LMU generates nearly $1 billion annually for California’s economy, with a direct economic impact of more than $808 million and more than 5,300 jobs concentrated in L.A. County.

Students volunteer nearly 200,000 service hours a year with 250 community organizations.

Loyola Law School was the first ABA-accredited law school in California with a mandatory pro bono requirement, and students completed 40,000 hours of pro bono work.

A four-year Scholarship Initiative has raised $102,704,844, as of January 2017, greatly enhancing LMU’s ability to attract a diverse student body and make an LMU education within reach of all academically qualified applicants, regardless of financial considerations.

Since October 2012, LMU has created 338 named scholarships – 252 for undergraduates and 86 for graduate students. Of those 338 scholarships, 199 are endowed, carrying these benefits far into LMU’s future.

Green LMU

LMU has reduced its water consumption by nearly 2 million gallons per year (estimated).

- removed 210,000 square foot of turf on Drollinger Field, which saved an additional estimated 1 million gallons of water
- replaced aging washing machines with Energy Star Units that save an estimated 880 thousand gallons a year
- installed low-flow aerators on sinks and low-flow shower heads across campus to reduce sink and shower water consumption by 55%
- 100% of campus sprinklers respond automatically to local weather conditions.
- About three-quarters of the campus uses reclaimed water for irrigation.
- One of the first campuses in the state to recycle 100% of green waste.
- Solar rooftop systems, on University Hall and Von Der Ahe Building, won a federal Green Power Award in 2003.
- LMU has five LEED Certified (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) buildings. The Life Sciences Building received LEED Gold certification in November 2015 and the William H. Hannon Library received LEED Gold certification in 2011.
