for particular genres such as musical theatre, comedy of errors, Shakespeare, Chekhov.
May be repeated for credit up to 9 semester hours as long as course content is different.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only.
Consent of instructor required.

THEA 463
Acting: Auditions and Cold Reading
3 Semester Hours
A course in the development and practice of cold-reading, audition, and interview techniques/skills necessary to obtain professional work in the performing arts. Students will develop an effective and organized business approach toward their careers by learning how to market their talent, develop a professional portfolio, necessary for the audition and interview process.
Lab fee.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only.
Consent of instructor required.

THEA 467
Career Development
3 Semester Hours
An overview of current trends in casting toward professional work in theatre, television, and film with visits from professional artists such as agents, managers, actors, casting directors, and the possibility of participation in a professional showcase.
Lab fee.
Theatre Arts majors/minors only.
Consent of Co-chairperson and instructor required.

THEA 490
Senior Thesis: Project
3 Semester Hours
Preparation and presentation of performance or research thesis.
Theatre Arts majors only.
Consent of instructor required.

THEA 491
Surviving as an Artist
1 Semester Hour
This course builds an understanding of the unique requirements and challenges that life as an artist in our society presents. Students will be introduced to many aspects of the artistic life, including but not limited to personal finance, unions, professional conduct, and how to develop and sustain career opportunities.

Theatre Arts majors/minors only.

Credit/No Credit grading.

1-3 Semester Hours
Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering Courses

Biology

BIOL 101
General Biology I
3 Semester Hours
Unifying principles of biology; introduction to cell structure and function, genetics, control systems, tissues, organs, and organ systems.
Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering majors only.
Lecture, 3 hours.

BIOL 102
General Biology II
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the mechanism of evolution; major patterns of biotic evolution; and the principles of ecology.
Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering majors only.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101 and 111.

BIOL 111
General Biology I Laboratory
2 Semester Hours
A survey of the three domains.
Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering majors only.
Lecture, 1 hour; Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisite: BIOL 101 or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 112
General Biology II Laboratory
2 Semester Hours
An experimental approach to biology with emphasis on design, execution, and analysis to answer biological questions.
Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering majors only.
Lecture, 1 hour; Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisite: BIOL 101 or 102, or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 114
Biology for Engineers
3 Semester Hours
This course addresses fundamental concepts and language of biology. Topics include cell biology, genetics, organ systems, ecosystems, organisms, and engineering applications.
Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering majors only.
Lecture, 3 hours.

BIOL 194
Introduction to Research
0-4 Semester Hours
An introduction to scientific research methodology: information gathering, data analysis, laboratory research practice in a faculty laboratory.

BIOL 198
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 199
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 201
Cell Function
3 Semester Hours
Cellular and sub-cellular structures and functions including: DNA and RNA structure and function; protein synthesis and structure; enzyme function; metabolic pathways; membrane function.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, CHEM 112, or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 202
Genetics
3 Semester Hours
A study of Mendelian and molecular genetics.
Prerequisite: BIOL 201.

BIOL 260
Human Biology
3 Semester Hours
The discussion of general biological principles with a human emphasis. Topics include: cells, heredity and reproduction, animal behavior, organ systems, drugs, disease, ecology, and evolution.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 263
Natural History of Southern California
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the geography, climate, plant communities, and common animals of Southern California; animals will be covered in regard to behavior, taxonomy, and ecology.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.
BIOL 264
The Marine Environment
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to marine biology, including its history, different communities and the animals and plants that occur in marine ecosystems, and their economic importance.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 266
Sacred and Medicinal Plant Use
3 Semester Hours
The sacred and medicinal use of plants and hallucinogenic fungi by traditional and modern cultures, including the biological basis for their use.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 271
Human Reproduction and Development
3 Semester Hours
The biological aspects of human reproduction, including the basic reproductive system, genetics, fetal development, nutrition, pregnancy, birth, and neonatal development.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 272
Human Drug Use
3 Semester Hours
The physiological, psychological, and social effects of the use of alcohol, tobacco, and other therapeutic and recreational drugs.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 275
Human Genetics
3 Semester Hours
Basic Mendelian genetics and the application to individual risk assessments. Population genetics and the implications of artificial selection. Modern molecular genetics and medical applications.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 277
Plants and Society
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the natural evolution of plant species and the associated cultural evolution of man’s relationship to plants. A multidisciplinary approach to studying the relationship between plants and people. An exploration of plants as sources of food and medicine, commercial products, and the role of plants in preserving and restoring the environment.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

BIOL 278
Tropical Marine Ecology
3 Semester Hours
Field studies of the tropical marine habitats in Isla Roatán, Honduras. This includes the examination of the ecology and biology of coral reefs, mangroves, seagrass beds, and intertidal communities.
Summer only—Study Abroad Program.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher. Open water SCUBA certification highly recommended.

BIOL 294
Independent Research
0-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 295
Biology Internship
1-2 Semester Hours
Work experience involving research, industry-, or community-based projects.
May be taken only once for credit.
CR/NC only.

BIOL 298
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 299
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 311
Plant Interactions
3 Semester Hours
Study of the various ways in which plants interact with other organisms, such as herbivores, pathogens, symbiotic bacteria and fungi, and the outcomes of that interplay. Examination of the physiological, biochemical, and genetic bases of these interactions and how understanding the chemical and molecular communication that takes place has implications for improvement of agriculture and human health.
Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 201, 202; CHEM 220.

BIOL 312
Field Botany
4 Semester Hours
The identification, distribution, evolution, and ecological relationships of the native plants of Southern California.
Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours; 4 weekend field trips.
Prerequisites: BIOL 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 111; MATH 122 or 131.

BIOL 314
Tropical Ecology
4 Semester Hours
An introduction to Neotropical biodiversity, natural history and conservation, as well as an examination of the diversity of tropical species interactions in an international field setting.
Travel embedded course—lab travels to Costa Rica during Spring break.

Prerequisites: BIOL 102, 111, 112; CHEM 221; MATH 122 or 131.

BIOL 315
World Vegetation Ecology
3 Semester Hours
Characteristics and distribution of the major vegetation types of the world, emphasizing environmental conditions, plant adaptations and ecosystem processes.

Prerequisites: BIOL 102, 111; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 316
Island Biology
3 Semester Hours
Island biogeography and evolution, dispersal, adaptive radiation, gigantism/dwarfism, flightlessness, reproductive biology, endemism, and relictualism.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101 and 102.

BIOL 318
Principles of Ecology
4 Semester Hours
An exploration of the interactions between organisms and their biotic and abiotic environment across population, community, and ecosystem levels.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours; weekend field trips.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 221; MATH 122 or 131.

BIOL 321
Urban Ecology
3 Semester Hours
An analysis of the dynamic and integrated nature of urbanized landscapes. Using active inquiry and the original literature, the course will engage the current theories and practice of the research being conducted on the patterns and process of urban ecosystems—ranging from biodiversity and trophic dynamics, to public health and environmental justice.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102 or equivalent.

BIOL 322
Urban Ecology Laboratory
1 Semester Hour
An inquiry-based investigation into the biophysical and human social dimensions of a local urban ecosystem, with a focus on group project development. At least one Saturday trip.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112 and 321, or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 328
Tropical Marine Ecology
3 Semester Hours
Field studies of the tropical marine habitats on Isla Roatán, Honduras. This includes the examination of physical, chemical, and ecological aspects as applied to coral reefs, mangroves, seagrass beds, and intertidal communities.

Summer only—Study Abroad Program.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 112. Open water SCUBA certification highly recommended.

BIOL 329
Marine Ecology of Baja, California
3 Semester Hours
Field studies of subtropical, intertidal, and subtidal habitats along the coasts of Baja, California peninsula.

Emphasis on community structure.

Summer only. Entire course held at the LMU Baja, California Biological Station.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 330
Embryology and Development
4 Semester Hours
The development of chordates with emphasis on experimental embryology and underlying molecular mechanisms.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 202; CHEM 222, 223.

BIOL 333
Biology of Mammals
4 Semester Hours
Examination of physical, physiological, and ecological characteristics of mammals, including taxonomic relationships, feeding and reproductive strategies, and local and world distribution of mammalian orders and families.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours; Weekend field trips.

For majors only.

Prerequisites: BIOL 102, 112; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 334
Invertebrate Zoology
4 Semester Hours
A study of the anatomy, physiology, behavior, and ecology of invertebrates and the evolutionary relationships within and among the invertebrate phyla.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 335
Comparative Anatomy
4 Semester Hours
A comparative study of the vertebrate structures and their significance in terms of their evolution and function.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 112.
BIOL 338

Animal Behavior

4 Semester Hours

Study of the evolutionary aspects of behavioral ecology including foraging strategies, social competition, communication, sexual selection, mating systems, cooperation, and social organization.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112.

---

BIOL 351

General Physiology

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to physiological principles and concepts with emphasis on organ systems.

Prerequisite: BIOL 201.

---

BIOL 352

Physiology Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Laboratory experiments in general physiology.

Laboratory, 4 hours; Data analysis, 1 hour.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112 and 351 or 356 or 357, or concurrent enrollment.

---

BIOL 353

Plant Physiology

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to plant function, including photosynthesis, mineral nutrition, water relations, metabolism, and growth processes.

Prerequisites: BIOL 201; CHEM 220, 221; MATH 122 or 131.

---

BIOL 354

Plant Physiology Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Laboratory experiments in plant physiology.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112 and 353 or concurrent enrollment.

---

BIOL 355

Physiology of Drugs

3 Semester Hours

A study of the absorption, distribution, action, biotransformation, and elimination of drugs. An introduction to the pharmacology of certain drugs.

Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 222, 223.

---

BIOL 356

Cell Biology

3 Semester Hours

A detailed study of subcellular organelles, including their origin, function, and regulation within the cell.

Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 222, 223.

---

BIOL 357

Comparative Animal Physiology

3 Semester Hours

A study of the different strategies utilized by various organisms to deal with problems of oxygen supply, temperature, water, salt balance, etc. Emphasis is on the vertebrates.

Prerequisites: BIOL 102, 201; CHEM 110, 112.

---

BIOL 358

Hormones and Behavior

4 Semester Hours

Study of the interaction of hormones and behavior in vertebrates. Topics include organizational and activational effects of hormones, sex differences in behavior, reproductive behavior, parental behavior, social behavior, and stress.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 112, 201; CHEM 220, 221.

---

BIOL 359

Cell Biology Lab

1 Semester Hour

Laboratory experiments in cell biology.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 201; CHEM 220.

---

BIOL 361

General Microbiology

3 Semester Hours

Properties and ecology of viruses, bacteria, and protists; principles of genetics and physiology of bacteria; pathogenesis of bacteria and viruses; microbes as tools for molecular biology.

Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 220.

---

BIOL 362

General Microbiology Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Laboratory experiments in general microbiology.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112 and 361 or concurrent enrollment.

---

BIOL 367

Biological Databases

3 Semester Hours

Interdisciplinary course at the interface between biology and computer science focusing on how biological information is encoded in the genome of a cell and represented as data in a database. Biological concepts include DNA structure and function, the central dogma of molecular biology, and regulation of gene expression. Computer science concepts and skills include command line interaction, the structure and functions of a database, and the management of data ranging from individual files to a full relational database management system. Emphasis on science and engineering best practices, such as maintaining journals and notebooks, managing files and code, and critically evaluating scientific and technical information. Course culminates with team projects to create new gene databases.

BIOL 368

Bioinformatics Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Current bioinformatics techniques will be used to address systems-level biological questions. Techniques may include: querying biological databases, sequence alignment, construction of phylogenetic trees, comparative genomics, genome annotation, protein structure analysis and prediction, modeling pathways and networks, use of biological ontologies, or the analysis of high-throughput genomic and proteomic data.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 202; CHEM 220.

BIOL 375

Advanced Genetics

3 Semester Hours

Topics in genetics including both meiotic and mitotic recombination, quantitative genetics, gene structure, genetic control, and gene therapy.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 222, 223.

BIOL 376

Genetics Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Laboratory experiments in genetics.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 202; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 380

Tropical Marine Ecology Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 381

Baja Marine Ecology Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 394

Independent Research

0-4 Semester Hours

Independent research in a faculty laboratory.

BIOL 395

Biology Internship

1-2 Semester Hours

Work experience involving research, industry-, or community-based projects. May be taken only once for credit.

CR/NC only.

BIOL 398

Special Studies

1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 399

Independent Studies

1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 422

Marine Biology

4 Semester Hours

Study of the marine environment, including physical, chemical, and biological aspects as applied to littoral, deep sea, and pelagic organisms.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 433

Histology

3 Semester Hours

The structure and function of human tissue types including basic histological techniques.

Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 112.

BIOL 437

Plant Development

3 Semester Hours

Biochemical, molecular, and genetic approaches to the study of pattern and tissue formation, embryogenesis, germination, flowering, photosynthesis, and plant-microbe interaction.

Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 222, 223 or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 438

Plant Development Laboratory

1 Semester Hour

Laboratory experiments in plant developmental biology.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112 and 437 or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 439

Molecular Biology Applications

4 Semester Hours

The application of the techniques employed in molecular biology to the study of inherited diseases, genetic engineering, infectious diseases, cancer, and gene therapy.

Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 6 hours.

Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 202; CHEM 220.

BIOL 443

Molecular Biology

3 Semester Hours

Study of properties, synthesis, and interactions of macromolecules; genetic engineering.

Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 220, 222.
BIOL 445
Endocrinology
3 Semester Hours
The study of the production, functions, and interactions of hormones and other chemical messengers involved in the integration of the living organism.
Prerequisites: BIOL 202 and CHEM 220.

BIOL 449
Immunology
3 Semester Hours
The study of the immune response mechanisms in the vertebrate organism, with special reference to humans.
Prerequisites: BIOL 202 and CHEM 220.

BIOL 461
Microbial Genetics
3 Semester Hours
Mechanisms of inheritance and the regulation of gene expression in bacteria and viruses. Viral interactions with higher eukaryotes.
Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 222, 223 or concurrent enrollment.

BIOL 474
Principles of Evolution
3 Semester Hours
Study of the pattern and process of evolution. Topics include the development of theories of evolutionary change; the mechanisms of evolutionary change at the population (micro) level; and evolution at the macro level, focusing on speciation, phylogenetic analysis, historical biogeography, and extinctions.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 201, 202.

BIOL 475
Evolution
4 Semester Hours
Study of the pattern and process of evolution. Topics include the development of theories of evolutionary change; the mechanisms of evolutionary change at the population (micro) level; and evolution at the macro level, focusing on speciation, phylogenetic analysis, historical biogeography, and extinctions.
Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 112, 201, 202.

BIOL 477
Conservation Genetics
4 Semester Hours
Survey of the major topics in conservation genetics. Basic models of population genetics and topics relevant to conservation genetics, such as population structure, inbreeding, genetic load, genetic variation, reserve design, and the ethical, moral, and political aspects of species conservation.
Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 112, 202.

BIOL 478
Molecular Biology of the Genome
4 Semester Hours
Advances in understanding cellular processes, gene expression, and the structure and function of macromolecules due to The Human Genome Project and associated new high-throughput technologies. Use of systems biology perspectives and bioinformatics tools to answer biological questions. May include: functional genomics, sequence alignment and phylogeny, comparative genomics, and biological pathways and networks.
Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 6 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 112, 202; CHEM 220.

BIOL 479
Molecular Mechanisms of Disease
3 Semester Hours
Analysis of the molecular mechanisms which underlie the pathology of genetic and infectious diseases. Particular attention paid to molecular mechanisms of disease treatment and experimental analysis in the field of human molecular genetics.
Prerequisites: BIOL 202; CHEM 220, 222.

BIOL 490
Biological Teaching
1-2 Semester Hours
Guided teaching of undergraduate laboratories.
May be repeated for credit.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 494
Independent Research
0-4 Semester Hours
Independent research in a faculty laboratory.

BIOL 498
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

BIOL 499
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

All 500-level courses require consent of instructor.

BIOL 515
Ecology of Mutualisms
2 Semester Hours
Characterization of conditional interspecific interactions and investigations into the variability of outcomes as mediated by seasonality, chemistry, novel habitats, and morphology.
Requires consent of instructor.
Prerequisites: BIOL 102, 111, 112; CHEM 113; MATH 122 or 131.
BIOL 522
Marine Biology Research
2 Semester Hours
An introduction to marine biology research techniques and basic marine ecosystems.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 523
Scientific Diving
2 Semester Hours
Introduction to scientific diving, including studies of benthic populations and communities using line and belt transects, plot sampling methods, and fish survey techniques. The design, data collection, and analysis will be from local submarine coastal habitats. The class will also cover fundamentals of dive physics and physiology, first aid, CPR, oxygen administration, and dive tables.
Requires consent of instructor and basic open water SCUBA certification.

BIOL 525
Subtidal Ecology Seminar
2 Semester Hours
An introduction to the ecology of subtidal systems including coral reefs, kelp forests, hard and soft bottoms, deep sea and pelagic communities.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 527
Benthic Ecology Research
2 Semester Hours
An introduction to underwater research techniques and studies of soft and hard bottom communities.
Requires consent of instructor and basic open water SCUBA certification.

BIOL 528
Invertebrate Conservation Research
2 Semester Hours
Participation in research on topics in invertebrate conservation biology. Research may include ecological and/or genetic approaches and methodologies.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 531
Developmental Genetics Research
2 Semester Hours
Investigation through original literature and laboratory experience of the ways in which genes direct development.
Requires consent of instructor.
Prerequisite: BIOL 394, 494, or 594.

BIOL 532
Drosophila Genetics Research
2 Semester Hours
An introduction to the use of drosophila as a research tool in classical and molecular genetics.
Requires consent of instructor.
Prerequisite: CHEM 220.

BIOL 536
Functional Morphology Research
1-2 Semester Hours
Participation in original research investigating the functional aspects of morphology and development in carnivorous mammals.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 537
Vertebrate Paleontology Research
1-2 Semester Hours
Participation in original research investigating functional, evolutionary and ecological aspects of vertebrate paleontology in mammals and birds.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 546
Physiology of Drugs Seminar
2 Semester Hours
An introduction into the pharmacology of certain drugs, their absorption, metabolism, use, misuse, abuse.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 551
Behavior and Physiology Research
1-2 Semester Hours
Participation in original laboratory and/or field research on social birds or mammals, addressing questions at the interfaces of behavior, physiology and ecology.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 561
Bioinformatics and Genomics Research
2 Semester Hours
Investigation of the systems-level properties of biological pathways and networks. Research may include bioinformatics and/or functional genomics techniques.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 562
Microbiology Research
2 Semester Hours
Participation in research investigating the role of microbes in the environment using culture based and molecular techniques.
Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 563
Molecular Genetics Research
2 Semester Hours
Laboratory work in gene mapping and gene isolation.
Requires consent of instructor.
BIOL 565

Plant Developmental Biology Research

2 Semester Hours

Laboratory work in molecular and genetic analysis of plant development.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 566

Plant Research

2 Semester Hours

Participation in laboratory and/or field research on the ecophysiological response of plants to environmental extremes.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 567

Plant-Microbe Interactions Research

2 Semester Hours

Participation in research investigating the association between microbes and plants.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 569

Ethnobotany Seminar

2 Semester Hours

An introduction to the mutual relationships between plants and traditional peoples with an emphasis on phyto medicines and sustainability.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 571

Conservation Biology Seminar

2 Semester Hours

A survey of topics relating to the conservation of animals and plants, including extinction, genetic aspects, demography, insularization, threats to biodiversity, economics and politics, religious and ethical perspectives, and practical applications.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 584

Advanced Topics in Gene Expression

2 Semester Hours

An in-depth exposure to topics in gene expression through analysis of data from primary research literature.

Requires consent of instructor.

Prerequisites: BIOL 201, 202.

BIOL 585

Issues in Biotechnology Seminar

2 Semester Hours

An interdisciplinary seminar series bringing together faculty from different disciplines to present and discuss topics in biotechnology. Examples include sustainable agriculture, advances in medicine and biotechnology, legal and ethical considerations and biotechnology, the environment and biotechnology, the manipulation of biological machinery (proteins), the fusion of engineering and biotechnology (nanotechnology), the business of biotechnology.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 586

Molecular Cell Biology Research

2 Semester Hours

Independent laboratory research examining questions pertaining to gene expression, including ribosome biogenesis and miRNA transport/localization, utilizing techniques of molecular and cell biology, biochemistry, and genetics.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 587

Molecular Mechanisms in Development Seminar

2 Semester Hours

An exploration of current research utilizing molecular/genetic techniques to study developmental biology.

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 594

Independent Research

0-4 Semester Hours

Independent research in a faculty laboratory. Results must be presented formally.

BIOL 598

Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

Requires consent of instructor.

BIOL 599

Independent Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

Chemistry

CHEM 110

General Chemistry I

3 Semester Hours

Atomic theory; chemical nomenclature; chemical equations and reactions; stoichiometry; properties of gases, solids, and liquids; electronic structure of atoms and periodic properties of the elements; covalent bonding and molecular geometry.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CHEM 111

General Chemistry I Lab

1 Semester Hour

Basic chemical lab technique, conservation of mass, definite composition, molar masses, gravimetric and titrimetric analyses, redox chemistry.

Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisite: CHEM 110, 114, or concurrent enrollment.
CHEM 112
General Chemistry II
3 Semester Hours
Solutions, chemical kinetics, thermodynamics, acids and bases, equilibrium, electrochemistry, nuclear reactions, and selected additional topics.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 110.

CHEM 113
General Chemistry II Lab
1 Semester Hour
Chemical kinetics, equilibrium, complex ions, solubility, visible spectro-photometry, inorganic synthesis, crystallization, inorganic qualitative analysis.
Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 111; 112 or concurrent enrollment.

CHEM 114
General Chemistry for Engineers
3 Semester Hours
Atomic theory; stoichiometry; properties of gases, liquids, and solids; electronic structure and periodic table; covalent bonding; kinetics and equilibrium; acid-base, precipitation, and reduction-oxidation reactions; basic thermodynamics.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Engineering majors only.

CHEM 190
World of Chemistry and Biochemistry
1 Semester Hour
Introduction to the Chemistry and Biochemistry programs, faculty, staff, and the facilities. Students will have the opportunity to learn about the various research programs in the department. Students will also be introduced to various chemistry and biochemistry careers.
Seminar, 2 hours.
CR/NC grading only.

CHEM 198
Special Studies
0-3 Semester Hours

CHEM 199
Independent Studies
0-3 Semester Hours

CHEM 220
Organic Chemistry I
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the fundamental theories of organic chemistry: chemical properties, synthesis, and nomenclature of alkanes, alkenes, alkynes, cycloalkanes, aromatic hydrocarbons, and alkyl halides.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 110 and 112.

CHEM 221
Organic Chemistry I Lab
1 Semester Hour
Introduction to the fundamental lab techniques used in organic chemistry.
Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 111, 113; 220 or concurrent enrollment.

CHEM 222
Organic Chemistry II
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the chemistry of alcohols, ethers, carbonyl compounds, amines, and carbohydrates.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 220.

CHEM 223
Organic Chemistry II Lab
1 Semester Hour
Laboratory experience in synthesis and analysis of organic compounds.
Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 221; 222 or concurrent enrollment.

CHEM 250
Earth Systems
3 Semester Hours
An introductory exploration of how the Earth works. Focus is placed on connecting the Earth systems—the solid Earth, atmosphere, oceans, and biosphere—through the cycling of chemical elements and energy. The course will also discuss significant anthropogenic impacts to the natural Earth system.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 110 and 112.

CHEM 261
The Science in Science Fiction
3 Semester Hours
The physics, chemistry, and biology found in science fiction literature and examined for accuracy and probability. Topics include the physics of space and space habitats, the chemistry and biology of life arising under non-earthlike conditions, and the ecology of imagined worlds. "Engineering" new worlds on the basis of sound scientific theory will be expected. Understanding of physical implications of simple algebraic expressions is required.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

CHEM 262
The Chemical Environment
3 Semester Hours
The important chemical processes of the world in which we live; air, water, agriculture, food additives, household chemicals, cosmetics, chemotherapy, sports, toxic waste management.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

CHEM 290
Chemistry Seminar
1 Semester Hour
Regular attendance by second-year students at the Departmental Seminar Program.

May be taken twice.
CR/NC grading only.

CHEM 298
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CHEM 299
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CHEM 330
Inorganic Chemistry
3 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 222.

CHEM 331
Inorganic Chemistry Lab
1 Semester Hour

Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 222 and 223.

CHEM 340
Physical Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
The objective of this course is to introduce the student to the principles of physical chemistry, both to satisfy a requirement of the major and to serve as preparation to enrollment in subsequent in-depth courses in selective topics in physical chemistry. Topics include: properties of gases, chemical thermodynamics, chemical equilibria, colligative properties, electrochemistry, chemical kinetics, quantum mechanics, atomic and molecular spectroscopy.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 222 and 223; MATH 123 or 132; PHYS 201 or 254.

CHEM 341
Physical Chemistry Lab
1 Semester Hour
Physical measurements, calorimetry, physical equilibria, phase behavior, chemical equilibria, kinetics, colligative properties, atomic and molecular spectroscopy.

Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 340 or concurrent enrollment.

CHEM 342
Advanced Physical Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
Chemical kinetics, quantum mechanics, atomic and molecular spectroscopy, statistical mechanics.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 340 and 341.

CHEM 343
Advanced Physical Chemistry Lab
1 Semester Hour
Kinetics, colligative properties, atomic and molecular spectroscopy.

Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 340, 341; 342 or concurrent enrollment.

CHEM 346
Physical Biochemistry
3 Semester Hours
Chemical and enzyme kinetics, solutions of macromolecules, chemical equilibria, transport processes, sedimentation, transport in electric fields, physical methods in biochemistry, scattering, molecular modeling.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 340 and 341.

CHEM 352
Environmental Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
A study of chemical processes in the environment: topics include stratospheric ozone depletion, the greenhouse effect, air pollution, sources of energy, water chemistry, water purification, sewage treatment, and pesticides.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 110 and 112.

CHEM 353
Environmental Chemistry Lab
1 Semester Hour
Analysis to determine pollutants found in air, water, soil systems; emphasis on the use of instrumental methods and techniques.
CHEM 354
Air Pollution: Atmospheric Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to air pollution and the chemistry of the Earth’s atmosphere. The fundamental natural processes controlling trace gas and aerosol concentrations in the atmosphere will be explored as well as how anthropogenic activity has affected those processes at local, regional, and global scales.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 110 and 112.
CHEM 360
Analytical Chemistry
4 Semester Hours
Theory and practice of chemical analyses, statistical analyses in chemistry, introduction to spectroscopy.
Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 112 and 113.
CHEM 361
Analytical Chemistry Lab
0 Semester Hours
Calibration of glassware, analysis of selected unknown samples by volumetric, gravimetric, and electrochemical methods.
Laboratory, 6 hours.
Corequisite: CHEM 360.
CHEM 370
Biochemistry
3 Semester Hours
Macromolecular structure and function, enzymology, bioenergetics and kinetics, biotechnology, major metabolic pathways.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 222 and 223.
CHEM 371
Biochemistry Lab
1 Semester Hour
Techniques of protein purification, enzyme assay, and kinetics.
Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 370 or concurrent enrollment.
CHEM 372
Advanced Biochemistry
3 Semester Hours
Metabolic regulation; macromolecular structure, function and synthesis; membrane transport; DNA and RNA metabolism and control; biochemistry of vitamins and other nutrients; protein biosynthesis.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 370.
CHEM 373
Advanced Biochemistry Lab
1 Semester Hour
Techniques in lipid and carbohydrate analysis; enzyme regulation; enzymes as diagnostic tools, restriction enzymes.
Lecture and laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 370, 371; and 372 or concurrent enrollment.
CHEM 380
Forensic Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the forensic sciences with an emphasis on chemistry. This course gives students an appreciation for the activities of a real forensic laboratory. Topics covered include basic analytical techniques, arson investigation, and fingerprint, drug, blood, and DNA analyses.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 222, 223, and 360 or consent of instructor.
CHEM 382
Wine Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
Addresses the major chemical topics associated with wine production, chemical analysis of wine and wine faults. Provides an overview of winemaking and the wine industry through a combination of lecture, lab and field trips.
Minimum age of 21 required for full participation.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 222.
CHEM 390
Chemistry Seminar
1 Semester Hour
Regular attendance at Departmental Seminar Program.
CR/NC grading only.
CHEM 391
Chemistry Seminar
1 Semester Hour
Regular attendance at Departmental Seminar Program and presentation of a seminar.
CHEM 393
Chemistry/Biochemistry Internship
1-3 Semester Hours
Research/Development work conducted in a professional chemical setting in a local government or industrial laboratory. Work includes both theory and laboratory practice on a project designed cooperatively by the laboratory’s supervisory staff and LMU faculty. The project is jointly supervised by on-site staff and LMU faculty.

May be repeated for credit up to 6 semester hours.

CR/NC grading only.

1 Semester Hour
Regular attendance at Departmental Seminar Program.
CR/NC grading only.

CHEM 491
Chemistry Seminar
1 Semester Hour
Regular attendance at Departmental Seminar Program and presentation of a seminar.

CHEM 493
Chemistry/Biochemistry Internship
1-3 Semester Hours
Research/Development work conducted in a professional chemical setting in a local government or industrial laboratory. Work includes both theory and laboratory practice on a project designed cooperatively by the laboratory’s supervisory staff and LMU faculty. The project is jointly supervised by on-site staff and LMU faculty.

A written report is required.
Prerequisite: CHEM 399.

Civil Engineering

CIVL 200
Mechanics of Materials
3 Semester Hours
Development of relationships between loads applied to an elastic body to stresses and deformations produced in the body, the relation between stresses and strains, approaches for finding necessary dimensions of a member with respect to material capabilities and design constraints.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ENGR 200.

CIVL 210
Surveying and Mapping
3 Semester Hours
Study of basic surveying instruments and related computations for topographic surveys, horizontal and vertical curves, and the design of highways. The course will include computer aided design and geographic information systems (applications of AutoCAD to civil engineering design and fundamentals of GIS using ArcView).

Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 4 hours.
Sophomore standing required.

CIVL 230
Particle Dynamics
2 Semester Hours
Kinetics and kinematics of particles. Application of Newton’s laws, principles of work and energy, impulse and momentum.

Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: ENGR 200.

CIVL 250
Thermal-Fluid Systems
3 Semester Hours
The fundamental concepts of thermodynamics including properties, work, and heat; first and second laws; entropy; irreversible processes; thermodynamic analysis of power cycles and refrigeration; fluid statics; Bernoulli’s equation; heat convection and radiation.

CIVL 302
Seismic Design of Structures
3 Semester Hours
Free and forced vibration of discrete single and multiple degree of freedom systems, continuous systems, design for earthquake loading, application of the Uniform Building Code to the seismic design of structures.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CIVL 200.

CIVL 305
Structural Theory
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the International Building Code. Analysis of determinate and indeterminate deformable structures using classical methods and an introduction to computer methods of analysis.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CIVL 200.

CIVL 310
Fluid Mechanics I
3 Semester Hours
Properties of fluids, fluid statics, kinematics, energy, hydrodynamics, momentum and dynamic forces, steady flow of compressible and incompressible fluids.

An integrated senior design experience which utilizes knowledge from the civil engineering curriculum. In addition to the technical aspects, the designs consider costs, sustainability economics, and environmental factors. Class lectures include discussion of the design process, environmental impact, engineering and professional ethics, the engineering profession, professional practice issues, the role of the engineer in the construction process, and procurement of engineering work. Student project reports and presentations are required.

Lecture, 2 hours; Design Laboratory, 4 hours.

Senior standing required.

Prerequisites: CIVL 210, 395, 400, 406, 410.

CIVL 498
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CIVL 499
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CIVL 503
Engineering Sustainability and LEED
3 Semester Hours

Introduction to the role of engineers in sustainability with focus on the modern engineer's role on design. Topics include environmental impacts, sustainable construction, recycled water and desalination, renewable energy, and management and conservation techniques. Additionally, the course prepares students in Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) with the overall goal for them to receive LEED Green As-

CIVL 511
Hydraulic Analysis and Design
2 Semester Hours

Design and analysis of hydraulic structures and pump stations; rainfall-Runoff models; determination of reservoir storage; unsteady flow and water hammer; flood routing techniques; sediment transport.

Lecture, 2 hours.

CIVL 512
Air Pollution Analysis
2 Semester Hours

Detailed analysis of emission sources, emission calculation methods, and air pollution controls. The dispersion of air pollutants in the atmosphere (fates and lifetimes, dispersion modeling methods). In-depth techniques of conducting risk assessments due to exposure to air pollutants.

Lecture, 2 hours.

CIVL 513
Solid Wastes Engineering

3 Semester Hours
An application of current technology in the collection, control, disposal, and recovery of value from solid wastes.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CIVL 514
Groundwater Hydrology

3 Semester Hours
Theory of the movement and occurrence of water in a porous medium; steady and unsteady flow in confined and unconfined aquifers; Darcy's law; equilibrium and non-equilibrium hydraulics of wells; computer applications.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: CIVL 315.

CIVL 515
Industrial Waste Management

2 Semester Hours
Principles and methods of treatment and disposal of industrial wastes that may adversely affect the environment, including general characterization of wastes from industries of major significance and typical treatment processes involved. Regulatory constraints.

Lecture, 2 hours.

Prerequisites: CIVL 400 and ENVS 510.

CIVL 548
Hazardous Substances Management

2 Semester Hours
The study of regulation and management strategies for environmental programs (hazardous substances) including hazardous waste, asbestos, underground tanks, air pollution, and the California Environmental Quality Act.

Lecture, 2 hours.

CIVL 549
Hazardous Waste Remediation

2 Semester Hours
This course provides an overview of the regulatory framework, site as-essment and sampling techniques, and remediation technologies for hazardous waste sites. Emphasis is placed on cost-effective remediation technologies, regulatory agency coordination, and new emerging technologies for hazardous waste site clean-up projects.

Lecture, 2 hours.

CIVL 550
Fundamentals of Environmental Health Risk Management
2 Semester Hours
The fundamental technical aspects and non-technical policy aspects of environmental health risk assessments. Basics of environmental chemistry, partitioning fate and transport of pollutants in the atmosphere and water; human exposure scenarios, fundamentals of toxicology and epidemiology.

Lecture, 2 hours.

CIVL 595
Structural Steel Design
3 Semester Hours
Theory and design of steel structures, component members, and connections using codes and specifications. Design projects.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CIVL 200.

CIVL 599
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CIVL 600
Comprehensive Exam
0 Semester Hours
Students must register for this class but only after they have completed all of their course requirements (30 semester hours) or will have completed all of their course requirements at the end of the semester in which they plan to take the comprehensive examination.

CIVL 602
Membrane Treatment Systems
3 Semester Hours
Characteristics, application, and selection of membranes for treatment, including reverse osmosis, microfiltration, ultrafiltration and other technologies. Membrane design, process and operation of surface water, groundwater, seawater, wastewater, recycled water and industrial water.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: ENVS 631 and 633.

CIVL 603
Engineering Sustainability and LEED
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the role of engineers in sustainability with focus on the modern engineer's role on design. Topics include environmental impacts, sustainable construction, recycled water and desalination, renewable energy, and management and conservation techniques. Additionally, the course prepares students in Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) with the overall goal for them to receive LEED Green Associate credentials.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CIVL 604
Climate Change, Impacts, and Sustainability
3 Semester Hours
Overview of Earth's climate system and exploration of the science, impacts, and politics of global climate change. Specific topics include the greenhouse effect; El Niño; atmospheric and oceanic circulations; observations and projections; impacts on water resources and agriculture; politics; alternative energy; sustainability; and mitigation. Special emphasis is placed on California and the western United States.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CIVL 605
Engineering Communications
2 Semester Hours
Written and verbal communication in the engineering profession.

Students for whom English is a second language may not enroll in this class until their second year at LMU.

CIVL 606
Hydraulic Analysis and Design
2 Semester Hours
Design and analysis of hydraulic structures and pump stations; rainfall-runoff models; determination of reservoir storage; unsteady flow and water hammer; flood routing techniques; sediment transport.

Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: CIVL 504 or equivalent.

CIVL 608
Groundwater Hydrology
3 Semester Hours
Theory of the movement and occurrence of water in a porous medium; steady and unsteady flow in confined and unconfined aquifers; Darcy's law; equilibrium and non-equilibrium hydraulics of wells; computer applications.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CIVL 504 or equivalent.

CIVL 610
Water Treatment Systems Design
2 Semester Hours
Integration of unit processes and operations and functional engineering design of water treatment systems.

Prerequisite: CIVL 640.

CIVL 611
Wastewater Treatment Systems Design
2 Semester Hours
Integration of unit processes and unit operations and functional engineering design of municipal wastewater treatment and water reclamation systems.

Corequisite: CIVL 641.

Prerequisites: CIVL 640 and ENVS 610.

CIVL 612
Air Pollution Analysis
2 Semester Hours
Detailed analysis of emission sources, emission calculation methods, and air pollution controls. The dispersion of air pollutants in the atmosphere (fates and lifetimes, dispersion modeling methods). In-depth techniques of conducting risk assessments due to exposure to air pollutants.

CIVL 613
Solid Wastes Engineering
3 Semester Hours
An application of current technology in the collection, control, disposal, and recovery of value from solid wastes.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CIVL 614
Industrial Waste Management
2 Semester Hours
Principles and methods of treatment and disposal of industrial wastes that may adversely affect the environment, including general characterization of wastes from industries of major significance and typical treatment processes involved. Regulatory constraints.

Prerequisites: ENVS 610 and 631.

CIVL 615
Theory and Design of Waste Outfall Systems
2 Semester Hours
The theory of turbulent mixing as applied to the design of submarine waste and thermal outfall systems; a review of the regulations and their impact on the design of outfall systems.

Prerequisites: CIVL 504 or equivalent; ENVS 610 and 631.

CIVL 620
Computers and Environmental Analysis
2 Semester Hours
Applications of digital simulations in the analysis of problems in the environment, water quality modeling, numerical methods, statistical analysis, and use of a large scale application program.

CIVL 634
Groundwater Management
2 Semester Hours
Management of groundwater basins for optimum yield, quality, and environmental considerations; artificial recharge; methods of exploration; groundwater models; water rights; and conjunctive use of surface and groundwater.

CIVL 635
Contaminant Transport in Groundwater
2 Semester Hours
Processes affecting the transport and fate of inorganic and organic contaminants in groundwater. Emphasis is placed on processes involving phase equilibrium, mass transfer, dissolution, etc. Review of flow and contaminant transport models, remediation technologies, and practical/regulatory considerations.

Prerequisites: CIVL 514, ENVS 610 and 631.

CIVL 640
Physical and Chemical Treatment Processes
2 Semester Hours
Theory and practice of the physical and chemical treatment processes to treat water and wastewater including flow equalization, preliminary treatment, grit removal, primary sedimentation, filtration, flotation, adsorption, ion exchange and membrane separation, air stripping, precipitation, chemical oxidation and disinfection.

Prerequisites: CIVL 504 or equivalent; ENVS 631 and 633.

CIVL 641
Biological Treatment Processes
2 Semester Hours
Theory and practice of biological treatment of wastewater and wastewater residuals including activated sludge, biotowers and fixed film systems, oxygen transfer, secondary clarification, nutrient removal, aerobic and anaerobic digestion, composting, oxidation ponds, and wetlands.

Prerequisites: CIVL 504 or equivalent; ENVS 631, 633, and 644.

CIVL 648
Hazardous Substance Management
2 Semester Hours
The study of regulation and management strategies for environmental programs (hazardous substances) including hazardous waste, asbestos, underground tanks, air pollution, and the California Environmental Quality Act.

CIVL 649
Contaminated Site Remediation
2 Semester Hours
An overview of the regulatory framework, site assessment and sampling techniques, and remediation technologies for contaminated sites. Emphasis is placed on cost-effective remediation technologies, regulatory agency coordination, and new and emerging technologies for site cleanup projects.

CIVL 650
Fundamentals of Environmental Health Risk Assessment
2 Semester Hours
The fundamental technical aspects and non-technical policy aspects of environmental health risk assessments. Basics of environmental chemistry; partitioning, fate and transport of pollutants in the atmosphere and water; human exposure scenarios, fundamentals of toxicology and epidemiology.
CIVL 654
Surface Water Hydrology
2 Semester Hours
Study of the elements of the hydrologic cycle, rainfall, streamflow, infiltration, evapotranspiration, snowmelt, hydrographs, probability, river and reservoir routing, runoff determination using the rational method and hydrograph methods.

CIVL 656
Water Resources Systems Modeling
2 Semester Hours
Analyze and implement current simulation models in water resources. Topics may include: hydrologic and watershed models; reservoir operation models; surface water and groundwater quality models; computer applications.

Permission of instructor required.

CIVL 665
Economics of Water Resources
2 Semester Hours
Fundamentals of microeconomics; analysis of demand; production; theory of costs; welfare economics; benefit-cost analysis; applications in water resources management and environmental engineering.

CIVL 670
Contracts and Specifications
2 Semester Hours
Discussion of the design and construction process, contract documents and specifications, contract changes, claims and disputes, property issues, selection of the design professional and professional service contracts.

CIVL 695

Computer Science

CMSI 161
Computing in Popular Culture
3 Semester Hours
Common stereotypes and assumptions about computing, as reflected in art, entertainment, and conventional wisdom—and the truths and fallacies behind them. Deeper study of particularly seminal popular representations of computing concepts. Critical study of the depiction of computing in film (e.g., 2001: A Space Odyssey, The Matrix, War Games), literature (e.g., Neuromancer; I, Robot, The Soul of a New Machine, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy), and mixed media (e.g., "Spock's Brain," Max Headroom, and Univac's 1952 presidential election forecast).

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 182
Introduction to Computer Science
3 Semester Hours
History of computer science and its relationship to other fields. The benefits of computational thinking in daily life. Numerous examples connecting computing and computing technology to human activities, such as sporting events, elections, politics, and health care. Coursework includes writing small-scale computer programs.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 185
Computer Programming
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to algorithms and computer programming using Java, JavaScript, or Python.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 186
Programming Lab
3 Semester Hours
Apprenticeship-styled workshop in Java or JavaScript programming, loosely structured around the notion of algorithm paradigms, treating one medium-sized application every two weeks in a laboratory setting. Typical projects include discrete simulation, randomized estimation, maze solving, dynamic programming, large-number arithmetic, and numerical methods.

For majors and minors only.

Prerequisite: A grade of C (2.0) or better in CMSI 185 or consent of instructor.

CMSI 261
Language, Thought, and Computation
3 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

CMSI 264
Cryptography through the Ages
3 Semester Hours
Descriptions of mathematical systems that have been used for enciphering and deciphering information and a study of the context in which these systems arose.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

CMSI 266
Electronic Markets
3 Semester Hours

Study of the convergence of markets, fair division, and dispute resolution with modern information technologies. Topics include: utility theory; formal definitions for fairness; algorithms for proportional, strong, and envy-free division; complexity of cake-cutting algorithms; unequal shares; indivisible goods; impossibility theorems; auctions and elections; electronic markets vs. electronic commerce; parimutuel wagering and modern wagering websites; efficient market hypothesis; introduction to price theory; prediction markets and IEM (Iowa Electronic Markets); securities exchanges and NASDAQ; online auction markets and eBay; architecture and implementation; scalability and security; legal issues; future directions.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

CMSI 281
Data Structures
3 Semester Hours

Introduction to data types, information structures, and algorithms. Topics include: collection classes and interfaces for sets, lists, stacks, queues, and dictionaries; implementation techniques such as arrays, linked lists, and efficient tree structures; introduction to computational complexity; elementary sorting; hashing.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: A grade of C (2.0) or better in CMSI 185.

CMSI 282
Algorithms
3 Semester Hours

Algorithm paradigms, with an emphasis on combinatorial search. Topics include: generating combinatorial objects; greedy methods, dynamic programming, randomized algorithms; modern heuristics such as genetic programs and simulated annealing; advanced sorts and order statistics; cake-cutting and fair division; graph algorithms; computational geometry.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: CMSI 281.

CMSI 284
Computer Systems Organization
3 Semester Hours

An introduction to the basic organization of computer systems. Digital representation of textual and numeric information. Machine instructions and instruction formats, assemblers and assembly languages, linking and loading, process execution, interrupt and device-handling, and file management. System-level programming in C and assembly language.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 298
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMSI 299
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMSI 355
Networks
3 Semester Hours

A detailed study of the design and use of internetworking technologies in modern digital communication systems. Topics include: routing and control protocols, signalling, multicasting, OSI model, sockets, IPv4, IPv6, UDP, TCP, ARP, ICMP, IGMP, Mobile IP, DNS, SMTP, FTP, VoIP, and HTTP.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: CMSI 284.

CMSI 367
Biological Databases
3 Semester Hours

The representation, storage, and transformation of biological data. Topics include the central dogma of molecular biology, the genetic code, the Human Genome Project, sequence databases, formats and conversion, searching and regular expressions, XML, and relational databases in biology. Students build and potentially release an open source gene database for a new species at the end of the course.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 370
Interaction Design
3 Semester Hours

Introduction to interaction design and human-computer interaction, with equal emphasis on learning how to design and evaluate interaction architectures, and learning how to use existing frameworks to implement such architectures. Topics include: interaction guidelines, principles, and theories; usability engineering; the model-view-controller (MVC) paradigm; and current frameworks such as HTML5, GLUT, and Cocoa.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: CMSI 281.

CMSI 371
Computer Graphics
3 Semester Hours

Introduction to interactive computer graphics. Topics include the design and use of three-dimensional graphics engines and APIs, animation, physics and computer games, modeling, computational geometry, shading, ray tracing, and fractal geometry.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: CMSI 281.

CMSI 375
Game Design
3 Semester Hours

The art and science of games, hosted by a machine or otherwise. Goals, rules, game balance, and other fundamentals are introduced, as well as implementation issues such as modeling, physics, animation, networking, and performance. Coverage of existing gaming platforms and languages is provided as needed. Concepts are applied in an appropriately scaled, team-implemented game project.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 377
Introduction to Virtual Worlds
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the history of, and the technological and social aspects surrounding, virtual worlds. Topics include building and scripting objects, and the interaction between avatars, avatar customization, and computer science concepts underlying virtual worlds.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 385
Introduction to the Theory of Computation
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the formal theory of computation. Topics include: finite automata and regular sets; context-free grammars and pushdown automata; Turing machines and computability; intractability.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CMSI 281 and MATH 248.

CMSI 386
Programming Languages
3 Semester Hours
A comparative study of the rationale, concepts, design, and features of several major programming languages. Topics include the role of bindings, control flow, types, subroutines, modules, objects, and concurrency. Major attention is given to C, Java, ML, Perl, and JavaScript.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CMSI 284.

CMSI 387
Operating Systems
3 Semester Hours
Concepts in the design of operating systems, including: processes, process management, mutual exclusion, synchronization and message-passing; primary memory management, multiprogramming, paging allocation and paging policies; resource and I/O management; file systems, and security.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CMSI 284.

CMSI 390
Internship or Practicum
1-2 Semester Hours
Credit awarded for 1) preparing supporting documentation for actual internships taken, or 2) participating in an individual or group directed research project resulting in a project or paper that is presented at a conference or University-sanctioned event.

May be repeated for credit.

CMSI 398
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMSI 399
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

CMSI 401
Software Engineering Laboratory
3 Semester Hours
Design and implementation of large programs in a group setting, including use of the Unified Modeling Language (UML) for specifying, visualizing, and documenting models.

Lecture and Laboratory, 3 hours.
Consent of instructor required.

CMSI 402
Senior Project Laboratory
4 Semester Hours
Analysis, design, implementation, and presentation of a large-scale, individual project, demonstrating mastery of the computer science curriculum.

Lecture and Laboratory, 4 hours.
Consent of instructor required.

CMSI 475
Computational Complexity
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the study of computational complexity, including efficient algorithms for matrix multiplication and fast Fourier transforms, the classes P and NP, approximation algorithms, randomized algorithms and RP, parallel algorithms and NC.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CMSI 282 and 385.

CMSI 485
Artificial Intelligence
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the fundamental concepts needed to attain human-level intelligence in computer systems. Topics include agent architectures, problem-solving methods, heuristic search, game playing, knowledge representation, symbolic reasoning, computational models of virtual humans, and machine learning.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CMSI 385 and 386.

CMSI 486
Introduction to Database Systems
3 Semester Hours
Theory and design of database systems, with an emphasis on relational and object-oriented models. Topics include database system structure, semantic data modeling, relational databases, object-oriented extensions, formal query languages, integrity and security, physical design of databases, indexing and hashing, and query processing and optimization. Transaction processing, concurrency, and crash recovery are introduced.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CMSI 386.

CMSI 488
Language Translation and Implementation
Introduction to the theory and design of translators and interpreters for high-level computer programming languages. Topics include programming language specification, scanner construction, parser construction, intermediate representations, virtual machines, code generation, and optimization. Comparisons between computer and natural language translations are also covered.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: CMSI 385 and 386.

CMSI 498
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CMSI 499
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CMSI 586
Database Design and Database Systems I
3 Semester Hours

Fundamentals concepts in the field of database technology. Topics include hierarchical, network, object, object-relational, relational, and XML models; database system structure; semantic data modeling; relational database systems; relational query languages; practical database design methodology; mapping of DB tables to UML class diagrams; DB requirements analysis and traceability; introduction to functional dependencies and normalization through 3NF.

Course is designed to meet the needs of Systems Engineering students.

Not available for credit to students who have completed CMSI 486.

CMSI 598
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CMSI 599
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

CMSI 601
Graduate Seminar
3 Semester Hours

Project-based seminar in which students will be required to select, research, write about, and discuss some aspect of a broad area of current interest to computer scientists and electrical engineers (e.g., computer networks, digital communication).

Successful completion of coursework and the endorsement of the faculty advisor required. (The seminar can be taken during the final semester of coursework subject to the approval of the faculty advisor.)

Note: Students unable to complete the CMSI 601 project within one semester may request an "in process" grade and complete the project the subsequent term. Students wishing to change their project after the first semester of enrollment in CMSI 601 will need to re-enroll in the course. Students who are unable to complete the CMSI 601 project after two semesters can petition for a continuation of the "in process" grade. If the petition is not granted, re-enrollment in CMSI 601 will be necessary.

CMSI 641
Software Engineering
3 Semester Hours

Design and development issues of large-scale software systems which are reliable and easily maintainable. Course project covers each step of the development process from the initial needs analysis and requirement specification through design and implementation. Topics include tradeoffs between agile and traditional approaches, impact of legacy systems, architectural representation issues, testing, project risk management, and emerging trends in software engineering such as model-driven engineering and aspect-oriented software development.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 644
Advanced Modeling of Software Systems
3 Semester Hours

Study of model-driven engineering and its ability to alleviate platform complexity and effectively express domain concepts. Topics include techniques for designing, implementing, and maintaining robust software systems; the Unified Modeling Language (UML) and entity relationship modeling (ERD); automation of change evolution in models; and definition of standards that enable tools and models to work together.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 670
Topics in Interaction Design
3 Semester Hours

Interaction design and human-computer interaction, with equal emphasis on learning how to design and evaluate interaction architectures and learning how to survey and analyze current literature on the subject to implement such architectures. Topics include: interaction guidelines, principles, and theories; usability engineering; the model-view-controller (MVC) paradigm; and current research in the field.

Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 677
Artificial Intelligence
3 Semester Hours

Study of the fundamental concepts needed to attain human-level intelligence in computer systems. Topics include: agent architectures, problem-solving methods, heuristic search, game playing, knowledge representation frames, inheritance and common-sense reasoning, neural networks, genetic algorithms, conceptual clustering, and current research in the field.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: CMSI 385 and 386 or consent of the instructor.

CMSI 678
Multi-agent Systems and Distributed Artificial Intelligence
3 Semester Hours

Study of the development of multi-agent systems for distributed artificial intelligence. Topics include intelligent agents, multi-agent systems, agent societies, problem solving, search, decision-making, and learning algorithms in the distributed Artificial domain, industrial and practical applications of distributed artificial intelligence techniques to real-world problems.

Lecture, 3 hours.
CMSI 682
Knowledge-Based Systems
3 Semester Hours
Detailed study of design and implementation of knowledge-based systems. Topics include: logic and theorem proving; deduction systems; reaction systems; forward and backward chaining; knowledge acquisition; and explanatory interfaces.
Lecture, 3 hours.

CMSI 686
Database Design and Database Systems II
3 Semester Hours
Advanced concepts in the field of database technology. Course begins with a review of database system structure, semantic data modeling, relational databases, and object-oriented extensions. Additional topics include relational algebra and formal query languages; integrity, functional dependencies, normalization, security, physical design of databases, indexing and hashing, query processing and optimization, transaction processing, concurrency, crash recovery, and current research in the field.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: CMSI 486 or 586, or consent of the instructor.

CMSI 689
Computer Networks
3 Semester Hours
Concepts in and design of large-scale distributed networks and local area networks, including topologies, standards and protocols.

Electrical Engineering

ELEC 210
Electric Circuit Analysis
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the principles of electric circuit analysis, DC, AC, transient and steady-state response of electric circuits; electric power.
Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.
Corequisite: ELEC 213.
Prerequisites: ENGR 160 and MATH 131.

ELEC 213
Electric Circuit Analysis Lab
0 Semester Hours
Laboratory experiments on electric circuits. This is a companion laboratory course to the electric circuit analysis course.
Prerequisites: ENGR 160 and MATH 131.
Engineering majors only.

ELEC 220
Electric Circuit Applications
3 Semester Hours
Laplace transform applications, network functions, frequency response, analog filters, two-port networks, three phase power, magnetic circuits.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: ELEC 210; MATH 245 or concurrent enrollment.

ELEC 260
Introduction to Electricity and Applications
3 Semester Hours
Presentation of a brief history of electricity and electrical devices. Introduction to basic concepts of circuit and system analysis, electronic instruments, devices and modern electric equipment. Demonstrations of concepts and devices are included.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

ELEC 281
Logic Design
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to computer systems, number systems. Boolean algebra, combinational and sequential logic design, minimization and analysis techniques. Concepts of programmable logic devices.
Lecture, 3 hours.

ELEC 298
Special Studies
0-3 Semester Hours

ELEC 299
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ELEC 301
Junior Lab I
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the use of contemporary lab equipment and techniques of measurement and experimentation; introduction to technical report writing; class is used to provide a laboratory experience related to junior level courses.
Laboratory, 3 hours; Lecture, 1 hour.
Prerequisites: ELEC 220, 281, and concurrent enrollment in ELEC 353 or permission of the instructor.
ELEC 302
Junior Lab II
3 Semester Hours
Continuation of ELEC 301 with emphasis on design; introduction to use of CAD tools and FPGA based system design.
Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: ELEC 301 and 383; concurrent enrollment in ELEC 354.

ELEC 353
Electronics I
3 Semester Hours
Fundamentals of semiconductor devices and the physics of their operation. Applications of semiconductor devices in electronic circuits and device modeling. Introduction to CAD tools. Design of single stage amplifiers.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 220.

ELEC 354
Electronics II
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to engineering design methods utilized in the synthesis of contemporary analog electronic circuits including extensive use of CAD tools. Topics include multitransistor circuits, large signal limitations, feedback techniques, amplifier frequency response, stability and oscillation.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 353.

ELEC 361
Electromagnetics
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to Maxwell's equations, wave propagation, transmission line theory, and the solution of static and time varying field problems.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: MATH 355 and PHYS 201.

ELEC 371
Linear Systems
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 220.

ELEC 383
Introduction to Microprocessors
3 Semester Hours
Basic concepts in design and organization of microprocessors and microcomputers. Assembly language programming design for incorporating peripheral devices in solving application designs.
Not open to CMSI majors.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 281.

ELEC 385
Computer Systems Design
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CMSI 284 and ELEC 281.

ELEC 398

1-4 Semester Hours

ELEC 400
Design Methodology
2 Semester Hours
An introduction to systems engineering, including a study of design methodology and development of professional project-oriented skills such as communication, team management, creative problem solving, interpersonal management, and leadership skills.
Lecture, 2 hours.
Corequisite: ELEC 401.

ELEC 401
Senior Lab I
3 Semester Hours
Course is intended to provide a laboratory experience related to other senior level courses; emphasis is on design, technical report writing, and oral presentation.
Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: ELEC 302, 354, and 383.
Corequisite: ELEC 400.

ELEC 402
Senior Project
3 Semester Hours
A study of design methodology and development of professional project-oriented skills including communication, team management, creative problem solving, interpersonal management, and leadership skills. Team project activities are used to apply project-oriented skills to solution of design problems. Periodic design reports and design reviews are presented to, and critiqued by the faculty and the design team.
Lecture, 1 hour; Laboratory, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: ELEC 400 and 401.

ELEC 423
Communications I
3 Semester Hours
Review of topics in Signals and Systems, Fourier transform and frequency-domain analysis. Introduction to the principles of operation of typical analog and digital communication systems. Extensive discussion on modulation and demodulation, power and bandwidth.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 371.

ELEC 424
Communications II
3 Semester Hours
Fundamentals of probability, random variables, and random processes. Performance analysis of typical communication systems. Introduction to information theory and coding theories.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 423.

ELEC 453
Digital Integrated Electronics
3 Semester Hours
Extensive coverage of digital integrated circuit design, including TTL, NMOS, CMOS and BiCMOS digital logic circuits, Read Only Memory (ROM), and Random Access Memory (RAM).

Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: ELEC 281 and 354.

ELEC 462
Microwave and Optical Communications
3 Semester Hours
Applications of electromagnetic theory. Topics include transmission lines, waveguides, impedance transformations and matching, passive devices, scatter parameters and their applications in circuits, antennas and wave propagation, fiber optics and other communication links.

Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 361.

ELEC 472
Control Systems
3 Semester Hours
Analysis and design of feedback systems using root locus, Bode, Nyquist, and state variable techniques; introduction to discrete feedback control system analysis.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: ELEC 371.

ELEC 481
Introduction to Computer Networks
3 Semester Hours
This course provides a basic introduction to computer networking. The topics covered include: types and uses of computer networks, data transmission, protocols and protocol layering, packets, message transactions, layered architecture, and a client-server introduction.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Senior standing and permission of instructor required.

ELEC 498
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

ELEC 499
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

ELEC 521
Introduction to Communication Systems
3 Semester Hours
The concepts of signal formulation, modulation, transmission and reception, and demodulation of signals in noise will be discussed.

Prerequisites: ELEC 423 and 532, or equivalents.

ELEC 525
Digital Signal Processing
3 Semester Hours
The representation, analysis, and processing of discrete signals are discussed. Topics include sampling, quantization, $Z$-transform of signal, discrete Fourier and fast Fourier transforms, analysis and design of digital filters, and spectral estimation of random digital signals.

Prerequisite: ELEC 371.

ELEC 532
Probability and Random Processes
3 Semester Hours
Studies of probability, random variables, stochastic processes, correlation, power spectral density, and linear mean-square estimation with emphasis on their application to electrical engineering are included.

Senior or graduate standing required.

ELEC 552
Semiconductor Device Physics
3 Semester Hours
In-depth coverage of semiconductor device physics, including: principle of quantum mechanics, carrier transport phenomena in semiconductor materials, P-N junctions, metal-semiconductor and semiconductor heterojunctions, and MOS transistors.

Prerequisite: ELEC 353 or equivalent.

ELEC 561
IC Fabrication Processes
3 Semester Hours
Overview of processes in manufacture of integrated circuits. Topics include: single crystal growth, oxide growth, photolithographic processes, ion implantation and impurity diffusion, metal deposition, and pas-sivation and packaging of chips. Use is made of Unix workstations for modeling and simulation.

Prerequisite: ELEC 353 or equivalent.

ELEC 562

Digital System Design with VHDL

3 Semester Hours

Computer aided design of digital VLSI (Very Large Scale Integrated) systems using Very High Speed Integrated Circuits (VHSIC) Hardware Description Language (VHDL).

Prerequisites: ELEC 281 and 383, or equivalents.

ELEC 563

ASIC Design

3 Semester Hours

Topics include programmable logic devices and gate array architectures, programmability of PLDs and gate arrays, field programmable gate ar-rays (FPGAs) and applications of FPGAs in digital system design. Course includes laboratory experiments and extensive use of Computer Aided Design tools.

Prerequisites: ELEC 383 and 562, or permission of instructor.

ELEC 567

Introduction to Digital VLSI Design

3 Semester Hours

Custom and semi-custom design of VLSI circuits using standard cells, design methodologies of advanced complementary metal-oxide-semiconductor (CMOS) circuits, and simulation of designed circuits will be emphasized. At the end of the semester, circuits designed by the students will be sent for fabrication through MOSIS and later tested by the students for functionality.

Prerequisite: ELEC 383 or permission of instructor.

ELEC 583

Finite State Machines

3 Semester Hours

An introduction to the theory and design of finite state automata and sequential machines.

Prerequisite: ELEC 281 or equivalent.

ELEC 584

Introduction to Microprocessors II

3 Semester Hours

Design and applications of 32-bit microprocessors. Topics include: basic concepts, software, architecture, programming, interfacing, and system design.

Prerequisite: ELEC 383 or equivalent.

ELEC 585

Computer Organization and Architecture

3 Semester Hours

System structure of minicomputers and main frame computers. Structtured memory based systems; parallel and multiunit processors; introduction to input/output processing.

Prerequisite: ELEC 385 or equivalent.

ELEC 598

Special Studies

1-4 Semester Hours

ELEC 599

1-4 Semester Hours

ELEC 601

Graduate Seminar

3 Semester Hours

Project-based seminar in which students will be required to select, research, write about, and discuss some aspect of a broad area of current interest to computer scientists and electrical engineers (e.g., computer networks, digital communication).

Prerequisites: Successful completion of coursework and the endorsement of the faculty advisor. (The seminar can be taken during the final semester of coursework subject to the approval of the faculty advisor.)

ELEC 621

Information Theory and Coding

3 Semester Hours

The concepts of information measures and channel capacity are introduced. The applications of Shannon theory to evaluate the effectiveness of practical communication links is developed. Error correction coding and its application in reliable communications are emphasized in this class.

Prerequisite: ELEC 532.

ELEC 624

Digital Communication Theory

3 Semester Hours

This course provides the foundation of digital communication theory.
Topics include representation of bandpass signals, frequency and phase shift keying, M-ary signal, detection in additive Gaussian noise channel, intersymbol interference, and efficient signaling with coding.

Prerequisites: ELEC 521 and 532.

ELEC 626

Satellite Communication Systems

3 Semester Hours

This course provides an introduction to the practical and theoretical analysis of the performance of satellite communications links. Topics in link design, satellite orbit dynamics, antenna gain and coverage, frequency and time division multiple access, component and subsystem nonlinearity, signal format, and error correction coding will be discussed.

Prerequisites: ELEC 521 and 532.

ELEC 627

Phase-Lock Techniques for Communication and Control

3 Semester Hours

Phase-lock loop concepts, stability, noise response, acquisition, frequency response and topics of applications in coherent communications such as PLL costas loop, byte synchronization will be discussed.

Prerequisite: ELEC 532.
ELEC 628
Spread Spectrum Systems
3 Semester Hours
The system performance and signal design of spread communication systems will be discussed. Topics addressed are frequency hopping and direct sequence systems and their performance in jamming and CDMA environments.
ELEC 521, 532, and 624 are recommended.

ELEC 631
Numerical Methods in Engineering
3 Semester Hours
A course in numerical techniques of computing. Numerical techniques; errors in computing; generation of functions; roots of polynomials, integration techniques; solution of simultaneous linear equations; ordinary differential equations; partial differential equations.

ELEC 632
Optimization Techniques in Signal Processing
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to the theory, analysis, and design of optimal signal processing systems in both discrete and continuous time. Topics include spectral factorization, least-mean-square theory and estimation algorithms, linear signal estimation, Wiener and Kalman filtering, linear prediction, spectral estimation, and matched filtering. Access to computer with MATLAB, Fortran, or other high level language compiler for assignments is required.
Prerequisite: ELEC 532.

ELEC 637
Optical Communication Systems
3 Semester Hours
This course presents the analytical basis for fiber optic and laser communication systems.
Prerequisites: ELEC 521 and 532.

ELEC 651
Communication Electronics
3 Semester Hours
Theory and design aspects of analog electronic circuits as applied to the generation, amplification, detection, transmission, and modulation of electrical signals will be discussed.
Prerequisite: Undergraduate electronics course.

ELEC 662
Analog VLSI Design
3 Semester Hours
Topics in computer-aided design of analog VLSI systems. Topics include: custom and semi-custom design, design methodologies of advanced CMOS circuits, and simulation of designed circuits. Circuits designed will be fabricated for testing by student.
Prerequisites: ELEC 354 and 383 or equivalent.

ELEC 670
Radar Engineering
3 Semester Hours
Radar fundamentals will be covered including radar applications, frequency allocation, radar space-time coordinates, target and clutter scattering, radar range performance and signal/target detection and location. Also waveform and non-coherent/coherent signal processing design and analysis will be treated for targets embedded in various types of clutter. The course will also address simple antenna and transmitter/receiver design and performance. A sample radar system design problem will be accomplished.

ELEC 682
Arithmetic Processors
3 Semester Hours
Concepts of number systems, digital numbers algorithms; logic and organization of digital arithmetic processors; conventional arithmetic; algorithm acceleration; floating-point and significance arithmetics; redundant, signed-digit, residue number systems; error detection in digital arithmetic.
Prerequisite: ELEC 585 or equivalent.

ELEC 685
Diagnostic Design and Fault-Tolerant Computers
3 Semester Hours
Theories and techniques for testing digital circuits and systems, design techniques for fault-tolerant digital systems, test generation for combinational and sequence circuits, self-checking and self-testing circuits, gate-level simulation on a fault-model.
Prerequisites: ELEC 584 and 585.

ELEC 686
Microprocessor Applications
3 Semester Hours
Applications of microprocessors and microprocessor control in the design of digital and hybrid systems, including digital computer systems.
Prerequisite: ELEC 584 or equivalent.

ELEC 687
Computer Networks
3 Semester Hours
Concepts in and design of large-scale distributed networks and local area networks, including topologies, standards, and protocols.

ELEC 688
Advanced Computer Architecture
3 Semester Hours
Design and implementation of reduced instruction set computer architectures. Topics include pipelining, parameter passing, register windows compiling techniques, and comparison with CISC architectures.
Prerequisite: ELEC 585.
ELEC 689
Advanced Topics in Computer Design
3 Semester Hours
Selected topics from microprogramming, performance measurement and chip-slice architectures.

ELEC 698
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ELEC 699
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

General Engineering

ENGR 100
Introduction to Engineering Analysis, Problem Solving, and Design
3 Semester Hours
This course is designed to introduce basic concepts relevant to engineering and to promote interest in the profession. The course seeks to establish a solid foundation of technical, creative, team work, and communication skills for engineers through effective problem solving, analysis, and design techniques. Practical computer applications are integrated as tools to solve engineering problems through the use of spreadsheets and other software. The course introduces the use of manual and computer graphics in engineering design. Students are also exposed to the different engineering disciplines through a variety of speakers active in the profession.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Corequisite: MATH 120.

ENGR 160
Algorithms and Applications
3 Semester Hours
The development of algorithms for the computer solution of engineering problems and the implementation of the algorithms using MATLAB.
Lecture, 3 hours.

ENGR 198
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ENGR 199
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

ENGR 200
Statics
3 Semester Hours
Resultants of force systems, free-body diagrams, equations of equilibrium and their applications, analysis of trusses, centroids and moments of inertia, shear and moment diagrams.
Lecture, 3 hours.

ENGR 278
The Science of the Automobile
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to today's automotive technology, and the science that supports it, using a systems approach to automotive design. Automotive design, function, and features are discussed, along with the manufacturing processes involved in automotive construction and the effect of globalization on the automotive industry.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

ENGR 298

ENVS 500
Geology
2 Semester Hours
Atmospheric, aqueous, and igneous agencies; river and marine deposits, glaciers, earth movement, volcanoes, earthquakes. Emphasis placed on factors affecting engineering projects; field trips.

ENVS 510
Chemistry for Environmental Engineers and Scientists
2 Semester Hours
Review of inorganic chemistry with emphasis on gas laws, chemical equilibrium, oxidation-reduction, thermodynamics, and chemical kinetics. An introduction to organic chemistry is presented.
Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 114.

ENVS 513
Solid Waste Engineering
2 Semester Hours
An application of current technology in the control, disposal, and recovery of value from solid wastes.
Lecture, 2 hours.

ENVS 515
Environmental Impact Reports
2 Semester Hours
An engineering perspective of managing projects through the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) process.
Lecture, 2 hours.

ENVS 518
Applied Oceanography
2 Semester Hours
A study of the physical, chemical, and biological characteristics of the oceans which must be considered in the design of wastewater outfalls, marine structures, etc.
Lecture, 2 hours.

ENVS 525
Inland Waters
2 Semester Hours
The structure of and movement of water in lakes, rivers, and estuaries; cyclical and progressive changes of the physical, chemical, and biological composition of aquatic systems are discussed along with an explanation of lake remediation techniques.
Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisites: ENVS 510 and 544.

ENVS 533
Aquatic Chemistry
2 Semester Hours
Equilibrium chemistry concepts including gas- and solid-liquid equilibria applied to aquatic systems. Emphasis on calculation methods for solving for chemical speciation in natural and treated aquatic systems.
Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: ENVS 510.

ENVS 544
Applied Microbiology
2 Semester Hours
Emphasis on physical and biochemical aspects of bacterial metabolism and behavior as applied to environmental engineering; kinetics and energetics of microbial growth.
Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisites: CIVL 400 and ENVS 510.

MATH 102

Quantitative Skills for the Modern World

3 Semester Hours

Quantitative and analytic skills used to understand personal and social issues faced in everyday life. Topics include problem solving, computer spreadsheets, probability and statistics, and the mathematics of finance.

Corequisite: MATH 103.

MATH 103

Quantitative Skills for the Modern World Lab

0 Semester Hours

Concurrent laboratory for MATH 102.

Corequisite: MATH 102.

MATH 104

Elementary Statistics

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to methods of inferential statistics, histograms, elementary probability, and random variables and distributions.

MATH 106

Mathematics for Elementary Teachers I

3 Semester Hours

Foundations of arithmetic from an advanced standpoint: sets, numeration systems, the structure of number systems, and problem solving strategies.

For Liberal Studies majors only, or by consent of the instructor.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 with a minimum grade of C (2.0) or Mathematics Placement Examination.

MATH 107

Mathematics for Elementary Teachers II

3 Semester Hours

Geometry, metric system, and introduction to probability and statistics.

For Liberal Studies majors only, or by consent of the instructor.

Prerequisite: MATH 106.

MATH 111

Mathematical Analysis for Business I

3 Semester Hours

Systems of equations and inequalities, exponential and logarithmic functions, math of finance, linear programming.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or Mathematics Placement Examination.

MATH 112

Mathematical Analysis for Business II

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to the differential and integral calculus of elementary functions. Applications of the methods of calculus to business and economics problems.

A laboratory fee may be required.

Prerequisite: MATH 111 or 120 or Mathematics Placement Examination.

MATH 120

Precalculus Mathematics

3 Semester Hours

Functions; polynomial, rational, trigonometric, exponential and logarithmic functions.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or Mathematics Placement Examination.

MATH 122

Calculus for the Life Sciences I

3 Semester Hours

An introduction to calculus. Derivatives and integrals of the elementary functions, including computational techniques and applications.

Prerequisite: MATH 120 or Mathematics Placement Examination.

MATH 123

Calculus for the Life Sciences II

3 Semester Hours

Integration methods with applications, differential equations and modeling, introduction to multivariate calculus.

Prerequisite: MATH 122 or equivalent.

MATH 131

Calculus I

4 Semester Hours

Limits, continuity, derivatives of algebraic and transcendental functions, applications of the derivative, antiderivatives, introduction to the definite integral, Fundamental Theorem of Calculus.

Prerequisite: MATH 120 or Mathematics Placement Examination.

MATH 132

Calculus II

4 Semester Hours

Techniques of integration, numerical methods of integration with error analysis, applications of the integral, improper integral, infinite series, an introduction to parametric equations and polar coordinates.

Prerequisite: MATH 131 or equivalent.

MATH 190

Workshop in Mathematics I

2 Semester Hours

Study skills, analytical and problem solving skills, technical writing, recent fields of study and advances in mathematics, mathematical career opportunities.

MATH 191

Workshop in Mathematics II

2 Semester Hours

A continuation of MATH 190.
MATH 198
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

MATH 199
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

MATH 234
Calculus III
4 Semester Hours
Partial derivatives, multiple integrals, three-dimensional space, vectors in two- and three-dimensional space, line integrals, Green's theorem.
Prerequisite: MATH 132 or equivalent.

MATH 245
Ordinary Differential Equations
3 Semester Hours
Differential equations as mathematical models, analytical, qualitative, and numerical approaches to differential equations and systems of differential equations, and Laplace transform techniques.
Prerequisite: MATH 132 or equivalent.

MATH 248
Introduction to Methods of Proof
3 Semester Hours
Number theory, sets, functions, equivalence relations, cardinality, methods of proof, induction, contradiction, contraposition. Student portfolios will be collected.
Prerequisite: MATH 132 or equivalent.

MATH 250
Linear Algebra
3 Semester Hours
Prerequisite: MATH 234 or 248 or consent of instructor.

MATH 261
Mathematics: Contributions by Women
3 Semester Hours
A study of the biographies and mathematics of women mathematicians from the 1st through the 20th centuries. Topics include prime numbers, conic sections, cycloid curve, functions, sequences, series, polyhedra, and group theory.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MATH 264
Cryptography through the Ages
3 Semester Hours
A study of mathematical systems used for enciphering and deciphering information and the context in which these systems arose.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MATH 282
Elementary Numerical Methods
3 Semester Hours
Computer solutions of applied mathematical problems using a procedural programming language and a computer algebra system. Nonlinear equations, differentiation, integration.
Prerequisite: MATH 131 or equivalent.

MATH 293
Mathematics Teaching Field Experience
0 Semester Hours
Planned observation, instruction or tutoring experiences appropriate for future secondary or middle school mathematics teachers; related professional reading and reflections.

MATH 298
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

MATH 299
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

MATH 301
Mathematical Ideas for Future Teachers I
3 Semester Hours
A selection of topics from number theory, algebra, game theory, probability, and statistics of interest to future teachers. The emphasis is on deepening students' understanding of the methods and philosophy of mathematics. Students will actively engage in exploring mathematics through student investigations and presentations.
Prerequisites: MATH 107 and MATH 111 or 112 or 120 or 122 or 131.

MATH 302
Mathematical Ideas for Future Teachers II
3 Semester Hours
A selection of topics from geometry and topology of interest to future teachers. The emphasis is on deepening students' understanding of the methods and philosophy of mathematics. Students will actively engage in exploring mathematics through student investigations and presentations.
Prerequisites: MATH 107 and MATH 111 or 112 or 120 or 122 or 131.
MATH 322
Real Variables II
3 Semester Hours
Infinite series, uniform convergence, power series, and improper integrals.
Prerequisite: MATH 321.

MATH 331
Elements of Group Theory
3 Semester Hours
Group theory. Binary operations, subgroups, cyclic groups, factor groups, isomorphism, homomorphism, and Cayley's theorem.
Prerequisite: MATH 248.

MATH 332
Elements of the Theory of Rings and Fields
3 Semester Hours
Rings, integral domains, fields, ideals, factor rings, polynomial rings, and unique factorization domains.
Prerequisite: MATH 331.

MATH 350
Advanced Linear Algebra
3 Semester Hours
Vector spaces over an arbitrary field, dual spaces, Cayley-Hamilton theorem, invariant subspaces, canonical forms for matrices, inner product spaces over C, the spectral theorem.
Prerequisites: MATH 248 and 250.

MATH 355
Methods of Applied Mathematics
3 Semester Hours
Series solutions and special functions. Orthogonal functions and Fourier series, partial differential equations and boundary-value problems.
Prerequisites: MATH 234 and 245.

MATH 357
Complex Variables
3 Semester Hours
Complex variables; analytic functions, Laurent expansions and residues; evaluation of real integrals by residues; integral transforms.
Prerequisite: MATH 234.

MATH 360
Introduction to Probability and Statistics
3 Semester Hours
Descriptive statistics, probability, discrete and continuous random variables, limit theorems, sampling distributions, estimations of parameters, nonparametric methods, hypothesis testing, linear regression.
Prerequisite: MATH 123 or 132.

MATH 366
Discrete Methods
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to graph theory; trees; coloring; Eulerian circuits. Combinatorics; permutations and combinations; recurrence relations.
Prerequisite: MATH 248.

MATH 388
Survey of Biomathematics
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the application of mathematical tools and techniques in biology. Application areas range from gene regulatory networks to physiological systems to ecology and environmental biology. Mathematical methods include deterministic and probabilistic approaches to modeling dynamical systems, development, analysis, and simulation of model equations, and problems of fitting models to data.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101 and MATH 123 or 132.

MATH 393
Mathematics Internship
1-3 Semester Hours
Internship conducted in an industrial, business, government, or educational setting involving applied mathematical work or teaching. This will involve a research project (or paper) coordinated jointly with an on-site supervisor and a Department faculty member.
Enrollment is subject to available opportunities and approval of the Department Chairperson.

MATH 397
Putnam Competition Preparation
0-1 Semester Hours
A study of problem-solving techniques and skills to prepare students to participate in the William Lowell Putnam Mathematical Competition, a prestigious national exam. The course may be repeated for credit. Grading is Credit/No Credit. The course may not be used to satisfy any of the requirements of the mathematics major or minor.
Consent of instructor required.

MATH 398
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours
MATH 399
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

MATH 471
Topology
3 Semester Hours
An introduction to metric and topological spaces; continuity and homeomorphism; separation properties; connectivity and compactness; examples and applications.
Prerequisite: MATH 321.

MATH 473
Differential Geometry
3 Semester Hours
Curves, parametrizations, and arc length; surfaces, differential functions, and the first fundamental form (area); the Gauss map; isometries, Gauss' Theorema Egregium, geodesics, and the Gauss-Bonnet theorem.

Prerequisites: MATH 234 and 250.

MATH 490

History of Mathematics

3 Semester Hours

The development of mathematics from historical and cultural viewpoints including both European and non-European roots of mathematics as well as contributions by women.

Prerequisite: MATH 248.

MATH 491

Senior Mathematics Seminar

3 Semester Hours

Topics in mathematics chosen by the instructor. Written and oral presentations are required.

MATH 493

Senior Seminar for Future Mathematics Educators

3 Semester Hours

Topics in high school mathematics are examined from an advanced standpoint by developing and exploring extensions and generalizations of typical high school problems, by making explicit connections between these problems and upper division mathematics courses, and by providing historical context. Current issues in secondary mathematics education will be investigated. Written and oral presentations are required.

Senior standing or consent of instructor required.

MATH 495

Mathematical Modeling

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to various modeling techniques, design and implementation of algorithms, organization and presentation of results, introduction to problem solving using computer algebra systems. Written and oral presentations are required.

Senior standing or consent of instructor required.

MATH 497

Senior Thesis

3 Semester Hours

This course is intended to provide the student with an opportunity to complete a substantive research project under the guidance of a faculty member. The student will prepare a written report and an oral presentation on the project at the end of the semester.

Senior standing and the consent of both the Chairperson and a faculty thesis advisor required.

MATH 498

Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MATH 499

Independent Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MATH 511

Mathematics and Gender Equality

3 Semester Hours

Historical and current gender issues in mathematics examined through 1) the lives and mathematical work of women mathematicians from the 4th to the 21st centuries and 2) equity issues in K-12 mathematics education and math-related careers. Mathematical topics include prime numbers, conic sections, functions, sequences and series, polyhedra and group theory.

Prerequisites: MATH 107 and MATH 111 or 112 or 120 or 122 or 131 or consent of instructor.

MATH 550

Fundamental Concepts of Geometry

3 Semester Hours

Euclidean and non-Euclidean planar geometries, axiomatic systems, synthetic and analytic representations, relationships with algebra, and selected topics and applications.

Prerequisites: MATH 248 and 250.

MATH 560

Advanced Topics in Probability and/or Statistics

3 Semester Hours

Material to be covered will be determined by the instructor. Consult with the instructor for the specific topics in probability and statistics that will be covered in any given semester.

Prerequisites: MATH 234 and 360.

MATH 561

Computational Methods in Linear Algebra

3 Semester Hours

Numerical solutions of linear systems of equations, Gauss elimination and iterative methods, eigenvalues and eigenvectors.

Prerequisites: CMSI 185 or ENGR 160 or MATH 282, and MATH 250 or consent of instructor.

MATH 562

Numerical Analysis

3 Semester Hours

Prerequisites: CMSI 185 or ENGR 160 or MATH 282, and MATH 245 or consent of instructor.

MATH 568

Mathematical Methods of Operations Research

3 Semester Hours

Linear and dynamic programming, network analysis, inventory control.

Prerequisite: MATH 360.

MATH 590

History of Mathematics for Secondary Teachers

3 Semester Hours

The development of mathematics from historical and cultural viewpoints, including both European and non-European roots of mathematics as well as contributions by women. Course content will be connected to the secondary classroom.

Prerequisite: MATH 248.

MATH 598

Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MATH 599

Independent Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MATH 695

MAT Final Project

0 Semester Hours

The student will prepare and submit a proposal for a substantive project to the MAT Director, who will submit it to the Education Liaison Committee under the guidance of a faculty member, prepare a written report, and give an oral presentation on the project.

Mechanical Engineering

MECH 211

Computer Aided Design

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to computer aided design (CAD) techniques and applications to design, analysis, and manufacturing problems. Topics include parametric solid modeling of parts and assemblies, design optimization, two-dimensional drawings, geometric dimensioning and tolerancing, and rapid prototyping of assemblies. Students work in teams for their final project and presentation and use SolidWorks as the primary design and analysis software package.

Lecture/Laboratory, 2 hours.

MECH 212

Mechanics of Materials

3 Semester Hours

Development of relationships between loads applied to an elastic body to stresses and deformations produced in the body, the relation between stresses and strains, approaches for finding necessary dimensions of a member with respect to material capabilities and design constraints.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: ENGR 200.

MECH 213

Dynamics

3 Semester Hours

Kinematics and kinetics of particles and rigid bodies, Newton's Laws, application of principles of work and energy, impulse and momentum, introduction to vibrations.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: ENGR 200 and MATH 132.

MECH 223

Thermodynamics

3 Semester Hours

The fundamental concepts of classical thermodynamics including properties, work and heat; first and second laws; entropy; irreversible processes; and thermodynamic analysis of power cycles and refrigeration cycles.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 132.

MECH 260

Nanotechnology

3 Semester Hours

An introduction to the nanotechnology language, relationship between the macroscopic, microscopic, and nanoscopic worlds, and exploring the social and ethical implications. Applications will be covered in biology, medicine, computers, and electronics.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MECH 261

The Revolution of Bio-tools

3 Semester Hours

This course will use the modern tools of biotechnology to address contemporary issues in health, aging, medicine, the environment, and social choices. Students will be introduced to several situations involving bi-ethics and social values. Articles, text reading, and discussions will be given in such topics as inherited traits, DNA identification, CSI forensics, gene technology, mutations, medical diagnostics, cloning, stem cells, energy, pollution, bacteria, viruses, vaccines, diseases, genetic engineering, and case studies.

Lecture, 3 hours.

For non-majors only.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MECH 262

Information Technology

3 Semester Hours

An introduction to communication systems and data processing. Such topics will include the electromagnetic spectrum, analog/digital transmission, Internet, computers, telephones, cell phones, radio, television, micro/nanoelectronics, the history of modern information technology, and the social/ethical consequences.

Lecture, 3 hours.

For non-majors only.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MECH 270

Materials

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to the chemistry and physics of different materials. Types of materials (metals, ceramics, polymers, and composites) and the relation between their structure and properties. Selection of materials in different applications.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MECH 277
Systems of Energy Conversions
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the engineering disciplines and the fundamentals of energy conversions for non-engineering majors. Topics will include: introduction to different engineering disciplines, defining important parameters used in engineering, engineering components, engineering systems, energy conversion devices and demonstration of engineering laboratories and equipment.
Lecture, 3 hours.
For non-majors only.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

MECH 298
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 299
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 301
Measurements and Controls
3 Semester Hours
An introductory course into the design, analysis, and control of experimental measurements. Different measurement techniques are analyzed for: strain, pressure, temperature, and velocity. Statistical techniques such as least-squares regression, statistical confidence and error analysis are covered. The dynamic response of control systems using Laplace transforms and control methods are also covered.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 245.

MECH 302
Thermo, Fluids, and Materials Laboratory
2 Semester Hours
Students, working in teams, implement experimental projects in the disciplines of material science, mechanics of materials, fluid mechanics, and thermodynamics. Lab safety, instrumentation, test planning, data analysis, and report writing are emphasized.
Lecture/Laboratory, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: MECH 223.
Corequisite: MECH 313.

MECH 303
Energy and Mechanics Laboratory
2 Semester Hours
Students, working in teams, implement experimental projects in the disciplines of energy conversion, solid mechanics, and dynamics. Lab safety, instrumentation, test planning, data analysis, and report writing are emphasized.
Lecture/Laboratory, 2 hours.
Prerequisites: MECH 212 and 223.

MECH 310
Elements of Design
3 Semester Hours
Design methodologies; static and fatigue failure prevention; the design and selection of various machine elements (gears, bearings, seals, hardware, etc.); design of subsystems and assemblies using the rules of datum features; two-dimensional drawings: geometric dimensioning and tolerancing. Design for manufacturing, assembly, serviceability, and the environment. Design intent documentation and comprehensive design projects.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: MECH 211, 212, and 213.

MECH 313
Materials Science
3 Semester Hours
A study of metallic, polymeric, and ceramic materials, emphasizing dependence of mechanical and electrical properties on solid-state bonding forces and micro-structure. Introductory design considerations.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 111 and 114.
Corequisite: MECH 302.

MECH 321
Energy Systems
3 Semester Hours
The fundamentals on conventional and renewable energy resources including the basics of conventional energy conversion. Additional topics will include the environmental impacts of energy consumption and economic considerations such as: levelized cost of energy, payback period, and incentives.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MECH 223.

MECH 322
Fluid Mechanics
3 Semester Hours
Properties of fluids, fluid statics, kinematics, energy, hydrodynamics, momentum and dynamic forces, steady flow of compressible and incompressible fluids.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 245.

MECH 323
Heat Transfer
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: ENGR 160 and MECH 223.

MECH 398
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 399
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 401
Practicum 1
3 Semester Hours
An integrated, team-based senior capstone design project that utilizes knowledge learned from the Mechanical Engineering undergraduate curriculum. Implementation of the design process in order to meet realistic constraints for a given project. Preliminary research, project planning, computer aided design (CAD), and analysis of system components and subsystems. Design project reviews and development of design intent documentation and two-dimensional drawings.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Senior standing required.

MECH 402
Practicum 2
3 Semester Hours
Continuation of the integrated senior capstone design project. Fabrication and experimental testing of the system components and subsystems that were designed during the initial project phases. Development and completion of an experimental testing procedure. Final student project presentations and reports.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Senior standing required.
Prerequisite: MECH 401.

MECH 410
Design and Manufacturing Laboratory
2 Semester Hours
Common design testing procedures and various manufacturing operations. Design for machining, dimensional accuracy and geometric dimensioning and tolerancing. Computer numerically controlled (CNC) machining, Fatigue testing, design of weldments, fastener selection, design of experiments, and robotic programming.

Lecture/Laboratory, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: MECH 310.

MECH 411
Entrepreneurial Product Design
3 Semester Hours
Student-conceived and/or corporate-sponsored team projects leading to a final prototype and business plan of a new product. Concept generation, team dynamics, customer needs analysis, product function, risk, decision theory, prototyping, manufacturing planning, specifications, and cost analysis. Cross-listed with the College of Business Administration to include entrepreneurship, marketing, and financial considerations when developing the design and business plan. Final oral presentation in front of a panel of industry experts in engineering and business.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Senior standing required.

MECH 423
Thermal Systems Engineering
3 Semester Hours
Selected topics from thermodynamics, fluid mechanics, and heat transfer to include: review of fundamental concepts; boundary layer theory; isentropic flow through nozzles; shock waves; exergy analysis; gas mixtures; heat exchangers and design.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: MECH 223, 322, 323.

MECH 493
Mechanical Engineering Internship
1-3 Semester Hours
Engineering analysis, testing, design, and/or production work conducted by the student in an industrial setting. The work will be supervised jointly by an engineer with the industrial firm and by an LMU Mechanical Engineering faculty member. The project must be approved by the Department.

MECH 498
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 499
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 500
Quality
3 Semester Hours
History and philosophy of quality; concurrent engineering; design and optimization of both product and process, optimization of matrix organizations; continuous improvement; spontaneous suggestions, PDCA cycle, brainstorming, re-engineering; Deming's profound knowledge and 14 points, Quantitative Methods; charts, Andon, Design of Experiments (optimization of processes, robustness, full factorials, fractional factorials, folding, Plackett-Burnam, introduction to nonlinear designs), Statistical Process Control; Quality systems; ISO 9001:2000, ISO 14001, CMMI, Malcolm Baldridge, TQM Self-Assessment Tool.

Lecture, 3 hours.

MECH 510
Computer-Aided Manufacturing
3 Semester Hours
A comprehensive study of manufacturing with a focus on automation, flexible automation, group technology, process planning, and design for manufacturability. Principles and applications of computer numerical control (CNC) and NC programming, rapid prototyping, robotics, and investment casting are introduced through lecture and laboratory work.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 511

Materials Selection in Design

3 Semester Hours

Application of principles of materials engineering to selection of materials for optimized engineering design, case studies in failure analysis.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 512

Advanced Mechanics of Materials

3 Semester Hours

Combined loading, curved bars, energy methods, buckling and elastic stability; inelastic and plastic deformations; and use of computational finite element analysis (FEA) software.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 513

Metallurgical and Materials Engineering

3 Semester Hours

Advanced topics in the relationship of the microstructure and processing of metallic, ceramic, and polymeric materials and their relation to the properties required in engineering design. Phase transformations in ferrous and non-ferrous materials.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 514

Modern Methods in Materials Science

3 Semester Hours

Modern methods of understanding and characterizing the structures of current industrial materials. A range of topics will be discussed, such as electron microscopy, atomic force microscopy, quantitative stereology, quantum mechanics, band structure of solids, diffusion processing, semiconductor devices, microelectromechanical systems (MEMS), mechanical defects in solids (point, line, and planar), quantitative methods in metals, ceramics, and composites.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

Prerequisite: MECH 313.

MECH 515

Composites

3 Semester Hours

Forms and properties of resins, fibers and composites; material and structural design and analysis; manufacturing, machining and assembly; quality assurance and testing; metal and ceramic based materials; information resources.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 516

Finite Elements Methods

3 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 517

Fracture Mechanics

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to concepts of fracture mechanics of engineering materials. These include stress analysis of cracks, fracture toughness, transition temperature, micro-structural aspects, and fatigue crack propagation behavior.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 518

Shock and Vibration Engineering

3 Semester Hours

Harmonic Motion; phasors; vibration terminology; energy basics; single degree-of-freedom systems (free and forced undamped and damped vibration, free and forced transient vibration); Laplace transform; response spectrum; two-degree-of-freedom systems; frequency response; absorbers; normal modes; coordinate coupling; orthogonality; Lagrange's equation; continuous systems (longitudinal and torsional vibration of a rod), approximate and exact solution; wave propagation.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

Prerequisites: CIVL 200 or MECH 212, and MATH 245.

MECH 520

Computational Fluid Dynamics

3 Semester Hours

In-depth study of applied computational methods for solving problems involving fluid and heat transport. Course will include both commercially available codes as well as self-generated solving routines. Topics include: numerical solutions to PDEs, steady flow solutions, unsteady flow solutions, flows involving heat transfer.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Senior or graduate standing required.

Prerequisite: CIVL 310 or MECH 322.

MECH 521

Alternative Energy Systems

3 Semester Hours
A detailed study of alternative energy technologies including: solar thermal, solar photovoltaic, wind, fuel cells, and geothermal systems will be covered. In-depth analysis of the technical aspects of these systems will be covered while considering economic and environmental constraints. Energy storage and grid integration will also be considered.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 531

Design of Tribological Systems

3 Semester Hours

Design of systems involving components that undergo surface contact and relative motion. Analytical, computational methods, and experimental techniques used to understand the friction, wear, and lubrication of such systems. Conventional methods used to investigate surface friction and wear and how to minimize their effects.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 532

Robotics

3 Semester Hours

This is a fundamental interdisciplinary robotics course containing both introductory as well as more advanced concepts. The course presents a broad overview of technology, kinematics and control, vision systems, robot languages and programming, applications, economics and social issues. A FANUC CERT LR Mate 200i robot will be used for lecture and class projects.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 538

Structural Dynamics

3 Semester Hours

Beam vibration; boundary conditions; modes; approximate and exact solutions; general matrix formulations and interrelationships; decoupling by transformation to modal coordinates; free and forced response; experimental approaches; modal truncation; mode acceleration method; component mode synthesis; formulation of large-order system responses (time and frequency domain); load transform matrices; introduction to finite elements.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 542

Turbomachinery

3 Semester Hours

Compressor, pump, fan selection and applied theory.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 543

Propulsion

3 Semester Hours

This course combines fundamental fluid mechanical and thermodynamic concepts to characterize the components, operation, and performance of internal combustion propulsion devices for aircraft and space vehicles. A practical approach to understanding these devices is also given, supplementing and enhancing the analytical application. The fundamentals of alternative, advanced airbreathing and space propulsion concepts are also introduced.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 551

Sustainable Design

3 Semester Hours

This course focuses on design for the environment (DFE) principles and methods to create sustainable products. The major themes include: design for environmental processing and manufacturing; design for environmental packaging; and design for disposal and reuse. Includes life cycle assessment (LCA) software tools, case studies, and design projects.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 552

Systems Engineering

3 Semester Hours

Fundamentals of modern Systems Engineering throughout the program lifecycle; focus on mission success, system, and system-of-systems; broad integrative adoptable and flexible thinking; initiation of an SE activity, feasibility studies, mission engineering, pre-proposal and proposal activities; risk in performance, cost, schedule, and deployment aspects of a project; requirement definition and development, system design, interface and configuration control, and verification/validation; introduction to critical aspects of the DoD, NASA, and INCOSE guides on SE; class projects in Integrated Product Development Teams.

(See SELP 552.)

MECH 594

Project Management

3 Semester Hours

Aspects of management and leadership of complex technical endeavors: project management principles and interaction of the manager with the team; architecting teams and organizational structures; planning a project and managing financial, schedule, and technical challenges and constraints during its lifecycle; tools for planning, controlling, and monitoring a project; subcontract management, configuration management; federal acquisition process lifecycle; Microsoft project.

(See SELP 594.)

MECH 598

Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 599

Independent Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

Senior or graduate standing required.

MECH 611

Advanced Elements of Design

3 Semester Hours
Fundamentals of designing machine, sheet metal, and plastic parts and deciding which type of part should be used for a given application. Design of subsystems and assemblies using the rules of datum features, design intent, and geometric dimensioning and tolerancing. Design for manufacturing, assembly, serviceability, and the environment. Hands-on design projects.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 612
Rapid Prototyping

3 Semester Hours

The course provides students with an opportunity to conceive, design, and implement a product using rapid prototyping technologies and computer-aided tools. Topics such as principles of rapid prototyping, rapid prototyping materials, reverse engineering, rapid tooling, medical applications, industry perspectives, and current research and developments will be introduced to students through lecture and laboratory works. Two rapid prototyping machines (FDM 1650 and Z Corporation’s Z510) will be used for lecture and class projects.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 620
Nanotechnology Engineering Topics

3 Semester Hours

Exploration of technical topics in nanotechnology to prepare the students to better understand engineering research in nanotechnology. Topics such as nano-physics, quantum mechanics, nano-fluidics, nano-heat transfer, nano materials and tools of nanotechnology will be covered. Applications in engineering and bioengineering will be emphasized.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 621
Solar Thermal Energy Systems

3 Semester Hours

In-depth study of solar thermal energy systems. Flat plate collectors, concentrating collectors, hybrid PV/thermal collectors, solar powered heating and cooling.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.
Prerequisite: MECH 323 or equivalent.

MECH 623
Advanced Thermodynamics

3 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 631
Elasticity

3 Semester Hours

Analysis of stress and strain, stress tensor, Mohr’s circles for stress and strain, Hooke’s law and stress-strain diagrams, equations of equilibrium and compatibility, two-dimensional plane problems in elasticity, Airy stress functions, failure criteria, stresses in thin-walled cylinders and spheres, stress concentration factors, stresses in thick-walled cylinders and disks, energy methods. A brief introduction to the mathematics of vector calculus and indicial notation.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 634
Fatigue

3 Semester Hours

A study of metal fatigue in engineering describing macro/micro aspects, stress life approach, cycling deformation and strain-life approach, as well as the applications of linear elastic fracture mechanics approach to fatigue crack growth.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 638
Random Vibrations

3 Semester Hours

Classification and description of random data (stationarity, ergodicity, cross-correlation, cross spectra); stationary random process theory (one or two variables, Gaussian distribution, correlation, spectral density); linear input-output relations (single and multiple inputs, ordinary, multiple and partial coherence); statistical error in random data analysis; bias; digital signal processing (FFT, spectra, coherence, aliasing, windowing, averaging); nonstationary data; specifications for testing for structural and equipment survival.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 643
Advanced Heat Transfer

3 Semester Hours

Review of the modes of heat transfer and conservation principles. Topics include: two- and three-dimensional conduction; numerical methods; differential equations of laminar boundary layers; momentum transfer and heat transfer for laminar flow inside tubes; momentum transfer and heat transfer for external boundary layers; differential equations of turbulent boundary layers; experimental techniques.

Lecture, 3 hours.
Graduate standing required.

MECH 651
New Product Design and Development

3 Semester Hours

Student-conceived and/or corporate-sponsored team projects leading to a final prototype and business plan of a new product. Concept generation, team dynamics, customer needs analysis, product function, risk, decision theory, prototyping, manufacturing planning, specifications, quality function deployment, and cost analysis. Cross-listed with the business school to include entrepreneurship, marketing, and financial considerations when developing the design and business plan. Final oral presentation in front of a panel of industry experts in engineering and business.

Lecture/Laboratory, 3 hours.

Graduate standing required.

MECH 660

Lean Methods

3 Semester Hours

History of Lean: JIT, Toyota Production System, Womack, Lean Aerospace Initiative, Lean Enterprise book, Five Principles of Lean; Value Stream Mapping, Lean Manufacturing with detailed coverage of JIT Tools; Lean Enterprise; stakeholders, waste, multiple value streams, LESAT, Transitioning to Lean Enterprise, Lean Enterprise Model, Labor relations and NUMMI Case Study; layoffs; Lean Product Development: definitions, waste, principles, systems engineering, concurrency, matrix organization optimization; design takt time, scheduling and assessing progress, acquisition reform, Skunk Works; Lean Suppliers Network; Keiretsu Quality, JIT and the right price; Theory of constraints and critical chain; optional field trip, simulations, Project.

MECH 663

Convective Heat Transfer

3 Semester Hours

Review of modes of heat transfer and conservation principles; topics include: differential equations of laminar boundary layer, momentum transfer and heat transfer for laminar flow inside tubes, momentum transfer and heat transfer for external boundary layer; differential equation of turbulent boundary layer; experimental techniques and research.

MECH 686

Master’s Thesis

3-6 Semester Hours

The student electing the thesis option must obtain a thesis advisor before Departmental consent will be considered. Formal requirements may be obtained from the Department.

Graduate standing and consent of the Department and project advisor required.

Special Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

MECH 699

Independent Studies

1-3 Semester Hours

Natural Science

NTLS 101

Introduction to Environmental Science

3 Semester Hours

Introduction to the study of environmental science. Examination of issues and problems associated with the environment including examples from air, water, and soil pollution and some remediation strategies.

Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 150

Human Anatomy and Physiology

3 Semester Hours

The development, structure, and function of the human body with emphasis on integration and homeostasis.

Lecture, 3 hours.

For Psychology majors.

NTLS 151

Human Anatomy and Physiology I

3 Semester Hours

Comprehensive coverage of anatomy and physiology for the pre-health professions major. Topics include homeostasis and integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous, and endocrine systems.

Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 152

Human Anatomy and Physiology I Lab

1 Semester Hour

Companion lab course to NTLS 151.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisite: NTLS 151 or concurrent enrollment.

NTLS 153

Human Anatomy and Physiology II

3 Semester Hours

Continuation of comprehensive coverage of anatomy and physiology for the pre-health professions major. Topics include blood, cardiovascular, lymphatic, immune, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive systems.

Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 154

Human Anatomy and Physiology II Lab

1 Semester Hour

Companion lab course to NTLS 153.

Laboratory, 4 hours.

Prerequisite: NTLS 153 or concurrent enrollment.

NTLS 160

Principles of Athletic Training

3 Semester Hours

Provides knowledge in prevention, care and treatment practices relating to activities and the physical conditioning of the physically active. Serves as an introduction to pathology, signs and symptoms recognition and management procedures of common injuries.

Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 162

First Aid and Emergency Response

2 Semester Hours
An advanced first aid course addressing responses to life-threatening emergencies. Injuries examined include those to the head, spine, and abdominal/thorax, while illnesses discussed include heat illness, shock, asthma, and diabetes. CPR and first aid certificate granted upon successful completion.

Lecture, 2 hours.

NTLS 190

Exploring the Natural Sciences

1 Semester Hour

Introduction to the areas of study and career opportunities within the natural sciences.

Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering majors only.

NTLS 198

Special Studies

0-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 199

Independent Studies

1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 250

Earth Science

3 Semester Hours

Students will learn about the earth’s internal and external structure and the different types of materials that make up the planet. Students will study the various processes that are acting to alter and change the minerals and rocks within the earth and the geomorphic processes such as weathering, erosion, and deposition that are acting at the surface. Students will also learn about natural/environmental hazards, the importance of various natural mineral resources, and the history of the earth and its life forms.

Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 255

Nutrition

3 Semester Hours

The study of nutrients and their functions, recommended nutrient intakes, and dietary adequacy while focusing on how to apply this knowledge personally. Emphasis on nutritional roles in health status and chronic disease. Exploration of how behavior change plays a role in nutrition and a healthy lifestyle.

Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 263

Surfin’ Science

3 Semester Hours

Various basic principles of oceanography, meteorology, and marine biology are explored as applied to the art of surfing. Topics include the genesis, propagation, and dynamics of waves; marine weather systems and surf prediction; marine organisms; and marine pollution issues of concern to surfers.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 265

Women in Science and Mathematics: Breaking the Stereotype

3 Semester Hours

A study of the work of prominent women scientists and mathematicians. The course will also examine their lives and how they succeeded in traditionally male disciplines.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 267

The Science and Life of Galileo

3 Semester Hours

A study of the scientific works of Galileo and how they influenced changes in our world view during the 17th century.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 270

Experimenting in Science I

4 Semester Hours

Combination lecture and laboratory course designed to acquaint student with how science is done. Emphasis on active learning strategies such as performing experiments, demonstrations, group discussions. The study of general science principles, such as those typically introduced in K-8 education, in the areas of physical and earth science.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Liberal Studies majors only.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 271

Experimenting in Science II

4 Semester Hours

Combination lecture and laboratory course designed to acquaint student with how science is done. Emphasis on active learning strategies such as performing experiments, demonstrations, group discussions. The study of general science principles, such as those typically introduced in K-8 education, in the areas of earth science and life science.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Liberal Studies majors only.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 275

The Automobile and the Environment

3 Semester Hours

The study of geologic processes in mineral formation, world-wide distribution, and commercial value to human societies.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.
NTLS 276
Atmospheric Science
3 Semester Hours
The study of general phenomena of weather; including storms, atmospheric disturbances, and possible effects of pollution. This course involves weather forecasting using real-time meteorological data.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 279
Principles of Environmental Sustainability
3 Semester Hours
This course explores the reality that the most difficult and enduring challenges are not merely technical but also social and institutional. An introduction to the basic science behind key environmental issues is provided along with tools for analyzing the social and institutional underpinnings of environmental conflict, and strategies to move towards sustainability.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 298
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 299
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 301
Environmental Science
3 Semester Hours
Study of environmental science problems stressing an interdisciplinary approach. Analysis of problem and formulation of remediation strategies considering appropriate principles from biology, chemistry, physics, earth science, and engineering.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102; CHEM 110, 112; or NTLS 101.

NTLS 302
Environmental Science Lab I
1 Semester Hour
Use of standard tests in environmental science to determine chemical and biological species of interest in air, water, and soil systems.
Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: MATH 104; NTLS 301 or concurrent enrollment.

NTLS 310
Oceanography
3 Semester Hours
The basic concepts of physical and biological oceanography will be presented.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113.

NTLS 320
Science, Theology, and the Future
3 Semester Hours
A look at scientific discoveries, advances, and knowledge will be presented. The implications of the findings in science on theological questions and our worldview will be explored.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102, 111, 112; CHEM 110, 111, 112, 113.

NTLS 330
Environmental Chemistry
3 Semester Hours
A study of environmental chemistry. Topics include stratospheric chemistry, the chemistry of ground-level air and air pollution, toxic organic chemicals, the chemistry of natural waters, soil chemistry and heavy metals, energy production and the environment.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: CHEM 112 and 113.

NTLS 332
Environmental Science Lab II
1 Semester Hour
Use of standard methods of analysis to determine pollutants found in air, water, and soil systems. Emphasis will be on the use of instrumental methods and techniques.
Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisites: BIOL 101, 102; CHEM 110, 112; MATH 104.

NTLS 355
Exercise Physiology
3 Semester Hours
In-depth exploration of the acute and chronic changes to physiology that occur with exercise. Focus on the cardiovascular, respiratory, muscular, and endocrinology systems including the study of metabolism and fuel sources.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 153 and 154.

NTLS 356
Exercise Physiology Lab
1 Semester Hour
Measurement of the physiological mechanisms responsible for adaptations to acute and chronic exercise. Develop fitness assessment techniques and their applications to health and exercise performance. Gain hands-on experience with equipment/instrumentation.
Laboratory, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: NTLS 355 or concurrent enrollment.
NTLS 360
Upper Extremity Evaluation
3 Semester Hours
In-depth instruction on anatomy and functional abilities of the upper extremity. Emphasis on the assessment techniques for recognizing and evaluating athletic-related injuries. Additional concentration on the cervical and postural issues of the spine will be addressed.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 151 and 152 or concurrent enrollment.

NTLS 362
Lower Extremity Evaluation
3 Semester Hours
In-depth instruction on anatomy and functional abilities of the lower extremity. Emphasis on the assessment techniques for recognizing and evaluating athletic-related injuries. Additional concentration on the thoracic, lumbar, and sacral regions of the spine and gait analysis will be addressed.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 153 and 154 or concurrent enrollment; NTLS 360.

NTLS 365
Scientific Principles of Strength and Conditioning
3 Semester Hours
Introduction to the science and physiology behind strength training and conditioning. Often times the strength and conditioning issues are misunderstood due to common popular myths. Sound scientific principles will be used to dispel such ideas. A variety of strength training and conditioning topics will be covered in order to prepare a student who is interested in becoming a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS) or a Certified Personal Trainer (CPT) through the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA).
Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 367
The Science and Life of Galileo
3 Semester Hours
A study of the scientific works of Galileo and how they influenced changes in our worldview during the 17th century.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

NTLS 368
Athletic Training Practicum I
1 Semester Hour
Supervised experience in an athletic training environment. Additional study required with an emphasis on upper extremity evaluation. The affiliated clinical rotation occurs at any of the following sites: LMU, local high school, or junior college athletic training facility.
Formal acceptance in the ATEP required.
Prerequisite: NTLS 160.

NTLS 369
Athletic Training Practicum II
2 Semester Hours
Supervised experience in an athletic training environment. Additional study required with an emphasis on upper extremity evaluation. The affiliated clinical rotation occurs at any of the following sites: LMU, local high school, or junior college athletic training facility.
Formal acceptance in the ATEP required.
Prerequisites: NTLS 360 and 368.

NTLS 370
Workshop Biology: Life Works I
3 Semester Hours
The course discusses science pedagogy and allows students to experience working with science content as teachers, before they enter the classroom. Students will complete at least twenty hours of observation in high school classrooms and will be teaching lessons that they develop.
Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 371
Workshop Biology: Life Works I Laboratory
1 Semester Hour
The laboratory companion course for NTLS 370.
Laboratory, 3 hours.
Corequisite: NTLS 370.

NTLS 372
Workshop Biology: Life Works II
3 Semester Hours
This is a community-based learning course that is project-based; students will create high school science curricula in collaboration with education staff at a local environmental non-profit and teachers from an area high school. Student background and interests, and the particular needs of the non-profit’s education program and high school teachers, will play a significant role in defining each project.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 370 and 371.
Corequisite: NTLS 373.

NTLS 373
Workshop Biology: Life Works II Laboratory
1 Semester Hour
The laboratory companion course for NTLS 372.
Laboratory, 3 hours.
Corequisite: NTLS 372.

NTLS 376
Workshop Chemistry: The Elements of Nature I
3 Semester Hours
The course discusses science pedagogy and allows students to experience working with science content as teachers, before they enter the classroom. Students will complete at least twenty hours of observation in high school classrooms and will be teaching lessons that they develop.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Corequisite: NTLS 377.
NTLS 377
Workshop Chemistry: The Elements of Nature I Laboratory
1 Semester Hour
The laboratory companion course for NTLS 376.
Laboratory, 3 hours.
Corequisite: NTLS 376.

NTLS 378
Workshop Chemistry: The Elements of Nature II
3 Semester Hours
This is a community-based learning course that is project-based; students will create high school science curricula in collaboration with education staff at a local environmental non-profit and teachers from an area high school. Student background and interests, and the particular needs of the non-profit's education program and high school teachers, will play a significant role in defining each project.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 376 and 377.
Corequisite: NTLS 379.

NTLS 379
Workshop Chemistry: The Elements of Nature II Laboratory
1 Semester Hour
The laboratory companion course for NTLS 378.
Laboratory, 3 hours.
Corequisite: NTLS 378.

NTLS 397
Athletic Training Internship I
2 Semester Hours
Supervised experience in an athletic training environment. Additional study required, with an emphasis on therapeutic rehabilitation. The affiliated clinical rotation occurs at any of the following sites: LMU, local high school, college, or junior college athletic training facility.
Formal acceptance into the ATEP required.
Prerequisites: NTLS 462 and 478.

NTLS 398
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 399
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 401
Senior Seminar/Project
3 Semester Hours
Research work on a project within the field of environmental science including presentation of a seminar over work.
Consent of instructor required.

NTLS 455
Advanced Nutrition
3 Semester Hours
In-depth study of carbohydrates, proteins, lipids, micronutrients, and weight management with application to normal nutrition and special emphasis on optimal health and performance. Evaluation and interpretation of latest nutrition research findings.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: NTLS 255.
Corequisite: NTLS 456.

NTLS 456
Advanced Nutrition Lab
1 Semester Hour
Learn biochemical tests used by dieticians to evaluate nutritional status. Analyze dietary records and generate meal plans, create research questions, test hypotheses, develop oral presentation skills, provide community education, design educational material, and critically analyze controversial topics.
Corequisite: NTLS 455.

NTLS 458
Psychobiology Research
3 Semester Hours
Students participate in on-going laboratory research on the psychobiology of learning and memory. Emphasis is on theoretical and methodological issues, research design, data collection, analysis, and interpretation.
Consent of instructor required.
Prerequisites: Grade of B (3.0) or higher in each: PSYC 241, 243, 261, 265. Grade of C (2.0) or higher in each: PSYC 401, 410, 415.

NTLS 460
Therapeutic Modalities in Sports Medicine
3 Semester Hours
Provides information regarding the physics and physiological effects of athletic training modalities. Gain understanding of the inflammatory process and pain management in relation to athletic injuries. Includes the physiological reactions, contraindications, and indications to such modalities as heat, cold, electricity, ultrasound, water, and massage. Instruction on proper use and application of specific modalities.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 153 and 154.

NTLS 462
Therapeutic Rehabilitation in Sports Medicine
3 Semester Hours
Instruction on how to design, implement, and supervise rehabilitation programs for sports-related injuries and conditions. Theoretical and clinical bases for the use of therapeutic exercises, basic biomechanics, indications, contraindications, and proper application of exercises in therapeutic rehabilitation.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 153 and 154.
NTLS 464
Administration in Sports Medicine
3 Semester Hours
Addresses organization and administration of athletic training programs both in athletic training rooms and clinical sites. Areas such as building a facility, legal issues, staffing, budgeting, insurance, computer use, record keeping, emergency care planning, and public relations will be discussed.
Lecture, 3 hours.

NTLS 468
Athletic Training Practicum III
2 Semester Hours
Supervised experience in an athletic training environment. Additional study required, with an emphasis on lower extremity evaluation. The affiliated clinical rotation occurs at any of the following sites: LMU, local high school, or junior college athletic training facility.
Formal acceptance into the ATEP required.
Prerequisites: NTLS 362 and 369.

NTLS 469
Senior Seminar in Athletic Training
1 Semester Hour
Preparation for the National Athletic Trainers' Association Board of Certification Exam. Attention will be focused on a review of the NATA Athletic Training Educational Competencies. Pharmacological issues as they pertain to athletic performance will be addressed.
Prerequisite: NTLS 397.
Corequisite: NTLS 497.

NTLS 478
Athletic Training Practicum IV
2 Semester Hours
Supervised experience in an athletic training environment. Additional study required, with an emphasis on therapeutic modalities. The affiliated clinical rotation occurs at a local physical therapy clinic.
Formal acceptance into the ATEP required.
Prerequisites: NTLS 460 and 468.

NTLS 480
Kinesiology
3 Semester Hours
Study of the human body in motion. Topics include the application of principles of mechanics to anatomical systems; neuromuscular basis of movement; analysis of skills used in exercise science and by the physically active.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: NTLS 153 and 154.

NTLS 485
Biomechanics
3 Semester Hours
An analytical approach to the mechanics of human motion. Kinetics and kinematics of human movement as it pertains to bone, joint cartilage,
Supervised experience in an athletic training environment. Additional study required, with an emphasis on pharmacology and general medical conditions. The affiliated clinical rotation occurs at any of the following sites: LMU, local high school, or junior college athletic training facility.

Formal acceptance into the ATEP required.

Prerequisite: NTLS 397.

NTLS 498
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 499
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 510
Chemistry for Environmental Engineers and Scientists
2 Semester Hours
Review of inorganic chemistry with particular emphasis on gas laws, chemical equilibrium, oxidation-reduction, thermodynamics, and chemical kinetics. An introduction to organic chemistry is presented.

Lecture, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: CHEM 110.

NTLS 512
Air Pollution Analysis
2 Semester Hours
Detailed analysis of emission sources, emission calculation methods, and air pollution controls. The dispersion of air pollutants in the atmosphere (fates and lifetimes, dispersion modeling methods). In-depth techniques of conducting risk assessments due to exposure to air pollutants.

NTLS 513
Solid Wastes Engineering
2 Semester Hours
An application of current technology in the control, disposal, and recovery of value from solid wastes.

NTLS 525
Inland Waters
2 Semester Hours
The structure and movement of water in lakes, rivers, and estuaries; cyclical and progressive changes of the physical, chemical, and biological composition of aquatic systems are discussed along with an explanation of lake remediation techniques.

Lecture, 2 hours.

NTLS 531
Principles of Water Quality
2 Semester Hours
Review of basic parameters used to describe water quality. Fundamentals of aquatic interaction in natural systems and fate of pollutants in the natural environments. Basic water and wastewater treatment systems.

Consent of Director required.

NTLS 534
Groundwater Management
2 Semester Hours
Management of groundwater basins for optimum yield, quality, and environmental consideration, artificial recharge, methods of exploration, groundwater models, water rights, and conjunctive use of surface and groundwater.

NTLS 548
Hazardous Substances Management
2 Semester Hours
The study of regulation and management strategies for environment programs (hazardous substances) including hazardous waste, asbestos, underground tanks, air pollution, and the California Environmental Quality Act.

NTLS 591
Science Education Internship
1-4 Semester Hours
Work on a project in science education either in the elementary school or secondary school setting or at another appropriate location.

NTLS 593
Environmental Science Internship Workshop
1-4 Semester Hours
Advanced work experience in the field of environmental science in a research, industry, or municipal setting.

NTLS 598
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

NTLS 599
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

Physics

PHYS 100
Thinking in Science
3 Semester Hours
Enhancement of scientific reasoning. Topics include: identify and control of variables, deductive and inductive reasoning, proportional reasoning, analysis of scientific data, and problem solving.

Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

PHYS 101
Introduction to Mechanics
4 Semester Hours
Vectors, Newton's laws of motion, work and energy, impulse and momentum, rotation, angular momentum, static equilibrium, harmonic motion. May include a brief introduction to quantum mechanics. Laboratory experiments pertaining to mechanics. Measurement, estimation, and uncertainty. Projectile motion, Newton's laws, friction, torque.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.
Prerequisite: MATH 131 or concurrent enrollment.
PHYS 195

Waves and Light

3 Semester Hours

An interactive and experimental introduction to geometric optics with emphasis on applications to the modern world. Topics include: ray-tracing, reflection, refraction, thin lenses, polarization, interference, diffraction, thin films, wave-particle duality of light.

Lecture, 2 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Frank R. Seaver College of Science and Engineering students only.

PHYS 198

Special Studies

1-4 Semester Hours

PHYS 199

Independent Studies

1-4 Semester Hours

PHYS 201

Introduction to Electricity and Magnetism

4 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Prerequisites: PHYS 101; MATH 132 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 206

Foundations of Modern Physics

4 Semester Hours

An introduction to special relativity (SR), quantum mechanics (QM), and statistical thermodynamics (ST). Selected topics include (SR) frames of reference, Minkowski diagrams and spacetime structure, causality, Lorentz transformations, four-vectors and Lorentz invariants, relativistic conservation laws, (QM) failures of classical theory, wave-particle duality, models of the hydrogen atom, emission spectra, the Heisenberg uncertainty principle, wavefunctions and probability, the Schrödinger equation, (ST) Statistical interpretation of entropy, the Laws of Thermodynamics.

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Prerequisites: PHYS 201 or 254; MATH 245 and 250 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 212

Intermediate Mechanics

3 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisites: PHYS 101; MATH 245 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 253

General Physics I

4 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 112 or 122 or 131 or concurrent enrollment.

NOTE: THE PHYS 253-254 series is suitable for biology and chemistry majors and others desiring a college-level experience in physics. This series is not acceptable for credit in the physics or engineering programs.

PHYS 254

General Physics II

4 Semester Hours

Lecture, 3 hours; Laboratory, 2 hours.

Prerequisite: PHYS 253.

PHYS 271

Astronomy

3 Semester Hours

Understanding the universe. Topics include: history of astronomy, solar system, stars, galaxies, evolution of the universe.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

PHYS 274

Weapons of Mass Destruction: Facts and Fiction

3 Semester Hours

Scientific principles underlying weapons of mass destruction. Effects of nuclear and thermonuclear bombs, nerve agents, and biological pathogens.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

PHYS 278

Great Ideas in Physics

3 Semester Hours

Principles of physics with an emphasis on conceptual understanding. Physics as a human activity.

Lecture, 3 hours.

Prerequisite: MATH 101 or higher, or placement into MATH 106 or higher.

PHYS 298

Special Studies
PHYS 299
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

PHYS 301
Electromagnetic Fields
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: PHYS 201, 206; MATH 355 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 302
Electromagnetic Waves
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 301.

PHYS 321
Quantum Physics I
3 Semester Hours
Schrödinger equation and its solutions; potential wells, steps, and tunneling; the quantum harmonic oscillator; theory of angular momentum; spin; the hydrogen atom.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: PHYS 206; MATH 245, 250, or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 322
Quantum Physics II
3 Semester Hours
Perturbation theory, scattering theory; the variational principle, the WKB approximation; topics in nuclear physics; selected applications of quantum theory to contemporary issues in physics.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 321.

PHYS 351
Space Physics
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: MATH 234 and PHYS 301.

PHYS 361
Astrophysics
3 Semester Hours
Orbital mechanics, the solar system, electromagnetic radiation and matter, stellar properties, Milky Way Galaxy, cosmology.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisites: PHYS 101, 201, and 206; or PHYS 253 and 254; MATH 123 or 132.

PHYS 371
Biophysics
3 Semester Hours
Application of physical laws to biological structure and function: biomechanics, circulatory system, hearing and vision, radiation.
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 201 or 254.

PHYS 398
Special Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

PHYS 399
Independent Studies
1-4 Semester Hours

PHYS 411
Modern Physics Lab
3 Semester Hours
Project experiments in physical optics, optical spectroscopy, and experiments using digital imaging arrays. Theoretical interpretation, statistical analysis, and communication of results are emphasized.
Lecture, 1 hour; Laboratory, 4 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 206 or 301 or 321 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 421
Solid State Physics
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 301 or 321 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 441
Modern Optics

Elementary Particles
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 322 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 471
Introduction to Relativity and Cosmology
3 Semester Hours
Lecture, 3 hours.
Prerequisite: PHYS 301, or 321 or 361 or concurrent enrollment.

PHYS 480
Capstone Experience
1 Semester Hour
Preparation for life after graduation, including graduate school, work in industry, and teaching. Colloquia, journal reading, and seminars on topics in contemporary physics, scientific/proposal writing, and presentation skills.
Enrollment is limited to Physics/Engineering Physics seniors only.

PHYS 481
Senior Thesis
1 Semester Hour
Independent research with a faculty member in his/her area of expertise; students must complete a written thesis and oral presentation.
Enrollment is limited to Physics/Engineering Physics seniors only.
Credit/No Credit grading.

PHYS 490
Physics Teaching
1-2 Semester Hours
Guided teaching of introductory physics.

May be repeated for credit.
Requires consent of instructor.

PHYS 493
Physics/Engineering Physics Internship
1-3 Semester Hours
Research/development work conducted in a local government or industrial laboratory. The project may be theoretical or experimental and is jointly supervised by on-site staff and LMU faculty.

Systems Engineering Leadership

SELP 500
Quality
3 Semester Hours
History and philosophy of quality, concurrent engineering; design and optimization of both product and process, optimization of matrix organizations; continuous improvement: spontaneous suggestions, PDCA cycle, Kaizen, Six Sigma, Theory of Constraint, benchmarking, brainstorming, re-engineering; Deming's profound knowledge and 14 points, Quantitative Methods: charts, Andon, Design of Experiments (optimization of processes, robustness, full factorials, fractional factorials, folding, Plackett-Burnam, introduction to nonlinear designs), Statistical Process Control; Quality systems: ISO 9001:2000, ISO 14001, CMMI, Malcolm Baldrige, TQM Self-Assessment Tool.
(See MECH 500.)

SELP 530
Systems Architecting
3 Semester Hours
Methodologies in systems architecture. Architecting hardware (aerospace examples), software and system-of-systems. Validation and verification on systems architecture to prevent flawed concepts. Design approaches, tools, and processes for net-centric systems.
Prerequisite: SELP 552.

SELP 540
Engineering Ethics
3 Semester Hours
Ethical implications of engineers' work, both domestic and international. Introduction to ethical reasoning, liability, obligations and rights of engineers and managers, case studies, and current global issues. Course submittals will be used to develop student writing and communication skills. Writing assignments will be graded for 1) content and development, 2) organization and structure, 3) format, and 4) grammar, punctuation, and spelling.

SELP 552
Systems Engineering
3 Semester Hours
Fundamentals of modern Systems Engineering throughout the program lifecycle; focus on mission success, system, and system-of-systems; broad integrative adoptable and flexible thinking; initiation of an SE activity, feasibility studies, mission engineering, pre-proposal and proposal activities; risk in performance, cost, schedule, and deployment aspects of a project; requirement definition and development, system design, interface and configuration control, and verification/validation; introduction to critical aspects of the DoD, NASA, and INCOSE guides on SE; class projects in Integrated Product Development Teams.

(See MECH 552.)

SELP 598
Special Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

SELP 599
Independent Studies
1-3 Semester Hours

SELP 650
Advanced Systems Engineering
3 Semester Hours
Application and management and monitoring of the SE process and logistics; leadership of integrated teams; management for uncertainty, decision making, risk and opportunity; design for X (manufacturing, assembly, testing, sustainability, maintainability, etc.); technology management and assessment; identifying options and bounding the trade space; software systems management; verification process; different roles of testing; modeling techniques and SE tools; design.

Prerequisite: SELP 552.

SELP 660
Lean Methods
3 Semester Hours
History of Lean: JIT, Toyota Production System, Womack, Lean Aerospace Initiative, Lean Enterprise book, Five Principles of Lean; Value Stream Mapping; Lean Manufacturing with detailed coverage of JIT Tools; Lean Enterprise: stakeholders, waste, multiple value streams, LESAT, Transitioning to Lean Enterprise, Lean Enterprise Model, Labor relations and NUMMI Case Study; layoffs; Lean Product Development: definitions, waste, principles, systems engineering, concurrency, matrix organization optimization; design take time, scheduling and assessing progress, acquisition reform, Skunk Works; Lean Suppliers Network; Keiretsu, Quality, JIT and the right price; Theory of constraints and critical chain; optional field trip, simulations.

(See MECH 660).

SELP 671
Spacecraft Design
3 Semester Hours
Fundamental knowledge of spacecraft design: configuration, design and inter-dependencies of subsystems, launch vehicle, and trade-offs between performance, cost, and reliability. Students will be exposed to a wide range of considerations including design, manufacture, test and operation, cost, performance, manufacturability. At the end of this course, the student will have a fundamental understanding of the factors influencing spacecraft design and will be able to evaluate the impact of trade-offs between subsystem requirements on the performance and cost at the system level. The course will be fast-paced and include both individual and team projects.

Prerequisites: SELP 530 and 552.

SELP 673
New Product Design and Development
3 Semester Hours
Student conceived and/or corporate-sponsored team projects leading to a final prototype and business plan of a new product. Concept generation, team dynamics, customer needs analysis, product function, risk, decision theory, prototyping, manufacturing planning, specifications, quality function deployment, and cost analysis. Cross-listed with the business school to include entrepreneurship, marketing, and financial considerations when developing the design and business plan. Final oral presentation in front of a panel of industry experts in engineering and business.

SELP 675
Introduction to Modeling and Analysis
3 Semester Hours
This course emphasizes the development of analytic modeling skills, and the effective application of operations research methods in policy, management, and planning settings. An introduction to Model-based Systems engineering is included. A set of widely used models including linear programming, decision analysis, queuing, and forecasting is introduced. We explore how to effectively use these models, as well as their strengths and limitations in different problem and organizational contexts. The goal of this course is to teach system engineers, policy makers, and managers to gain analytical skills and apply them to complex problems. To this end, students will learn: 1) to structure problems so they can be effectively addressed, 2) to formulate models that are useful in different decision situations, 3) to use spreadsheet software to solve these models, and 4) to effectively present quantitative analysis to clients.

SELP 685
Systems Engineering Case Studies
3 Semester Hours
Case studies to examine notable successes and failures in major technology-driven government, commercial and defense programs where systems engineering played a significant role. Lessons learned and ethics. Students perform intensive reading of the cases and present them using the Harvard Law School model.

Prerequisites: SELP 552, 594, or MBAB 615; SELP 650.

SELP 694
Systems Engineering Seminar
3 Semester Hours
Invited guests present interesting and relevant programs with significant systems engineering component. Students present assigned topics on systems engineering.

Prerequisite: SELP 552.
SELP 695
Systems Engineering Integrative Project/Thesis
3-6 Semester Hours
Capstone course in which students work to apply the principles of management and systems engineering to a complex technical endeavor. The products will be rationale for the selected project, a project proposal with timeline and plan, a preliminary requirements document, trade studies on the relevant issues, requirements verification plan, description of the ethical issues involved, and a detailed outline of the final report. A final written report and oral presentation are required.
Prerequisites: All SELP Core Courses; MBAI 610 for SELP students.

Clinical Education

EDCE 410
Elementary Directed Teaching
9-12 Semester Hours
Full-time supervised teaching in two culturally diverse public elementary schools; seminar sessions held throughout the semester, which include instruction in art, music, and physical education.

Offered on a Credit/No Credit basis only.

Admission by special approval.

EDCE 412
Secondary Directed Teaching
9-12 Semester Hours
Full-time supervised teaching in one culturally diverse public middle and/or high school; seminar sessions held throughout the semester support the student in successfully completing his or her teaching.

Offered on a Credit/No Credit basis only.

Special approval required.

EDCE 456
Directed Teaching with Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students with Mild/Moderate Disabilities
9 Semester Hours
Actual teaching experience with culturally and linguistically diverse students with mild/moderate disabilities. Must have completed prerequisite and professional coursework in Special Education and be approved by the Coordinator of Fieldwork the semester prior to enrolling.

Credit/No Credit.

Special approval required.

EDCE 461
Teaching Performance Assessment 1
0 Semester Hours
Students enrolled in the course will complete Task 1 of the Teaching Performance Assessment.

Fee required.

Special approval required.

EDCE 462
Teaching Performance Assessment 2
0 Semester Hours
Students enrolled in the course will complete Task 2 of the Teaching Performance Assessment.

EDCE 463
Teaching Performance Assessment 3
0 Semester Hours
Students enrolled in the course will complete Task 3 of the Teaching Performance Assessment.

Fee required.

Prerequisites: EDCE 461 and 462.

Concurrent enrollment with EDCE 410 or 412 required.

EDCE 464
Teaching Performance Assessment 4
0 Semester Hours
Students enrolled in the course will complete Task 4 of the Teaching Performance Assessment.

Fee required.

Prerequisites: EDCE 461 and 462.

Concurrent enrollment with EDCE 410 or 412 required.

Teaching Performance Assessment Task 3, Assessing Learning
0 Semester Hours
Students enrolled in this course will complete Task 3 of the Teaching Performance Assessment.
Fee required.
Credit/No Credit.
Special approval required.
Prerequisites: EDCE 5950 and 5951.

EDCE 5953
Teaching Performance Assessment Task 4, Culminating Teaching Experience
0 Semester Hours
Students enrolled in this course will complete Task 4 of the Teaching Performance Assessment.
Fee required.
Credit/No Credit.
Special approval required.
Prerequisites: EDCE 5950, 5951, and 5952.

EDCE 5970
Fieldwork 1
1 Semester Hour
This course is designed to enhance the field experiences of teacher practitioners/interns through reflective discussions that evolve around events in content classes and field experiences, supervised teaching, and collaboration between the candidates, university personnel, and the mentor teacher. The course is designed around the needs of the candidates.
Credit/No Credit.
Interns and Teacher Practitioners only.
Special approval required.

EDCE 5971
Fieldwork 2
1 Semester Hour
This course is a continuation of Fieldwork 1.
Credit/No Credit.
Interns and Teacher Practitioners only.
Special approval required.
Prerequisite: EDCE 5970.

EDCE 5972
Fieldwork 3
1 Semester Hour
This course is a continuation of Fieldwork 2.
Credit/No Credit.
Interns and Teacher Practitioners only.
Special approval required.
Prerequisites: EDCE 5970 and 5971.

EDCE 5973
Fieldwork 4
1 Semester Hour
This course is a continuation of Fieldwork 3.
Credit/No Credit.
Interns and Teacher Practitioners only.
Special approval required.
Prerequisites: EDCE 5970, 5971, and 5972.

EDCE 5976
Elementary Directed Teaching
6-9 Semester Hours
Full-time supervised teaching in two culturally diverse public elementary schools. Supervision by master teacher and university supervisor while working with individuals, small groups, and the entire class. Development of classroom management and teaching strategies that foster academic achievement in all content areas for all students. Attendance at weekly seminar is required.
Credit/No Credit.
Special approval required.

EDCE 5977
Secondary Directed Teaching
6-9 Semester Hours
Full-time supervised teaching in one culturally diverse public middle or high school. Supervision by master teacher and university supervisor while working with individuals, small groups, and the entire class. Development of classroom management and teaching strategies that foster academic achievement in all content areas for all students. Attendance at weekly seminar is required.
Credit/No Credit.
Special approval required.

EDCE 5978
Directed Teaching with Students with Mild/Moderate Disabilities
3-9 Semester Hours
Teaching experience with culturally and linguistically diverse students with Mild/Moderate disabilities. Seminar required.
Lab fee required.
Credit/No Credit.
Special approval required.

EDCE 5981
Special Education Fieldwork and Seminar 1
2 Semester Hours
This course, offered in a seminar format, is designed to enhance the field experiences of teacher practitioners/interns through reflective discussions that evolve around events in content classes and field experiences, supervised teaching, and collaboration between the candidates, university personnel, and the mentor teacher. This course is designed around the needs of the candidates and meets on a weekly basis.
EDCE 5982
Special Education Fieldwork and Seminar 2
1 Semester Hour
This course is a continuation of Fieldwork 1.
Credit/No Credit.
Interns and Teacher Practitioners only.
Special approval required.
Prerequisite: EDCE 5981.

EDCE 5983
Special Education Fieldwork and Seminar 3
1 Semester Hour
This course is a continuation of Fieldwork 2.
Credit/No Credit.
Interns and Teacher Practitioners only.
Special approval required.
Prerequisites: EDCE 5981 and 5982.

EDCE 5984
Special Education Fieldwork and Seminar 4
2 Semester Hours
This course is a continuation of Fieldwork 3, offered in a seminar format, is designed to enhance the field experiences of teacher practitioners/interns through reflective discussions that evolve around events in content classes and field experiences, supervised teaching, and collaboration between the candidates, university personnel, and the mentor teacher. The course is designed around the needs of the candidates and meets on a weekly basis.
Credit/No Credit.

Action Research Fieldwork Support Course I
1 Semester Hour
This is a field experience course that supports a group of Professional 2042 Clear candidates within the following framework: the candidate will meet weekly with a University Support Provider who will guide the candidate through the individual induction plan process. This process includes individual assessment, observations, conversations, portfolio development and support in the areas designated by the individual induction plan. A small group will meet four times during the semester with the University Support Provider. These meetings are in addition to any feedback sessions that are held between the University Support Provider and candidate. The fifth year University Support Providers will be in contact with the professors who teach the integrated advanced course work to support the collaboration model. Candidates are required to demonstrate competency in the area of the California Standards for the Teacher Profession (CSTP) related to the integrated courses they are currently attending. In order for candidates to receive credit in this course, they must demonstrate competency in the CSTPs and Professional 2042 Clear standards through a portfolio presentation.

Special Education Advocacy and the Law

3 Semester Hours

This course examines federal and California special education law with particular emphasis on the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA 2004) and the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. The first half of the course will involve reading of material that will give a legal and practical background to the specifics of the law, its purpose, and how it is implemented by school districts. This background will serve as a foundation for the students to effectively advocate (with proper supervision) for their clients during the clinical portion of the class. The overall goal of the course is to give students insight into how to work with families and school personnel and how to ultimately avoid the pitfalls of noncompliance. The second half of the course will be a supervised clinical experience where students will handle a special education case. This will include: interviewing potential clients, analysis of facts, and advocacy at an IEP. Depending on the facts of the case, students may also file a state complaint and prepare a case for mediation and/or for due process hearing.

Prerequisite: EDSS 440.

Teaching Students with Special Needs in Urban Education
3 Semester Hours
This class will focus on the education of special needs students in urban K-12 classrooms.

EDUR 5018
Research in Urban Education
3 Semester Hours
This is the capstone course in the Urban Education program. Students will be expected to complete a research project focusing in urban education.

EDUR 5501
Practicum: Educational Practices in Action in Secondary Math and Science Classrooms
3 Semester Hours
Candidates learn how to model professional behavior that addresses job responsibilities and the expectations of mathematics or science secondary teachers working in a multilingual, multicultural, and economically diverse community.

EDUR 5503
Practicum: Differentiated Education in Action in Secondary Math and Science Urban Education
3 Semester Hours
Candidates learn how to consistently strategically apply math or science teaching practices that involve students as active participants in the assessment process where both become advocates for student learning and achievement needs.

Consent of Coordinator required.

EDUR 5505
Research-Supported Math/Science Practices in Urban Education
3 Semester Hours
This course helps candidates design and implement a mathematical or scientific learning environment that builds on the strengths that students bring to the teaching/learning process and reverses the achievement gap between subgroups within a school.

Consent of Coordinator required.

EDUR 5580
Teaching Mathematics and Science in Urban Schools
3 Semester Hours
Candidates learn how to implement instruction that reverses the achievement gap and improve student engagement and achievement in mathematics or science by engaging students in a learning culture that values mathematical and scientific thinking.

EDUR 5581
Mentorship in Math and Science Education

This course focuses on the governmental, political, financial, legal, and historical perspectives of education in the United States. Students are given opportunities to integrate course topics and relate policy initiatives to the welfare of all students in responsible and ethical ways. School governance and management of human and fiscal resources in culturally diverse settings are stressed.

EDUR 6251
Secondary School Curriculum and Methods for Math and Science
Objectives, methods, materials, and problems involved in teaching math and science in the secondary schools. Explores methods of long and short range planning, course overviews, unit plans and lesson planning. Presents alternative strategies of instruction and methods of diagnosing needs and evaluating learning. Current approaches to classroom discipline, management, and organization are studied.

EDUR 6252
Secondary School Curriculum and Methods for Language Arts and Social Studies

3 Semester Hours

Objectives, methods, materials, and problems involved in teaching language arts and social studies in the secondary schools. Explores methods of long and short range planning, course overviews, unit plans and lesson planning. Presents alternative strategies of instruction and methods of diagnosing needs and evaluating learning. Current approaches to classroom discipline, management, and organization are studied.

EDUR 6324
Technology in Multilingual Settings

3 Semester Hours

Offered as an elective, this course emphasizes the use of instructional technologies with multilingual populations. Of particular emphasis is the bridging of the Digital Divide, access and equity in technology with diverse populations, and uses of instructional technology within dual language contexts.

EDUR 6327
Learning and Teaching with Technology

3 Semester Hours

In this course, constructivism will be explored as a foundation for teaching and learning with technology. The course will explore how technology can be used to promote the notion that students construct knowledge rather than just receive knowledge passively.

EDUR 6328
Survey of Digital Technologies for Urban Education

3 Semester Hours

This course explores how different technologies can be used to promote equity in teaching and learning in urban schools. As technology evolves, candidates study how new forms of technology, beyond the personal computer, can be used for teaching and learning. Candidates will create projects using these new technologies.

EDUR 6329
Assistive Technology

3 Semester Hours

Students with special needs benefit the most from the use of technology for teaching and learning. In this course, candidates learn the principles of university design for learning, review federal and state laws regarding the education of students with special needs, and the use of appropriate technology to promote high standards for all students.

EDUR 6955

EDUR 6960
Introduction to Teaching and Learning

3 Semester Hours

This course is for candidates who are employed as full-time teachers either in a private/parochial school or with an emergency permit or intern credential in a public school. This prerequisite should be one of the first courses in the combined master's/teaching credential program sequence. Seminars focus on analysis of effective classroom practices and problem solving. Initial on-site assessment will be made by a university supervisor as to professional competency in all phases of the multiple or single subject credential program. Areas for professional growth and development are identified and addressed individually through portfolio assessment. Candidates must submit a school-site supervisor/mentor contract agreement. Additionally, for private/parochial school teachers, this course requires 30 hours of public school observation/participation and a comprehensive journal. Application for fingerprint clearance must be submitted by private/parochial teachers immediately upon enrollment in this course.

Credit/No Credit.

Special approval required.

EDUR 6961
Fieldwork Supervision: Portfolio and Assessment of Teaching

3 Semester Hours

This course is for candidates who are employed as full-time teachers either in a private/parochial school or with an emergency permit or intern credential in a public school. This should be the last course in the combined Masters/teaching credential program sequence. Supervised field experience, portfolio assessment of personal growth, development, problem solving and documentation of teaching competencies will be completed during this course. Candidates must submit a school site supervisor/mentor contract agreement. Additionally, for private/parochial school teachers, this course requires 30 hours of public school observation/participation and a comprehensive journal. The EDUR 6960/6961 course sequence meets the California State requirement for teaching for multiple and single subject credential candidates. Only one other course may be taken during the semester of fieldwork supervision.

Credit/No Credit.

Special approval required.

Prerequisites: EDUR 6960, all professional education courses in program sequence, including Health Education (EDES 8000), formal documentation of completed subject matter competency, and passage of all appropriate examinations.
EDUR 6963
Seminar in Advanced Teaching Methodologies

3 Semester Hours
Candidates build on the material that was learned in the methodology course for the teaching credential program. In this course, candidates are presented with more strategies that promote high standards for all students. The theories behind these strategies are also discussed.

EDUR 6968
Action Research in Urban Education

3 Semester Hours
In this course, candidates will learn how to use self-reflection to improve their practice as urban classroom teachers. Using real classroom experiences, candidates will learn how to systematically and collaboratively identify a problem, collect data, and evaluate solutions. Emphasis is placed on journal writing, observation skills, and methods for sharing the action research project. Case studies will be examined, and candidates will create an action research project in an urban education setting.

EDUR 6995
