“Creating Welcoming Environments, or, Who's in my Class?”

Most faculty want classrooms in which students feel safe to learn. It's a noble idea that's not always easy to accomplish. As more out LGBT students come to our colleges and universities, they are demanding their place in the academy including the classroom. This workshop is designed to help faculty understand issues affecting LGBT college students, create a pedagogy of consciousness, and have an update on the state of LGBT studies. With current data and lots of humor, Dr. Ronni Sanlo guides you through a process of creating an educational environment that’s inclusive of all populations.
